

2024 part 1

Ryan Walters made more than all women's sports in 2024

BY AVERY GOLDTHORPE

Asst. Sports Reporter

Former Purdue football head coach Ryan Walters made $238.88 more than all women's sports employees combined in 2024.

With a grand total of $4,149,488.70, Walters' salary just barely edged out the sum of all women's sports employees, who averaged a salary of $115,256.94.

There were 12 football and basketball employees paid more than any individual employee from another sport in 2024, including eight for football, three for men's basketball and one for women's basketball.

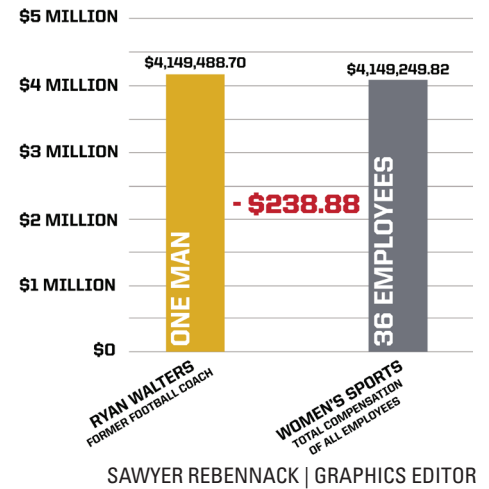

The highest-paid non-football or basketball employee was volleyball head coach Dave Shondell, who earned a 2024 salary of a little over $500,000 after completing his 22nd season at the helm.

New football head coach Barry Odom made $436,413.73 in just under one month of work, good for the 14th-highest salary among Purdue Athletics employees in 2024.

Baseball head coach Greg Goff was next up at about $314,000, followed by five more football employees before soccer head coach Richard Moodie at about $231,000.

In total, 21 football and basketball employees made at least $200,000, whereas just five members of other athletic departments reached that salary.

Painter stands as highest-earning Purdue employee in 2024

BY DECLAN LITTLE

Sports Editor

After a trip to the National Championship this past April, Purdue men's basketball coach Matt Painter was officially the highest-earning coach for 2024.

Painter edged out former football head coach Ryan Walters by over $445,000 with earnings of $4,594,700.94 to his gridiron counterpart's $4,149,488.70.

This year marked the first-time since 2016 that Painter's salary surpassed Purdue football's head coach. The latter had higher earnings every year since the hiring of former head coach Jeff Brohm in 2017.

This year shattered Painter's earnings in 2023 by over $1.2 million, thanks in large part to the incentives for leading the Boilers to their first Final Four since 1980.

Painter also stands as the highest-earning employee at Purdue and one of three individuals to earn north of $1 million alongside Walters and Director of Athletics Mike Bobinski.

With another strong season sending Purdue men's basketball to the NCAA Tournament in the coming weeks, Painter is likely to see that number rise even further next year and potentially flirt with $5 million in earnings for 2025.

A closer look at the top salaries of each college

BY SKYLER MOFLE

Features Editor

The Exponent analyzed every salary from every employee and filtered through to find the highest salaries from a faculty (professor, researcher, etc.) member from each college. Every general college that Purdue offers was selected and included in this process.

College of Agriculture

The highest paid person in the College of Agriculture is Jay Akridge, the trustee chair in teaching and learning excellence and a professor of agricultural economics, with $564,620.

Akridge was previously the provost and executive vice president for academic affairs and diversity, serving from 2017 until 2022. Before that, he was dean of the agriculture college for over eight years.

Daniels School of Business

James Bullard, the dean of the Mitch Daniels School of Business, is the highest paid person in that college with a salary of $675,689. First appointed as dean in 2013, Bullard was previously the former president of the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis, according to Purdue's website.

In 2014, Bullard was ranked as the seventh-most influential economist in the world. He had been the longest-serving Federal Reserve Bank president in the country.

College of Education

Phillip VanFossen, the interim dean of the college of education, walks away with the highest earnings in the college with $266,790.

VanFossen has been in the position since June 1, 2022, and is a distinguished professor of social studies education as well as the faculty athletic representative for Purdue.

College of Engineering

Rakesh Agrawal — a professor of chemical engineering — earned $558,096 as the highest paid faculty member in the College of Engineering.

Agrawal joined Purdue's lineup in 2004. He holds a research group named the Rakesh Agrawal Research Group, which is a part of the Davidson School of Chemical Engineering, according to the research group's website.

Exploratory Studies

The highest paid member of the College of Exploratory Studies is Linda Gregory, the executive director, with $134,163.

According to Purdue's website, Gregory is from Northern Indiana and has a bachelor's degree in French education from Purdue.

College of Health and Human Sciences

Aaron Bowman, a professor and the head of the school of health sciences, makes $332,448 — which solidifies him as the highest paid employee in the College of Health and Human Sciences.

Bowman is also a member of the Purdue Institute of Integrative Neuroscience and his areas of expertise include neurotoxicology, human pluripotent stem cells, metal and neurodegenerative disease, according to Purdue's website.

College of Liberal Arts

The highest paid employee in the College of Liberal Arts is David Reingold, the dean, with $435,439. Reingold, before becoming a dean, was a professor of sociology since 2015.

College of Pharmacy

Jerome Adams, a presidential fellow and a distinguished professor of practice, makes the most money in the College of Pharmacy with a salary of $540,514.

According to Purdue's website, Adams was "the 20th U.S. Surgeon General and a prior member of the President's Coronavirus task force."

Purdue Polytechnic Institute

Daniel Castro-Lacouture is the dean of the Polytechnic Institute and makes $350,807. He previously came from the Georgia Institute of Technology and was a professor there.

College of Science

Wolciech Szpankowski, a professor of computer science and electrical and computer engineering, makes the most in the College of Science with a salary of $499,425.

College of Veterinary Medicine

Souvigny Salisbury is the associate dean for academic affairs and takes the cake for the highest paid salary in the College of Veterinary Medicine with $286,346 as her salary.

According to Purdue's website, she has a certification from the American College of Veterinary Surgeons from 1986.

John Martinson Honors College

Rosanne Altstatt, the John Martinson Honors College associate dean for community and engagement, is the highest paid member of the college with $124,337 being her salary.

According to the Purdue website, Altstatt has extensive experience in curatorial projects and she "has curated a wide array of art forms, including media art, a micro radio station, short graphic novels on cancer, and vernacular studio photography exhibitions."
