Man fed up with pothole plants tree in road

FORT MYERS — A man fed up with a private road in poor condition near his southwest Florida business has a novel solution: plant a banana tree in a pothole to warn motorists away.

Last week, Bryan Raymond planted the tree in a stubborn pothole along Honda Drive just off U.S. 41 in south Fort Myers. Raymond, who owns Progress and Pride Fitness Group, said the idea of planting a banana tree ripened in his mind after having to fill holes in the street multiple times.

Because Honda Drive is a private street, county officials said, it's up to the business owners to maintain the street.

For Raymond, the banana tree is an attention-grabbing repair. "If we have to maintain it and make sure nobody gets hurt, we are going to put something obvious there to make sure nobody gets in the hole," Raymond told television station WBBH.

County's outdoor attractions may actually increase appeal as cases rise

MICHAEL D. BATES Staff writer

Florida's Best Community

A rising number of COVID cases will likely decrease tourism numbers in Citrus County this fall, but the county is better positioned than most because of its nature-based activities.

That was one takeaway from Anne Wittine, director of data analysis for Research Data Services (RDS), who updated the Citrus County Tourist Development Council (TDC) at its Wednesday morning meeting

The pandemic, she said, does not show signs of abating and that continues to create reluctance in tourists to travel, despite "a huge bubble of pent-up demand."

Even with the growing case numbers, many hospitality officials in Citrus County reported high occupancy rates in July and August, she said.

Citrus offers tourists far more outdoor activities, such as manatee watching and scalloping, and that poses less health risks, she said.

That resulted in more people foregoing their normal vacation destinations and coming to Manatee tours are always a popular destination for tourists visiting Citrus County. These two tour boats slowly make their way through King's Bay. Tourism officials market such activities when they promote Citrus County.

Citrus County, she said.

"You are being exposed to markets you normally would not have," Wittine said.

Hordes of tourists were drawn to Florida, she said, because it was an "open" state "and that was a huge attractor people from in the Northeast," she said.

TDC member Gene McGee said it is vital the county keep in contact with European visitors, many of whom are still prohibited from leaving their countries due to the pandemic. The foreign market represents 30% of Citrus County tourism and visitor numbers will not return to normalcy until they return, McGee said. Contact Chronicle reporter Michael D. Bates at 352-563-3205 or mbates@chronicle online.com. To see more of his stories, visit tinyurl.com/ y6kb23vv.

Motorcycle club to host 9/11 ride, wall ceremony

BUSTER THOMPSON Staff writer

Since its inception, it's been a passion for the founding chapter of the Smoke Divers Firefighters Motorcycle Club to host a ride for Citrus County in memory of 9/11.

"It's because of the fact we lost of brothers and sisters in that tragedy ... it affected our country," said Bill Whateley, president of the national motorcycle crew made up of active and retired firefighters and their families. "That's part of our history ... it's something we honor."

During the 20th anniversary of Sept. 11, 2001, on Saturday, Whateley and his fellow riders want to make sure what happened is never forgotten.

"We've done this for so many years," Whateley said about what will be the club's eighth annual 9/11 Remembrance Ride & Ceremony.

Club members raise funds throughout the year to rent out a traveling wall engraved with the names of those who died during and following the attacks.

They then ride and escort the monument's trailer to where the wall

Prison guard pleads guilty in drug smuggling scheme

OCALA — A federal prison guard in Florida pleaded guilty Tuesday to participating in a scheme to smuggle drugs into a facility.

Wayne Grant Jr., 27, pleaded guilty in Ocala federal court to receipt of a bribe by a public official, according to court records. He faces up to 15 years in

According to the indictment, Grant, worked as a correctional officer at Coleman Federal Correctional Complex in Sumter County, west of Orlando. Grant agreed to smuggle methamphetamine into the prison for an inmate in exchange for money in December, prosecutors said. Federal authorities were notified, and Grant unwittingly began communicating with an undercover agent to complete the transaction, officials said.

Federal agents mailed approximately 70 grams of fake methamphetamine and $2,000 in money orders to a post office where Grant could pick them up, officials said. Grant deposited the money orders into his bank account and smuggled the fake drugs into the prison during a regular shift in February.

Coast Guard finds body of missing Daytona Beach diver

DAYTONA BEACH — The body of a Daytona Beach attorney who went missing while diving off the Atlantic Coast has been found, the U.S. Coast Guard said.

The agency said Jim Evans' body was spotted late Tuesday some 8 miles southeast of Port Canaveral.

The agency said Monday they'd searched for more than 100 hours for Evans, using a Jayhawk helicopter, an airplane and three of the agency's vessels.

4 bomb threats called in to Gainesville school since August

GAINESVILLE — Four bomb threats have been called in to a north Florida high school since the fall semester started last month, officials said.

The threats have disrupted operations at the school, sending students home each time, and causing scores of law enforcement to rush to the school, officials said. The latest threat came in on Tuesday.

They cause a huge strain on the school and law enforcement, Alachua County Sheriff's Det. Art Forgey told the Gainesville Sun.

"When these were received, they obviously have to be taken seriously. The school district ends up having to shorten their school day usually by evacuating the students, we end up sending multiple units over to assist the students sometimes involving other agencies," he said.

On Aug. 19, the agency sent 21 deputies to the scene, the Sun reported. Sixteen deputies were deployed to the second threat and seven were sent to the third.

Alachua County Public Schools sent a letter to Buchholz High School students and families detailing the severity of the situation if the threats continue, the newspaper reported. Anyone caught calling in a bomb threat will face "stiff penalties," including an automatic expulsion.

"Obviously, a fake bomb threat can permanently affect the caller's life. It is definitely NOT a joke," the letter reads.

Group plans to restore historic Florida Keys lighthouse

ISLAMORADA — A 148-year-old Florida Keys lighthouse could get a new life now that a community organization is poised to take ownership and begin a massive preservation project.

U.S. Secretary of the Interior Deb Haaland has approved a recommendation from the National Park Service that Islamorada-based Friends of the Pool Inc. be granted ownership of Alligator Reef Lighthouse under the National Historic Lighthouse Preservation Act. The nonprofit organization announced the approval Tuesday.

"Alligator Reef Lighthouse has stood since 1873," project organizer Rob Dixon said. "It's an important part of Islamorada's local history.

"It's our Statue of Liberty and needs to be saved."

Dixon said the restoration project is likely to take five to seven years and cost up to $9 million.

"We're going to need a lot of fundraising help and a lot of technical help," Dixon said.

Friends of the Pool hosts an annual eight-mile swimming race to the offshore lighthouse and back to fund collegiate scholarships. The effort to save the lighthouse and to start the "Swim for Alligator Lighthouse" event was conceived by Larry Herlth, an Islamorada metal artisan who created detailed replicas of Alligator Reef Lighthouse and other Keys lighthouses.

"The six lighthouses off the Florida Keys are the biggest collection of iron piling lighthouses anywhere in the world," Herlth said. "The history is just phenomenal."

Alligator Reef Lighthouse is named after the USS Alligator, a U.S. Navy schooner that ran aground on the reef in 1822 and sank.

Coast Guard rescues 4 Mexican fishermen off Key West

KEY WEST - U.S. Coast Guard crews rescued four men after their fishing boat became disabled off of Key

The fishermen told rescue crews they left from Cancun, Mexico, on Aug. 29 in a boat named Aqua Limo II. It broke down off of Key West and they were left with no food, water or fuel, the Coast Guard said in a news release on Wednesday.

The Coast Guard towed the boat and brought the men to Station Key West. They were checked out by medical staff.

An air crew from U.S. Customs and Border Protection Air and Marine Operations spotted the boat just after noon on Tuesday and notified the Coast Guard.

It was located some 63 miles southwest of Key

"It is always good to see a happy ending during a search and rescue case all while bolstering our relationship with our neighboring countries," said Petty Officer 1st Class Collin Snovell said. "We are just happy to help return the four men back home to their families."

Ex-officer accused of taking $50K from Florida police union

CLERMONT — A former police officer has been arrested on felony charges, accused of stealing nearly $50,000 from a police union while he was its president, officials said.

The Florida Department of Law Enforcement said in an email that former Clermont officer Jeremy Kevitt obtained an ATM card in 2014 and used it to spend money from the Clermont Police Officers Union bank accounts without approval. Investigators said Kevitt spent some $30,000 from an account funded by monthly payroll deposits from police officers and another $20,000 from an account set up to help pay medical bills for an injured police officer, the agency said. Money in that account was generated rom donations and fundraising events.

Officials discovered the theft last November when they received an overdraft notice about one of the bank accounts, a department news release said. He was arrested Friday.

When police confronted Kevitt, he "was defensive and complained that he did not have to help managing the account," investigators Kevitt then told them that all of the transactions were authorized and that he didn't keep receipts. When officials reviewed the accounts, authorities said, they found transactions that appeared to be personal.

Kevitt said a $100 super market purchase was spent on buying Thanksgiving dinners for the "less fortunate," and a $200 ATM cash withdrawal was given to a food bank, according to officials. When officials inquired about a $112 bill at an Indian restaurant, he ended the meeting, the agency said.

Kevitt was placed on administrative leave during an internal investigation, but submitted his resignition notice in March and left in April before the investigation was completed, the report

He was arrested Friday on felony charges of grand theft and organized fraud. Court records did not list an attorney who could speak on his behalf.

Clermont police Chief Charles Broadway said in a statement that Kevitt's actions "do not reflect the integrity, commitment and professionalism of the men and women of the Clermont Police Department."

Three arrests made in ID thefts from condo collapse

Associated Press

MIAMI — Three people have been arrested for stealing the identities of some victims in June's deadly South Florida condominium building collapse, prosecutors announced Wednesday.

Betsy Alexandra Cacho Medina, 30, Rodney Choute, 38, and Kimberly Michelle Johnson, 34, were arrested earlier Wednesday on multiple charges related to fraud and counterfeiting, the Miami-Dade State Attorney's Office announced during a news conference.

Officials have identified at least five deceased and two living victims from the building, but the investigation continues and additional victims could be found, State Attorney Katherine Fernandez Rundle said.

"These individuals appear to be very skilled in fraud schemes. The identity thieves, they're group managed to steal dez Rundle said. "Except for their names, almost nothing else about them seems to be true."

The oceanfront Champlain Towers South condominium in Surfside collapsed in the early hours of June 24, killing 98 people. Authorities were first notified of possible fraudulent activity on July 9, when the sister of one of the deceased victims contacted Surfside police, officials said. The sister had noticed password changes to the victim's bank accounts and credit cards, as well as new addresses and contact information.

None of the new addresses were the residences of the identity thieves, officials said. The group was using a series of drop locations, investigators said, adding that is a common tactic used professionals," Fernan- about $45,000 through illegal cash transfers and by making expensive purchases with fraudulently obtained credit and debit cards. Investigators said security workers at banks and retailers managed to stop another $67,000 in fraudulent activity.

Multiple agencies were involved in the fraud investigation, including Miami-Dade police, Surfside police, Aventura police, the U.S. Secret Service, the U.S. Postal Inspection Service and the U.S. Marshals Service.

Officials are still trying to determine what caused the 40-year-old building to collapse years after initial warnings about serious structural flaws. Debris has been cleared from the site and taken to a warehouse near the Miami International Airport for examination.

Jail records didn't list attorneys for Cacho Medina, Choute or Johnson.

Christian Siriano kicks off New York Fashion Week

NEW YORK — With Katie Holmes and Lil' Kim on his front row and singer Marina on the mic high above his runway, Christian Siriano helped kicked off New York Fashion Week's first big pandemic round of in-person shows Tuesday with a flurry of neon and lace inspired in part by all the Italian women in his life.

From ornate Gotham Hall, beneath a stained glass skylight 70 feet up, Siriano's commitment to size inclusivity was never stronger as he opened and closed the show with plus-size breakout model Precious Lee. She first walked in a stunning yellow trouser suit with wide loose pants and an asymmetrical jacket, a matching crossover bralette underneath.

His crowd pared down to 300 from his usual 800 guests due to the pandemic, Siriano told The Associated Press he wanted to bring the glamour in today's dark times. He harkened back in some looks to old photographs of his paternal grandmother on vacation in Positano on Italy's Amalfi Coast during the 1960s and '70s. He put vintage sunglasses on some of his models as they strutted in bright yellows, sunset oranges and emerald green gowns and dresses with huge ruffles for sleeves and bulbous skirts.

"Fashion Week is back. It's such a good feeling. New York is feeling great," Siriano said, with Kristin Chenoweth, Alicia Silverstone and muse Coco Rocha also on his front row.

The pandemic, he said, has brought on bouts of nostalgia for many, including himself. He

'Varsity Blues' trial promises fresh insights in scandal

BOSTON — The first trial in the "Operation Varsity Blues" college admissions bribery scandal will begin this week, with the potential to shed light on investigators' tactics and brighten the spotlight on a secretive school selection process many have long complained is rigged to favor the rich.

Jury selection is beginning Wednesday in federal court in Boston in the case against two parents — former casino executive Gamal Abdelaziz and former Staples and Gap Inc.

executive John Wilson — who are accused of paying hundreds of thousands of dollars to help get their kids into the University of Southern California by falsely presenting them as athletic recruits.

Though they were among dozens of prominent parents, athletic coaches and others arrested across the country when the case exploded into the headlines over two years ago, theirs is the first to go trial.

Defense attorneys are expected to argue that they believed their payments were legitimate donations and that USC's treatment of their kids was routine for parents with deep pockets.

"The government appears to want to present its one-sided evidence that the 'school wasn't okay' with granting preferential admissions treatment for donations while at the same time blocking the defendants' evidence that, in fact, the school was okay with this arrangement," the two executives' lawyers wrote in a court filing.

Their doctors make the difference.

on't be fooled—hearing loss can happen at any age. And when it does, depending on severity, a person can feel trapped in a world of silence.

Fortunately for the northern counties in Tampa Bay area, the caring audiologists at Davis Family Hearing want to help their patients hear life to the fullest. They offer a full range of hearing products, from the tiniest and most advanced technologies available to entry-level models to meet any need.

Davis Family Hearing is a medical audiology practice that only staffs doctors of audiology, guiding their patients through all treatment processes and answering all their questions along the way. They service pediatrics to geriatrics and see everything from hearing aids to cochlear implants, using state-of-the-art equipment to accurately diagnose and treat hearing and balance problems. Davis Family Hearing also specializes in all aspects of audiology, including wax removal, hearing aids, cochlear implants, bone conduction implants, and tinnitus treatment. And it all started with a caring doctor's dream.

Beginning in 2013, Dr. Joanie Davis decided to open her own institution with a unique goal in mind: to create an audiology practice that could assist everyone from newborn to senior with better hearing, and provide every patient with the highest quality of care. To this day, Dr. Davis—and her colleague, Dr. Alexis Wilson— firmly believe that their patient centered approach has enabled them to grow quickly and open additional locations to serve our area.

Davis Family Hearing has diagnosed and treated patients in West Central Florida for years. With offices in Hillsborough, Pasco, Hernando, Citrus, and now the Villages, you'll receive the same great care, the same great service, and the same warm, friendly environment in each and every office.

Dr. Wilson and Dr. Davis are Board Certified in Audiology with the Certificate of Clinical Competence awarded by the American Speech-Language- Hearing Association. They are also Fellows of the American Academy of Audiology. All Davis Family Hearing audiologists hold themselves to the highest level of care and constantly seek education on the latest treatment in hearing and balance disorders. They are the leaders in hearing aid fittings, but they offer so much more. When a hearing device isn't enough, they can advise a patient on implantable solutions. ## Obituaries

Roger S. Adams Born September 8, 1936, to Floyd and Evelyn Adams, Roger (Sherrill) was destined to make a impact in this world. He raised in rural Florida in which he created many memories to tell his family. He is well known for his ability to tell a tall tale, numerous times and always funny. Sadly, Roger left us September 4, 2021.

In 1955 joined the United States Coast Guard (USCG). He proudly served his country while being stationed in North Carolina, Massachusetts, Florida, Louisiana, Puerto Rico, Michigan, Alaska, and Oklahoma. While in the USCG, Roger (also known as Ace in the USCG) was awarded Air Medal, Secretary Commendation for Achievement Ribbon, Coast Guard Unit Service Metal Four Good Conduct Metals, Armed Forces Expeditionary Medal and Navy Expeditionary Medal (Cuban Missile Crisis); Commandant Letter of Appreciation for Outstanding Contribution to the HH52A Maintenance and Management Review. His professional honors included being named one of 6 Outstanding Federal Employees for Professional Competency by the Greater New Orleans Federal Executives Association (1965); Top 100 U.S Treasury Employees for Professional Competence (1966); Governor of Michigan Military Man of the Year (1971); Douglas J Munro Award for Outstanding Coast Guards-Worldwide Professional Competence

Navy League (1972). Very mechanically inclined, Roger was constantly thinking of how to improve things. Subsequently, he was the first person in the military to be issued a US Patent (1968) #3,380,688 for a Helicopter Hoist that was ultimately used by the U.S.C.G.; as well being acknowledged by the USCG as discovering and suggesting use of ultraviolet light for detecting aircraft oil leaks, suggesting installation of static ground receptacle near the HH52A rear fuel tank filler, and design change for HH52A main rotor mast cover.

and Leadership by U.S.

He proudly retired from the USCG in 1979. After the USCG he went on to work for Aerospatiale Helicopters, Spartan Aeronautics, and American Airlines. Ultimately, he returned to his old childhood stomping grounds and retired in Florida with his wife, Sally.

As a youth, Roger was active in the Boy Scouts and ultimately achieved the rank of Eagle Scout. With his love for scouting, he served in many leadership roles in Boy Scouts in various areas he was stationed. Не became involved with local community governments as a USCG liaison to improve relations through community service. He was a member of the Nature Coast Unitarian Universalist Fellowship.

In lieu of flowers donations can be made to United States Coast Guard Foundation https://coast guardfoundation.salsa labs.org/donate or Friends of Citrus County Animal Services at https://friends ofcccas.org

He is survived by his wife, Sally Smith-Adams, daughters Jennifer (Bobby), and Teresa (Rich). step-children Scott Smith (Wendy) and JoEllen Smith (Oscar), Grand-daughters: Chandra Adams, Kristine Adams. Nicole Mayer, Kaitlyn Smith, Lindsey Smith and Evelyn Smith, Grandsons Gary Thomas, Bobby Thomas Jr., James Smith and 4 great-grandchildren. He is also survived by his brother Mike (Marie) Adams.

Interment will occur at Bushnell National Cemetery in Florida at a later date.

Inverness OKs utility agreement, CARES funds; mulls park operation

FRED HIERS Staff writer

The Inverness City Council approved a new interlocal agreement with the Citrus County Commission over water and sewer serand for non-city residents.

The county voted 5-0 to approved by both sides in 1989, but expired in 2018.

City Manager Eric Williams encouraged the counto approve the agreement, which better well outside the city limits and also now includes the and industrial park.

As new developments come online in the city and immediately outside city limits, now is the time to lay the infrastructure framework for future development, Williams said, adding that "development's coming at a fever pitch.'

The agreement also ronment and the city's chain of lakes.

"These are what make us cember 2024. unique and beautiful." Williams said.

Williams reminded the council that 14 years ago that now operates at only 40% capacity. Good coordination with the county and lic safety issues. development would result plant, he said.

will also lead to better coordination between both governments and help set up discussions for future shared potable water use to have to sink new aquifer wells, Williams said.

The city has about 4,500 utility connections, with infrastructure. 80%-85% being inside the city limits, Williams said.

for both agencies," Williams Plaisted, asked the city the park for the city.

Council members agreed. "I think it's a very good agreement," said Councilman Ken Hinkle during the Tuesday public meeting.

Councilwoman Jacquie vices outside the city limits Hepfer said, "It's overdue ... I'm thrilled with it."

■ Also in city business, update the agreement first the council voted unanimously to accept an agreement with the Florida Division of Emergency Management in order for the city to receive its share of the state's American Resspells out the service area cue Plan Act money. The act created the Coronavirus Local Fiscal Recovery Inverness Airport business Fund which allows funds to be disbursed to local governments such Inverness.

Williams announced that the city was receiving more than originally expected. Initially, the city learned it was receiving $3.1 million but more recently saw that that Inverness was awarded $3.7 million.

council to build a shade structure over the Liberty Park playground.

Citing temperatures of over 110 degrees on playground equipment during the summer, Nancy Plaisted told the council few children use the playground when it is at its hottest.

She also cited numerous studies that showed shade structures reduce temperatures and protect against harmful sun rays linked to skin cancer and skin damage.

Williams said he would review Plaisted's presented materials.

■ Also in city business, the council voted to renew its lease with the Citrus County Sheriff's Office for its Whispering Pines Park administrative offices.

The new proposed lease for the coming year is for a total of $26,534.84. That's an increase of $6,534 annually. The increase is to cover the cost of a storage shed that the CCSO is requesting.

The council agreed the lease for the office is beneficial to both sides and the office space help the city because it allows for a law enforcement presence at

■ Mayor Bob Plaisted also asked the council to reconsider the city's operation and oversight of Whispering Pines Park.

While the city pays for park equipment and buildings in the park, Inverness does not own it. The park belongs to the state and it leases it to the city.

The city spends about $800,000 annually for the park. The County Commission donates $300,000 annually to the city to maintain the park. City officials say that about 90% of visitors to the park are not from the

For several years, the County Commission made no contributions for the park's upkeep, but it does again now. Williams told the council that if the council gave the park back to the state, it would likely not be maintained at current levels with its large swimming pool, ball fields, maintenance buildings, playgrounds, splash pad and numerous trails.

But Plaisted and enough council members agreed they would like a workshop on the costs of the park and the city's options.

one of many the Justice Department has been overseeing following the attack.

Kelly and Connie Meggs were charged with conspiring to defraud, obstructing a government proceeding, destroying government property and entering restricted grounds.

Kelly Meggs has an additional charge of evidence tampering.

Mehta slated trial dates in January and February for those defendants in custody. Defendants on pretrial release are expected to be tried in April, Mehta ordered.

Connie Meggs was released from custody in March to house arrest.

Mehta ordered Kelly Meggs to remain in custody because of his purported leadership role with the Oath Keepers one of the extremist groups involved in the Capitol's breach — his attempts to hide evidence and his intentions to harm House Speaker Nancy Pelosi.

David Wilson, the lawyer for Kelly Meggs, filed a motion Aug. 20 to have a bond hearing for his client.

Mehta said Wednesday he would not yet hear the motion or other recent court filings until the prosecution has time to respond

Carmen Hernandez, attorneys for two of the argued to Mehta the prosecution's accusations don't meet the charge definitions of conspiracy and obstructing an official government proceeding. They said the charges applies to those trying to stop a congressional hearing involving judicial matters, testimony, evidence and witnesses.

"There's nothing about an electoral college certification that says the average person would believe is justice-related,' Fischer said.

Hernandez said protesters interrupt congressional discussions on a regular basis without fear of having to face a 20-year prison sentence.

Mehta noted difference.

"That's not what your client is accused of doing," the judge said. "You cannot compare standing up in a committee room to motion's language stating what these defendants are D.C. and other urban citiaccused of, in terms of their state of mind."

U.S. Attorney Jeffrey Nestler argued the Meggses and their co-defendants were uninvited guests of a they brought to a halt with fear tactics.

'They intended to intimate Congress ... to stop what Congress was doing and made Congress members flee from their seats to stop doing what they were doing," the prosecutor said.

Nestler said the charges racists," he said. tions adopted by the and their vagueness were Meggses to dismiss the written as a catch-all to Mehta ordered Nestler David Fischer Sr. and to file a brief detailing his arguments by Sept. 22.

Fischer and Hernandez Meggses' co-defendants, also argued for Mehta to dismiss the charge of entering restricted grounds because the defendants weren't specifically in an area cordoned off by the U.S. Secret Service protecting Pence.

Nestler told Mehta it doesn't matter if the defendants were inside or outside, they were located on government grounds that was off-limits.

Mehta said a jury would be best to answer the question with a verdict.

Fischer asked Mehta to grant a different venue for trial to give defendants an unbiased jury pool outside of D.C.

"There is so much prejudice against these defendants, it's off the charts," he said. "This city ... is very anti-Trump.

Mehta said Fischer didn't have surveys to support his claim, and critiqued the lawyer for his zens don't respect the "traditional American values" found in rural settings.

'That's not acceptable,'' the judge said. "There may be valid grounds for a congressional proceeding transfer of venue ... but painting it with broad brush isn't the way to do

Nobody's perfect

To the grammar critic (in Tuesday, Aug. 24's Sound Off): Grin and bear it. Not everybody's a Rhodes Scholar.

No wonder they have bad attitudes

I'm calling in reference to an article in Wednesday Aug. 25's paper about EMS (the front-page story, "County: No to EMS request"). I've been in situations several times where I've dealt with, actually, I'm not sure if it's EMTs or paramedics that came in their emergency vehicle. I always thought that they were, most of them, kind of surly, actually - you know, kind of like bad attitudes and just always like acting like they were angry. I guess I now know why. I mean, at $9.21 and $12.72 an hour, respectively, that is absolutely pathetic. My God, somebody better figure something out or we're not going to have anybody, any emergency people here. And with a county that's mostly old people, that's a recipe for disaster. Have a good day.

Sheriff doesn't need new toys

Just what the sheriff's department doesn't need is more toys to play with (re Wednesday, Aug. 25's front-page story, "CCSO drone program takes flight"). They are having a hard time doing their job with the toys they have now. Just the other day, cars were blocking a lane of traffic waiting to get in Dunkin Donuts. A sheriff's deputy drives right by. I've been here 10 years and I've yet to figure out what it is that they do.

A true hero for our county

(Re Wednesday, Aug. 25's Page A3 story, "Let's Feed Citrus continues to feed hungry people"): What Citrus County needs is more Rev. Doug Alexanders. What a wonderful person. What a wonderful man of God. He has done more for Citrus County than any other person that you can think of. What a wonderful job ... God bless you, Doug. Thank you.

Never saw a boil water notice

At Lecanto, Florida, just receiving "all clear" on our water to drink, and "boil water" orders have been rescinded. I just don't understand, reading the Chronicle on a daily basis, I did not catch the "boil water" advertisement.

Letter did not match with the facts

I've not written for awhile but when I see a letter such as that titled "Kudos for stance on parents' rights" (Page A8, Aug. 28), I had to respond, especially when the writer purports to be stating

His first "fact" is from the CDC (May 2020). If one takes the time to read this report, one will note that this document is in regard to influenzas using data from 1946 to 2018. These dates are well before the advent of COVID.

If one looks at the current information (based upon information/research) since the start of COVID, he will see that the CDC says regarding who should wear masks: "People, including children older than 2, who are not fully vaccinated; fully vaccinated people with weakened immune systems; to maximize protection from the Delta variant and prevent possibly spreading it to others, fully vaccinated people should wear a mask indoors in public if you are in an area of substantial or high transmission.'

He then goes on to quote OSHA guidelines. OSHA of course is talking about adult workplace situations and his "facts" are from years ago. Current OSHA guidelines (again for adult workplace situations) document dated August 13, 2021: "Update to reflect the July 27, 2021 Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) mask and testing recommendations for fully vaccinated people."

I could find no scientific study that says that wearing a mask will cause oxygen deficiency in anyone. In fact, the CDC guidelines state: "People age 2 and older should wear masks in public settings and when around people who don't live in their household."

The New England Journal of Medicine (Nov. 19, 2020) states: "Masks are used primarily to reduce SARSCoV-2 transmission rather than reduce the dose of infectious particles or mitigate the severity of COVID-19." Let me repeat: Reduce SARSCoV-2 transmission. You may still get COVID, especially if unvaccinated.

I find it extremely hard to believe that any child is in school for 10 hours a day. My daughter is a teacher. While she may spend 10 hours a day (usually more) doing her job (planning, prepping, grading, reading papers, etc.), even she is not in the school the entire time. A lot of her work is done at home.

once again. The county has spent millions taking over their debt, paying insurance premiums, resolving ambulance issues, etc. Moreover, there are labor issues and new regulations coming down the pipeline that they should have anticipated, which will affect their obligations to properly serve our community. This comes to light one week before the budget cycle ends and, after the TRIM notices went out. The voting decision was tabled until Sept. 14.

The county could encourage another EMS provider to also service our community, or temporarily utilize Fire Rescue's certified professionals to provide greater support in this area. This could resolve their employee shortages and their employment retention issues. Unfortunately, this last solution has been rejected under previous administrations. What should be obvious here is that the county should stop bailing out NCEMS time and time again, and a permanent solution needs to happen. However, factually speaking, nothing is ever permanent with government.

The county is already $129.9 million in debt and counting. The most important question is: Where will permanent funding come from? This commission denied the sheriff his request for extra funding to keep citizens safe after raking him over the coals. They are now grilling NCEMS by demanding concrete numbers before bailing them out. However, it's OK to vote to borrow $7-$11 million to build an animal shelter without so much as knowing the cost, square footage, occupancy, etc. The only known variable is that taxpayers will be responsible for more debt.

How can this board be taken seriously when they do not apply the same standards to themselves as they demand of others?

Disappointed in your coverage of Afghanistan

To say I was disappointed in your paper this morning (Aug. 27) is an understatement. As an American I am appalled at your disrespect for our brave military soldiers who were killed in Afghanistan! This should have been at the top of your paper, not at the bottom! Instead, you chose to put a story about a "dog park" — unbelievable!

This is not about politics, although we all know we have no creditability in the world today, thanks to the ineptitude of the current administration. This is about disrespecting these brave men and women in uniform fighting for our freedom.

I can guarantee you, as soon as my subscription is up, I will not be renewing it; in fact, if I could get my money back, I would quit right now, but I will not give you the satisfaction of keeping my money for the rest of my paidfor subscription.

I put up with all your crap and lies during the Trump administration. I will not put up with disrespect of our military giving their lives. You should be ashamed of yourselves. This probably won't make it into your paper, but there are other media outlets and I can guarantee you I will use them.

Time will tell if Biden is successful in Afghan withdrawal

If you are wondering why there so much chaos at Kabul Airport, look no further than the chaos generated Aug. 26 when a crackpot parked his pickup near the Capitol and claimed he had a bomb. Capitol police took five hours to end the chaos, and then only because the bomber gave up.

We've had three past presidents and 20 years to get out of Afghanistan. Only Biden had the cojones to attempt such a risky operation. Now, with perfect hindsight, critics are everywhere.

Bush started the war with zero exit strategy; Obama executed bin Laden but stopped short of removing the troops; Trump failed to end the war after negotiating with the Taliban instead of the Afghans.

Extracting citizens from Afghanistan is a perilous process since the Taliban refuses to allow them entry into the airport, and explosive laden ISIS terrorists at the airport perimeter blend into the crowd.

To Biden's credit, his team is having success removing thousands of Americans and allies.

Time will tell how successful he has been separating the U.S. from that nation of religious extremists.

Ethel Kennedy: RFK assassin Sirhan Sirhan shouldn't be freed

BOSTON — Ethel Kennedy, the wife of the late Robert F. Kennedy, says assassin Sirhan Sirhan should not be released from prison, further roiling a family divide over whether the man convicted of killing her husband in California in 1968 should be freed on parole.

In a brief statement released on Twitter by her daughter, lawyer and activist Kerry Kennedy, Ethel Kennedy said bluntly Tuesday: "He should not be paroled."

"Bobby believed we should work to 'tame the savageness of man and make gentle the life of the world," Kennedy, 93, wrote.

Ethel Kennedy founded the Robert F. Kennedy Center for Justice and Human Rights. Her statement came a week after former U.S. Rep. Joseph P. Kennedy II, RFK's oldest son, also denounced the possible parole of Sirhan, 77.

Two other RFK offspring, Robert F. Kennedy Jr. and Douglas Kennedy, have said they support the release.

The California Parole Board found last month that Sirhan no longer poses a threat to society, noting that he had enrolled in more than 20 programs including anger management classes, tai chi and Alcoholics Anonymous meetings. Sirhan has served 53 years of a life sentence.

The ruling will be reviewed over the next four months by the board's staff. Then it will be sent to Gov. Gavin Newsom, who will have 30 days to decide whether to grant it, reverse it or modify it.

Fire kills 41 inmates, 80 hurt at crowded Indonesian prison

JAKARTA, Indonesia — A massive fire raged through an overcrowded prison near Indonesia's capital early Wednesday, killing at least 41 inmates, two of them foreigners serving drug sentences, and injuring 80 others.

Firefighters battled through the early morning hours to extinguish the flames as black smoke billowed from the compound of the Tangerang prison on the outskirts of Jakarta.

After the blaze was extinguished, ambulance after ambulance filled with body bags containing the victims were driven by Red Cross workers to the morgue of a local hospital, where they were stacked wall-to-wall on the floor of a room awaiting transport to a larger facility for identification.

Remembering those we lost

9/11 artifacts share 'pieces of truth' in victims' stories

BOBBY CAINA CALVAN Associated Press

NEW YORK — For nearly six years, Andrea Haberman's ashen and damaged wallet lay mostly untouched in a drawer at her parents' Wisconsin home, along with a partly melted cellphone, her driver's license, credit cards, checkbook and house keys. Flecks of rust had formed on the rims of her eyeglasses, their lenses shattered and gone.

Those everyday items were the remnants of a young life that ended when a hijacked jetliner struck the north tower of the World Trade Center on Sept. 11, 2001. Haberman was 25 and about to be married when she was killed while on a business trip from Chicago — her first visit to New York City.

Her belongings, still smelling of Ground Zero, evoked mostly sorrow for Haberman's family. To ease their pain, they donated the artifacts to the 9/11 Memorial & Museum.

'These are not the happy things you want to remember someone by," said Gordon Haberman, her father.

The collection of some 22,000 personal artifacts — some on display at the 9/11 museum, and others on display at other museums around the country — provide a mosaic of lost lives and stories of survival: wallets, passports, baseball gloves, shoes, clothes and rings.

Each person who makes up part of that tally was an individual who lived a life,' said Jan Ramirez, the museum's chief curator and director of collections.

'We knew that families — the people that have lost a loved one that day — were going to need to have a place, have a way, to remember the person that never came home from work, that never came home from a flight," Ramirez said.

Many of those personal effects were plucked from the ruins of what was once the Twin Towers. Other items were donated by survivors or by the families of those who perished.

A woodworking square, screwdriver, pry bar and a toolbelt represent Sean Rooney, a vice president at Aon Corp. who died in the South Tower. Rooney's essence was that of "a builder," his sister-in-law Margot Eckert said, making the carpenter's tools donated to the museum the "perfect antidote to the said. "Artifacts become very important. And destruction."

Rooney had phoned his wife, Beverly Eckert, at their home in Stamford, Connecticut, after being trapped by fire and smoke on the 105th floor. He spent his last breaths recounting happier times, whispering, "I love you," as he labored for air.

His remains were never found. Beverly died eight years later in a plane crash while traveling to her husband's high school in Buffalo. New York, to award a scholarship in his honor. Before she died, she had set aside the items she hoped would help tell her husband's story, that of a weekend carpenter, handyman and volunteer with Habitat for Humanity.

'We have a gravesite for her, we don't have a gravesite for Sean," Margot Eckert

Just a small part of the museum's collection of artifacts is ever on display because there are too many to show at any one time. When not in public view, the artifacts are kept offsite, most in a facility across the Hudson River in New Jersey and others stored in a warehouse near Albany, New York. Row after row of shelves are stacked with boxes filled with tragedy and remembrance

'Each piece is a little part of a puzzle," Ramirez said. "Having those important, little pieces of truth, those palpable pieces of truth — those bridges to allow people to get engaged in the story — is why we do what we do and will continue to do what we do."

Statue of Gen. Robert E. Lee comes down

DENISE LAVOIE Associated Press

RICHMOND, Va. — A statue of Gen. Robert E. Lee that towered over Richmond for generations was taken down, cut into pieces and hauled away Wednesday, as the former capital of the Confederacy erased the last of the Civil War figures that once defined its most prominent thoroughfare.

Hundreds of onlookers erupted in cheers and song as the 21-foot-tall bronze figure was lifted off a pedestal and lowered to the ground. The removal marked a major victory for civil rights activists, whose previous calls to dismantle the statues had been steadfastly rebuked by city and state officials alike. "It's very difficult to imagine, certainly, even two years ago that the statues on Monument Avenue would actually be removed," said Ana Edwards, a community activist and founding member of the Virginia Defenders for Freedom Justice & city last summer.

Equality. "It's representative of the fact that we're sort of peeling back the layers of injustice that Black people and people of color have experienced when governed by white supremacist policies for so long.'

Democratic Gov. Ralph Northam ordered the statue's removal last summer amid the nationwide protest movement that erupted after the murder of George Floyd by a police officer in Minneapolis. But litigation tied up his plans until the state Supreme Court cleared the way last week.

Northam, who watched the work, called it "hopefully a new day, a new era in Virginia."

"Any remnant like this that glorifies the lost cause of the Civil War, it needs to come down," he said.

The 21-foot bronze sculpture was installed in 1890 atop a granite pedestal about twice that tall. The sculpture was perched in the middle of a stateowned traffic circle, and it stood among four other massive Confederate statues that were removed by the

Marbled Peanut Butter Chocolate Brownies

Prep time: 25 minutes, cook time: 20 minutes, yield: 24 brownies

Chocolate Brownies:

- 1/2 cup (1/4 pound) butter ■ 2 ounces unsweetened
- chocolate, chopped ■ 1 cup Domino Golden Sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1/2 cup all-purpose flour
- Peanut Butter Marble: ■ 1/4 cup natural (no added
- sugar) peanut butter ■ 4 tablespoons butter, softened

  - 1/2 cup Domino Golden Sugar
  - 1 egg ■ 1/4 teaspoon vanilla extract
  - 1/4 cup all-purpose flour ■ 1/4 teaspoon baking powder
- powdered sugar, for topping (optional)

Heat oven to 350 F. To make chocolate brownies:

In medium saucepot over low heat, melt butter and chocolate. Remove pot from heat; stir in sugar and vanilla until blended.

In small mixing bowl, whisk eggs until frothy then stir into chocolate mixture.

Sift flour into batter and stir just until smooth. Pour batter into prepared pan, smoothing to edges.

To make peanut butter marble: In mixing bowl, cream peanut butter, butter and sugar. Add egg and vanilla; beat just until blended. In separate bowl, sift or whisk flour and baking powder then stir into batter just until combined.

Carefully spread peanut butter marble over chocolate batter. Use knife to swirl batters together, first horizontally then diagonally.

Bake 20 minutes, or until toothpick inserted in center comes out almost clean. Cool completely on wire rack before cutting. Top with powdered sugar, if desired, before serving.

Powerhouse ingredients amp up mild chicken

CHRISTOPHER KIMBALL Milk Street

Mild chicken pairs perfectly with assertive seasonings, so we often search out ingredients that deliver bold, onestroke flavor solutions. For a stir-fry packed with tons of savoriness, a combination of Chinese oyster sauce and Korean gochujang, a fermented red chili paste, delivers just that, plus a balancing, pleasant sweetness.

This recipe from our book "COOKish," which limits recipes to just six ingredients without sacrificing flavor, was inspired by the popular Malaysian dish ayam paprik. It's a quick stir-fry with big, instant flavor thanks to those sauces, as well as bright lime zest and juice.

Often, we're partial to chicken thighs over white meat for their richer flavor — and because they're difficult to overcook — but this recipe cooks so quickly that chicken breast works wonderfully. And the powerhouse ingredients offer plenty of richness.

Fresno chilies add a little heat (prik means chili) that reinforces the spiciness of the gochujang; if you prefer a milder dish, use a red bell pepper

Daniel makes memories

Summer chalupas sizzle

decided that I would like to give Gloria a break again for a week, I anyway had a couple things I wanted to share, ah sorry, it may be about relationships again. Anyway here we go!

I may share a couple of my last precious memories that we had, like 2 weeks ago as I was ready to do the chores, 1-yearold Joshua was wide awake, Gloria asked if he could go choring with me while she gets school started with the Julia and Austin. I said yes he could, so off we went to find Daisy, our family milk goat, in the pasture which is several hundred feet from the barn.

Little Joshua was all eyes, as we entered the barn, he knew what was coming, the baby goats were bleating, which he dearly loves. We put some none-GMO grain in the bucket for Daisy while I milked her.

Baby Joshua is starting to walk by now, he was toddling around me as I started to milk, he comes right up to the where I was milking, the white foamy milk in the stainless steel bucket, with big eyes he started to do some exclaiming which I could not understand, that moment was one that I just wanted to freeze and save. There is just something with animals that help children develop, and you could see his little brain spinning as we finished up the chores, then we headed back to the house, where mama greeted us with her big smiles.

She asked Joshua how the baby goats sound. He said, "Baa," and how we cheered for him, now he was impressed for sure.

Another little moment was yesterday morning when Hosanna woke up early. The two of us went to do chores together, one thing that we wanted to do this morning is to feed the fish then bring a couple catfish home for breakfast.

She was super excited as we stepped outside. Dawn was just breaking, we headed to the barn to do the chores there, then grabbed some floating catfish food and the fishing net, we were set. I think I was about as excited as she was. Our 1/2 acre pond is about 500 feet from the barn, but we didn't mind walking in the early morning, as we entered the pond I called the fish; now get this, when we call them, you can literally see the ripples in the pond when they make there way to the feeding spot. We had about 2 gallons of food, so we started to throw some

"I'd like to catch a big one," I explained to her. The fish come right to the edge, when I spied a big one we made our first dip, sure enough we caught one which wasn't that big but maybe 20 inches long, still a keeper. I told her I would like to wait on a real big one, so there we were, I was squatted down with the net with Hosanna leaning on my shoulders. I told her we have to be really quiet which she did well, finally the moment was right. Splash!

"Wow this is a big one!" I told her, it probably weighed about 6 pounds and was 24 inches long, Hosanna was jumping on the bank of the pond with excitement, when we entered the house we had to show everyone our big catch. We ended up having fresh fish out of the pond for breakfast.

I often just think about memories and what kind we are making for them. After I pass away, will my children remember me for making lots of money and having a big house to live in? Really I ask myself, are we giving that special time for our children that they need to develop emotionally, and can grow up to someday do the same for their children? Do we look in their eyes everyday and tell them that we love them?

And lets remember what Jesus said, that one soul is worth more than the whole world and everything in it. Are we valuing our children like Jesus did, when he took the time to take them on his lap and tell them stories? I'm including myself in this, am I keeping first things first?

I would like to share the recipe what Gloria made me for my birthday supper, which was a big hit by all!

Chalupas

- flour tortillas
- sour cream
- browned hamburger, seasoned with salt and pepper to taste
  - lettuce, chopped,
  - onions diced
- peppers, diced ■ cucumbers, diced
- tomatoes, diced or salsa
- shredded cheese or cheese sauce

Deep fry or toast tortillas on both sides until golden brown. (We make one or two tortillas per person.) Each person then layers the toppings of his choice onto his open face tortilla. Sometimes we snip or tear the tortillas in small pieces before placing the toppings on top to make it easier for the children to eat. A summer favorite at our house!

Yankees star Jeter inducted into HOF

Ceremony was postponed a year

AP sports writer

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. — Derek Jeter was simply Derek Jeter on his special day — smooth as silk.

On a cloudy Wednesday afternoon with the temperature in the 70s and a few sprinkles in the air and adoring fans chanting his name, the former New York Yankees star shortstop and captain was inducted into the Baseball Hall of Fame after a long wait necessitated by the pandemic.

Greeted by raucous cheers in a crowd that included NBA luminaries Michael Jordan and Patrick Ewing, several of his former teammates, and Hall of Fame Yankees manager Joe Torre on the stage behind him, Jeter took the stage after fellow inductees from the class of 2020 Ted Simmons, Larry Walker and the late Marvin Miller were honored. Jeter was touched by the moment and acknowledged how different the ceremony seemed in the wake of the recent deaths of 10 Hall of Famers.

"I'm so honored to be inducted with you guys and linked to you forever," he said. "The Hall of Fame is special because of those who are in it. We've lost way too many Hall of Famers over the last 20 months. These are all Hall of Famers who would have or could have been here, so for that reason it's not the

What was the same was the adoration displayed by the fans, who always marveled at his consistency.

'I had one goal in my career, and that was to win more than everyone else, and we did that, which brings me to the Yankee fans,' Jeter said as the fans erupted again. "Without question, you helped me get here today as much as any individual I've mentioned."

He gave much of the credit to his parents, who were in the audience with Jeter's wife, Hannah, and their two young daughters.

Deer hunters: Find answers to your FAQs

Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission

Part of many deer hunters' preseason prep includes brushing up on hunting regulations. We've compiled a list of common questions our customer call center staff and biologists receive. Not only will the following FAQs put you in the know but we hope you'll share the answers with other hunters in your favorite forum or Facebook

Still have questions? For regulations information, visit MyFWC.com/Hunting and click on "2021-2022 Hunting Regulations." Also find more links and resources at MyFWC.com/

What are the new rules for hunters who pursue deer with dogs?

Beginning July 2021, dogs pursuing deer, wild hog, fox or coyote must have collars equipped and monitored with devices that allow remote tracking (GPS or telemetry). This rule change, which was requested by dog hunters, requires these devices be attached by a collar or similar means.

Also new this year: Removing, tampering or otherwise interfering with any collar or tag (including remote tracking devices and behavior correction collars) of a dog used for hunting without the owner's permission is prohibited. Violating this rule is a second-degree misdemeanor that carries a fine of up to $500.

Keep in mind, on July 1, 2022, an additional corrective device will also be required on the collars of hunting dogs pursuing lations for the deer mandeer, wild hog, fox or coyote.

Can I use my bow during muzzleloader season?

Yes, crossbows and bows may be used during muzzleloading gun season on lands outside of the wildlife management area brochures by visiting MyFWC.com/ WMAbrochures.

Are all muzzleloaders legal during muzzleloading gun season?

The only muzzleloaders that may be used during muzzleloading gun season are those that are fired by wheel lock, flintlock, percussion cap or centerfire primer. Beginning in July 2021, muzzleloading guns designed to allow accelerant (gun powder) to be loaded at the breech may be used during muzzleloading gun season.

When hunting deer, muzzleloading guns firing single bullets must be at least .30-caliber or larger. Muzzleloading guns firing two or more balls must be 20-gauge or larger.

Precision fishing can result in lateseason scallop haul

aptain William Toney of Homosassa reports that darker waters have made for some tough conditions for late season scalloping.

"There is a band of semiclean water that is iust west of the Bird Rack and runs south to the Chassahowitzka tri-pod that is holding big scallops," Toney says. "Plan your trip on the bottom of the low tide phase to maximize your efforts to catch a limit.'

Trout fishing has been decent, but it is not game on yet.

'The fish I've been catching are in a tight location, so if you catch two in a row mark that spot and stay close to it," Toney said. "A popping cork with a D.O.A. glow 3-inch shrimp is working best for me. Marking the spot with your GPS will work. but with changing winds and tide, use a marking buoy to really dial in your drift."

Toney uses a bleach jug with 15 feet of line and a 1-pound weight to mark his trout drift patterns.

CITRUS COUNTY (FL) CHRONICLE

Toney hasn't been catching very many snook, but those that he's caught have been while redfishing. High incoming tide will be early morning this weekend.

Freshwater anglers can maximize their catch by going out late and fishing with loud topwater lures, such as buzzbaits. Nighttime fishing, however, requires solid knowledge of the waterways you will be fishing. Look for trails that are in 4 to 5 feet of water and cast your lure as far up the trail as you can. Retrieve the bait in a steady reel and don't be afraid to work it through and over patches of weeds. Some nights the bass will readily blow your bait out of the water, so be ready at all times and make sure your line isn't slack. Fishing at night requires flashlights or headlamps and make sure you have plenty of liquids to stay hydrated. Patience is also key to success after the sun sets.

I share this honor with every Canadian," said Walker, who retired in 2005. "I hope that all you Canadian kids out there that have dreams of playing in the big leagues that see me here today gives you another reason to go after those dreams. To my adopted home, the United States, I thank you for allowing this Canadian kid to come into your country to live and play your great pastime. I think we're all pretty fortunate to have two amazing countries side by side." The 72-year-old Simmons, who starred in a 21-year career with the St. Louis Cardinals, Milwaukee and Atlanta, punctuated his speech to thank four pioneers of free agency — Curt Flood, Catfish Hunter, Andy Messersmith, and Marvin Miller — "who changed the lives of every player on this stage today by pushing the boundaries of player rights.

"Marvin Miller made so much possible for every major league player from my era to the present and the future," the former catcher said. "I could not be more proud to enter this great hall with this great man. Even though my path has been on the longer side, I wouldn't change a thing. However we get here none of us arrives alone. I'm no exception.'

Miller, who transformed baseball on the labor front by building a strong players union and led the charge for free agency in the mid-1970s, was honored posthumously. Four years before he died at 95 in 2012, Miller respectfully asked to be removed from consideration for the Hall of Fame after being passed over several times.

"One thing a trade union leader learns to ever I took one look at what I was faced with, it was obvious to me it was not gonna happen," Miller, head of the Major League Baseball Players Association from 1966-83, wrote in 2008. "If considered and elected, I will not appear for the induction if I'm alive. If they proceed to try to do this posthumously, my family is prepared to deal with that.'

The family didn't. Instead, Don Fehr, who was hired by Miller to be the union's general counsel in 1977 and succeeded him eight years later, had the honor.

"Of all the players I had the privilege to represent, I want to thank you Marvin," said Fehr, now the head of the National Hockey League Players Association. "Baseball was not the same after your tenure as it was before. It was and is much better for everyone. You brought out the best of us and you did us proud."

The virus forced the Hall of Fame to cancel last year's ceremony and this year's was moved from its customary slot on a Sunday in late July to a midweek date.

Raducanu reaches semis

HOWARD FENDRICH AP tennis writer

NEW YORK - When Emma Raducanu got to Flushing Meadows to try to win her way through qualifying and earn what would be a berth in her second Grand Slam tournament, she was not planning on a particularly long stay.

Look at her now, two weeks into this adventure: The 18-year-old from Britain is the first qualifier in the professional era to reach the U.S. Open semifinals. And she hasn't even dropped a set yet.

'My flights were booked at the end of qualifying," Raducanu said with a chuckle Wednesday, "so it's a nice problem to have."

Showing off the shots and poise of someone much more experienced, the 150th-ranked Raducanu became the second unseeded teen in two days to secure a spot in the final four, eliminating Tokyo Olympics gold medalist Belinda Bencic 6-3, 6-4 in Arthur Ashe Stadium.

Not bad for someone ranked outside the top 350 in June after going about 1 1/2 years without a match — in part because of the coronavirus pandemic, in part because her parents wanted her to finish high school.

"I'm not here to chase any records right now," said Raducanu, only the third woman not ranked in the top 100 to make it this far at the U.S. Open and only the fourth qualifier to advance to the semifinals at any major it goes for 8 hours and 30 minutes.

tournament since the Open era began in 1968. "I'm just taking care of what I can do (in) the moment.' Raducanu has won all 16 sets she has contested through eight matches in New York — three during the qualifying rounds and another five in the main draw. On Thursday, she will face No. 17 seed Maria Sakkari of Greece, a semifinalist at this year's French Sakkari won 22 consecutive points she served in one stretch and beat No. 4 Karolina Pliskova, a two-time major runner-up, 6-4, 6-4 on Wednesday night to follow up her victory over 2019 U.S. Open champion Bianca Andreescu in the previous round.

The other women's semifinal will be 19-year-old Leylah Fernandez of Canada against No. 2 seed Aryna Sabalenka of Belarus.

In the men's quarterfinals Wednesday, Olympic champion and 2020 U.S. Open runner-up Alexander Zverev stretched his winning streak to 16 matches with a 7-6 (6), 6-3, 6-4 victory over unseeded Lloyd Harris. His second consecutive U.S. Open semifinal will come against No. 1 Novak Djokovic, who is bidding for a calendar-year Grand Slam, or No. 6 Matteo Berrettini. Their quarterfinal, a rematch of the Wimbledon final won by Djokovic in July, was scheduled for Wednesday night.

"I am going to watch it, like everybody else, I guess," Zverev said. "I hope

Stricker fills out US team with four more Ryder Cup rookies

Equipped with the most captain's picks in Ryder Cup history, Steve Stricker added four more rookies to his American team that included a mixture of obvious choices and perhaps a surprise, but no Patrick Reed.

Stricker filled out his 12-man team with Tony Finau, Xander Schauffele, Jordan Spieth and Harris English. They were the next four in the Ryder Cup standings. The other two picks went to Daniel Berger and Scottie Scheffler.

Reed has a history of thriving in team events with his personality and short game. He has a 7-3-2 record in the previous three Ryder Cups and is undefeated in singles. But he has had a poor summer, and Reed couldn't play the final two qualifying events while hospitalized with pneumonia that made him fear for his

He returned to play the Tour Championship and tied for 17th in the actual score from the 30-man field.

Europe's qualifying ends after this week's BMW PGA Championship in England, and then Padraig Harrington announces three captain's picks. The Ryder Cup is Sept. 24-26 at Whistling Straits in Wisconsin. Europe not only is defending champion, it has won nine of the last 12 times dating to 1995.

The six automatic qualifiers were Collin Morikawa, Dustin Johnson, Bryson DeChambeau, Justin Thomas, Brooks Koepka and Patrick Cantlay.

- From wire reports

The Bucs finished last season on an eight-game winning streak, including a 31-9 rout of Patrick Mahomes in the Super Bowl. He's confident team leaders won't allow complacency to become a problem.

"They know what it takes. ... I don't have to say anything," Arians said.

The reigning champions launch the NFL season at home against the Dallas Cowboys on Sept. 9.

HAVING FUN

Despite not having training camp, preseason games and a normal offseason to prepare for his first year with Tampa Bay due to the coronavirus pandemic, Brady threw for 4,633 yards, 40 touchdowns and just 12 interceptions in 2020. He passed for another 1,061 yards and 10 TDs vs. three interceptions in four playoff wins.

What has also emerged is another side of Brady, who appears to be enjoying himself a lot more than he displayed publicly during a 20-year stint with the Patriots.

Asked if that can be attributed to getting older, a change in environment or desire to connect more with fans, the quarterback said it might be "all of the above."

"It's nice that I've found my voice more," Brady said. "I really enjoy being around my teammates, my coaches. It's been a different environment ... playing with this group of guys.

KEEPING THE BAND TOGETHER

Arians and general manager Jason Licht kept a vow to do everything possible to keep a talented roster intact around Brady, who also signed a contract extension that created salarycap space to help the team to ensure all 22 starters, plus kicker Ryan Succop, remain with the Bucs.

The continuity, as well as Brady's increased comfort level with Arians' offense, are among the reasons the Bucs are positioned as well as any defending champ since the '03 and '04 Patriots to chase consecutive

STINGY DEFENSE

The Bucs have led the NFL in rushing defense each of their two seasons under defensive coordinator Todd Bowles, whose game plans helped corral Drew Brees, Aaron Rodgers and Patrick Mahomes during the team's playoff run. Barrett, David and Suh were among the players receiving new deals during the offseason. They're confident the defense can be even better in

"We weren't perfect, and we can never be perfect. There is always work to do, and there's always something to get better at," cornerback Carlton Davis said. "Complacency is the worst thing for an athlete, so we are just trying to correct what we didn't do well and get better at that while continuing to do the things we did do well.'

BLING BLING

The Super Bowl rings the Bucs received just before the start of training camp in July are quite a sight. The top features 319 diamonds, reflecting the score of the team's 31-9 rout of Mahomes and the Kansas City Chiefs in the NFL title game.

TAMPA BAY BUCCANEERS (15-5 last season, Super Bowl champions)

New faces: LB Joe Tryon-Shoyinka, OL Robert Hainsey, RB Giovani Bernard.

Key losses: None.

Strengths: Tom Brady turned 44 during training camp and is not showing any signs of getting old. He has a plethora of playmakers at his disposal, as well as one of the NFL's top defenses to help him chase an eighth Super Bowl Weaknesses: After finding a way to retain all 22 starters, the defending champs truly are a team with no perceived weaknesses. A young secondary that was a liability early last season not only improved steadily, but was dominant during a postseason run that included victories over Drew Brees, Aaron Rodgers and Patrick Mahomes.

Camp Development: The return of O.J. Howard, who missed most of last season with an Achilles tendon injury, provides Brady with yet another talented playmaker to go along with receivers Mike Evans, Chris Godwin, Antonio Brown and Scotty Miller, running backs Leonard Fournette and Ronald Jones, and fellow tight ends Rob Gronkowski and Cameron Brate.

FanDuel Says: Win Super Bowl: 6.5-1. Over/under wins: 111/2.

Expectations: It's Super Bowl or bust. The team's first NFC South title in 14 years is a short-term goal, but Brady won't be satisfied with anything short of hoisting an eighth Lombardi Trophy. Neither will a ball-hawking defense assembled around linebackers Devin White, Lavonte David, Jason Pierre-Paul and Shaquil Barrett. No team has repeated as Super Bowl champs since the Brady-led 2003 and 2004 Patriots. A compelling argument can be made, though, that no reigning champion since then has been more equipped for the challenge than this year's Bucs.

Boston Red Sox third baseman Bobby Dalbec gets the throw at third base to tag out Tampa Bay Rays third baseman Joey Wendle for the final out in the Red Sox's 2-1 win over Tampa Bay Rays in a game Wednesday, at Fenway

Renfroe lifts Red Sox

DOUG ALDEN Associated Press

BOSTON — Hunter Renfroe hit a two-run homer in the eighth inning and threw out Joey Wendle trying for a triple from deep center field for the final out of the ninth as the Boston Red Sox beat the Tampa Bay Rays 2-1 Wednesday night.

Renfore's big bat and strong arm helped the Red Sox avoid a threegame sweep against the AL East-leading Rays.

He drove a hanging slider from reliever JT Chargois (5-1) over the Green Monster in left field just after Boston had fallen behind in what had been a scoreless tie through the first seven innings.

A half-inning later, the right fielder tracked down Wendle's drive toward the deepest part of Fenway Park after center fielder Danny Santana dived and missed. Renfroe's one-hopper from just in front of the warning track reached third baseman Bobby Dalbec just in time to tag the sliding Wendle.

Renfroe also threw out Manuel Margot for the last out of the fourth inning when he tried for second on a base hit toward the right field corner. Umpires reviewed the play for about a minute before confirming the initial call.

Boston pulled within nine games of Tampa Bay for the division lead. The Red Sox started the day a halfgame behind the New York Yankees for the top AL wild card.

Tampa Bay's Nelson Cruz drove in the game's first run with a single up the middle off Garrett Richards in the eighth, driving in Brandon Lowe after he reached on a twoout single and Wander Franco walked.

Richards (7-7) got the win and Hansel Robles pickeed up his 12th save. Nathan Eovaldi pitched seven shutout innings for Boston. striking out eight and allowing just three hits and two walks.

Shane McClanahan pitched five scoreless innings for the Rays, holding Boston to three hits and a walk while striking out three.

TRAINER'S ROOM

UP NEXT

Rays: Open a three-game series Friday night at Detroit. Cash said RHP Michael Wacha (3-4, 5.54 ERA) is likely to start the opener against LHP Matthew Boyd (3-8, 3.89) for the Tigers.

THIS DATE IN BASEBALL

1914 — George Davis of the Boston Braves pitched a 7-0 no-hitter against the Philadelphia Phillies in the second game of a doubleheader. Davis' no-hitter was the first thrown at Fenway Park, home of the Red Sox.

1922 — Baby Doll Jacobson hit three triples to lead the St. Louis Browns to a 16-0 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

1936 — The New York Yankees clinched their eighth American League pennant with a doubleheader sweep of the Cleveland Indians, 11-3 and 12-9. The Yankees finished 19 1/2 games ahead of the Detroit Tigers for the largest margin in team history.

1945 — Dick Fowler of the Philadelphia Athletics pitched a 1-0 no-hitter against the St. Louis Browns in the second game of a doubleheader. 1948 — Rex Barney of the Brooklyn Dodgers pitched a 2-0 no-hit victory against the New York Giants on a rainy day at the Polo Grounds. He walked two and struck out four.

1965 — Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers tossed his fourth no-hitter, a perfect game, against the Chicago Cubs. Koufax fanned 14 in the 1-0 victory while Cubs pitcher Bob Hendley allowed one hit — a double by Lou 1988 — Atlanta's Bruce Sutter joined Rollie Fingers and Rich Gossage as the only pitchers to save 300 games as the Braves beat the San Diego Padres, 5-4 in 11 innings.

1992 — Robin Yount became the 17th player to reach 3,000 hits in the Milwaukee Brewers' 5-4 loss to the Cleveland Indians. Yount singled to right-center off Cleveland's Jose Mesa in the seventh inning.

1998 — The New York Yankees officially clinched the AL East title, the earliest in AL history, beating the Boston Red Sox 7-5. The Yankees improved to 102-41 — 20 1/2 games ahead of second-place Boston.

2001 — Barry Bonds hit three home runs to give him 63 for the season. The third homer was a three-run shot in the 11th inning lifting San Francisco over the Colorado Rockies 9-4. Bonds broke Roger Maris' record of 61 for most homers in a season by a left-handed hitter.

2004 — Joe Randa had six hits and tied a major league record with six runs, and Alex Berroa hit a three-run homer and drove in a career-high five runs in Kansas City's 26-5 victory over Detroit in the first game of a doubleheader. Randa became the first AL player to have six hits and six runs in the same nine-inning game.

2017 — Jose Abreu became the first White Sox player to hit for the cycle in 17 years in Chicago's 13-1 rout of the San Francisco Giants.

Let's start today with a tough question. Who wrote this?

"Although I have been prevented by outward circumstances from observing a strictly vegetarian diet, I have long been an adherent to the cause in principle. Besides agreeing with the aims of vegetarianism for aesthetic and moral reasons, it is my view that a vegetarian manner of living by its purely physical effect on the human temperament would most beneficially influence the lot of mankind.'

Now for a slightly easier bridge problem. South is in four spades. What should he do after West leads the club king? In an echo of yesterday's column, yes, South could have opened two no-trump.

His hand does contain 7 ace-king points (2 for an ace and 1 for a king). Kaplan and Rubens deem this hand worth 20.1 points — just enough.

If South had opened two notrump, he would have been in three no-trump and would have had to play the spade suit with the same care as our declarer in four spades.

South is certain to lose one trick in each minor suit, so he can afford only one trump loser.

When the spade ace drops the queen from West, declarer must avoid the temptation to play for the doubleton queen-jack. Instead, he should continue with a low spade to dummy's 10.

In a moment, when on the board with the diamond ace, South will play a spade to his eight, draw East's last trump and claim.

His probability of success is nearly 82%.

The quote above was written in a letter in 1930 by Albert Einstein.

Annıe offers advice

ear Annie: My boyfriend and I have been in a relationship for 10 years. We've had a lot of trials but always managed to hold onto each other and weather the storms.

The last major trial was that I cheated on him with one of our best friends. I feel terrible about it: in fact. I think I may have managed to break my heart m o r e than my b o y friend's. Anyway, he says that he still loves me, and we're still together. But we no longer share a bed; we no longer

DEAR ANNIE

share much of anything, honestly, except a roof and a rare romantic night now and then.

Should I let him go or just give him more time to truly forgive me? I love this man beyond measure, but if I'm destined to be hurt, I'd like to just get it over with now. Guilt-Ridden Boyfriend

Dear Guilt-Ridden: Betrayal hurts. Sometimes it inflicts wounds too deep for either partner to adequately treat on his or her own, no matter how badly they want to make it better. A couples therapist can help you begin the real healing. Make an appointment today.

Dear Annie: Long story short, my husband has one sister who just thinks that she can do no wrong. "Kathy" and her husband are very strict with their kids and think we are not strict enough with ours. I hear through the grapevine that Kathy says nasty things about my parenting style.

My daughter had a boyfriend when she was 14, and Kathy didn't approve of that. But as long as her parents (us) know, then what does it matter to her? In my view, Kathy needs to tend to her own family, who are far from perfect — believe me. I just want her to mind her own business and keep her thoughts to herself because what we do at our house is under our roof. No one pays the bills here but my husband, and I couldn't care less about what others think. Why does she think it's her place to constantly criticize our family? — Big Šigh

Dear Big Sigh: It's interesting that you say you couldn't care less what anyone thinks, when your entire letter says otherwise. Quit letting Kathy live rent-free in your head. Ask the messenger to stop relaying her supposed opinions to you. For all you know, this person could be mischaracterizing her statements just to gin up drama. In any case, you know that you're taking care of your own, and that's what matters.

Dear Annie: I am a licensed professional counselor who has a private practice in Oklahoma. I read the letter from "Twice Bitten," who was terrified to kiss women after his last girlfriend intentionally bit his tongue just to be abusive. You recommended that he go to therapy to help process the abusive relationship, and I appreciated that, as I feel that it's always good to seek professional help when needed. But I wanted to add that sometimes when a person rethinks what happened, they can look at it from a different perspective, and it helps control their reactive emotions connected to the issue.

"Twice Bitten" might want to consider this aspect. As long as you allow your ex's actions to affect your thought process and reactions, they are controlling you. I absolutely do not allow this in my life by simply thinking about them controlling me and telling myself no one has the right to do that. This doesn't always work, but you'd be surprised how often it does. Kathi H.

Dear Kathi: Sometimes, little adjustments to our thought patterns really can make a big impact. Thanks for sharing your professional insights.

How to Avoid a Fake Check Scam

- INSIST ON CASH
- Never use money from a check to send gift cards, money orders, or wire money to strangers or someone you just met. Many scammers demand that you send money through money transfer services like Western Union or MoneyGram, or buy gift cards and send them the PIN numbers. Once you wire money, or give someone the gift card PINs, it is like giving someone cash. It's almost impossible to get it back.
