MILITARY NEWS

Members of Viking Squadron participated in a food-packing event in support of the Hunger Initiative Organization.

Viking Squadron helps with Hunger Initiative

Members of Viking Squadron supported the Hunger Initiative's community food packing event recently. "The suffering and loss of life that has occurred recently in Haiti has highlighted the importance of continued local volunteers to help with worldwide support efforts," according to a Viking Squadron news release. "These life saving activities continue throughout the year at various locations around the state. The Hunger Initiative Group's goal for this January event is to pack over 1 million meals, which will feed over 3,000 children in Dondo, Mozambique Africa for an entire year." Squadron members along with other community volunteers packaged a total of 50,000 bags of food. Each bag consists of six meals. These meals contain a nutritional formula developed by food scientists, which include easily digestible protein, carbohydrates and vitamins. Each meal contains rice, soy, dehydrated vegetables, and 21 vitamins and minerals.
