Arin Dineen: Caesura 2 2013, oil on canvas

Ellsworth Gallery, 215 E. Palace Ave., 505-989-7900

Arin Dineen's paintings of interiors and figurative subjects capture detail at a photographic level. Her architectural paintings are scaled to the aspect ratio of film stills. Jeff Juhlin's richly textured encaustic paintings are rendered with lengthwise bands of color reminiscent of the visible horizon. Sight Lines, an exhibition of new works by the two artists, opens with a 5 p.m. reception on Friday, July 18.

Christina Chalmers: All One 2014, oil, beeswax, lead, and mixed media on panel

Selby Fleetwood Gallery
600 Canyon Road, 505-992-8877
Christina Chalmers and Olga Antonova present new works. Dresses are a persistent theme in Chalmers' mixed-media pieces. "In archetypal symbolism, clothing represents persona, a kind of camouflage which lets others know only what we wish them to know about us and nothing more," the artist explained. Antonova's still-life paintings of fine porcelain and books capture details of reflected and distorted light. The reception is on Friday, July 18, at 5 p.m.

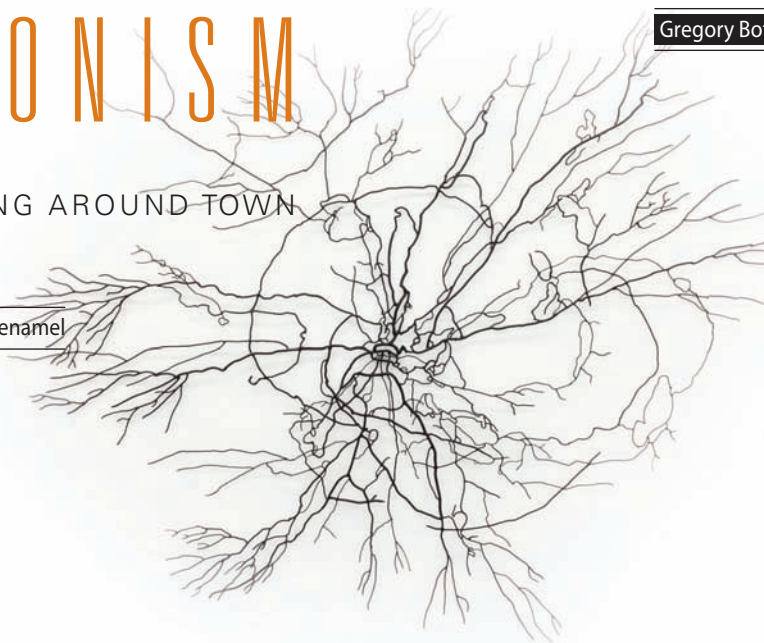

EXHIBITIONISM

A PEEK AT WHAT'S SHOWING AROUND TOWN

Roxy Paine: Mycelium 3 2011, stainless steel and enamel

Peters Projects, 1011 Paseo de Peralta, 505-954-5700
Temporal Domain is the inaugural exhibit of Peters Projects, a division of Gerald Peters Gallery that aims to expand the audience for historically significant national and international contemporary artists. The show, which includes works by Lynda Benglis, James Lee Byars, Agnes Martin, and Roxy Paine, opens with a 5 p.m. reception on Friday, July 18.

James Drake: Accelerators (drawings #1262, 1263, 1264, and 1265) 2014, graphite and ink on book pages

James Kelly Contemporary
1611 Paseo de Peralta, 505-989-1601
James Drake: Pages, New Drawings continues through Aug. 27. The exhibition includes pieces the artist made as a continuation of a project — on view in the show James Drake: Anatomy of Drawing and Space (Brain Trash) at the Museum of Contemporary Art San Diego — that displays the results of his two-year commitment to produce a drawing every day, resulting in more than 1,200 images. Drake is known for his skill as a draftsman, for his expertise in different mediums — including video, sculpture, and drawings — and for his focus on the themes of myth, history, and contemporary social consciousness.

Gregory Botts: Madrid, Night Studio, All One, falling, #1 2004-06, oil on canvas

David Richard Gallery, 544 S. Guadalupe St., 505-983-9555
Selections from the Madrid Group is an exhibition of contemporary abstract landscapes that Gregory Botts made in Madrid, New Mexico. Botts combines plein-air and studio painting with geometry and figuration, taking elements from previous works for use in others. The show opens on Friday, July 18, with a reception on Friday, July 25, at 5 p.m.
