San Francisco at Seattle, ppd. SEATTLE - The two-game series between the San Francisco Giants and Mariners in Seattle that was scheduled to start Tuesday night was postponed because of poor air quality caused by the West Coast wildfires. While the air quality seemed to be improving somewhat Tuesday afternoon, Giants manager Gabe Kapler said both teams, Major League Baseball and the players' union were all in agreement about the decision.

He said players had some reservations about plans to play. "I think there was some concern, yeah, for sure," Kapler said. "Everybody was reading the reports on the air quality and we all wanted to be safe."

The teams will now play at 9:40 p.m. ET Wednesday and 4:10 p.m. ET Thursday at Oracle Park in San Francisco. The announcement came as day off Thursday that allowed them to avoid playing a doubleheader on Wednesday

Some players complained about smoky conditions Monday night after the Mariners split a doubleheader with the Oakland Athletics. The smoke level during the games reached a level of very unhealthy on the air quality index, even with the roof closed at T-Mobile Park.

Seattle manager Scott Servais said he thought "visibility and playability" were fine Monday night after the games and that Major League Baseball officials were comfortable with allowing the makeup doubleheader to proceed. But the smoke got worse throughout the evening, seeming to increase when rain moved into the area.

A's manager Bob Melvin said several players began to complain as the night wore on.

"I'm a healthy 22-year-old. I shouldn't be gasping for air or missing oxygen. I'll leave it at that," said Jesús Luzardo, who started the opener for Oakland. The area has had unhealthy air quality for about a week after weather patterns have brought smoke from wildfires east of Seattle in Washington, Oregon and California. There also are fires burning near San Francisco the air quality is expected to reach unhealthy levels there Wednesday as well - but the air quality is better overall.

A Mariners official said smoke is expected to start clearing late Thursday or Friday when they return home for a three-game series with the San Diego Padres, followed by their final three home games with the Houston Astros next Monday through Wednesday.

Red Sox 2, Marlins 0 MIAMI - Tanner Houck gave up just two singles over five innings to win his major league debut, pitching the Boston Red Sox past the Miami Marlins 2-0. Houck, the first-round draft pick of the Red Sox in 2017, struck out seven and walked three on 86 pitches. The 24-year-old righty became Boston's 15th starting Jackie Bradley Jr. broke up a scoreless game with an oppositefield double off Miami starter Sandy Alcantara in the sixth. Alcantara (2-2) allowed a leadoff single to Xander Bogaerts and walked Christian Vazquez before Bradley delivered against the playoff-contending Marlins.

CINCINNATI – Tucker Barnhart hit a home run and Brian Goodwin prevented one with a leaping catch as the Cincinnati Reds extended their winning streak to a season-high four games with a 4-1 victory Tuesday night over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Michael Lorenzen (2-1) looked sharp in a spot start, helping Cincinnati inch closer to a playoff spot. The third-place Reds went into the game higher than fourth in the NL Central for the first time since they were tied with Milwaukee for third on Aug. 23. They were 1 1/2 games behind second-place St. Louis and ninth in the overall National League standings, one game behind the Giants for the final postseason

Rays 6, Nationals 1

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. - Ryan Yarbrough stopped a personal 16-game winless streak, Nate Lowe homered and the AL Eastleading Tampa Bay Rays beat the Washington Nationals 6-1. Yarbrough (1-3) followed opener John Curtiss in the second inning and gave up one run and five hits over 5 2/3 innings for his first win since Aug 11, 2019 at Seattle. Nick Anderson replaced Ryan

Sherriff with the bases loaded and one out in the ninth and struck out Luis García and pinchhitter Yadiel Hernandez to get this fifth save.

Phillies 4, Mets 1

PHILADELPHIA - Jake Arrieta pitched effectively into the sixth inning before leaving with an injury, Didi Gregorius hit a tworun homer and the Philadelphia Phillies beat the Mets 4-1.

LAKE BUENA VISTA, Fla. – Jimmy Butler thought he won the game for Miami with a 3-pointer late in He put the Heat ahead again in overtime – and then Bam Adebayo finished it off with the biggest block of his career. Butler's three-point play with 12 seconds left put Miami up for good, Adebayo blocked Jayson Tatum's dunk attempt in the final seconds and the Heat rallied time and again to beat the Boston Celtics 117-114 in Game 1 of the Eastern Conference finals on Tuesday night.

Kemba Walker's basket with 23.2 seconds left in overtime put Boston up by one, before Butler muscled his way to the rim for a score while getting fouled by Tatum. The Celtics went to Tatum on the ensuing possession, only to watch him get denied by Adebayo.

And the Heat – down by 13 in the first quarter, down by 14 in the fourth - struck first, ending Boston's seven-game streak of Tatum scored 30 points for the

Celtics, Marcus Smart had 26 points, Walker had 19 and Jaylen Brown added 17. Goran Dragic had 29 points, Jae Crowder scored 22, Jimmy Butler scored 20 and Adebayo had 18 for the Heat. Miami's Tyler Herro was one EDMONTON, Alberta – Denis Gurianov scored on a one-timer during a power play 3:36 into overtime, and the Dallas Stars beat the Vegas Golden Knights 3-2 on Monday night to advance to the Stanley Cup Final for the first time since 2000.

The Stars forced overtime in Game 5 with two goals in the final 10:06 of regulation. They closed out the Western Conference Final after Zach Whitecloud was sent off for delay of game for knocking the puck out of play.

Anton Khudobin had 34 saves for Dallas, facing only one shot in overtime. Captain Jamie Benn and Joel Kiviranta, a rookie like Gurianov, got the Stars even with goals in the third period.

"It's been a crazy year, right from the start, but we've stuck together as a group, and played some fun hockey," said Benn, who had never before been past the second round of the playoffs. 'We find ways to win right now, and that's all that matters."

The Stars are 5-0 in overtime this postseason. They also won

3-2 in Game 3 against Vegas, when Alexander Radulov scored

31 seconds into OT. "We always know that it might take the whole game," Tyler Seguin said. "We're a confident group." Chandler Stephenson and Reilly Smith scored for Vegas, and Robin Lehner had 23 saves. Smith put Vegas up 2-0 just 15 seconds into the third, scoring his first goal in 11 games. His wrist shot from the top of the right circle came at the end of an oddman rush that followed Lehner's kick save at the other end on a shot by Seguin. "This game, a lot like the rest of the series, we just could never get that next goal to extend it. It was 2-0, they got the 2-1 goal," Vegas coach Pete DeBoer said. "You have to give them credit. They won the net fronts in both ends." Dallas finally got on the board when Benn scored for the third game in a row. Esa Lindell had the puck behind the net after Benn won a faceoff, then pushed it out front off Radulov's stick before

Benn turned and knocked it in. Seguin had a one-timer from the middle of the left circle with the Stars on a power play with just over five minutes left. Lehner secured the puck, not allowing a rebound chance for Benn, who
