Water Main Break Could Result in Low Water Pressure for Appletree Subdivision in Northwest Fenton

DPW Will Begin Repairs Early Saturday, as Break is in Remote Area

City of Fenton officials have located the site of a water main break in the Appletree subdivision in the northwest part of the city.

Because the break, which was reported about 7 p.m. Friday, is in a wooded area about 1,000 feet from the nearest street, repairs will take some time. The Department of Public Works will begin repairs early Saturday morning.

In the meantime, residents may experience low water pressure tonight and Saturday.

The city will inform residents if a boil-water advisory becomes necessary.
