

NEWS BRIEFS

Library offers At Home Service

Hennepin County Library's At Home Service, part of the Library's Outreach Services, delivers library books and other materials to county residents who have barriers in getting to the library - barriers such as illness, disability or visual impairment. Some recipients sign up to receive the service only in winter, when road or sidewalk conditions or transportation make it difficult for them to go to the library. The service is free," according to a news release.

About 825 men and women receive At Home Service - about 700 receive library materials by mail, and about 125 by volunteer delivery. About 60 adults volunteer to deliver library materials to At Home Service customers.

More than 33,000 items have been checked out to At Home Service customers so far this year - that's about 9,000 more than were checked out throughout all of 2009.

The "average" At Home Service customer is more than 75 years old, disabled, and without Internet access. Seventy-one percent of those who returned a recent customers survey said they use the service weekly or monthly. Seventy-seven percent said they would not be able to access library materials without At Home Service.

The Outreach Services staff produces a bimonthly newsletter called The At Home Reader, a publication of book reviews, new titles of interest and library news. The At Home Reader also is recorded on CD by a volunteer for At Home Service customers who are visually impaired. It also is available as a podcast on Hennepin County Library's website, www.hclib.org

Pakistan discussed at library

Karsaz Inc. presented a public lecture "A Flood of Problems: Pakistan and U.S. Interests" at the Eden Prairie Library on Oct. 14. "The multimedia presentation by Ahmed Naumaan and Jason Philbrick covered the history and culture of Pakistan, information about the recent calamitous flooding in that area, and the impact of these factors on U.S. policy interests in Pakistan and Afghanistan," according to a news release. "Audience members asked a number of questions and expressed appreciation for the opportunity to learn more about the country which is a critical factor in U.S. strategic interests. Amongst the attendees was Daniel Wordsworth, president and CEO of American Refugee Committee (ARC), a Minneapolis-based humanitarian aid organization that is conducting flood relief activities in Pakistan."

PET ADOPTION

A silver charm

Tasha is a beautiful five-year-old silver tabby. A big girl (16 pounds but ideally should be about 12 pounds), she is easygoing, friendly and playful although she can be dominant, thus she needs to be the only pet. She hasn't been around kids or dogs, and would do best in a quieter home. She uses her scratching post and likes to be picked up and held. Won't you please consider giving
