OBITUARY.

Henry F. Hall.

"Speak of me as I was; nothing extenuate; Nor set down aught in malice."

The funeral of the late Henry F. Hall of Richmond, despite the inclement weather, was largely attended on Wednesday afternoon, May 3, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. M. D. Francis, West Pittsfield. The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Luce of Richmond, assisted by Rev. Dr. Yelsey of Hudson, N. Y.

Mr. Hall died Sabbath evening, April 30, and had lived until Monday May 1, he would have attained his eighty first birthday. He was born in Richmond (only son of John Hall) in which township the greater part of his long life was passed.
His party, many years ago, showed his appreciation of his worth by electing him several times to the position of town clerk, and he was appointed also to that of postmaster of Richmond, the duties of which he honorably discharged.

Mr. Hall had a strong character, bright intellect and was a warm hearted, generous friend. For several years he had been in failing health, suffering from a disease which affected his nervous system and very perceptibly his mind. His wife, Elvira Andrews, died in February 1891, and he deeply felt her loss. Since her death, he has resided with his daughter, Mrs. M. D.
Francis. Mr. Hall had deep religious convictions, and united with the Congregational church at Richmond in 1876. Rev.
L. W. Curtis, pastor. He was conscious of his own human imperfections but felt in his own heart the power of divine forgiveness, and died at peace with men and in a sincere and humble trust in Christ, his Saviour.

He is survived by his only daughter, Mrs.
Mortimer D. Francis, and his sister, Mrs.
John Gaul of Hudson, N. Y.

Typewriting by Touch.

This is the title of a work by B. J.
Griffin, who is instructor in shorthand and typewriting in Childs' Business college, Springfield, Mass. It is an excellent, intelligent, comprehensive work. All its instructions are concise, direct, clear. Its fundamental idea is writing by touch and not by sight. In this it has struck a key note in practical instruction. This is precisely what every operator ought to do.
How many who have defective eyes would have been saved from this distressing malady had they learned the art from this useful book. The steadily looking at the rapidly moving fingers and keys has ruined many eyes past recovery.—The Exponent.

Eclectic shorthand is the only successful modern system. Its followers find it comparatively easily acquired, easily written, easily read, easily remembered and equal to the demands made upon it.—The Exponent.

The methods spoken of above are being very successfully taught in this city by Miss Mary A. Bristol. For particulars call at her office, Blatchford's book store, or her residence, 79 Maplewood avenue.

Death of George W. King.

The many Pittsfield friends of George W. King, for many years the representative of Austin Nichols & Co. of New York, in Berkshire county, will be pained to learn that he was buried at his old home at East Chatham today. For the past few years Mr. King has been engaged in the jobbing business on his own account in Brooklyn, N. Y. About nine months ago he had an attack of typhoid pneumonia, and although he partially recovered, and had until the time of his death been in the South, that sickness was the direct cause of his death.
Mr. King stood high in the regard of the business men of the county for his high moral character and strict business integrity. A well known business man said upon hearing of his death: "If George King said a thing was worth so much, that settled it." He prized his word more than the gain of a dollar, and when a man like him passes away the whole business community suffers a loss.

rectly from the Type—Something About Its Principle of Action.

An unfortunate delay in transmission, prevented us from presenting in our special anniversary number yesterday, a picture of the new Cox duplex press which is to be located in the new EAGLE building on Cottage Row. The cut was in New Bedford, and the concern there misunderstanding the message, sent it to the Cox company at Battle Creek, Mich. Instead of shipping it directly to THE EAGLE. It was started on its return trip as soon as possible and reached us this morning, just too late for the special anniversary number.

The new press is unlike any ever set up in Berkshire county, and is one of the most valuable presses in this part of the state.
In selecting it, the publishers of THE EAGLE considered its efficiency and not its expense, as it was determined to get the best. To give a description of this press which will be intelligible to the gen-

KARNER—MARKHAM.

A Pretty Home Wedding at Morningside
This Afternoon.

The wedding of Miss Lillian May, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H.
Markham, and Howard R., son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren G. Karner, took place this afternoon at 2 o'clock, at the residence of the bride's parents on Brown street. Rev.
I. C. Smart, pastor of the South Congregational church conducted the impressive ceremony, which took place in a neatly arranged bower of palms.

The bride was handsomely attired in a gown of white silk and carried a bouquet of roses. The bridesmaid Miss Emma L.
Coon of Hillsdale, N. Y., a cousin of the bride, wore a rich costume of light green bengaline, and also carried white roses.
James P. Shephard acted as best man.
Miss Katharine Farrar presided at the organ and rendered the wedding march from Lohengrin in an excellent manner, when the bride and groom appeared.

The interior of the house had been tastily decorated with palms and potted plants and presented a handsome appearance. Immediately after the ceremony a choice repast was served to the relatives and immediate friends of the contracting parties. Mr. and Mrs. Karner left amid a shower of congratulations on the 4 o'clock train for Boston and vicinity where they will enjoy a two weeks' sojourn.

The young couple are deservedly popular and the large number of valuable presents received, testified to the esteem in which they are generally held. Mr. Kar-ner has fitted up a cosy cottage at 29 Church street, and together with his bride, will be at home after the 25th inst. Among the guests from out of town who were present at the nuptial festivities, were Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Karner of Adams, Mrs. H. L. Coon and son of Hillsdale, N. Y., and Mrs. A. Francis of Norwalk, Conn.

DEAN LAWRENCE ACCEPTS

The Bishopric of the Massachusetts Episcopal Diocese.

Dean Lawrence has accepted the election to the bishopric of the diocese of Massachusetts given him by the diocesan convention held at Boston on May 4. He announces his decision in a letter to Rev. W. H.
Brooks, secretary of the convention, which was given yesterday afternoon. The letter reads as follows:

Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, Mass., May 3, 1893.

Reverend and Dear Sir—I acknowledge the receipt of your letter of May the fourth, giving me official notice of my election by the diocesan convention to be the bishop of the diocese of Massachusetts. Should the election receive the confirmation required by the church, I shall accept the sacred office. The gracious spirit that prevailed during the convention and cordial greeting that I have received from different parts of the diocese, assure me that the church in this state will give all support and encouragement to one who hesitates to accept a position which has been so nobly filled in the past.

Believing that the call of the church thus given is also the call of God, I pray that His blessing may rest upon our common work.

I remain your friend and brother, WILLIAM LAWRENCE.

To Rev. Dr. W. H. Brooks, secretary of the diocesan convention of Massachusetts.

eral reader is not an easy matter. What the public is more concerned with are results.
They want their favorite afternoon paper delivered promptly and THE EAGLE will have the press to do it.

The press is being built expressly for THE EAGLE Publishing company, and before it leaves the factory at Battle Creek, it will be tested at a speed of 5580 eight page papers an hour. It is a wonderful piece of mechanism, without intricate parts, so simple in fact that it is run with one man to manage it and a boy to gather the papers as they are turned out. The press prints directly from the type, is fed with papers automatically from a huge continuous roll, and two cylinders, one above the other, print the entire eight pages as the paper passes under them and thence to the folding attachment, which is a part of the press.

The Cox press is justly claimed to be the very best press that can be used by daily newspapers with a circulation of between 2,500 and 10,000 copies, and for afternoon papers especially to be superior backward movement of the cylinder is a feature peculiar to the new Duplex perfecting press. To accomplish this the cylinder is geared to the bed, or made to move with it, which in itself is an easy matter, but how to feed such a machine from a continuous roll involved a difficulty not readily solved. It has been done, however, by the inventor of this press in a device that so controls the paper that, after it has revolved with the cylinder as it makes its first impression, it is slipped forward the proper distance to be ready to receive an impression upon the return, or reverse movement of the cylinder, thus giving two impressions with the same rate of speed, where, in an ordinary cylinder press, one only is given.

Having gained this point, the inventor, Mr. Cox doubled the capacity of the press again by placing two type beds, each under its own cylinder. This plan necessitated a movement which would carry the paper forward after receiving the impression of the first cylinder, so as to pass its reverse upper side under the second cylinder and thus print the second side of the paper.

From this point it is carried upward to a knife which severs it from the continuous sheet and it is carried by tapes into the folder, where the papers are delivered complete at the rate of from 4000 to 5500 copies per hour according to the power employed.

The press is substantially built from the best material and weighs ten tons. It is symmetrical in structure and covers a floor space of 12x17 feet. It is 6 feet in height and has all the improvements which have been added since the first of these presses was constructed until the present time.

It will be located on a pier of masonry in the basement of THE EAGLE's new building, and when it is set up and in operation, our friends will be cordially invited to visit the press room and watch its workings.
