Remembering Anna Westin

Chaska grad is namesake for new U.S. legislation

It has been 15 years since Anna Westin took her own life following a five-year battle with anorexia. And while the 1997 Chaska High School graduate is physically gone, her spirit lives on, most recently as the namesake for a piece of legislation that seeks to improve treatment coverage of eating disorders and to train health professionals and school personnel to identify eating disorders early in their personal development.

The Public Notice deadline for the Eden Prairie News is Thursday at noon for the following week’s issue. Faxes are not accepted.
