STORMY WEATHER ARTS FESTIVAL

November 5-7, 2021
Cannon Beach, OR

'Trois Oiseaux'
by Seth Venable

'The Three Graces'
by Hans Schiebold

Bronze Coast Gallery has been in operation for nearly thirty years and represents over 40 artists from the northwest and beyond. Providing a wide variety of sculpture from classic limited edition bronze to unique and innovative contemporary artwork, as well as exquisite paintings, we consider it a privilege to be involved with our extraordinary artists and make it a priority to intricately understand their work in order to share the experience with others. We are delighted, once again, to participate in Cannon Beach's annual Stormy Weather Arts Festival. This year we are honored to be hosting three of our remarkably talented artists.

Seth Venable

From Cedar Hill, Texas, Seth Venable has been with Bronze Coast Gallery for 14 years. His profound human figures stir emotion in all who see them – it's not uncommon for Seth's work to move visitors of the gallery to tears. He strives to capture the quiet strength and dignity of mankind in his compositions. About his work, Seth says, "I am always inspired and amazed by the people around me, becoming increasingly convinced that every individual I meet is truly a marvel in their own environment. My sincere wish is that through my work, people will recognize their own heroic nature. May they find hope through a sense of connection to all souls conquering life's changes... reaching for the same dreams...succeeding with integrity and beauty."

Hans Schiebold

Joining us from nearby Tigard, Oregon, Hans Schiebold is originally from Germany. He has been represented by Bronze Coast Gallery for more than two decades. Hans has perfected his work over nearly seventy years as an artist. His richly textured mixed-media paintings have been collected all over the country. Generally quiet about his techniques, he summed up his unique approach to painting by explaining 'All you need to do is find a way to make the color stick to the canvas.' Hans' work has ranged from abstract to more representational over the years, finding balance in his 'Implied Landscapes' that may hint at a horizon, sea, land, sky, or trees, while still leaving much to the imagination.

Linda Prokop

Originally from Indiana, Linda Prokop now calls Loveland, Colorado home. She has been part of the Bronze Coast family for 17 years. Interested in art from a very young age, it was her short stint as a secretary for another sculptor that motivated her to try her hand at sculpting. Clearly finding her calling, Linda captures the preciousness of everyday life in her family oriented sculptures. About her work Linda says, "The source of my imagery is rooted in my emotional response to the beauty of the world and a fascination with common, everyday occurrences." After a career spanning decades, Linda feels she is finally finding her voice – namely depicting the love of family.

Stormy Weather Arts Festival

Featured artist Valerie Savarie is traveling from Colorado to demonstrate her altered book sculpture techniques in the gallery for the festival weekend. Savarie uses vintage books as the centerpiece of her creations, reinventing them into unique works of art through cutting, carving, stitching and character illustrations that are part of her larger visual storytelling.

For this occasion Valerie will be showing gallery visitors how she constructs her mini "flyer" pieces into animals and creatures like bats, owls, gargoyles and fairies. Valerie's multi-dimensional book collages form an inseparable bond between words and visual arts. She will be showing a new collection of altered book art during our new exhibition.

New Exhibition

"Now & Then: 50 Years in Cannon Beach"

November 5th - January 3rd

Our new exhibition is the final chapter celebrating the 50th Anniversary of White Bird Gallery. The show brings together a broad collection of artwork by past and present artists that reflects the gallery evolution through both a contemporary and historical perspective.

The New Views grouping of artwork includes contemporary pieces by our newest gallery artists highlighting emerging mixed media styles that employ innovation in process oriented artworks. The Works From The Archives portion of the show includes a sampling of original painting and ceramic sculpture that exemplifies the history of gallery artists. Presented side by side these two collections show the breadth of individualistic styles that has continued to define the gallery aesthetic for 50 years.

Icefire Glassworks has been steadily expanding its offerings by adding in the work of new artists. For this year's Stormy Weather Arts Festival, we are featuring Jim Kingwell's "Bad Hair Day" pieces, so appropriate to the season! Jim began his career in 1971 and recently celebrated 50 years of working in glass. Suzanne Kindland will show new work in her "Emerald Forest" series, pieces that reflect the verdant beauty of the North Oregon Coast and the wooded places she loves. Mark Gordon brings warmth to the table with his fiery "Gold Watercolor" vases. Mark began his career in 2003, and he continues to amaze as he explores new territory. Fused/cast glass artist Kathleen Sheard has been framing some of her artist studies, using reclaimed/recycled wood, in keeping with her environmental stewardship. And Jeff and Heather Thompson sends their hot-sculpted marine life, including octopi, crabs, and sea turtles!

Icefire Glassworks will present glass blowing demonstrations and artist talks on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Come join us, and meet all our wonderful artists, either in person or through their work!

Joanne Shellan's talent as a painter is complimented by her natural gift as a storyteller. Her paintings capture human stories and perspectives with rich color palettes and vibrant brushwork. Each moment captured is both universal and familiar.

Doug Hansen's mixed media artwork reimagines the concept of windows on the natural world. His wall hung oil paintings take on a sculptural form and incorporate natural elements, inviting us to view nature in a new and thoughtful way.

Kathy Hastings' photo encaustic panels present the meeting points of the natural and manufactured world with visual poetry. Through abstracting the patterns of boat hulls on the waterline, and the ephemeral movement of birds, the artist reveals the beauty of stillness.

Deb Steele's contemporary jewelry is wearable sculpture. Influenced by both nature and culture, Each fine silver piece is sculpted from precious metal clay and augmented with 24K gold, semi-precious stones, and glass.

The Sesame and Lilies Upstairs Art Gallery, located on the second floor of the Cannon Beach Mall, features paintings by Diane Speakman and her daughter, Rachel Speakman. Both artists work in oil on canvas and hardboard. Diane specializes in landscapes, still-lives, and animal portraits. While their work often overlaps, Rachel specializes in animal forms, birds being her main focus. The use of a moderate palette to render the soft hues of the northwest coast gives Diane's work an impressionistic feel, which mixes seamlessly with the curated spaces of Sesame and Lilies. Her interest in the works of the old masters, impressionism, and plein-air painting drive her stylistic choices. Her new works include seascapes of the Oregon and Maine coasts, still-lives, and animal portraits. Rachel's work, on the other hand, reflects the influence of a younger generation of artists. She employs her own brand of stylized realism in her animal paintings (and sculpture) that take an edgier approach in both form and color. She is a graduate of the School of the Art Institute of Chicago. You can view more of her work online at rachelspeakman.com and her card and print line at sesameandlilies.com. More of Diane's work is available to view online at sesameandlilies.com.

Come explore 10,000 square feet of home furnishings, antiques and art upstairs in the Cannon Beach Mall. 183 N. Hemlock Street in Cannon Beach. Open Monday through Saturday, 10am to 5pm. Closed Sundays. 503.436.2027
