The Chico Certified Farmers Market Sunday Farmers Market starts this Sunday June 1, 9AM-12PM, in the Farmer's Brewery Parking lot.

We will have a great selection of fresh produce, local handmade goods, prepared foods, honey, meat, pastries, fresh flowers, beauty products, cold drinks and even a henna application booth!

The market accepts EBT and offers a Market Match of $10. Which means for the first $10 you spend, you get $20 worth of spending money!

The Sunday Farmers Market offers a slower pace and ample parking for easy access to all the local seasonal produce. Blackberries, strawberries, blueberries and stone fruit are at their absolute best this time of year. Tomatoes, cucumbers, peppers and many other varieties of produce will be in abundance and at peak flavor when purchased from local growers at the Chico Certified Farmers Market. You will taste the difference, I can promise you!

Our Manager's Booth offers beautiful handwoven market baskets, canvas totes, and farmers market merchandise for purchase as well.

You can check out the website to see what's in season, and view the interactive map, updated each week, to see who will be there, and learn more about your favorite vendors.

Established in 1980, The Chico Certified Farmers' Market (CCFM) is the longest running Farmers Market in the Chico area, and a wonderful community event for all of Butte County to connect and support local farmers, bakers, and crafters. They operate three markets in Chico, with year-round markets on Saturdays, downtown, Wednesdays in the North Valley Plaza and a seasonal Sunday market in Meriam Park (June-October).
