NEWS BRIEFS

Participate in Smart Irrigation Month

The Citrus County Department of Water Resources invites Citrus County to participate in Smart Irrigation Month during the month of July.

Those who irrigate their lawns, plants, gardens, flowers and landscapes can follow simple steps to become more efficient:

■ Only irrigate when you need to.

■ Always have a functioning rain interrupting device, so that the irrigation system is not running in the rain.

■ Make sure the water is not hitting and/or running off onto sidewalks and streets.

■ Perform quarterly walks of the irrigation system while it is running to ensure all is well.

■ Consider upgrading an existing irrigation controller to a smart EPA Water Sense model. Visit epa.gov/watersense for available products and rebates.

To learn more about operating an irrigation system, attend the county's Irrigation 101 course at ccufflprogram.eventbrite.com.

MPO Advisory Committee to meet

The Hernando/Citrus Metropolitan Planning Organization (MPO) Citizens Advisory Committee (CAC) will conduct a public meeting at 1 p.m. Wednesday, July 28, at the Hernando County Building Training Facility, 1661 Blaise Drive in Brooksville.

Items scheduled on the agenda include, but are not limited to:

■ General informational items.

■ Metropolitan Planning Organization (MPO) meeting summary of June 17.

■ FY 2021-FY 2022 Unified Planning Work Program amendment.

■ FY 2022-FY 2026 Transportation Improvement Program amendment.

■ Interlocal funding agreement.

■ Complete streets scope of services for approval — Tindale Oliver and Associates.

Approximately one week prior to the meeting the meeting agenda may be viewed online at hernandocounty.us/hernandocitrusmpo.

Man leaves fate up to judge

Stambaugh charged with attempted premeditated murder; faces 10 years

BUSTER THOMPSON
Staff writer

A Crystal River man decided to leave up to a decade of his life in a judge's hands for almost killing someone during an argument.

Patrick Walter Stambaugh pleaded no contest Thursday, July 22, to a charge of attempted premeditated murder.

Stambaugh agreed to change his not-guilty plea in exchange for a state prison sentence of up to 10 years.

Citrus County Circuit Court Judge Richard "Ric" Howard will decide the 34-year-old's punishment during a Sept. 14 sentencing.

Stambaugh also had an option of taking a 10-year plea offer from Assistant State Attorney Patricia Diaz, but opted with his open plea to have Howard possibly give him a lower sentence.

Assistant Public Defender Alex Lizanich, Stambaugh's lawyer, told Howard he has out-of-town witnesses coming to speak for Stambaugh. Lizanich also said his client's victim didn't want to be involved in the case.

Citrus County Sheriff's Office deputies arrested Stambaugh Jan. 15 during their response to a domestic fight at an address

Key Center runners cross the Suwannee River

MATTHEW BECK/Chronicle

Six Run for the Money runners and eight Key Training Center program participants along with Key Center staff make their way over the Suwannee River on Thursday, July 22, on the Joe H. Anderson Sr. Bridge. Run for the Money runners and Key Center participants have traditionally met north of the Gilchrist County line to cross over the Suwannee as a sign of solidarity. Runners in the annual fundraiser are in the final portion of their 180-mile trek from Tallahassee to Citrus County.

Runners and Key Training Center program participants gaze at the dark waters of the Suwannee River on Thursday, July 22, as they stand on the Joe H. Anderson Sr. Bridge at the Gilchrist County line. The run ends Saturday with a welcome-home celebration beginning at 10 a.m. at the Key Training Center in Lecanto. The center also will host a telethon Saturday on its WYKE Key TV network, channel 16 Spectrum and Comcast. The telethon will run from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. For more information, visit www.keytrainingcenter.org.

Health officials push vaccines as cases spike

FRED HIERS
Staff writer

As coronavirus cases surge across the country with new and more deadly variants, Citrus County health officials continue to urge local residents to get vaccinated.

About 51% of the county's eligible recipients of the vaccinations have been inoculated. The number of new and detected in Citrus County cases, from July 9 to July 15, was 156, up 95% from the seven days before, according to the Florida Department of Health website. That was the most recent data available from the DOH.

Audrey Stasko, spokeswoman from the DOH in Citrus County, said the county's vaccination rate needs to be higher if the virus' spread is to be more restricted.

"We know the vaccinations protect against the variants," Stasko said. "And the more people we have vaccinated, the more people we'll have protected, which results in a decrease in the spread of the virus."

The two county hospitals emailed the Chronicle saying they are preparing if COVID-19 cases increase and patients thus far are not being turned away. The Chronicle requested to meet with the heads of each hospital about preparations, but the hospitals denied the request.

Learn how to prepare for a hurricane today

Attend a hurricane preparedness presentation from 10 to 11:30 a.m. Friday, July 23, at the Friends of Citrus and the Nature Coast Wings Grief Center, 8471 W. Periwinkle Lane in Homosassa. The presentation will be provided by the emergency management director from the Citrus County Sheriff's Office. Attendees will gain information about what to do before, during and after a hurricane. This event is open to the public and will follow CDC guidelines. Space may be limited. To reserve a spot, call 352-249-1470.

To learn more about grief services, visit friendsofcitrus.org or Friends of Citrus on Facebook.

Attend an ABC of Dementia workshop today

Seats are still available at the ABC of Dementia workshop from 10 a.m. to noon July 23 at the Coastal Region Public Library, 8619 W. Crystal St. in Crystal River.

The workshop will provide an overview of Alzheimer's disease and other forms of dementia, explain how they affect the individuals living with dementia and show how care partners can use this knowledge and techniques of voice, approach and appropriate touch to provide more effective and compassionate care. Citrus County's Libraries, which have been certified Dementia Friendly, provide this training for all of their personnel and encourage the public to benefit from the workshops.

To reserve seats, call Debbie Selsavage at 352-422-3663 or email deb@coping.today.

Church to have Family Palooza Fest on Saturday

Solid Rock Church will have a Family Palooza Fest from 4 to 9 p.m. Saturday, July 24.

There will be vendors, food trucks, bouncy houses, games and a live concert with national recording artist and lead singer of Newsong, Russ Lee.

Solid Rock Church is looking for businesses and food trucks to participate and sell their services. Participants must pay a $50 sitting fee and are responsible for bringing their own canopy.

Summer RISE helps youths plan

HANNAH SACHEWICZ
Staff writer

Citrus County's rising seniors and recent graduates were invited to participate in Summer RISE, a program designed to provide the county's youths with Resources, Information, Support and Entry into post-secondary learning.

Patrick Simon
president, Citrus County Coalition for College and Careers.

Approximately 75 students from the class of 2022 attended the two-day course for rising seniors on July 21 and 22 at the College of Central Florida (CF).

"It exceeded our expectations in student responses," said Patrick Simon, Citrus County Coalition for College and Careers (CCCCC) president.

Simon said he believes students were especially motivated by the $500 scholarship offered to class of 2022 attendees.

"I think the other part that has been a positive for us," Simon said, "is the response of our teachers and volunteers that are willing to help the students with the steps and processes to lead them somewhere after high school."

The rising seniors were split into three groups to participate in three to four, one-hour-long sessions over two days.

The first day focused on post high school plans, a presentation and tour of CF and FASFA assistance. The second day included creating a résumé, writing a college essay, how to maximize your guidance office and mock interviews.

On the second day of the program, CCCCC director Darrick Buettner helped students get a jump start on their college admissions essay with a standard narrative prompt.

The one-hour session is designed to help students write a solid first draft. "To have a great polished essay, you're going to have to revise these multiple times," Buettner said to the group.

Educators, civic and business leaders also volunteered their time to assist students with mock interviews.

"In every part of their life, there's going to be the requirement to sit in front of someone and talk about who you are," Simon said. "They are critical no matter what you choose to do.

The goal of Summer RISE and the CCCCC, Simon said, is to assist students with whatever they need for the post-secondary path they plan to take, whether it be college, vocational school, military or the workforce.

When asked about what he hopes to take away from RISE, Lecanto High School rising senior Joshua Brunk said, "I'm hoping to have a better idea of where I'm going and what I can do to set up my future."

JEFF BRYAN/Chronicle
Cage Newman, right, a rising senior at Lecanto High School, goes over his college essay with Hollie Dutcher, a Lecanto High teacher, on Thursday, July 22, during the Summer RISE Program at the College of Central Florida's Lecanto campus.

Citrus High School rising senior, Taylor Koon, said she heard about the RISE program from her guidance counselors at a school assembly. "I'm hoping that by the end of Summer RISE, I can have everything organized," she said.

Emily Little, a rising senior at Crystal River High School, said she hopes the program will help prepare her for the college application process and make it less overwhelming during her senior year.

Summer RISE also offered a one-day program from 2020 and 2021 graduates on July 21, which focused on assistance with college and the workforce.

This program is thanks to the partnership between the Citrus County YMCA, CF, the Citrus County Education Foundation, Citrus County School District, Citrus County Chronicle and the CCCCC.

Inverness council donates to sheriff's memorial

FRED HEIRS
Staff reporter

Until this week, the Citrus County Sheriff's Office memorial to law enforcement officers who died in the line of duty was $28,000 short of completion.

In May, the agency unveiled the first of three statues at the sheriff's office building in Inverness. Three law enforcement officers have died serving Citrus County during its history.

Local businesses and organizations donated about $32,000 toward the bronze statue of a Citrus County deputy kneeling and holding a folded American flag. With the donation of materials and services, the donations are worth $60,000. No public money was used for the project, until now.

Inverness City Council members agreed this week to donate $10,000 of public money toward the project and in the same stroke, challenged other county governments, namely the Citrus County Commission and Crystal River City Council, to match their donation.

"I think they'll rise to the occasion," Inverness Mayor Bob Plaisted said during this week's Inverness council meeting.

Councilman Ken Hinkle said the money was a way for the public to show support for local law enforcement and the sacrifices they make here.

Council president David Ryan said the donation was a "small thing they could do to honor fallen officers."

Councilman Cabot McBride said that amid many efforts in other cities to defund law enforcement in their communities, a donation from Inverness would say that here law enforcement is appreciated.

"It is outrageous," McBride said of the defunding movement. "We love cops and appreciate what you guys do."

Citrus County Sheriff Mike Prendergast said people often stop at the memorial to pay their respects and reflect.

"It is a beautiful memorial," Prendergast told the council, adding that it was time to finish it. "It's long overdue."

Prendergast said that any additional money beyond the $28,000 would be put to good use, namely the landscape upkeep for the memorial.

In addition to government donations, Prendergast said he would still welcome private donations, regardless how small.

Donations can be made at the sheriff's office in Inverness at 1 Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Ave., Inverness, FL 34450.

Councilwoman Jacquie Hepfer said that since her father was a former chief of police in Inverness, "the memorial was near and dear to my heart."

City Manager Eric Williams said the memorial is a destination for the city and downtown.

"I would say it's an important project for the city," he said.

Man charged in attack of stranded motorist

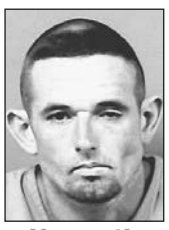

BUSTER THOMPSON
Staff writer

A good deed turned violent when a homeless man from Crystal River allegedly struck a stranded motorist with a piece of rebar because he thought a shoe of his was stolen.

Kenneth McClellen Adkins, 37, faces a charge of aggravated battery with a deadly weapon.

According to Adkins' arrest report, Citrus County Sheriff's Office deputies responded Monday, July 19, to the 5500 block of West Bonanza Drive in Beverly Hills, where they met with a man who had been delivering building supplies to the address.

He told deputies his truck got stuck in sand while he was unloading when a man — later identified as Adkins — walked onto the construction site to help get the truck unstuck.

Kenneth Adkins

Adkins showed the man a child's sized sports cleat before he went back to helping him, but then told the man one of the shoes went missing.

Adkins looked for the shoe before he picked up a piece of rebar, approached the man and asked him what he did with the shoe. Adkins then swung the rebar at the man, who blocked the weapon with his forearm, according to the arrest report.

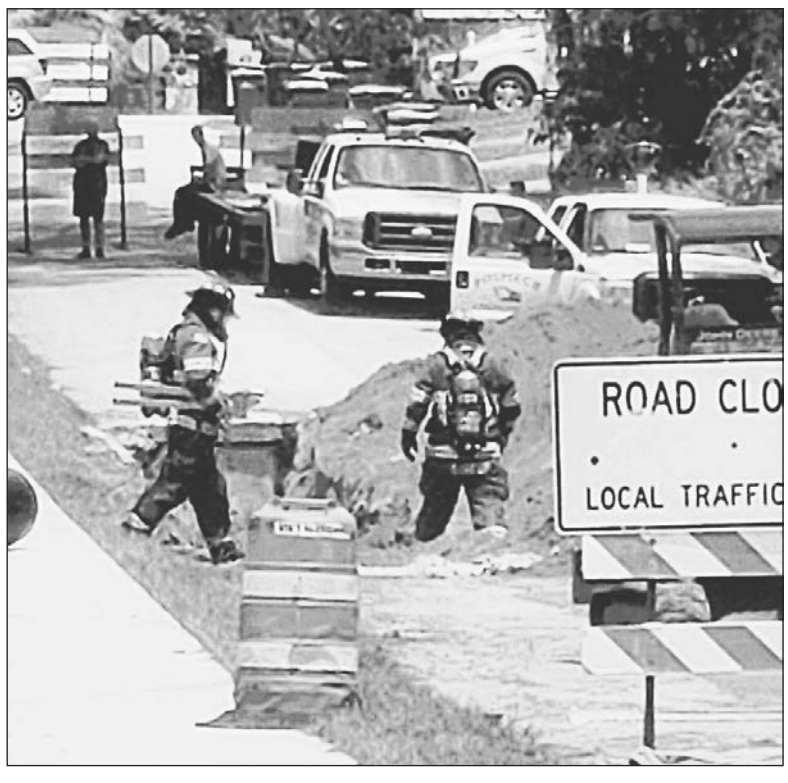

In his defense, the man picked up a shovel and swung it at Adkins, who retreated, still claiming the man stole his cleat. Deputies documented the man's injuries to his arm.

Deputies searched the neighborhood for someone fitting the description of the man's assailant, and found Adkins, who matched the description, walking on West Bonanza Drive near North Yacht Terrace.

Adkins, according to his court-filled arrest report, told deputies he believed the motorist he was helping stole his cleat, and he grabbed the rebar to scare the man, but denied swinging it.

Deputies arrested Adkins, whose bond was set at $10,000. His arraignment was set for Aug. 23.

Gas line ruptures, causes evacuation of Inverness apartment

Citrus County Fire Rescue hazmat crews get ready to clamp a 2-inch gas line the afternoon of Tuesday, July 20, on Colonade Street in Inverness after the line ruptured because of drainage construction. No injuries were reported.
Citrus County Fire Rescue

BUSTER THOMPSON
Staff writer

Construction underneath an Inverness roadway ruptured a gas line, causing an apartment to evacuate.

Citrus County Fire Rescue (CCFR) and Inverness Fire Department crews responded at around 2 p.m. Tuesday, July 20, to Colonade Street, where workers with Pospiech Contracting were excavating to install a drainage line when their equipment tore a 2-inch gas line, according to CCFR.

Firefighters evacuated residents from the Colonnade Park Apartments before CCFR's hazmat unit from Homosassa clamped the leaking line, controlling it by 2:50 p.m.

Once it was secured, the scene was turned over to Florida Public Utilities to complete repairs, and residents returned to their homes.

No injuries were reported.

Rolling Stones relaunch U.S. tour

NEW YORK — Time is finally on their side.

The Rolling Stones announced on Thursday the relaunch of their U.S. "No Filter" tour, which had been derailed by the pandemic, beginning in St. Louis on Sept. 26.

"I'm so excited to get back on the stage again and want to thank everyone for their patience," frontman Mick Jagger said in a statement. "See you soon!"

Added Keith Richards: "We're back on the road! See you there!"

The 2021 No Filter tour begins Sept. 26 at The Dome at America's Center in St. Louis, followed by rescheduled stops in Charlotte, Pittsburgh, Nashville, Minneapolis, Tampa, Dallas, Atlanta, Detroit and Austin. The band has also added three new dates, including the New Orleans Jazz and Heritage Festival — their first time playing there — on Oct. 13, Los Angeles on Oct. 17 at SoFi Stadium, and Las Vegas on Nov. 6 at Allegiant Stadium.

Tickets will go on sale July 30 for the new shows. The statement added that previously scheduled dates for Vancouver, Louisville, Cleveland and Buffalo could not be rescheduled; ticketholders will be contacted by Ticketmaster.

Further information is available on www.rollingstones.com.

Obama-Springsteen book 'Renegades' coming in October

NEW YORK — There's a new chapter in the friendship between Barack and the Boss.

"Renegades: Born in the USA" is a bound edition of the popular "Renegades" podcast featuring conversations on everything from fame to cars to the country itself between former President Barack Obama and Bruce Springsteen. Penguin Random House and Obama's Higher Ground company announced Thursday that "Renegades" will come out Oct. 26. The $50 book will include rare photographs, handwritten Springsteen lyrics and annotated Obama speeches.

"Over the years, what we've found is that we've got a shared sensibility," Obama said in a statement. "About work, about family, and about America. In our own ways, Bruce and I have been on parallel journeys trying to understand this country that's given us both so much. Trying to chronicle the stories of its people. Looking for a way to connect our own individual searches for meaning and truth and community with the larger story of America."

This image provided by Crown shows the cover of "Renegades: Born in the USA" by former President Barack Obama and musician Bruce Springsteen.

In an introduction for the book, Springsteen wrote that he and Obama had raised serious issues about the "fate of the country, the fortune of its citizens, and the destructive, ugly, corrupt forces at play that would like to take it all down."

off of West Mayo Drive in Crystal River.

Deputies found an emotional Stambaugh standing and screaming outside a house, brandishing a large knife and covered with blood, according to the arrest report.

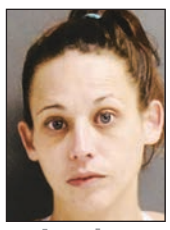

Stambaugh approached a deputy who, with their sidearm aimed at Stambaugh's chest, ordered him to drop the knife, which Stambaugh did before he was detained.

After speaking with Stambaugh, witnesses and Stambaugh's victim, deputies reported Stambaugh struck the victim multiple times and choked them until they lost consciousness.

According to his arrest report, Stambaugh also put the knife up against the victim's throat, and threatened to take their life before his own. His victim was hospitalized with traumatic injuries, including a broken jaw, facial lacerations and head injuries.

Stambaugh's original charges of aggravated battery and domestic battery by strangulation were dropped.

■ Jessica Marie Hill rejected the prosecution's offer to spend six years in prison for aiding in an alleged home invasion involving the homeowner getting his finger severed.

Jessica Hill

After Hill made her decision Thursday, Howard set the Dunnellon 34-year-old's trial for the week of Nov. 29. Howard also scheduled Nov. 8 as Hill's final pretrial hearing.

Hill's codefendants, Daytona 31-year-old William John Olsen Jr. and Summerfield 41-year-old Dorothy Jane Ball-McDuffie, share similar court dates.

William Olsen

It's alleged Hill and Ball-McDuffie aided Olsen in a scheme to break into a house off of East Quail Court in Inverness to rob a safe. Once he and Hill broke into the home, Olsen threatened the homeowner at gunpoint to unlock his safe.

Dorothy Ball-McDuffie

When the man refused, Olsen used a pocketknife to sever one of his fingers and slice one of his toes. Olsen then struck the man multiple times until he lost consciousness.

Olsen, Hill and Ball-McDuffie used a dolly to load the safe onto a truck bed, but the safe fell onto the driveway soon after they drove away.

When he awoke, the injured homeowner found his phones broken causing him to dial out from a rotary phone in his garage.

After pulling them over, deputies arrested Olsen and Ball-McDuffie, whose descriptions were given by the homeowner. Hill was apprehended the next day in Volusia County while driving the homeowner's stolen vehicle.

Assistant State Attorney Kevin Davis told Howard that Hill is still interested in testifying against her alleged accomplices.

"She's never said, 'I don't want to do that anymore,'" the prosecutor said.

■ Prosecutors aren't offering a plea deal to Allen Anthony Feliciano, the Inverness 49-year-old accused of sexually abusing three women between 1996 and 2000.

Allen Feliciano

Arrested in April while in St. Augustine, Feliciano was charged with sexual battery of a child 12 years old or younger, sexual battery of a child between 12 and 16 years old and lewd and lascivious molestation of a child younger than 12 years old.

Three women — ages 28, 45 and 29 — reported Feliciano's alleged sexual abuse from when they were younger.

Feliciano faces a mandatory sentence of life in prison if convicted of sexual battery of a child younger than 12.

Davis told Howard he wasn't offering Feliciano any deals short of trial.

Feliciano's lawyer, Assistant Public Defender Luke Waatti, asked Howard to schedule another court date so he could speak with his client and relay a plea offer to Davis.

Howard scheduled Feliciano's next hearing for Sept. 17.

County is still offering free vaccinations from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday and 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday at the Duke Energy building at 8200 W. Venerable St., Crystal River. The DOH will also offer vaccinations from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Saturday, July 24. The DOH here will now offer the Pfizer vaccine.

Stasko said there are ample locations in Citrus County to get vaccinated.

"It's become so available. Even if you're someone without the ability to leave your home, the Department of Health will come to you (to offer the vaccination)," she said. "There's no excuse not to get it."

The DOH in Citrus County no longer tests for the virus, but several other health care facilities do in addition to private doctors' offices.

Waste Management Encourages You to Prepare for Hurricane Season
FOLLOW THESE TIPS:
• Trim trees, hedges and all vegetation at the start of hurricane season and maintain your property throughout the season.
• Stop all yard maintenance and tree trimming activities and DO NOT place vegetative waste curbside within three (3) days of a hurricane warning.
• Secure garbage and recycling containers. Place empty containers in a secure location away from open spaces.
• Secure, bundle and tie down all loose trash such as tree limbs, wood planks or building and roof tiles on your property. Place these materials in a location where debris cannot become hazardous to homes, cars and property in high winds.
• Waste Management will continue to collect household garbage and recycling materials in the neighborhoods it serves according to designated schedules until it is unsafe for our team members to do so and to allow them time to prepare their homes to keep their families safe.
Before and after a major storm or hurricane, Waste Management will provide regular service updates through its website at www.wm.com. Please also check your city website for additional information.

Wilma Herouart, 77

INVERNESS

The Service of Remembrance for Mrs. Wilma Herouart, age 77, of Inverness, Florida, will be held 5:00 pm, Friday, July 23, at the Inverness Chapel of Hooper Funeral Homes. Private interment of her urn will take place at Florida National Cemetery, Bushnell, FL. The family will receive friends from 3:00 pm until 5:00 pm, Friday at the chapel. The family requests expressions of sympathy take the form of memorial donations to the International Myeloma Foundation @ www.myeloma.org. Online condolences may be sent to the family at www.HooperFuneralHome.com.

Wilma Herouart

Wilma born February 29, 1944 in Bristol, CT, daughter of Virgil and Carrie (Thorpe) Henderson. She died July 19, 2021 in Lecanto, FL. Wilma was a Homemaker and moved to Inverness, FL, from Pascoag, RI in 1988. Wilma enjoyed spending time with her family and looked forward to the precious moments she got to experience with her grandchildren. She also enjoyed Camping, Computer games, playing bingo and traveling, especially when she traveled back home to Rhode Island each year.

Mrs. Herouart was preceded in death by her parents and her loving husband Dennis. She is survived by 3 sons: Andrew C. Herouart of Woonsocket, RI, Scott Herouart and his wife Annissa of Inverness, FL and Brian Herouart and his wife Rhonda of Inverness, FL, daughter, Nancy Farrell and her husband Gary of Cumberland, RI, brother, James Henderson of Winter Garden, FL, 6 grandchildren; Christopher Farrell, Brian Herouart, Jr., Breanna Herouart, Stephanie Schrader, Kelly Hogan and Michael Hogan and 7 great grandchildren; Sofia, Henry, Isaiah, Chloe, Lillian, Adeline and Elijah.

Arrangements are under the direction of the Hooper Funeral Homes & Crematory.

Dianna Lee Kunigonis, 69, of Weeki Wachee, FL, passed away on Tuesday, July 20, 2021 at HPH Hospice Sturgill Care Center in Brooksville, FL.

Dianna Kunigonis

A native of Bethesda, MD, Dianna was born Nov. 7, 1951 to Donald and Joan (Healy) Legere, one of two children. Dianna had a 30 year career as a nurse and followed that career as a long distance truck driver, which she enjoyed for 20 years. Mrs. Kunigonis moved to Citrus County in 1994 from Bethel, CT and then to Weeki Wachee in 2014.

Dianna's perfect day would revolve around spending time with her family and grandchildren and having lots of family dinners. She also loved to play Words With Friends and watch professional wrestling with her husband of three years, Werner Joseph Kunigonis of Weeki Wachee, FL, who survives her.

In addition to her parents, Dianna was preceded in death by her first husband and the father of her children, James A. "Jim" Arkell on May 12, 2016, and a grandchild, Jade Mosier, who lived in Jacksonville, and a brother, Donald Legere and his wife Sheila, who both lived in Dunnellon, FL. In addition to her husband Werner, Dianna is survived by her children Crystal Jacob (Brad Hollis, Jr.) and Michelle Mosier (Marcus), and her grandchildren Matthew Jacob, Nickolas Jacob, Lillian Jacob and Dewie Jacob (Adrain), all of Weeki Wachee, FL; Alex Jacob (Taylor) of Brooksville, FL and Donovan Mosier of Jacksonville, FL.

Matthew J. Maloney, 95, of Dungarvan, Ireland passed away on July 13, 2021. Matthew Maloney was born on January 14, 1926 and was a resident of Citrus County Florida for the past 35 years. He will be dearly missed by all.

Frederick Meyer, 86

BEVERLY HILLS

Frederick M. Meyer, age 86, of Beverly Hills, Florida, passed away Tuesday, July 20, 2021 at Citrus Memorial Hospital after a brief illness.

He was born on October 10, 1934 in Lansing, Michigan. After graduating from Michigan State University, he was employed for many years by the state of Michigan, retiring in 1989. He was a resident of Citrus County for the past 23 years. He loved playing cards and golf. In his later years, you could find him in his recliner playing Yahtzee.

Frederick Meyer

Fred was preceded in death by his brother John, father John, mother Beatrice, niece Linda Nisse-Meyer, and brother-in-law Jerry Cosgrove. He is survived by his wife of 62 years, Shirley; daughter Gail (Al) Wavering of Germantown, Maryland, son Mark of Mountain View, California, daughter Terri (Brett) Richmond of Lansing, Michigan; sister Mary Cosgrove of Scarsdale, New York; four grandchildren, Jessica Hammond, Albert Wavering, Emily (Kevin) Corcoran, and Jack (Katrina) Wavering; three great-grandchildren, Taylor Hammond and Aine and Fiadh Corcoran; and many nieces and nephews.

Services to be announced at a later date, to be held in East Lansing, Michigan.

Venice avoids being labeled endangered UNESCO heritage site

Associated Press

MILAN — Venice and its lagoon environment avoided placement on UNESCO's list of world heritage sites in danger Thursday following Italy's ban on massive cruise ships traveling through the city's historic center. Preservation groups immediately criticized the decision by UNESCO's World Heritage Committee.

The committee, which is meeting in China instead has asked Italy to submit by December 2022 an update on efforts to protect Venice from excessive tourism, population decline and other issues that will be considered at a meeting in 2023.

The Italian government moved this month to avoid the danger designation, pledging to reroute massive cruise ships starting Aug. 1 from the city's historic center to an industrial port still within the Venice lagoon. The ships' passage through St. Mark's Basin and the Giudecca Canal, which resumed recently after a long pandemic pause, was among the reasons UNESCO had cited for listing Venice's status as at risk.

Italian Culture Minister Dario Franceschini welcomed UNESCO's decision and credited the government's recent move to ban ships over 25,000 tons from Venice waterways facing St. Mark's Basilica and the Doges Palace.

"Now, the global attention on Venice must remain high, and it is everyone's duty to work for the protection of the lagoon and identify a sustainable development path for this unique reality," Franceschini said in a statement.

But non-governmental groups acting as observers to the process said the cruise ship ban only addressed one of many issues threatening Venice, which include over-tourism, the management of cultural and natural resources, and controlling urban development.

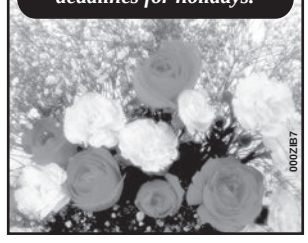

The groups also said the temporary decision to moor cruise ships in the industrial port of Marghera still endangers the lagoon and that no long-term plans have been made yet to manage ships and tourism in the city.

Mass tourism to Venice peaked at some 25 million individual visitors in 2019, while the city of just over 50,000 residents loses about 1,000 Venetians each year.

DeSantis vows to fight school mask mandates

RYAN DAILEY
The News Service of Florida

TALLAHASSEE — Gov. Ron DeSantis doubled down Thursday on his opposition to mask mandates for public-school students during the COVID-19 pandemic, saying he would call for a special legislative session if the federal government moves toward requiring masks in schools.

Gov. Ron DeSantis

"There's been talk about potentially people advocating at the federal level, imposing compulsory masks on kids," DeSantis said. "We're not doing that in Florida, OK? We need our kids to breathe."

DeSantis made the remarks while in Fort Pierce for a ceremonial bill signing with House Speaker Chris Sprowls, R-Palm Harbor. DeSantis said he and Sprowls would back a special session if the federal government requires masks in schools, adding that Florida districts will keep masks optional for students.

"As of right now, all the school districts are going in that direction. But there is going to be, it looks like, a campaign from Washington to try to change that. I've talked to Chris Sprowls, if we need to bring (lawmakers) back in to be able to do something from the legislative perspective, he's all in," DeSantis said.

The comments came as Florida and other parts of the country are seeing a surge in COVID-19 cases and hospitalizations, at least in part because of the dangerous delta variant of the coronavirus.

DeSantis on Wednesday endorsed Floridians getting vaccinated against COVID-19, but children younger than 12 remain ineligible for the shots. Last year, DeSantis pushed schools to reopen for in-person learning amid the pandemic.

White House Press Secretary Jen Psaki was asked about DeSantis' opposition to mask mandates during a press briefing Thursday. Psaki said President Joe Biden's administration "would have concern about any step that doesn't abide by public health guidelines."

Psaki told reporters the administration's decisions about public health are driven by the federal Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, which has issued guidelines advising that children younger than 12 should wear masks in schools. The federal government has not mandated that they do so.

"They did already announce that several weeks ago as a part of their CDC guidance for schools," Psaki said. "Because anybody under 12 is not eligible to be vaccinated, so they would not be vaccinated, and therefore they should be wearing a mask."

Psaki, who noted that she is a parent, said that "we know masks aren't the most comfortable thing" but told reporters that her children "are quite adjusted" to wearing them.

"If I were a parent in Florida, that would be greatly concerning to me," Psaki said of DeSantis' mask-mandate opposition. "Because kids under the age of 12 are not vaccinated, they're not eligible yet. As the president said last night, obviously it's going to be led by the FDA (U.S. Food and Drug Administration), but certainly we hope that will be soon."

One person still missing from Miami building collapse

KELLI KENNEDY
Associated Press

FORT LAUDERDALE — He has given his DNA, talks frequently with the medical examiner and search team, and even reluctantly visited the site of the collapsed Surfside condo, to see for himself what is being done to find his big sister.

But there is still no closure for Ikey Hedaya. Almost a month after the 12-story building disintegrated into a smoking pile of debris, where the lucky few escaped through a choking dust cloud, and at least 97 perished, 54-year-old Estelle Hedaya appeared to be the only missing victim still not identified Thursday.

Her best friend in the building, lawyer and fellow New Yorker Linda March, was finally identified Wednesday night even though her body was found more than two weeks ago. But Hedaya's big sister, the life of the party and a travel lover who'd just bought a red Lexus to celebrate weight loss and career success, remains unaccounted for.

"Hard to believe," he said. "'My sister is the last one,"

At first, he was hesitant to visit the site's twisted steel and concrete chunks, wondering about his sister's final moments. Her balcony and living room were still eerily intact. It was too much, and the 47-year-old real estate tax accountant from Brooklyn quickly turned around.

"I can't believe Estelle is in there somewhere, and I didn't want to think about it," he said.

But at the urging of a childhood best friend, now a rabbi, they returned to the site once more to pray in recent days. This time, the rubble was largely gone and the collapse site mostly swept flat. That's the image he'll hold onto.

It is a lot to contemplate for this deeply religious man, firmly rooted in his Jewish faith. The waiting is torture, and although he is heartbroken, he is not hopeless.

"I know God took care of her," he told The Associated Press in a series of interviews Wednesday and Thursday.

The brother said he is drawing his strength from God, just as he'd seen his sister do in troubling times. He also believes God chose her and that "it was her time."

He'd sensed a shift in Estelle in the six to eight months before the collapse and had just seen her in May.

"She always mentioned God anytime she was struggling with anything," he said. "She had reached a different level spiritually, which allowed her to excel in all other areas."

Even her boss and friends agreed, Estelle had a knack for taking life's difficulties and squeezing out something positive. Beauty from ashes. That's what her brother believes will happen now after this tragedy where hundreds of relatives, friends and coworkers are grieving and pondering so many questions. Why them? Why this building?

It is only natural to grieve, mourn and cry, he said.

"Let it all out, don't fight it. But then pray for the strength to start moving forward," he said.

Even if it's baby steps, he encouraged others grieving families to "shift to the positive" in their own times as a way to "open yourself up to receive blessings"

"In times like these we have the power to unlock all kinds of things that are not available in normal times," he said.

He said this late Wednesday after a day of frustration, another day with no word on his sister, another lengthy talk with the medical examiner, a conversation that includes painful reminders of final moments. He must also remain strong as he updates his elderly parents.

Mayor Daniella Levine Cava said Wednesday night that the search after the June 24 collapse had been impeded by fire, water and other obstacles, and further identification of victims was relying heavily on the "technical, scientific process" of pathologists.

"The enormous pressure of the weight of the collapse and the passage of time also make it more challenging," she said in a statement.

Miami-Dade's unsafe structures board frustrated by delays

MIAMI — Miami-Dade County's Unsafe Structures Board is under pressure to speed up the process for reviewing problematic structures following the collapse of the Champlain Towers South a month ago.

Before the tower collapsed June 24, the county board already had a backlog of 1,000 unsafe-structure cases, the Miami Herald reported.

Now, starting this week, an engineer's report declaring a building structurally safe is required before an extension can be granted when recertifications are so overdue they have been referred to the unsafe structures board, the newspaper reported.

If a building can't get an engineer's endorsement that quickly, residents would have to be evacuated, Spencer Errickson, supervisor of the county's Unsafe Structures division, said at a meeting Wednesday.

It was the first time the board has met since the tower, which was undergoing a 40-year recertification, collapsed, killing at least 97 people.

Members of the board that hears enforcement cases brought by county and city inspectors against buildings deemed unsafe or out of compliance said they want to crack down on delays rather than defer them to future meetings, the Herald reported.

"We are here every month. Every month," board member Lynn Matos said. "I don't understand how we can have over 1,000-something cases sitting out there, and we don't know why."

Cities within the county have their own building departments and inspectors, but all except for Miami and Miami Gardens use the county's system for hearing unsafe-structure cases, according to the newspaper.

On Wednesday, board members said they are frustrated with cities requesting deferrals without sending building department officials to provide answers during the monthly meeting. Board members said they are running out of patience with delays.

"The stuff has really hit the fan right now, with this building in Surfside," said board member Marco Gorrin. "Why are we continuing to defer? ... It just continues to drag."

New Bladder Control Pill Sales May Surpass Adult Diapers By 2022

Drug-free discovery works, say doctors. Many adults ditching diapers and pads for clinical strength pill that triggers day and night bladder support.

Over 150,000 doses have shipped to bladder sufferers so far, and sales continue to climb every day for the 'diaper replacing' new pill called BladderMax.

"We knew we had a great product, but it's even exceeded our expectations," said Keith Graham, Manager of Call Center Operations for BladderMax.

"People just keep placing orders, it's pretty amazing," he said.

But a closer look at this new bladder control sensation suggests that maybe the company shouldn't have been caught off guard by its success.

There are very good reasons for BladderMax's surging popularity.

To begin with, clinical studies show BladderMax not only reduces embarrassing bladder leakages quickly, but also works to strengthen and calm the bladder for lasting relief.

Plus, at just $2 per daily dose, it's very affordable.

This may be another reason why American diaper companies are starting to panic over its' release.

"With daily use, BladderMax offers day and night bladder control relief without side effects," says Diane Lewis, Chief Researcher for BladderMax.

"And seniors in clinical studies reported a higher quality of life in just days as a result of needing less diapers. That's why so many doctors nationwide are now recommending it to patients," added Lewis.

WHAT SCIENTISTS DISCOVERED

BladderMax contains a proprietary compound with a known ability to reduce stress, urgency, and overflow leakages in seniors suffering from overactive bladder.

This compound is not a drug. It is the active ingredient in BladderMax.

Studies show it naturally strengthens the bladder's muscle tone while relaxing the urination muscles resulting in a decrease in sudden urgency.

Many sufferers enjoy a reduction in bathroom trips both day and night. Others are able to get back to doing the things they love without worrying about embarrassing leakages.

"I couldn't sit through a movie without having to go to the bathroom 3-4 times," says Theresa Johnson of Duluth, GA. "but since using BladderMax I can not only sit through a movie, but I can drive on the freeway to another city without having to immediately go to the bathroom."

With so much positive feedback, it's easy to see why sales for this newly approved bladder pill continue to climb every day.

SLASHES EMBARRASSING LEAKAGES BY 79%

The 6 week clinical study was carried out by scientists in Japan. The results were published in the Journal of Medicine and Pharmaceutical Science in 2001.

As new pill gains popularity, products like these will become unnecessary.

The study involved seniors who suffered from frequent and embarrassing bladder leakages. They were not instructed to change their daily routines. They were only told to take BladderMax's active ingredient every day.

The results were incredible.

Taking BladderMax's active ingredient significantly reduced both sudden urges to go and embarrassing urine leakages compared to the placebo.

In fact, many experienced a 79% reduction in embarrassing accidents when coughing, sneezing, laughing or physical activity at 6 weeks.

They also enjoyed a 39% decrease in daytime trips to the bathroom, and a 68% decrease in nighttime trips.

With these studies medical doctors and researchers have now proven BladderMax to be a clinically effective treatment for reducing embarrassing bladder leakages and incontinence.

The findings are impressive, no doubt, but results will vary.

But with results like these it's easy to see why thousands of callers are jamming the phone lines trying to get their hands on BladderMax.

HOW IT WORKS IS INCREDIBLE

Studies show that as many as one in six adults over age 40 suffers from an overactive bladder and embarrassing leakages.

"Losing control of when and how we go to the bathroom is just an indication of a weakening of the pelvic muscles caused by age-related hormonal changes," says Lewis.

"It happens in both men and women, and it is actually quite common."

The natural compound found in BladderMax contains the necessary ingredients needed to help strengthen bladder muscles to relieve urgency, while reducing frequency.

Plus, it helps relax bladder muscles allowing for complete emptying of the bladder.

This proprietary compound is known as 'EFLA940'®.

And with over 17 years of medical use there have been no adverse side effects reported.

This is a bonus for incontinence sufferers who have been taking prescription and over the counter medications that can cause dry mouth and constipation.

This seems to be another reason why BladderMax's release has triggered such a frenzy of sales.

RECOMMENDED BY U.S. MEDICAL DOCTORS

"Many of my patients used to complain that coughing, sneezing or even getting up quickly from a chair results in wetting themselves and they fear becoming a social outcast," reports Dr. Clifford James M.D. "But BladderMax changes all that."

"BladderMax effectively treats urinary disorders, specifically overactive bladder," said Dr. Christie Wilkins, board certified doctor of natural medicine.

"I use BladderMax everyday for my overactive bladder. I also have my sister and mother taking it regularly as well," said Dr. Jennifer Freeman, G.P. from NY.

DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK GUARANTEE

Users of BladderMax report incredible results. That's why it comes with an equally incredible guarantee.

"There's only one reason why we can offer such a guarantee," said Kyle Harris, Founder of BladderMax. "It works for those who use it. It's as simple as that," he added.

Here's how it works: Take the pill exactly as directed. Then follow the simple instructions. You must be thrilled and amazed as your bladder control greatly improves.

Otherwise, return the product as directed and you'll receive double your money back!

READERS GET SPECIAL DISCOUNT SUPPLY

This is the official release of BladderMax in Florida. And so, the company is offering a special discount supply to any person who calls within the next 48 hours.

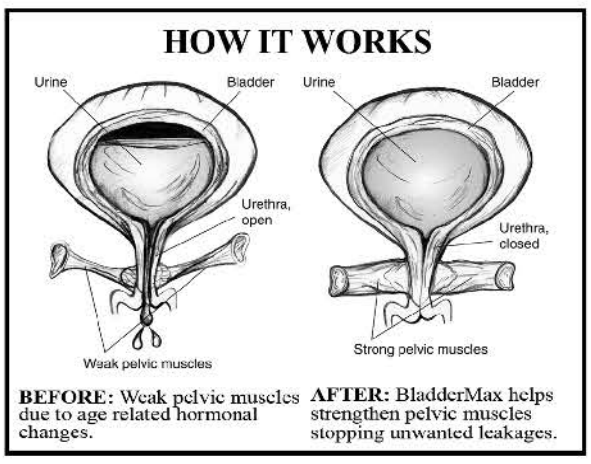

A Regional Order Hotline has been set up for local readers to call. This gives everyone an equal chance to try BladderMax.

Starting at 7:00 am today, the order hotline will be open for 48-hours. All you have to do is call TOLL FREE 1-800-843-9758. The company will do the rest

IMPORTANT: Due to BladderMax's recent media exposure, phone lines are often busy. If you call, and do not immediately get through, please be patient and call back.

Current supplies of BladderMax are limited. So consumers that don't get through to the order hotline within the next 48-hours will have to wait until more inventory is produced. This could take as long as six weeks.

HOW IT WORKS

BEFORE: Weak pelvic muscles due to age related hormonal changes.

AFTER: BladderMax helps strengthen pelvic muscles stopping unwanted leakages.

Company Spotlight

Noid avoided

Domino's shares made their biggest gain in more than a year after the pizza delivery company reported double-digit sales growth and opened 238 stores globally.

Ann Arbor, Michigan-based Domino's, the world's biggest pizza chain by sales, earned $3.12 per share in the period, beating the $2.87 anticipated by Wall Street. The company, which thrived throughout the pandemic as people ordered out, reported international same-store sales growth of 13.9% in the period. Of the 238 stores openings, 203 were outside the U.S.

Domino's global growth "demonstrated the power of our investments in innovation, our focus on food quality and superior service, and our dynamic franchisees who are dedicated to serving their local neighborhoods," said CEO Ritch Allison.

Domino's surged 14.6% to close at $538.82 on Thursday, an all-time high.

Big indexes up, preserving gains

Associated Press

Stocks eked out modest gains on Wall Street Thursday, extending the market's winning streak into a third day and keeping the major indexes on pace to end the week higher.

The S&P 500 shrugged off a midday slide and rose 0.2%. Banks, energy companies and industrial stocks weighed on the benchmark index, though solid gains by Apple, Microsoft and other big technology stocks helped nudge the index up.

Trading was mostly muted as investors reviewed the latest corporate earnings and a surprise increase in the number of Americans filing for unemployment benefits. Still, the gains preserve stock indexes' comeback following a sharp sell-off to start the week.

"The market is trying to come to terms with the big sell-off on Monday," said David Joy, chief market strategist at Ameriprise Financial. "We've had a rebound that allowed us to recapture a lot of it yesterday, and today it seems as though the market is searching for the next directional catalyst, and hasn't really found one."

Joy said the next big market-moving event could come as early as next Wednesday, when Federal Reserve policymakers hold their next two-day meeting. A key question: Will the central bank provide new hints about when it might begin to unwind some of the support that's helped keep the economy going during the pandemic now that inflation is on the rise.

The S&P 500 index rose 8.79 points to 4,367.48. The Dow Jones Industrial Average added 25.35 points, or 0.1%, to 34,823.35. The Nasdaq composite gained 52.64 points, or 0.4%, to 14,684.60. All three indexes remain close to the all-time highs they set early last week.

Wall Street's smallest companies lost ground. The Russell 2000 index fell 34.57 points, or 1.5%, to 2,199.48.

US jobless claims rise to 419,000 from a pandemic low

CHRISTOPHER RUGABER
AP economics writer

WASHINGTON — The number of Americans seeking unemployment benefits rose last week from the lowest point of the pandemic, even as the job market appears to be rebounding on the strength of a reopened economy.

The Labor Department said Thursday that jobless claims increased last week to 419,000, the most in two months, from 368,000 the previous week. The number of first-time applications, which generally tracks layoffs, has fallen steadily since topping 900,000 in early January.

Economists characterized last week's increase as most likely a blip caused by some one-time factors and partly a result of the inevitable bumpiness in the week-to-week data. Applications for jobless aid jumped last week, for example, in Michigan, where some auto plants have temporarily shut down production because of supply shortages.

"I do not worry that this reading signals a sudden weakening in labor demand," said Stephen Stanley, an economist at Amherst Pierpont Securities. "In fact, I am quite confident that it does not."

Americans are shopping, traveling and eating out more as the pandemic has waned, boosting the economy and forcing businesses to scramble for more workers. Companies have posted the highest number of available jobs in the two decades that the data has been tracked. Hiring has picked up, though businesses say they often can't find enough employees at the wages they're willing to pay.

At the same time, analysts are becoming concerned about the potential economic consequences of a tick-up in confirmed viral infections as the highly contagious delta variant spreads, especially among the unvaccinated. The seven-day rolling U.S. average for daily new cases accelerated over the past two weeks to more than 37,000 as of Tuesday, from fewer than 13,700, according to data from Johns Hopkins University.

Complaints by companies that they can't find enough workers have led 22 states to prematurely end a $300-a-week federal unemployment benefit, which comes on top of state jobless aid. Twenty states have ended their participation in two other federal programs — one of which provides benefits to the self-employed and gig workers, and another that serves people who have been out of work for six months or longer.

Officials in two other states, Indiana and Maryland, had sought to end the supplemental aid programs but were blocked by court rulings. Nationally, the programs will all expire in early September.

The early cutoffs of expanded unemployment aid have contributed to a steady decline in the number of people receiving unemployment benefits. That number fell to 12.6 million in the week ending July 3, the latest period for which data is available, down from 13.8 million the previous week. More than 600,000 recipients of unemployment aid were cut off in Texas alone.

The long-term decline in applications for jobless aid coincides with accelerating economic growth. The U.S. economy is thought to have expanded briskly during the April-June quarter as Americans, flush with cash from stimulus checks and from stock market and home equity, stepped up their spending.

Purchases at retail stores and restaurants rose in June, the government said last week. Retail sales are roughly 20% above pre-pandemic levels.

The ranks of the jobless have declined as companies have stepped up hiring. In June, employers added a healthy 850,000 jobs, further evidence that the reopening of the economy was driving a robust recovery from the pandemic recession.

INCREASING VOLUME, SAFETY

County needs to make highway access safe

The entrance to the community of Brentwood on County Road 486 is not safe.

Brentwood residents, many of whom are retirees, do not feel safe when they are forced to exit the community going west. They must drive to the traffic light at Ottawa Avenue, and then perform a U-turn to go east.

Residents have complained about the traffic situation since C.R. 486 was improved and the traffic light was installed at Ottawa. There have been accidents and injuries.

Now, the county has the opportunity to make improvements. The opportunity should not be lost.

The developers of Citrus Hills now own the community of Brentwood. They are planning a new gated community called Davis Reserve with 400 villas on 80 acres contiguous to the existing Brentwood community. Residents of the new, gated development would exit at the Ottawa traffic light via a private road.

Developers asked the residents of the existing Brentwood community if they would like to have access through the new Davis Reserve entrance via a community referendum. The caveat was that residents would have to pay $140 a year to cover the cost of the manned gate.

Brentwood residents rejected the offer by a vote of 194 to 162.

In Citrus County, it should not be a surprise that residents rejected the opportunity to increase their cost of living. Nevertheless, that informal vote should not stop the county from doing the right thing.

THE ISSUE:
Highway access for Brentwood residents.

OUR OPINION:
County needs to make things safe.

While a private company develops these communities, Citrus County must ultimately give permission for their construction and certainly approval of how they access a public highway.

The existing entrance is not safe. The developer's plan to share the cost of a new gated access was rejected by the majority of existing Brentwood residents. Even though that might have been a reasonable offer, it is not the only alternative to make the area safe for motorists.

This is going to be a major construction project in the area and it is the right time to develop a new plan to make Brentwood safe for existing residents. A lot of dirt is going to be moved and traffic flows interrupted during this construction project. It would be dumb to let this work happen and then have to address the Brentwood issue at another time.

The county needs to design and approve a route that permits Brentwood residents to exit their neighborhood at the Ottawa traffic signal or develop another alternative that provides for their safety.

Now is the time for county government to show some leadership and solve the problem.

LETTERS to the Editor

Children's education needs parental involvement

I am glad to learn that we are not teaching Critical Race Theory in our public schools. Nor we will not require COVID-19 vaccines for children and a mask mandate in our schools this coming year.

I really worry about the young people of today and the stress that they have felt the last two years with the lockdown.

However, recently someone brought to my attention that the Citrus County Library System has two books to indoctrinate our children.

■ "We Wear Masks" by Marla Lesage: Basically this book depicts that if we don't wear a mask, you don't care about others. We now have the vaccine to protect people so they don't have to wear a mask. The South African leader Nelson Mandela once said, "There can be no keener revelation of a society's soul than the way in which it treats its children." Masks are a breeding ground for bacteria and fungi. Prolonged wearing of the mask especially in children is cruel to children.

■ "The Black Friend on Being a Better White Person" by Frederick Joseph: Basically this book depicts white people with many racist beliefs against Black people. An example of being "better" as not having police murder black people. Or white women being "better" for not having certain beliefs about the prowess of black men.

I feel these topics should be in the adult and not the children section. I am not advocating censorship of these books. That goes against freedom of speech and freedom of press that is protected by the First Amendment.

I am advocating that parents get involved in what their children might be reading. These two books were at the Central Ridge Library. There are probably similar books at some of the other county libraries. Stay involved in your children's education whether at home, school, or other institutions.

Donations help lonely, elderly keep companions

Times are hard for most of us now — even more so for those in the animal world; even those who have homes.

Some pet lovers have been forced to give up their cats and dogs because of an inability to feed them.

Many churches and organizations have a food pantry to help the needy. These pantries accept pet foods and supplies for distribution to those asking for help. If you can contribute some such supplies, it will be greatly appreciated.

Think of the elderly person who has no one but their beloved pet or the child who will be brokenhearted at the loss of surrendering a pet at a shelter.

Build the interchange, make way for stores

Pine Ridge residents want an interchange at (County Road) 486. Please build the interchange. It won't last forever ending at (C.R.) 486. The toll road will eventually go to (U.S.) 19, etc. So build the interchange so all the people that want an Aldi's store will have a way for trucks to bring the goods into that Aldi's store or any other big-box store. Please build the interchange. I live close to (C.R.) 486 in the estates of Pine Ridge and not all Pine Ridge residents agree with the property homeowners association. Please build the interchange.

Pondering natural selection

I understand that many folks insist they have the right to not be vaccinated or wear masks. I agree they have this right. My question is what about the rights of those who don't want to be around you? I'm totally confused at this point. How do we keep these groups separated until natural selection eliminates the problem? The big question for me is who will win — natural selection or the virus? Will natural selection remove the anti-vaxxers before they give the virus enough time to mutate or will the virus win by evolving to the point where no vaccine will ever work against it? Sad, but that seems to be what survival of our society depends on.

Thank you for the Luigi's dinner

To the man that paid for my dinner at Luigi's Italian Restaurant in Homosassa on June 12 at 6 p.m.: Thank you very much. I really appreciate it. I will pay it forward. Thank you again.

Hot Corner: TOURISTS

■ It takes Mike Prendergast to see for himself how overpopulated we are. We can call and complain; you don't care. But Mike Prendergast is complaining and I'm glad you finally saw for yourself, if that is what it takes to correct this issue. But on the other hand, I don't know which I want to do — laugh, cry or feel sorry for you out there, all of you who wanted and are still bringing tourists in. They are not tourists when they decide to stay here and live here. Years ago they were allowed to come down to our little town and run out our shrimp boats, our net-fishing boys making an honest living, because they said that they were eyesores, but you liked to eat the shrimp and the fish. Made no sense to me.

■ Problems with short-term vacation rentals invading our once-peaceful neighborhood: There are about a dozen homes on our street and nearby streets that have been bought up by outsiders and used as short-term rentals. Typically, several families stay in one house. People we don't know walk through our yards. Excess vehicles and boat trailers block our narrow roads. Garbage and animal waste litter our streets. Let them stay in motels where their behavior can be regulated. As a group, we have contacted the commissioners with no results. The commissioners need to do the right thing and forget about the mighty dollar and limit short-term rentals to three months.

■ The tourists have changed our names of our islands, our streets, our town. Our little small-town cops did a down-to-earth, good job. Now look at what we have: Everyone on the county board — everywhere, all over — are from somewhere else. No one is a true Citrus County native. All of us that are born and raised here are pushed aside. Our tourists have made Shell Island smell like a bathroom, and Mullet Key is a bathroom and smells. Our town smells everywhere you ride. No matter what road you take, it smells. If we were to break off and sink, all of us would be swimming in sewage.

SUPPORT THE SHELTER

■ If you would like to make a contribution to help fund construction of a new animal shelter in Citrus County, you can drop a check off at Chronicle offices in Inverness or Meadowcrest. You can also mail your contribution to The Chronicle Animal Shelter Fund (make checks out to The Chronicle Animal Shelter Fund) at 1624 N. Meadowcrest Blvd., Crystal River, FL 34429. For those with a digital desire, contributions can be made via the Citrus County Chronicle's animal shelter GoFundMe page at https://gofund.me/73903811.

Hot Corner: COVID

■ I'm calling in reference to one of these (Page C1 "Hot Corner: Vaccines") Sound Offs in Sunday, July 18's paper. The person says (Page C3), "If I'm meant to catch COVID, I will catch it. But you need to worry about yourself. If you feel you're that scared," blah, blah, blah. Well, to me, that is just absolute nonsense. If you're meant to catch it? What, if I'm meant to be murdered, I will be? If I'm meant to get hit by a bus, I will be? . ...

■ (Re the Monday, July 19, Page A6 "Hot Corner: COVID"): I'm calling Sound Off in reference to the person complaining about the Chronicle giving voice to foolish people because a person said he refuses to wear a mask, get vaccinated and "if we don't like it, we should stay home." Well, he is entitled to his opinion whether you like it or not, but right away you've got to chastise him and (call) him names. I'm glad the Chronicle is neutral on this and printing both sides' points of view. But you know what? I don't see many people saying the people that wear a mask are calling them foolish and idiots. No, because if you feel that strongly, if you're so scared about this virus and you're vaccinated, then stay home with a mask and live in your house.

■ In response to individual that doesn't care about how many others have taken the COVID shots (in Monday, July 19's "Hot Corner: COVID"): "I don't care, I don't care, I don't care" attitude — what a self-serving individual. I wonder if this individual puts on a seatbelt when driving, or stops at stop signs while driving. This self-serving attitude is exactly what is wrong with this country today.

■ First of all, Citrus Hills has a senior population and there's a lot of susceptibility to getting COVID-19. We were pretty much spread out. Our gyms were, you know, used conservatively. We had three gyms and so forth, so people were not close together. Now in their ultimate wisdom, Citrus Hills is closing down one of the gyms. It's one of the big gyms, which means that the people that were using that gym will now be going into an already crowded environment, and this is a senior population and Citrus Hills does not seem to care about it at all. So I think I would really wish you to print this and maybe someone could, you know, do something about what they're doing to the senior population. ...

■ I just want to thank our governor. ... We don't care about the virus. If it gets bad, that's OK. That's the way America is. I want to thank him over and over for outstanding leadership. Thank you again.

■ I'm responding to (Monday, July 19's Page A6) "Hot Corner: COVID": Here we go again. People are going to be complaining about masks, no masks. You got your vaccination, so leave it at that. Do you ever wonder if a person who don't want to wear a mask, maybe they have the antibodies in their body so they cannot catch it, nor can they give it? Did you ever consider that? Just because they don't wear a mask, you chastise them and you label them because they don't want to wear a mask.

■ I'm responding to Sound Off where you say, "COVID cases up in county; vaccines lag" (in the Thursday, July 22, front-page story). I don't think it's because the vaccines lag. It's because you're allowing all these tourists to come to our county, so they're bringing it with them. They're bringing it into our county. Don't blame the lack of us who don't have the vaccine. It's because you're letting these tourists in here.

Wondering about amendment petitions

Regarding the affordable housing article in Sunday's paper (July 11's front-page story, "Fighting for affordable housing," "Realtors raise ante to put proposed amendment on ballot"): Where are the petitions located for signatures of voters?

Would like more information

(Re the Page A5 Worth Noting brief, "Citrus joins electronic program for registration"): There was a brief byline in Sunday's Chronicle — that would have been July 11 — about the Electronic Registration Information Center that the supervisor of elections has decided to join or become a part of and I would like the Chronicle to look into that and give the public a little bit more information on it about electronic registration and, more specifically, the protections thereon.

Thrift stores need friendly competition

I'm responding to whoever said (in the Monday, July 12, Page A8 Sound Off) there's "Too many thrift stores already" in the area and it wouldn't help the animal shelter. It might not help the animal shelter a lot, but there is not too many thrift stores. Some of (the thrift stores), their prices are way too high. They shouldn't even be called a thrift store. So, yes, they need more thrift stores so they can have some competition so their prices would be normal. For $2 more, you can go to a big store and get something brand new instead of what they want at the thrift store.

Interchange good for the county

Pine Ridge residents want to see an interchange on (County Road) 486. I live close to the interchange area that would be, if built, on (C.R.) 486 and would like to see that put there. We need this interchange for our part of the county and for the other residents of the county and I don't agree with the Property Owners Association of Pine Ridge that we should not have an interchange there. We should have an interchange. The toll road will eventually go up to (U.S.) 19 and so there won't be that much traffic in the future using this interchange. But for right now, please, please build an interchange.

Obviously larger shelter is needed

I'm calling in reference to July 16's paper, the (front-page) headline, "Pair arrested for animal cruelty." This right here is another very good reason why we need to build a new shelter and make it bigger and better. Emergency situations like this happen and because of this, now the shelters have to close. Once again, it's just another good reason why we need to get moving and build that new shelter.

Cruelty case is heartbreaking

(Re the Friday, July 16, front-page story): Wow, that pair arrested for animal cruelty — 84 of the animals inside a house — I hope the judge throws the book at them. They need to spend time in prison. That's sad, Citrus County, very sad.

Keep baking soda next to stove

In regards to the grease fire in the kitchen in today's paper (Friday, July 16, Page A3): My suggestion would be to keep an open box of baking soda next to the stove. Sprinkle it on a grease fire and it will go out quickly.

No 'thank you' needed

(Re the Friday, July 16, Page A10 Sound Off.) To the person who donated to the animal shelter through GoFundMe and would like a "thank you": Personally, I do not feel the commissioner should send thank-you cards. The article in the newspaper (was) sufficient. As a Christian person, I give from the heart, not so I can receive a thank-you card. Give this a thought. Have a great day.

Donations are a blessing

(Re the Friday, July 16, Page A10 Sound Off.) This is for the GoFundMe donors: Don't you know that when you give a donation to an organization or any individual who is in need, you have blessed them and then God thanks you by blessing you? Amen.

If you want the money, have it

(Re the Friday, July 16, Page A11 story, "How expanded child tax credit payments work"): I'm calling Sound Off because I think it's totally ridiculous our government's now going to give monthly payments 'til the end of the year for people with children. Well, that's fine. If you want your money, have it. But when you do your taxes, watch what happens to the return at the end of the year. You're going to wind up with zero, nothing, because it's going to come back at the government.

Seniors need increased payments too

I'm appalled by this child tax credit that starts today. I am a senior citizen. How come everybody worries about giving these kids student loans and everything else and I'm on a fixed income? How come we don't get anything from Social Security? We worked, but they forget all about us and just help all these people. If you're going to have kids, be able to support them. Don't expect us to support them for you. This is wrong. Nobody's supporting us. We worked for our Social Security, but why ain't we getting dramatic raises, not just $20 a year with the COLA? We should be upping ours. We've got medications. We've got bills.

Robocalls won't stop; something must be done

I'm calling about our local landline and internet provider and they're supposed to have a "no more robocall" thing. It's not working. I'm getting dozens of calls daily, if not more. I recently purchased an answering machine and I've answered some calls and some of them are local exchanges, like 503 in Homosassa or 726 in Inverness. The person on the phone doesn't sound like they're from this continent. So I called them back later on in the evening and I find out, lo and behold, it's (not a working) number and neither is the other numbers a working number. So, something's got to be done. Call your provider and tell them this has got to be stopped.

No speed limit makes for some fun

Since there's no speed limit in Citrus County, I think I'll sell my pickup truck and buy me a hotrod and have some fun, too, at 70 years old.

Vaccinations rising again

Newest virus surge changing mind of some who were hesitant

Heather Hollingsworth and Richardo Alonso-Zaldivar
Associated Press

Associated Press

Kansas Gov. Laura Kelly answers questions from reporters following an event at the Statehouse, Thursday, July 22 in Topeka, Kan. Kelly says getting more Kansas residents vaccinated is the only way to stop the spread of the COVID-19 delta variant.

Vaccinations are beginning to rise in some states where COVID-19 cases are soaring, White House officials said Thursday in a sign that the summer surge is getting the attention of vaccine-hesitant Americans as hospitals in the South are being overrun with patients.

Coronavirus coordinator Jeff Zients told reporters that several states with the highest proportions of new infections have seen residents get vaccinated at higher rates than the nation as a whole. Officials cited Arkansas, Florida, Louisiana, Missouri and Nevada as examples.

"The fourth surge is real, and the numbers are quite frightening at the moment," Louisiana Gov. John Bel Edwards said on a New Orleans radio show. Edwards, a Democrat, added: "There's no doubt that we are going in the wrong direction, and we're going there in a hurry."

Louisiana reported 2,843 new COVID-19 cases Thursday, a day after reporting 5,388 — the third-highest level since the pandemic began. Hospitalizations are up steeply in the last month, from 242 on June 19 to 913 in the latest report. Fifteen new deaths were reported Thursday.

Just 36% of Louisiana's population is fully vaccinated, state health department data shows. Nationally, 56.3% of Americans have received at least one dose of the vaccine, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

Aly Neel, a spokesperson for Louisiana's health department, said the state has seen "a little bump" in vaccinations recently, adding that details would be available Friday.

Warner Thomas, president and CEO of the Ochsner Health system serving Louisiana and Mississippi, said the system had seen a 10% to 15% increase in people seeking vaccination over the past week or two. It has administered vaccines at churches, the New Orleans airport, basketball games and the mall.

"We see each person we get vaccinated now as a victory," said Dr. Katherine Baumgarten, director of infection prevention and control for the 40-hospital system, noting that it has been bringing in traveling nurses and that projections show its ICUs could fill up at the current rate of infection.

Dr. Catherine O'Neal, chief medical officer and an infectious disease specialist at Our Lady of the Lake regional medical center, said Thursday that the most shocking aspect of the surge has been its speed. The caseload has roughly tripled in the course of a week, she said.

On Sunday, the medical center stopped taking transfers of coronavirus patients from hospitals in other parts of the state because they simply did not have the capacity, she said.

In Missouri, which is second only to Arkansas and Louisiana in the number of new cases per capita over the past 14 days, officials have rolled out a vaccine incentive program that includes $10,000 prizes for 900 lottery winners. The state lags about 10 percentage points behind the national average for people who have received at least one shot.

Hospitals in the Springfield area are under strain, reaching pandemic high and near pandemic high numbers of patients.

"Younger, relatively healthy and unvaccinated. If this describes you, please consider vaccination," tweeted Erik Frederick, chief administrative officer of Mercy Hospital Springfield, noting that half of the COVID-19 patients are ages 21 to 59 and just 2% of that group is vaccinated.

The surge that began in the southwest part of the state, where some counties have vaccination rates in the teens, has started to spread to the Kansas City area, including at Research Medical Center.

Conservative Utah reported Wednesday that almost 300 people were hospitalized due to the virus — the highest number in five months. Intensive care units reached 81.5% capacity. Health officials renewed their pleas for residents to get vaccinated.

One of Arizona's biggest hospital systems issued its own call for vaccinations, citing an increase in seriously ill COVID-19 patients in just a few weeks. Dr. Michael White, of Valleywise Health, said doctors were mostly treating people with moderate symptoms, but that began to change two weeks ago. Now patients arrive acutely ill.

China rejects further study of virus origins

Ken Moritsugu

BEIJING — China cannot accept the World Health Organization's plan for the second phase of a study into the origins of COVID-19, a senior Chinese health official said Thursday.

Zeng Yixin, the vice minister of the National Health Commission, said he was "rather taken aback" that the plan includes further investigation of the theory that the virus might have leaked from a Chinese lab.

He dismissed the lab leak idea as a rumor that runs counter to common sense and science.

"It is impossible for us to accept such an origin-tracing plan," he said at a news conference called to address the COVID-19 origins issue.

The search for where the virus came from has become a diplomatic issue that has fueled China's deteriorating relations with the U.S. and many American allies. The U.S. and others say that China has not been transparent about what happened in the early days of the pandemic. China accuses critics of seeking to blame it for the pandemic and politicizing an issue that should be left to scientists.

The Biden administration in a statement Thursday criticized China's rejection of the WHO's plan for the second phase of a study into the origins of COVID-19.

"We are deeply disappointed. Their position is irresponsible and, frankly, dangerous," the White House said. "Alongside other member states around the world, we continue to call for China to provide the needed access to data and samples. And this is critical so we can understand to prevent the next pandemic. This is about saving lives in the future, and it's not a time to be stonewalling."

Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus, the director-general of WHO, acknowledged last week that there had been a "premature push" after the first phase of the study to rule out the theory that the virus might have escaped from a Chinese government lab in Wuhan, the city where the disease was first detected in late 2019.

Most experts don't think a lab leak is the likely cause. The question is whether the possibility is so remote that it should be dropped, or whether it merits further study.

The first phase was conducted earlier this year by an international team of scientists who came to Wuhan to work with their Chinese counterparts. The team was accused of bowing to demands from the Chinese side after it initially indicated that further study wasn't necessary.

Zeng said the Wuhan lab has no virus that can directly infect humans and noted that the WHO team concluded that a lab leak was highly unlikely. He added that speculation that staff and graduate students at the lab had been infected and might have started the spread of the virus in the city was untrue.

Florida State's Milton ready to return

Two years after gruesome injury suffered at UCF

STEVE REED
AP sports writer

CHARLOTTE, N.C — Florida State transfer McKenzie Milton said he feels completely recovered from a gruesome knee injury that kept him out college football the last two years and is ready to compete for the starting quarterback job in 2021.

Milton has not played in a game since dislocating his right knee and suffering ligament, nerve and artery damage while playing for Central Florida in November of 2018. He worked with the UCF scout team last year prior to entering the transfer portal and played spring ball with the Seminoles.

"I feel comfortable out there," Milton said during Atlantic Coast Conference media days on Thursday. "I feel like I can make all of the throws, I can run, I can jump. Physically, I feel fine."

Prior to the injury Milton was a budding star in college football, going 27-6 in three seasons at Central Florida.

He's won his last 24 starts, including leading the Knights to a 13-0 season in 2017. During his three seasons at UCF he accounted for 9,760 yards of total offense and 92 touchdowns.

Milton transferred to Florida State knowing Dillon Gabriel is firmly entrenched as Central Florida's quarterback. At Florida State he will compete with Jordan Travis, who has seen limited action at quarterback for the Seminoles over the last two seasons.

"I promised him an opportunity to come and compete," coach Mike Norvell said. "That's what he was looking for, that's what we were looking for — somebody that could come in with the leadership that he provides."

Rays aquire Cruz

Minnesota's Nelson Cruz hits a solo home run April 21 against the Oakland Athletics in Oakland, Calif. On Thursday, the Tampa Bay Rays aquired Cruz from the Twins in a four-player trade.

Trades with Minnesota for one of baseball's most proven sluggers

CLEVELAND — Nelson Cruz packed up his big bat and joined a contender.

The Tampa Bay Rays acquired Cruz, one of baseball's most proven sluggers, in a four-player trade with the Minnesota Twins on Thursday night.

Cruz was well aware of the likelihood he'd be dealt this month, with the disappointing Twins well out of contention. Nonetheless he told reporters the news still felt "shocking" and "heartbreaking" to him after becoming fond of the organization over his 2 1/2 seasons in Minnesota.

"It's a tough one. I guess it's a new chapter, and I will embrace it the way I embrace everything in my life to go help the Tampa Bay Rays to win a championship," Cruz said.

Moments before opening a four-game series at Cleveland, the Rays, who entered the night just one game behind first-place Boston in the AL East, announced they got Cruz and minor leaguer Calvin Faucher from Minnesota in exchange for minor league right-handers Joe Ryan and Drew Strotman.

Changes coming to CFB?

RALPH D. RUSSO
AP college football writer

INDIANAPOLIS — Barry Alvarez lived through the tidal wave of conference realignment that swept over college sports in the early 2010s as Wisconsin's athletic director, watching the Big Ten grow to 14 teams from the Midwest to the East Coast.

Another round of shuffling could be on the horizon, with Texas and Oklahoma initiating discussions with the Southeastern Conference about leaving the Big 12 and joining what is already college football's strongest league.

Alvarez's reaction when he heard the news: "Why?"

One day after word of the discussions surfaced, the ripple effects across the sport were clear as schools far from the Big 12 and SEC tried to sort out where this is going.

The Big 12 had a meeting planned for late Thursday with athletic directors and university presidents and chancellors to be briefed on what's going on with Texas and Oklahoma, a person familiar with the meeting told The Associated Press.

It was not clear if Texas and Oklahoma officials would participate, said the person who spoke on condition of anonymity because the Big 12 was not making its actions public.

Leaders from other conferences leaders were hesitant to speculate on what's next, but some observers were concerned about the potential consequences.

"College football is filled with people operating in silos and what they fail to realize is that if they only look at and try to build their silo as big and as shiny as possible than the entirety of the sport is not going to be as strong as it needs to be," said former Colorado quarterback Joel Klatt, the lead college football analyst for Fox, which hold television rights with the Big 12, Big Ten and Pac-12.

"I think a move like this would be to the detriment of the sport overall."

Softball 2-0 at Olympics

Abbott one-hitter lifts US over Canada

RONALD BLUM
AP baseball writer

FUKUSHIMA, Japan — Six outs from her second Olympic no-hitter, Monica Abbott was clinging to a one-run lead when she walked Canada's Jen Gilbert leading off the sixth inning, and pinch-hitter Sara Groenewegen lined a 0-2 pitch to the right-center field gap.

Center fielder Haylie McCleney picked up the ball at the wall and fired to Ali Aguilar. The second baseman made a perfect one-hop throw to catcher Aubree Munro, who moved up the third-base line and swiped a tag on sliding pinch-runner Joey Lye for the out.

"It's fun to be on the mound to watch that," Abbott said after her one-hitter led the United States over Canada 1-0 on Thursday in the first of three one-run softball games. "I don't want to give up a hit like that, but, man oh man, it took a lot of confidence in me on our defense."

Amanda Chidester hit an RBI single in the fifth off loser Jenna Caira that scored McCleney, who went 3 for 3 with a walk and has reached base seven times in two games.

Trying to regain the gold medal it lost to Japan in the 2008 final, the U.S. improved to 2-0. After a day off for the opening ceremony in Tokyo, the tournament shifts to Yokohama on Saturday.

ROUNDUP/MATCHUPS

Tigers 7, Rangers 5: Eric Haase hit a three-run homer in the first inning and the Detroit Tigers extended their winning streak to a season-best seven games. Texas has lost nine straight, equaling its longest slide this season.

Cardinals 3, Cubs 2: Kwang Hyun-Kim earned his fifth straight win on his 34th birthday. Nolan Arenado and Dylan Carlson homered as the Cardinals improved to a game over .500 at 49-48. Kim (6-5) allowed two runs on two hits and a walk with seven strikeouts in six innings. His last loss came in the second game of a doubleheader on June 20.

Braves 7, Phillies 2: Dansby Swanson hit his first career grand slam, Orlando Arcia added a solo shot. Charlie Morton (9-4) allowed two earned runs over six innings and struck out eight in his latest strong start. Morton has gone six or more innings in six of his last seven starts, with a 2.40 ERA during that stretch.

Angels 3, Twins 2: Jack Mayfield hit a three-run homer and Andrew Heaney finished seven innings for his longest start of the season. Heaney (6-7) gave up just four hits, two walks and two runs with seven strikeouts. Heaney fell behind 2-0 in the fourth on an RBI double by Willians Astudillo and a run-scoring groundout from Gilberto Celestino.

Tampa Bay's Yandy Diaz celebrates with teammates Thursday after hitting a solo home run in the ninth inning against the Cleveland Indians in Cleveland.

Rays rally to beat Indians in 10

Tom Withers
AP sports writer

CLEVELAND — Austin Meadows hit an RBI single in the 10th inning to cap Tampa Bay's comeback in a 5-4 win over the Cleveland Indians on Thursday night, hours after the Rays acquired slugger Nelson Cruz from Minnesota.

Meadows' one-out liner off Bryan Shaw (3-4) brought home Randy Arozarena, who began the 10th at second base.

Down 4-2 in the ninth, the Rays rallied to tie it against closer James Karinchak on a leadoff homer by Yandy Diaz and Brandon Lowe's two-out RBI double.

Pete Fairbanks (3-3) pitched the ninth and Diego Castillo struck out Franmil Reyes and Bobby Bradley with the potential tying run at third in the 10th for his 14th save.

Reyes made Tampa Bay pay for a curious strategy by hitting a three-run homer while helping the Indians take a 4-1 lead.

Reyes connected off Luis Patino in the third inning after Rays manager Kevin Cash inexplicably had the right-hander intentionally walk struggling José Ramírez (hitless in his last 11 at-bats) with two outs to face Cleveland's dangerous DH.

Indians starter Cal Quantrill allowed just one run in six strong innings before turning it over to Cleveland's bullpen.

In the third, Reyes, who hit a walk-off, three-run homer to beat Kansas City in a similar situation on July 8, lined a 1-2 pitch over the wall in left field for his 17th homer — and sixth in 13 games since being activated from the injured list.

As he rounded third, Reyes defiantly shook his index finger as if to warn the Rays about challenging him.

TRAINER'S ROOM

Rays: All-Star C Mike Zunino (hip) wanted to play, but Cash insisted upon giving him another day's rest. Zunino will likely be back in the lineup Friday. ... Cash said an MRI taken on RHP J.P. Feyereisen (right shoulder discomfort) showed no structural damage. He's expected back in a few days.

UP NEXT

Zach Plesac (5-3) starts for the Indians, who will either face one of Tampa Bay's relievers as an opener or Josh Fleming (7-5).

THIS DATE IN BASEBALL

1925 — Lou Gehrig hit the first of his major league record 23 grand slam homers as the New York Yankees posted an 11-7 triumph over the Washington Senators.

1930 — Pie Traynor won both ends of a doubleheader for the Pittsburgh Pirates with home runs. In the first game, Traynor homered in the ninth and in the second game, he connected in the 13th.

1944 — Bill Nicholson of the Chicago Cubs hit four home runs in a doubleheader split with the New York Giants. Nicholson hit a home run in the opener, which the Cubs won 7-4. He hit three straight in the second game, but the Giants won 12-10. In that game, Nicholson was walked with the bases loaded in the seventh inning.

1955 — Bob Cerv and Elston Howard of the New York Yankess hit consecutive pinch-hit home runs to force extra innings against Kansas City. The Athletics won 8-7 in the 11th inning on Hector Lopez's RBI-single. Trailing 7-5 entering the top of the ninth, Cerv batted for pitcher Tommy Byrne and homered of Alex Kellner. Tom Gorman replaced Kellner and Howard, hitting for Irv Noren, tied the game.

1964 — Bert Campaneris of Kansas City hit two home runs in his first major league game. He homered on the first pitch off Minnesota's Jim Kaat, and then connected again in the seventh to lift the Athletics to a 4-3 win.

1974 — Write-in starter Steve Garvey of the Los Angeles Dodgers singled and doubled to lead the NL to a 7-2 victory over the AL in the All-Star game at Pittsburgh.

1985 — Oddibe McDowell became the first player in Texas Rangers history to hit for the cycle in an 8-4 win over the Cleveland Indians.

2000 — Ryan Klesko hit a game-tying solo homer in the ninth inning and a two-run shot in the 10th to lift San Diego over Colorado 6-4.

2009 — Mark Buehrle pitched the 18th perfect game in major league history, a 5-0 win over Tampa Bay. It was the first since Randy Johnson's on May 18, 2004. Buehrle threw 76 of 116 pitches for strikes and fanned six in his second no-hitter — the first coming on April 18, 2007, against Texas.

2016 — Trevor Story hit two home runs to set an NL rookie record for shortstops and Colorado beat Atlanta 8-4. Story had four hits including his 25th and 26th homers to pass his mentor, Troy Tulowitzki, who had 24 for the Rockies in 2007. Nomar Garciaparra of the Boston Red Sox set the major league record for shortstops with 30 in 1997.

Miami dismisses S Williams after arrest on battery charges

MIAMI — Miami has dismissed second-year freshman safety Avantae Williams from the football program after his arrest on battery charges.

The school issued a statement Thursday on Williams' dismissal. That came hours after announcing he was suspended from all team activities.

Williams was arrested Wednesday night on three counts of aggravated battery of a pregnant victim, according to Miami-Dade County arrest records. He was booked into an area jail on a $10,000 bond.

According to a police report obtained by The Miami Herald, Williams' arrest followed an argument with his child's mother, who is also pregnant with his baby. The two had been living together.

After an argument about whether Williams was involved with someone else, Williams left and allegedly told her she should leave. When he returned, she was still there packing belongings, according to the report.

Williams allegedly grabbed the woman by her hair and threw her on a bed and then threw her out of the home, according to the report. After a neighbor called 911, paramedics took her to a hospital and noted "multiple bruises to her arms," a minor bruise on her neck and two broken fingernails.

Williams, from DeLand, Florida, was ranked as the No. 1 safety in the 2020 recruiting class but didn't play last season.

Jets assistant coach Knapp dies of injuries from bicycle accident

NEW YORK — New York Jets assistant coach Greg Knapp died Thursday of injuries suffered in a bicycle accident near his home in California last Saturday. He was 58.

Knapp's family released a statement through the team that the longtime NFL assistant coach died at 2:32 p.m. EDT.

"Greg Knapp (aka Knapper) was called back home to Heaven, where he will be reunited with his Dad," the statement said.

The family said in the statement that Knapp was struck by a car while riding his bicycle in the city of San Ramon in the San Francisco Bay Area and never regained consciousness.

Knapp, who lived in Danville, California, was hired by the Jets in January as part of new coach Robert Saleh's staff, serving as the passing game specialist.

homers and 1,202 RBIs. He'll bring some needed pop to Tampa Bay's lineup and should help the Rays against left-handers. They're hitting .226 versus lefties.

Usually frugal Tampa Bay assumes $5.1 million remaining in Cruz's $13 million salary. The Rays began the season with a $68.3 million payroll, 26th among the 30 teams.

The seven-time All-Star also has plenty of playoff experience with 17 homers and 37 RBIs in 46 postseason games. He's batting .294 with 19 homers and 50 RBIs this season, and over 258 games with the Twins he finished with 76 homers and a .984 OPS.

"People joke about how he's ageless, and it really does feel that way," Twins president of baseball operations Derek Falvey said.

With a week until the trade deadline and no shot at making the playoffs, the Twins figured they'd get something for Cruz to begin building toward the future. Minnesota entered Thursday at 41-55.

"He may be the best teammate I've ever seen in terms of the way he goes about his business, the way he puts his arm around people, the way he helps us become better in our front office jobs and coaching staff jobs," Falvey said. "This guy is beyond special."

A 17-year veteran, Cruz signed a one-year, $13 million deal with Minnesota in February. He has also played with Baltimore and Texas. He hit at least 37 homers per season from 2014-19. He belted a career-high 44 homers for the Mariners in 2015.

"We thought we should be in the playoff race," Cruz said. "Never thought we should be in this situation. Unfortunately, that wasn't the case. You never want to leave the places where you are, where you feel comfortable. It is what it is. That's part of the business."

Both Ryan and Strotman were in Triple-A Durham's rotation.

Ryan, who will also pitch for Team USA in the Tokyo Olympics, had a 3.63 ERA with 75 strikeouts in 57 innings for the Bulls and was ranked by MLB.com as the No. 10 prospect in Tampa Bay's system. The 25-year-old was a seventh-round draft pick in 2018.

Strotman had a 3.39 ERA with 62 strikeouts in 58 1/3 innings with Durham. The 24-year-old was the 17th-ranked Rays prospect after being drafted in the fourth round in 2017.

The 25-year-old Faucher had a 7.04 ERA with 42 strikeouts in 30 2/3 innings for Double-A Wichita. He was a 10th-round draft pick by the Twins in 2017.

Former Oklahoma quarterback and Heisman Trophy winner Baker Mayfield put it more starkly: "It would ruin the Big 12. It would be done," Mayfield said during a break in shooting TV commercials in Cleveland.

The Big 12 was thought to be on life support about a decade ago after losing Nebraska, Colorado, Texas A&M and Missouri. Managing to hold on to Texas and Oklahoma allowed the Big 12 to survive as a Power Five conference after it added TCU and West Virginia.

Back when that was playing out, conferences were reacting to one another. The Big Ten pushed over the first domino when it announced in 2009 it was going to explore expansion. Eventually, it lured Nebraska away from the Big 12.

"We often talk about how uncomfortable this time is," new Nebraska AD Trev Alberts said. "It is. It's a changing environment. There's a lot of stress. Now's the time you want to be part of some stability."

That Big Ten expansion sparked a frenzy, with conferences and schools fending for themselves. Could a Texas/Oklahoma move to the SEC be the next fire starter?

Big Ten Commissioner Kevin Warren was asked about the talks and whether they could prompt the conference to look at expansion — maybe even reaching out to the two Big 12 schools — as he opened football media days at Lucas Oil Stadium.

Warren stayed away from speculating, calling the news just another example of the volatility sweeping through college sports at the moment.

"That's the world that we live in right now," he said. "From where we sit, we're always constantly evaluating what's in the best interest of the conference."

Atlantic Coast Conference Commissioner Jim Phillips, who took over earlier this year after being athletic director at Northwestern, took a similarly cautious approach.

"I think it's critically important for all of us to always be paying attention to what's happening in the landscape and understanding what's happening across the country, whether you're a conference commissioner, whether you're an athletic director, whether you're a president," he said. "It's just part of all of our responsibility. And this is the latest maybe conversation that we're hearing about."

Under former Commissioner John Swofford, the ACC added Syracuse, Pittsburgh and Louisville.

Alvarez was at Lucas Oil Stadium because the Big Ten announced he would be taking a new role at the conference: special advisor for football. He retired after 18 years as Wisconsin AD earlier this year.

Alvarez, 74, is not one to shy away from giving his thoughts on a topic. But news of realignment ramping up again caught him off guard.

"It's something you certainly have your antenna up for," Alvarez said.

Johnson-like reach that reduces her release point from the 43-foot rubber to about 37 feet from the plate. Pitching a week before her 36th birthday, she struck out nine, walked three and needed 102 pitches in the Americans' second consecutive one-hitter.

Cat Osterman, at age 38 the Americans' senior player, struck out nine over six innings and Abbott struck out the side in the seventh to finish Wednesday's opening 2-0 win over Italy.

"Once you start thinking about it, it always ends up being broken up," Abbott saidof the no-hit bid. "So as soon as it popped into my head, I was like, no — no, no, no, no, no, don't think about it."

Lye didn't regret the green light.

"I felt good rounding third," she said. "We live to play another day."

Munro made sure not to obstruct the runner.

"The turf makes it pretty easy," Munro said.

U.S. coach Ken Eriksen got goosebumps.

"That was the first drill that we did in 2011 and what we do every single year on the first day of practice," he said. "That can win gold medals."

Groenewegen took third on the throw, but Abbott stranded pinch-runner Janet Leung when Victoria Heyward flied out and, after an intentional walk, Kelsey Harshman struck out.

The U.S. was 1 for 8 with six strikeouts with runners in scoring position, but the 1 was enough.

Winter Nationals returning to CCS in 2022

Kimberly Kelly
For the Chronicle

After a one-year hiatus, the INEX Legends Cars Winter Nationals presented by Little Gator Motorsports will return to Citrus County Speedway in February 2022.

"It is such a great track and a great facility," Scott Cornman said of the racing complex in Inverness. Cornman owns Little Gator Motorsports and promotes his Little Gator Legends Cars series throughout Florida, including CCS.

The annual event, which first began at Citrus County Speedway in 1997, has rotated between CCS, Orlando Speed World and Auburndale Speedway. It has been held at the Inverness venue for the past four years with 120-174 cars competing at each event.

As for selecting Citrus County Speedway for 2022 Cornman said, "Citrus is one of only a few tracks that we thought about this year. There were a few tracks that wanted us."

Last year the series was held at Auburndale Speedway. It was the first time in nine years the event was held at the track in Winter Haven.

"With the feedback from the drivers in Florida and across the country we thought it would be a great spot to have the Winter Nationals coming up," Cornman said. "And we already have a great relationship with Camron Ray (CCS General Manager)."

There have been five LGM Legends Cars events held at CCS so far in the 2021 season with three drivers finding their way to victory lane. They include Ashton Chilton and Jarrett Wagman, each with one win, and TJ DeCaire with the last three.

Out of 34 competitors, DeCaire leads the Citrus Legends Cars division by eight points over Chilton, 17 over Stephen Hartley and 26 over Wagman. There are six more local events on the schedule for 2021.

"After a year away we thought Citrus would be a great place to return to," Cornman said. "The program operates smoothly. We want the drivers and teams to have fun that week, give them a safe competitive atmosphere, and for the fans that come to watch it that they see some good racing."

The INEX Legends Cars Winter Nationals presented by Little Gator Motorsports is scheduled to take place the week prior to the Daytona 500. An exact schedule with event dates and times will be announced at a later date.

Darren Clarke, James Kingston share Senior British Open lead

Associated Press

BERKSHIRE, England — Darren Clarke shot a 5-under 65 on Thursday at Sunningdale for a share of the Senior British Open lead with James Kingston.

Clarke had six birdies and a bogey on the Old Course in the final senior major championship of the year. The 52-year-old from Northern Ireland won the British Open in 2011 at Royal St. George's.

"I played smart around here," Clarke said. "I hit away from the flags to the middle of the greens and gave myself some chances, and kept giving myself chances there in the last few holes. Didn't make anything at the end, but just played smart. I think the winner is going to have to play smart this week."

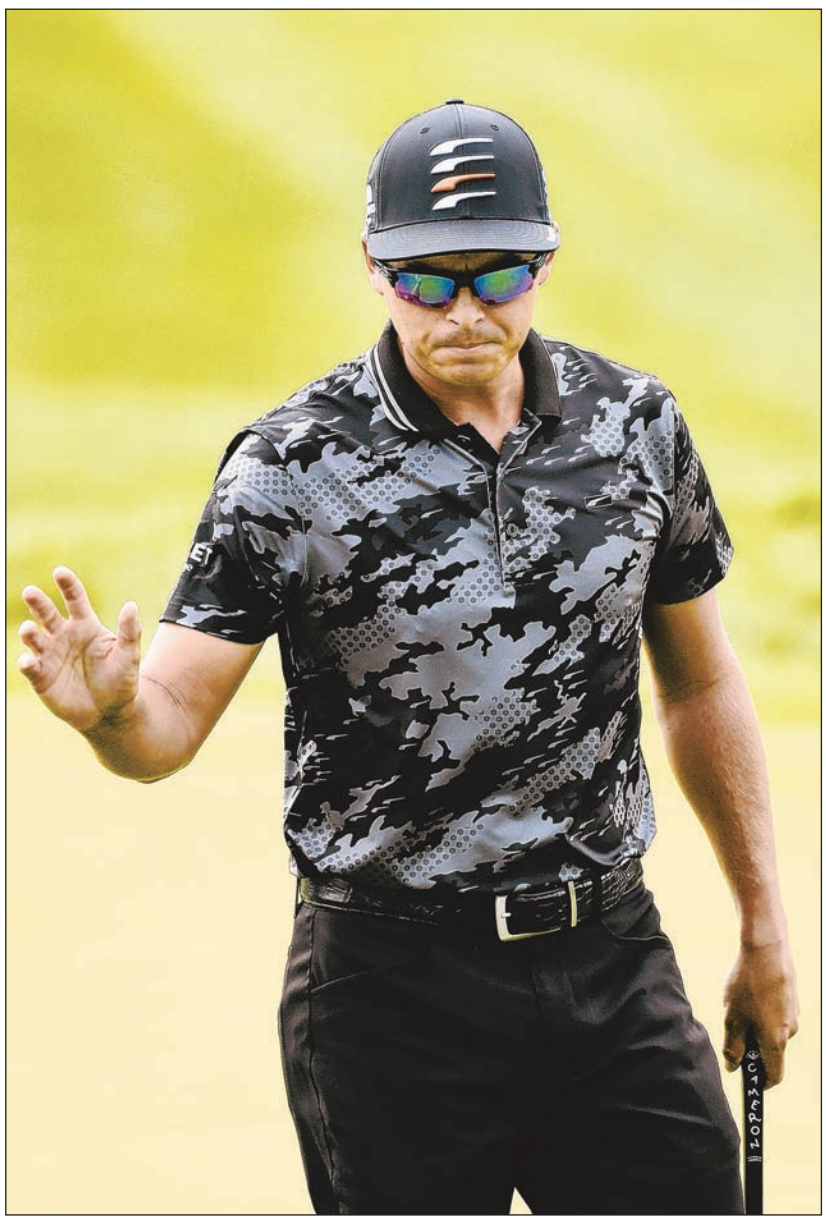

Kingston, from South Africa, had a bogey-free round. He was recently hospitalized because of COVID-19.

"I feel like I've been a little unprepared," Kingston said. "I was down with COVID and in hospital or whatever, so I don't think my preparation coming into this week is exactly what I would have liked. But when you get to a place like this and you like the golf course, it seems to just sneak into your game, and I love what I see out there."

Defending champion Bernhard Langer was a stroke back with Ricardo Gonzalez and Stephen Dodd. The 63-year-old Langer won in 2019 at Royal Lytham & St. Annes for his fourth victory in the event. The 2020 tournament was canceled.

Ernie Els was at 67 with Jerry Kelly, Jose Coceres, Wes Short Jr., Robert Allenby, Peter Fowler and Phillip Price.

Jim Furyk, the U.S, Senior Open winner two weeks ago in Omaha, Nebraska, closed with a double bogey for a 70.

Rickie Fowler acknowledges the crowd Thursday after making a putt on the first hole during the first round of the 3M Open in Blaine, Minn.

Fowler, Vegas, Merritt tied for 3M Open lead

BLAINE, Minn. — Rickie Fowler's improved driving helped him shoot a 5-under 65 on Sunday in the final round of the British Open.

Looking for a late push in the FedEx Cup standings, Fowler carried over the strong play with a 7-under 64 in the first round of the 3M Open.

Fowler set the opening-round pace with a bogey-free round later equaled by Jhonatton Vegas and Troy Merritt, who attended Spring Lake Park High School, about six miles south of the TPC Twin Cities.

Fowler, who has never missed the FedEx Cup playoffs in 11 seasons, started the tournament ranked 124th in the standings, with the top 125 making the playoffs. There are two weeks remaining after the 3M Open to qualify for the playoffs.

"I know where I'm at, what we need to do and stuff like that," Fowler said. "Really just focusing on things we've been working on, playing more consistent good golf. More days like today and things will be fine. Kind of keep things, like I said, simple and small, focus on the day-to-day and this week, and go from there. Everything will work out."

Vegas capped an eventful opening round in the dark when his approach on the par-5 18th landed on top of a hospitality tent. His ball was eventually found and he was given free relief. He birdied the hole to tie for the lead.

"You can barely see the flag," Vegas said. "We had a number, which we messed up the number trying to play fast. I knew it was going to be long. ... It was a little bit of a nightmare right at the end."

Scott Stallings was trying to equal the course record of 62 before he double-bogeyed the 18th following more than a two-hour delay due to lightning in the area. Stallings was a stroke back at 65 with Adam Schenk and Roger Sloan. Sloan had two holes to play when play was suspended due to darkness with 11 players still on the course.

Pajaree and Noh share Evian lead at 6 under

EVIAN-LES-BAINS, France — Thailand's Pajaree Anannarukarn and teenage American Yealimi Noh posted 6-under 65s to share the first-round lead at the Evian Championship.

Noh's day began perfectly when she carded an eagle on the first hole. Her momentum was checked by a bogey on No. 4 but she birdied holes 6 and 7 and three more on the back nine.

"It is the first time I've started a tournament with an eagle. Both of my playing partners stuck it and I was like 'I hope I stick it too, I don't want to be left out,'" the 19-year-old Noh said. "I wanted to finish good and take the advantage of that early start."

The consistent Pajaree had three birdies on the way out and three on the way back to the clubhouse.

"I made some really good putts that were not easy," she said. "I focused on the speed and what I have been working on, and it worked out pretty well."

They hold a one-stroke lead over a group of five: Ayaka Furue of Japan, Lauren Stephenson of the U.S., 18-year-old Atthaya Thitikul of Thailand, Jeongeun Lee6 of South Korea, and Emily Kristine Pedersen of Denmark.

Pedersen had two eagles on the par-5 ninth and 18th holes.

"It's a good start to the tournament, I holed a lot of good putts and a chip today," Pedersen said. "I have been struggling with my putting, so it's really positive to see that I've found something good going forward."

Australian Sarah Kemp, South Korean Hyo Joo Kim — the Women's World Championship winner in May — and Thailand's Ariya Jutanugarn shot 67s.

Meanwhile, new world No. 1 Nelly Korda endured a rough start to her bid for a second major title when she posted a 3-over 74.

Swedish rookie Norrman tied for lead Wales Open

NEWPORT, Wales — Swedish newcomer Vincent Norrman continued his remarkable start to life as a professional golfer as he took a share of the lead after the first round of the Wales Open.

Norrman turned professional only in June but has already had a hole-in-one and a top five in the paid ranks and he was bogey free as he carded a 64 to get to 7 under at Celtic Manor.

That left him alongside Spaniard Nacho Elvira at the top of the leaderboard at the 2010 Ryder Cup venue.

Harbaugh and Frost resolute

About resurrecting programs

Phillip B. Wilson
Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS — As their paths crossed at Big Ten Media Days, Michigan coach Jim Harbaugh and Nebraska coach Scott Frost appeared to have one thing in common: They are at a crossroads in their careers.

Both have been humbled in recent years. Both need to win now, quite possibly, to save their jobs.

Since returning to his alma mater in 2015, Harbaugh has gone just 49-22 and failed to provide the Wolverines with their first conference title since 2004. His teams have gone 0-5 against rival Ohio State and 1-4 in bowl games.

That's not why Harbaugh was brought back to Ann Arbor as one of the nation's highest-paid coaches. It is, however, why he received a four-year extension this offseason for roughly half the previous deal, loaded with incentives and including a more financially friendly buyout.

Standing on a stage and staring into the bright lights of Lucas Oil Stadium, where his name is memorialized in the Indianapolis Colts Ring of Honor, the former quarterback known as "Captain Comeback" vowed to bring his program back from mediocrity.

A question pertaining to the need to beat the Buckeyes and win a Big Ten title prompted the response that he was "as enthusiastic and excited" as ever.

"That's what we want to do," Harbaugh said. "We're going to do it or die trying."

Frost is just 12-20 overall, including 9-17 in the Big Ten, as he enters a fourth season at his alma mater. The school hired former Cornhuskers star linebacker Trev Alberts to return as athletic director. Alberts is the fourth guy to have that job since 2012.

"We have a fan base that is starved and hungry," Alberts said.

Frost doesn't need to be reminded.

"We're kind of cut from the same cloth and have a lot of the same experiences and a lot of the same ideas," Frost said of Alberts. "That's been apparent to me right away in my discussions with him."

Back in the day, Nebraska was one of college football's elite programs with five national titles from 1970 to 1997. In a 28-year span through 2001, the Cornhuskers won 22 conference titles either shared or outright, had 28 top-10 finishes and 22 seasons with 10 or more wins.

But the school hasn't won a league title since 1999, had only one winning season since 2015 and lost five or more games in five of six seasons. This season marks the 10th anniversary of Nebraska joining the Big Ten after leaving the Big 12. The .533 win percentage in that span ranks eighth among conference teams.

That's why Frost, like Harbaugh, is often mentioned as being on a hot seat.

"I don't read anything," Frost said. "Praise and blame are all the same. They're both imposters. When things are going well, you're going to get a lot of praise. And that's not all true. Blame is the same thing."

But there's no denying humbling realities. Nebraska has seen key players, including quarterback Luke McCaffrey and running back Wan'Dale Robinson, decide to transfer. Frost had once referred to McCaffrey, the younger brother of NFL star Christian McCaffrey, as "the future" of the program. That future is now at Rice.

Neither Michigan nor Nebraska had a player on the 10-member Big Ten preseason squads announced Thursday.

Exhibit on display into August

Special to the Chronicle

The Art Center Camera Club held its first major photo exhibit Friday afternoon, July 16, and was well received.

More than 55 winning photographs were exhibited on the Art Center Gallery walls.

Camera Chairman Jim Houle took the honors this year with a showing of over 35 12x18-inch samples of his works with several other artist showing their works.

Jim has been a professional photographer for over 50 years photographing weddings, sports events, and portraits. Jim received his training while in the navy and specialized in underwater photography working with the navy's Underwater Combat Camera Team.

Several photographers were on hand to talk about their works and handled questions from those attending. Several visitors were interested in camera club and quickly filled out the club's application.

The photo exhibit will be up until the second week of August and all are invited to stop in. They are usually open from 1 to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. If you'd like to stop in, please call 352-746-7606.

You can also contact Jim at 352-249-9140 for more information about the Art Center and the Camera Club.

The Stream

New this week: 'Zola,' 'Ted Lasso,' Leon Bridges' third album

Associated Press

Here's a collection curated by The Associated Press' entertainment journalists of what's arriving on TV, streaming services and music platforms this week.

MOVIES

■ It's the last day on Earth in Los Angeles and Zoe Lister-Jones' Eliza is spending it wandering the streets on foot with her younger self (Cailee Spaeny) in the surprisingly sweet apocalyptic comedy "How It Ends." Although technically a pandemic film — Lister-Jones and her husband, Daryl Wein, filmed it during early lockdown with a murderer's row of their talented friends in cameo roles (Olivia Wilde, Lamorne Morris, Fred Armisen, Colin Hanks, Helen Hunt, Nick Kroll, and many more) — "How It Ends," out Tuesday on video on demand, is more than just a gimmick and worth the chance.

■ "Zola," the based-on-a-viral-Twitter-thread saga about a couple of strippers on a road trip to Florida, will be available on VOD Friday. The film from director Janicza Bravo is a trippy and surreal journey through a seedy, neon-lit world of strip clubs, racial tensions and sex workers that A'Ziah King (Taylour Paige) finds herself unwittingly wrapped up in after forging an ill-fated connection with Stefani (Riley Keough). "Zola" is, without a doubt, one of the wildest movies of the year.

■ Author Jojo Moyes knows good romance and the latest novel of hers to be adapted is "The Last Letter From Your Lover," coming to Netflix on Friday. Felicity Jones stars as a journalist who uncovers some love letters in the archives revealing an affair in the 1960s between a socialite (Shailene Woodley) and a financial journalist

Bridge

PHILLIP ALDER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

F. Scott Fitzgerald claimed, "No grand idea was ever born in a conference, but a lot of foolish ideas have died there."

A bridge partnership is like a conference: You and your partner must spend time working out your bidding and — even more important — defensive card-play agreements so that you are on the same wavelength at the table.

North and South benefited from their preparations on today's deal. Would you and your partner reach this desirable grand slam with only a combined 28 high-card points?

In the auction, South's two spades was an artificial game-force, asking North to rebid two no-trump. Three hearts was natural. Four clubs was a control-bid, showing a good hand for play in hearts. South used Roman Key Card Blackwood to learn that his partner had two aces and the heart queen.

The declarer had only 12 immediate winners. He needed to establish a long diamond trick for a spade discard. But once that trick was set up and trumps were drawn, declarer would need a dummy entry, which could only be the club ace. So, after winning the first trick with the spade ace, South continued with the heart ace, the diamond king, a diamond to dummy's ace, a diamond ruffed high, a heart to dummy's queen and another diamond ruffed high. South drew West's last trump, played a club to dummy's ace and discarded his spade two on the diamond six.

At the end, West said to his partner, "It's a long deal that has no tricks."

Annie offers advice

Dear Annie: I'm a father of two amazing children and completely loyal husband of more than 20 years. But I have an ongoing issue with my parents-in-law, especially my father-in-law.

About 15 years ago, when our oldest child was a toddler, my in-laws became upset that I wasn't pushing religion hard enough in the household. They told my wife I was a "bad father." When I confronted my in-laws during a future visit, they denied saying it until my wife agreed with me in front of them. After that, they agreed to leave it to my wife and me to educate our kids in all matters religious. Unfortunately, not only did they continue to interfere with our parenting, but they also continued to speak negatively about me to my wife constantly. Years of such comments have caused great strain on my marriage, and I believe, at this point, divorce is inevitable.

DEAR ANNIE

The way I see it, my in-laws forced my wife (who is an only child) to choose between them and me. She's tried to remain neutral, and I do my best to ignore their snark, but I've come to believe there's no solution to this problem other than to split up.

And on top of all they've done to our marriage, my father-in-law has taken to saying he has our oldest child "in the palm of his hand." He's extremely manipulative, and this commentary troubles me greatly, as our teenager seems blissfully ignorant. My question to you is: Should I enlighten our 18-year-old as to what has occurred in his family, or leave things as they are because I'm overly sensitive? — Am I Wrong

Dear Am I Wrong: You're not being overly sensitive. But I see no need to tell your son what a miserable old crank his grandpa is. At this point, he's probably figured that out for himself. Likewise, you should give your wife more credit. We don't get to choose our families, but we do get to choose our partners, and your wife chose you. Don't lose sight of that fact. While it's hurtful that she hasn't stood up for you too much until that point, you should try expressing that to her constructively so that you might have the chance to work through it. Twenty years of marriage warrants at least a few hours of couples counseling before throwing in the towel, I would think.

Lastly, though it's easier said than done, try not to take your father-in-law's jabs personally. I guarantee he would have found fault with any man your wife might have married. Some people are so unhappy with themselves that they derive joy in deriding others. That's his problem, not yours. Don't take the bait.

Dear Annie: I am disturbed to still see people leaving their dogs in hot cars. Whenever I see this happening, I go into the nearest businesses and have announcements made over intercoms to try to track down the owners. If I can't find them, I call 911 — because it truly is an emergency. Here are some relevant data points from Redrover.com.

"Dogs are especially vulnerable to heat-related illness because they can only cool off by panting and through the pads in their feet.

"Even on seemingly mild days, an enclosed car can be deadly. In a Stanford University study, when it was 72 degrees outside, a car's internal temperature climbed to 116 degrees within one hour.

"A dog can only withstand a high body temperature for a short time before suffering nerve damage, heart problems, liver damage, brain damage or even death.

"Studies show that cracking the windows has little effect on a car's internal temperature." — Friend to Fido

Dear Friend: I'm happy to print this reminder, which is always relevant but especially urgent as we enter the dog days of summer.

CELEBRITY CIPHER

by Luis Campos

Celebrity Cipher cryptograms are created from quotations by famous people, past and present. Each letter in the cipher stands for another.

Today's clue: W equals K

"XZLAOG AD WKG, ZSY AX GEH TZCK OECK XEJ XZLAOG, VTKS GEH TZCK OECK XEJ EVTKJD -- ZSY GEH TZCK HSAVG ZD Z BKEBOK." -- LZJOES NZGZSD

Previous Solution: "It's better to be known by six people for something you're proud of than by 60 million for something you're not." -- Albert Brooks

MUSIC

■ Master singer-songwriter Jackson Browne is releasing a new album on Friday, "Downhill From Everywhere," his first in six years. The opening song, "Still Looking For Something," is a sun-kissed ode to restless freedom, while the first single, "My Cleveland Heart," is a playful imagining of getting a new artificial heart: "They're made to take a bashin'/ And never lose their passion." The title track is one of the best political songs he's ever written, period. Unrushed, melancholic, worldly and subline, this is a timeless rock album designed to be played this summer racing across a shimmering blacktop with the top down.

■ Leon Bridges channels modern R&B-soul on the new album "Gold-Diggers Sound," out Friday. The songs were inspired by Gold Diggers, a bar, hotel and recording studio off Santa Monica Boulevard in Los Angeles. The singles released so far — the insecure, heart-wrenching "Why Don't You Touch Me," the hypnotic, slinky "Motorbike" and the powerfully political "Sweeter" — indicate a restless artist reaching and attaining a new set of wings. In a statement, he calls it his "most sensual and confident album to date, and I cannot wait to unleash it."

TELEVISION

■ PBS' "In Their Own Words" returns to examine the lives and influence of "intriguing figures in recent history" through interviews, archival footage and, as the title has it, what the subjects themselves have said. The new specials begin Tuesday with "Pope Francis," the first pontiff from the Americas. Rock 'n' roll legend Chuck Berry's life and music are examined in the July 27 episode, which includes a Keith Richards interview. In "Diana, Princess of Wales," airing Aug. 8, John Travolta and biographer Andrew Morton are among those heard from. (Check local PBS station listings for air times.)

Associated Press

■ Here's the score on "Ted Lasso": The Apple TV+ series earned 20 nominations for September's Emmy Awards, including for best comedy and acting nods for star and producer Jason Sudeikis and six of his castmates. If you missed the much-admired freshman season, there's time to binge on its clever, sweet-natured humor before season two debuts Friday. Changes are ahead for the British soccer team saddled with a chipper American football coach: Veteran champ Roy Kent (the nominated Brett Goldstein) is retired, and a sports psychologist (Sarah Niles) arrives, presumably to the rescue.

■ The Tokyo Olympics begin Friday with, as usual, the opening ceremony (live on NBC at 6:55 to 11 a.m. EDT, with an edited version at 7:30 p.m. to midnight EDT). Medals are the goal for U.S. competitors including Simone Biles and Gabby Thomas, and in new Olympic sports including surfing. But the pandemic-affected games will also be strikingly different, with most events held in near-empty venues under the shadow of COVID-19. The armchair audience can chose from thousands of hours of coverage on NBC Universal platforms including NBC, USA and Peacock through the games' Aug. 8 conclusion. Daily listings are available at NBC's Olympic site.

AROUND THE COUNTY

Join the New York Club

The New York Club of Citrus County will return to their monthly luncheon meetings every second Thursday of the month from October to May. The first meeting will be Oct. 14.

Those who wish to join the club must send a $10 check for yearly dues. The cutoff date to join is Aug. 15. Checks can be made payable to the New York Club and sent to P.O. Box 56, Lecanto, FL 34460.

After the check is received, the club will send an application to fill out and return. All are welcome to join; you do not need to be a New Yorker.

For information, call Rose Lynch, president, at 352-503-7430. Newcomers should call Maria Sosha at 1-845-667-2900.

Dunnellon quilters set weekly meetings

The Dunnellon Country Quilters meet at 12:30 p.m. Mondays at the First United Methodist Church on West State Road 40. They conduct their business meetings on the third Monday monthly.

The group makes patriotic quilts for the Citrus County Resource Center and pillowcases for the Shands Children's Cancer Center.

Members teach classes on different projects throughout the year and go on road trips to quilt shops. All who are interested are welcome to join.

For information, call Dianne Takahashi at 352-209-4900.

Senior program hosts free ukulele classes

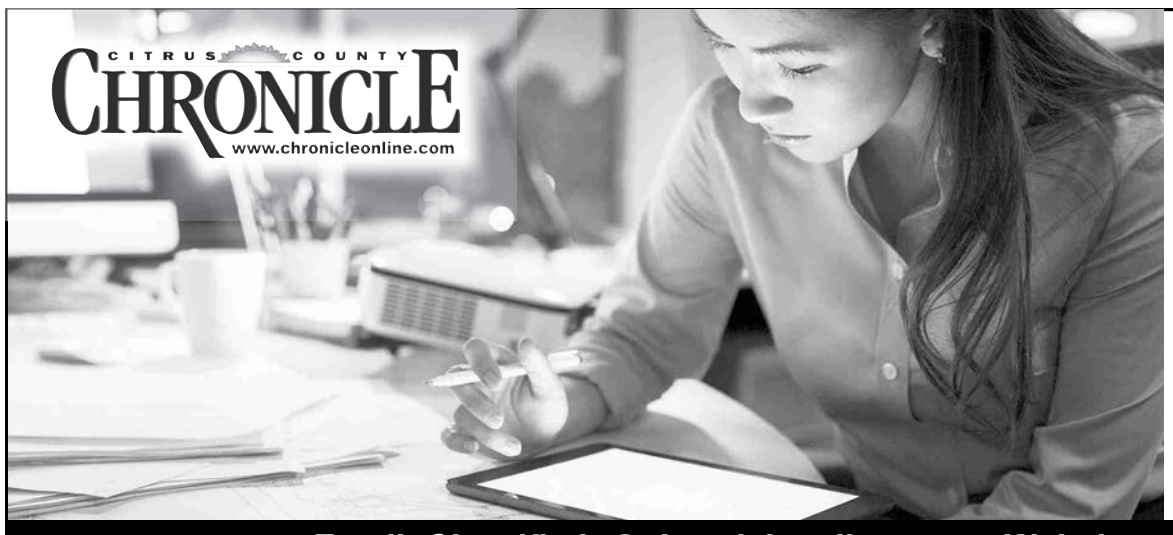

The Hernando Area Senior Program is hosting free ukulele classes with Joy Wilson at noon on Tuesdays at 2415 N. Florida Ave. in Hernando.

All skill levels are welcome.

Attendees must comply with COVID-19 guidelines and masks are mandatory. Due to limited space, participants should call ahead to make a reservation. For information about these activities, call 352-527-5484.

Senior Friends for Life to have restaurant tour

Senior Friends for Life will have their next restaurant tour at 12:30 p.m. July 28 at Stumpknockers, 110 NW Main St. in Inverness. For reservations, call Pat at 352-795-5822.

SCAM ALERT******

How to Avoid a Fake Check Scam

- INSIST ON CASH
- Don't accept a check for more than the selling price. You can bet it's a scam.
- Inform the Buyer that you'll wait two weeks before sending any merchandise.
- Never use money from a check to send gift cards, money orders, or wire money to strangers or someone you just met. Many scammers demand that you send money through money transfer services like Western Union or MoneyGram, or buy gift cards and send them the PIN numbers. Once you wire money, or give someone the gift card PINs, it is like giving someone cash. It's almost impossible to get it back.
- Toss offers that ask you to pay for a prize. If it's free, you shouldn't have to pay to get it.
