CCAS cat program suspended

Citrus County Animal Services (CCAS) has suspended the Community Cat Trap-Neuter-Vaccinate Return (TNVR) program until Tuesday, Nov. 16 due to an unexpected influx of animals being housed at the shelter.

It is recommended that healthy cats found outside are left alone during the period services are suspended. Nationally, only 2% of cats are picked up by their owners when they end up in shelters but are up to 13 times more likely to make it home when allowed to remain in the community. Allow these cats the best chance of finding their way home. For more information, call the shelter at 352-746-8400.

County backs funding bids

Crystal River, Inverness both seeking money from coming legislative session

MICHAEL D. BATES
Staff writer

The Christmas season has pretty much started and the cities of Crystal River and Inverness wasted no time in submitting their holiday lists. Not to Santa, but to county commissioners.

The board voted unanimously last week to support the cities' list of projects and add them to the county's legislative funding requests.

But it was not without some lively discussion. County Commission Chairman Scott Carnahan said the legislative wish list is getting too long, especially when the cities' requests are added to the county's.

"It's way too long and we have a lot of (money-asking) and to me, it looks terrible," Carnahan said. "I think we have to focus on what we need."

The 2022 legislative session begins Jan. 11 and state lawmakers will consider requests from their constituency. Citrus County's legislative delegation is Sen. Wilton Simpson, R-Trilby and Rep. Ralph Massullo, R-Lecanto.

Crystal River sought support from the county on two funding requests: $2 million for its $8.6 million King's Bay Riverwalk project and the $20.7 million to upgrade Turkey Oak Drive and turn it into a bypass around downtown Crystal River.

Ford dealership marks 40 years

Nick Nicholas Ford has been a fixture in Inverness for 40 years. Nick Nicholas, center, founded the company in 1981 where his grandson Nick, assistant manager, at right, and son-in-law Shane Bryant, general manager, work.

Three generations work to maintain tradition while looking to future

MICHAEL D. BATES
Staff writer

At 22 years old, Nicholas Bryant has already made some pretty big strides in life.

He stars with his siblings in TV commercials, graduated from the University of Florida with a business management degree and has a job he loves. He also drives a Ford F-150.

That's non-negotiable, because Bryant also happens to be the assistant manager of Nick Nicholas Ford in Inverness.

Bryant represents the third generation. His dad, Shane Bryant, is general manager and his grandfather, Nick Nicholas, is the dealership's founder.

A dozen apply for vacant judgeships

State committee to interview candidates, make recommendations

BUSTER THOMPSON
Staff writer

A state commission tasked with suggesting new judges to the governor has a dozen applicants to choose from for two vacancies on the bench, including one in Citrus County.

Friday, Oct. 29, was the deadline to put in applications with the Judicial Nominating Commission (JNC) of the Fifth Judicial Circuit of Florida for the openings created by retiring circuit judges S. Sue Robbins and William Hallman III.

After conducting the interviews with the applicants, the JNC will forward their picks for Gov. Ron DeSantis to name two appointments from.

Whoever DeSantis selects to fill Robbins' vacancy is expected to preside over cases in Citrus County due to Circuit Court Judge Stacy Youmans leaving the courthouse in Inverness to take over the docket Robbins left in Marion County.

A couple of applicants have already specified which judge — Robbins or Hallman — they'd like to succeed. Others are expected to announce their choice during upcoming interviews with JNC members.

Those who applied were: Sarah Jones, Kristie Healis, Edward Spaight, Barbara Kissner Kwatkosky, Spencer Gollahon, Nicole Morris, Erin Schlichter (for Hallman), Rachel M. Batten, Harlan Derek Saltsman (for Hallman), Blake Shore, Cheri Russell and Jason Nimeth.

Applicants have to live within the judicial circuit — which covers Citrus, Marion, Hernando, Lake and Sumter counties — and must have at least five years membership on The Florida Bar.

Kiosks will offer tag renewals at some stores

Move meant to streamline process

Associated Press

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Renewing your motor vehicle registration has gotten a little easier in some Florida counties thanks to kiosks at the local Publix supermarket.

Last week, the Seminole County Tax Collector's Office opened up a kiosk at a Publix in Altamonte Springs, joining Polk, Hillsborough, Manatee, and Brevard counties in offering the service, the Orlando Sentinel reported.

The kiosk allows residents to renew their registration and then print out a license plate sticker.

"We think it's going to help people out," Seminole County Tax Collector J.R. Kroll told the newspaper, "The machine runs on Publix hours and not tax collector's office hours. So, if it's 9 at night, and you're getting your groceries, you can also renew your tag."

Barbara Good, assistant Citrus County tax collector, said her office will be installing a kiosk soon at the Citrus Hills Publix. Residents will be able to use it to renew their driver's license at the site. No date has been announced.

The touchscreen machine is tucked between a Florida Lottery and Redbox movie rental machines, located at the front of the store near the check-out lines. Payment is made with either a credit card or debit card.

The kiosk verifies proof of insurance. And it doesn't allow renewals for anyone with outstanding driver's license or toll violations, the newspaper reported.

Intellectual Technology Inc. provides the kiosk free of charge to the tax collector's office. The company then takes a portion of the $3.95 convenience fee added to the renewal cost.

"We realized that more people are starting to do things online," Kroll said. "The younger ones are no problem. They do everything online. They never want to come into the offices. But the old-timers, they like coming in and seeing a face."

Kroll said additional kiosks will be added shortly. He's also adding a kiosk at his office for folks who would rather not wait in line for simple renewals.

Small business tax 'holiday' proposed

Discounts for shoppers would be offered through a sales-tax "holiday" at small businesses on the Saturday after Thanksgiving, under a pair of bills filed Monday for the 2022 legislative session, which will start in January. The bills (SB 712 and HB 439) by Sen. Annette Taddeo, D-Miami, and Rep. Carlos Guillermo Smith, D-Orlando, would establish the "Small Business Saturday" holiday during one of the busiest shopping times of the year. Under the proposal, sales taxes would not be charged on items that cost $500 or less. Small businesses would have the option to participate in the tax holiday, which likely would be part of a larger package of tax holidays offered by the state.

Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 22): Take a moment to assess situations, but don't linger too long. Mindfulness, precision and honesty will be key.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23-Dec. 21): Be realistic regarding how much you spend. Getting the most for the least by doing the work yourself is favored.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 19): Look over the possibilities and map out a course that will help you reach your destination. Refuse to let a change of plans someone makes throw you off.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): There is no clear-cut way to handle sensitive situations. Take the time to ask questions that give others the chance to develop a solution without being told what to do.

Aries (March 21-April 19): Join forces with someone who shares your point of view. A discussion will lead to a broader understanding of your long-term goals and give you comfort.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Don't count on something that isn't a sure thing. Ask questions and insist on verification in writing.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Think matters through. When in doubt, check the facts, budget appropriately and set a reasonable course.

Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade returns

NEW YORK — The Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade will return to its pre-pandemic form this year, with its route restored through Manhattan, high-flying helium balloons once again pulled by handlers and crowds welcomed back to cheer them on.

This year's parade — the 95th annual — will snap back to form after bowing to pandemic restrictions last year. It will feature 15 giant character balloons, 28 floats, 36 novelty and heritage inflatables, more than 800 clowns, 10 marching bands and nine performance groups and, of course, Santa Claus.

New balloon giants joining the line-up on Nov. 25 include Ada Twist, Scientist and the Pokémon characters Pikachu and Eevee. Broadway will be represented by the casts of "Six," "Moulin Rouge! The Musical" and "Wicked." The Rockettes will be there, as will the cast of the upcoming NBC live production of "Annie."

"For our 95th celebration, Macy's has created a spectacle to remember featuring a dazzling array of high-flying balloons, animated floats and incredible performers. We can't wait to help New York City and the nation kick-off the holiday season with the return of this cherished tradition," Will Coss, executive producer of the parade, said in a statement.

There will be new floats led by the cast of "Girls5eva" — Sara Bareilles, Renée Elise Goldberry, Paula Pell and Busy Philipps — Nelly and Jordan Fisher, while Jon Batiste will be on an alligator-themed float celebrating Louisiana's music, food

And all three are enjoying the year-long celebration of 40 years in the business.

“He’s top-shelf,” said grandfather Nick, who couldn’t be happier to see the business he started all those years ago carry on through the family.

Sometimes even Nicholas Bryant is surprised at being assistant manager at his young age.

Nicholas Bryant knows he has some big shoes to fill. And at 6 feet, 8 inches tall, he already has the “big” down. As for experience, he’s been learning the company ropes since graduating from Citrus High School.

His dad and grandfather want him to learn every facet of the business. While attending the University of Florida, he worked at the family dealership in the summer.

He’s worked in the service department doing some detailing and then on to the parts section.

“You’ve got to sit in everybody’s chair,” he said.

Bryant also knows the importance of continuing his family’s legacy.

“My grandpa and dad built it up to where it is now,” he said.

These days, Nick Nicholas, 79, comes to the office only a couple days a week. He’s left most of the daily operations to his family and employees.

And as for his grandson coming up through the ranks: “He’s going to do fine,” he said.

Nick said his secret for lasting 40 years so long in business is simple: adherence to small-town values, serving the customers honestly and treating employees fairly.

“I don’t know any other way,” he said. “If you do it right, you don’t have to be (concerned) about anything.”

Nicholas said he’s watched Citrus County grow during the past 40 years and his dealership has grown with it. His 130-acre campus off State Road 44 has undergone many expansions and building additions through the years. And he’s not done expanding yet, he said.

The extension of the Suncoast Parkway to State Road 44 — scheduled to open early next year — is expected to bring in more residents to the county.

“(Citrus County) is going to grow,” he said. “We have to be well-prepared for it.”

Shane Bryant said 37% of the dealership’s employees have been there over 10 years and that says a lot about the company’s philosophy.

Shane, 52, started with the company in 1991, after graduating from the University of Florida. He’s been general manager for the past 10 years.

“Everything I know, (Nick) taught me,” Bryant said.

MATTHEW BECK/Chronicle

And now, the father is teaching the son. Because a new generation of car buyers now purchase their vehicles sight unseen from the internet, it is imperative to increase that aspect of the business, he said. The traditional way of coming in, touching and driving a car is disappearing.

The COVID-19 pandemic helped increase the push to online vehicle shopping, he said.

Online or in-person, Bryant said the dealership owes it all to the customers.

“I have to thank all the customers for the last 40 years,” he said. “They’re the ones who have allowed us to do this.”

Nicholas Bryant said he won’t mess with the attributes that allowed his dad and grandfather to successfully operate their business for 40 years.

But he admits he has a “solid foundation” in digital skills and is more tech-savvy. He plans to combine the tried-and-true methods of customer interaction with an increased presence with social media.

Nicholas said he’s so busy these days he has little time for much else.

One thing he knows: He loves the city of Inverness and the county he’s grown up in. Television viewers have seen how much he’s grown in the dealership commercials over the years. His “This is Ford Country” slogan has become the dealership’s catch phrase.

Sharing screen time on the commercials are his sister Brook, 20, and brother Mason, 15.

“I grew up in Citrus County,” Nicholas said. “It’s treated me well. I couldn’t imagine living anywhere else.”

As for the F-150 he drives? “I have no choice,” he said. “(But) I wouldn’t have it any other way.”

County commissioners agreed to support the city of Crystal River's request to add the proposed Turkey Oak bypass to its legislative funding requests. A study is underway to determine the feasibility of rerouting traffic heading west on State Road 44 onto Turkey Oak.

FUNDS

Crystal River officials said the bypass is needed because the Suncoast Parkway will spill traffic on State Road 44 and create downtown congestion.

Carnahan said he doesn't understand the reasoning in bypassing traffic around the city's business district and turning away potential customers.

"If I was a business (owner) in Crystal River, I'd want that traffic coming through," he said.

Carnahan said he also didn't want county taxpayer money going to help pay for Turkey Oak improvements. Either the Florida Department of Transportation or the city needs to take it over, he said.

Kinnard said it was the county that lobbied hard for the Suncoast Parkway extension and it's unfair to make Crystal River shoulder the brunt of the traffic expected to head that way.

"If I was a business, I'd want the traffic coming by there too," Kinnard said. "But that's not what the city is asking for."

Crystal River City Manager Ken Frink said he is pleased county commissioners threw their support behind the plan.

The city's business community, he said, is supportive of the bypass.

Frink said Crystal River is a destination city and people who want to come there will do so. But those who are passing through to go north on U.S. 19 just want to avoid the city traffic and that's why the bypass is a good idea, he said.

The Hernando-Citrus Metropolitan Planning Organization in September voted unanimously to pay its consultant $248,500 to conduct a feasibility study on the proposed Turkey Oak bypass. That should be completed in a year.

As for the Riverwalk: Commissioner Ron Kitchen Jr. questioned why Crystal River continues to ask for money. They've already received financial help from the COVID-19 stimulus money and from the Citrus County Tourist Development Council, he said.

"How much more do they need?" Kitchen asked.

The city of Inverness' lone legislative funding request was for a temporary street or "stub-out" at the future entrance to Whispering Pines State Park at the Inverness Regional Shopping Plaza traffic light.

That will facilitate traffic conditions once the U.S. 41 widening project begins, the city said.

That request was greeted warmly, as both the city and county see the U.S. 41 widening as a major economic driver.

EDITORIAL BOARD

Founded

The opinions expressed in Chronicle editorials are the opinions of the newspaper’s editorial board.

SEPTIC-TO-SEWER

Adopting report a key step to plotting course

Members of the county’s Wastewater Treatment Feasibility Analysis (WWTFA) met for months to discuss options about how to accomplish septic-to-sewer conversions without residents spending a fortune.

Those members made their pitch at a county commission workshop, also presenting the commissioners with a report. Commissioners agreed with the course of action and we applaud them for taking a first step.

This is no small task; indeed it is quiet daunting considering both the scope and the price tag. That commissioners realize the importance of converting septic tanks to central sewer systems countywide is commendable.

The Florida Department of Environmental Protection (FDEP), which paid for the report, says septic tanks contribute up to 42% of the current nitrogen pollution in the district’s springs, which can cause algae growth detrimental to aquatic plants and wildlife.

The conversions won’t be done anytime soon, nor will it be done quickly. It is “illogical” to think the entire county will be converted in the 20 years originally envisioned, according to Ken Cheek, director of the county’s water resources department.

The reason: price.

But as Commissioner Jeff

Kinnard pointed out, the board has to start somewhere.

“There’s no doubt we’re going in the right direction,” Kinnard said. “Yes, they’re expensive. (But) ultimately we have to continue to do what’s right for the aquifer and for our environment.”

Officials have their work cut out for them in the years ahead, from exploring various pollution reduction and remediation methods to possible financial assistance for affected property owners. But they also need to find appropriate funding sources: All four phases would cost $979 million.

That might seem shocking, but when it comes to infrastructure improvements, it’s not cheap. And when it comes to protecting the environment, especially our beloved waterways, can we really put a price tag on it?

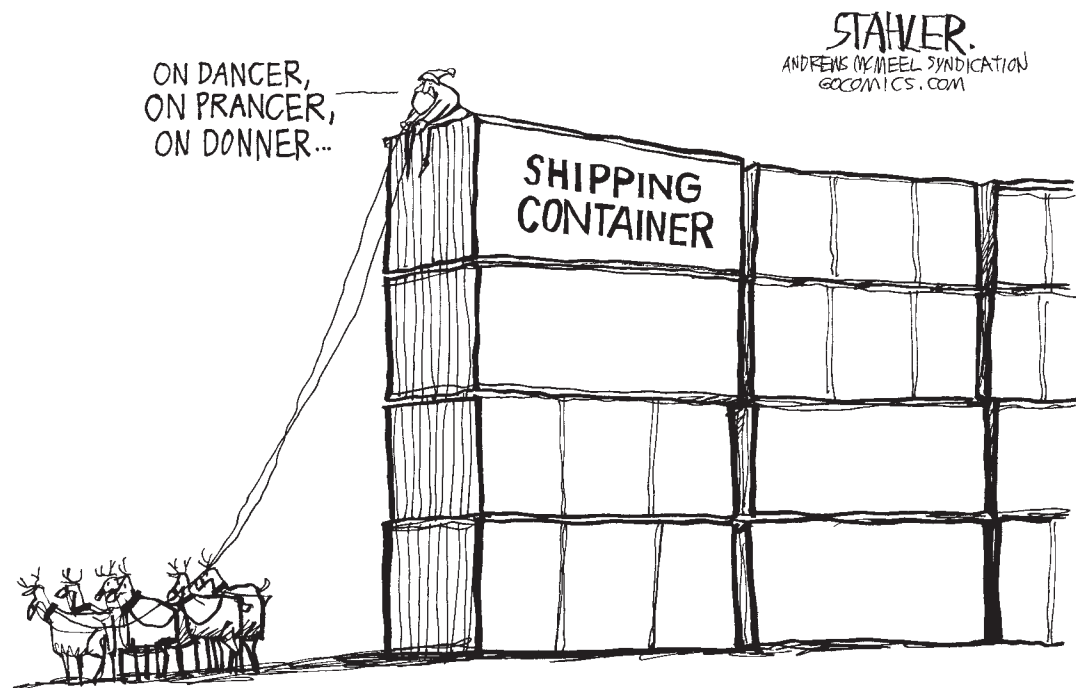

We all have a role to play in protecting our natural assets, and we can certainly begin our part now and in the years leading up to the start of the conversion processes in other areas of the county.

LETTER to the Editor

Using a professional agent important

Regarding the letter to the editor of Oct. 28, Mary Lynn’s comments are exactly the reason why it is important to engage the services of a professional insurance agent when selecting Medicare coverage choices.

Her denigration of Medicare Advantage Plans is unwarranted. There are many excellent choices when it comes to making health insurance decisions, and a mistake can lead to financial distress. Medicare parts A and B come with deductibles and coinsurance, which can become substantial. These can be reduced by selecting one of 10 different supplemental Medigap policies. You would also need a Part D policy to cover prescription costs. These come at additional cost to the insured. Other options are Medicare Advantage Plans. These come as both HMOs and PPOs. There are expansive networks for each, with HMOs only having coverage through their network of providers, with the exception of emergency care. PPOs provide lower cost coverage through their network of providers, with coverage outside of their network at slightly higher cost, because their lowest expense is through their contracted network. Mary Lynn’s comment that there is no coverage outside of Florida is an absolute incorrect assumption. The networks can be based on limited location or nationwide. The majority of these plans do not have additional premium over the Part B

Medicare premium and include prescription drug coverage. They come in many varieties of co-pays, deductibles, and maximum out-of-pocket expenses.

The salespeople Mary Lynn refers to are licensed agents who have gone through extensive education to assist people in selecting the right choice for them. Yes, they get commissions, but they are small and they do not affect your price or coverage. Their prime objective (as she put it), is not merely to make money but is to provide a service, and this is their career. If you think that an article you read in AARP Magazine or something you read on “misinformation famous FB” provides you the quality information to make a decision, that is your choice. However, the majority of people would benefit from taking advantage of a licensed insurance professional’s knowledge and who can provide supplemental (Medigap) coverage or Medicare Advantage coverage through the companies they represent by best fitting the plan to your specific needs.

Hot Corner: COVID

■ Just a quick correction for the caller on “Hot Corner” Oct. 29, the call-in who stated that he’s following science and misquoted scientists as saying that COVID will go away because it will die in the summer heat, which is incorrect. Science never said that and I’m surprised that the Chronicle even printed this misinformation. Some incorrect politicians with their own agenda may have spread this misinformation, but not scientists. The CDC and Dr. Fauci and all the other experts have advised us from since the beginning, that heat does not stop COVID and that when people congregate, COVID spreads. The only reason COVID deaths and cases are dropping is because of our great scientists, pharmaceutical companies and a lot of patriots that stepped up and were vaccinated and masked themselves. We send people to school to learn science and then some people don’t want to follow it.

■ Comment on the Oct. 29 Sound Off, “Are we still following the science?”: Please add to that Sound Off that as a result of that bad science, 700,000 people died. One small error — it wasn’t science that said COVID would disappear with the summer heat...

■ Here’s an idea: Since Gov. DeSantis is anti-mask and anti-mandates for vaccinations, how about him being anti-payment of COVID-related health care costs? That eliminates all questions of getting vaccinated. Just pay for being stupid and/or being dead by being anti-vax, especially if you have government taxpayer-supported health care insurance. Now you would really pay for your stupidity.

Thanks, county workers

A big shout-out to our county workers. Thank you for cleaning that mess at the corner of Independence Highway and Gulf-to-Lake Highway at the light there by the gas station. It’s looking great. Thank you, guys. Appreciate it. We appreciate you.

Have lights flash yellow

Why not have the lights in Homosassa flash yellow up until 6 a.m.? I have traveled before 6 a.m. at the red light on (U.S.) 19 with no side-road traffic.

Stock up on necessities

As the world turns, while shopping the other day at the grocery store, there was a gentleman who picked up the largest roll of toilet paper that you could buy and I says, “You better stock up on that, from what I hear,” and I says, “And peanut butter.” And he says, “Well, I got some yesterday,” and he says, “I’m getting one today”... and I says, “Oh, my gosh,” you know, naturally, being an 86-year-old...

Concerned about Inverness mural

(Re the Thursday, Oct. 21, front-page story, “Inverness selects first mural,” “Public will be able to watch artwork being created during city’s art festival in November”): I’d like to talk about the mural that is going on downtown during the Festival of Arts. I have some concerns because while I do think we need arts in the area, one of the things in your article was that this is the first mural, how many murals does the city of Inverness need that this is going to be that big? It’s going to kind of look like graffiti all over the place on some of these really lovely, historic buildings. Also, who selects this artwork? The artwork that I’m seeing that’s going to go up looks more like it’s been done on a computer than (from) somebody’s head and I think the city should have gotten input from the residents and not picked it out themselves.

What was really going on?

In regards to the young man who was arrested for bribery (in the Tuesday, Oct. 26, front-page story): The way the article reads, the county knew the structure existed and also knew that there were there were up to 100 people there from time to time. Did anyone ever think of investigating as to what was going on within this structure?...

Don’t charge residents to use boat ramps

(Re Wednesday, Oct. 27’s front-page story, “Private firm to handle boat fees,” “Charges will apply at four ramps; multiple payment options available”): I disagree with the county commission letting outsourcing of the payment options available for the boat launches. I think that’s wrong that the $10 daily fare is the same for a nonresident and a resident. If you are a resident of Citrus County, it should be half the price or free. Should we pay the same price as a tourist? I would think if they’re using our waterways, which we pay taxes on, we should have a benefit for living here in Citrus County.

Take them to court

I’m responding to the (Tuesday, Oct. 26, front-page story) “Dispute over US 98 median still not settled” between the Sugarmill Woods Oak Village Homeowners Association. Take them to court and any money to do any highway and anything thing to do with Sugarmill Woods, don’t give them the money, period. They made their offer and now they have to live with it, period.

A blackboard works just fine

I’m responding to Sound Off (about the Wednesday, Oct. 27, front-page story), “District to upgrade classroom technology.” I think this is a waste of taxpayers’ money; $212,000 or almost $213,000 to purchase 91 Benty smart boards. Really? What’s wrong with old-fashioned blackboards with chalk and paper and pens? Everything today with kids is push buttons, push buttons, push buttons. It’s totally ridiculous and a waste of money.

Classifieds easier to read now

Thank you finally for increasing your letter size on your announcements and jobs and lost and founds and free offers. It’s so nice to see the letters and it’s very easy to read. Thank you very much. You don’t even need a magnifying glass.

Is the board a member of NSBA?

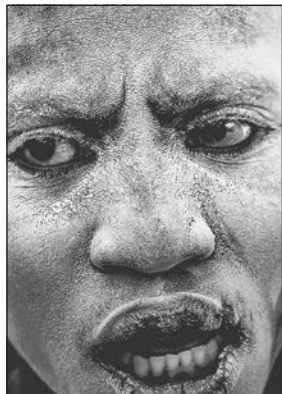

I’d be very interested to know from Sam Himmel if the Citrus County School Board is associated with, is a member of and pays dues to the National School Board Association.

Let’s negotiate for Pirates Cove

Pirates Cove may be a diamond in the rough. Let’s put a future park on our wish list because Florida’s little giant will continue to grow and we need to look out for future generations. Let’s negotiate and see if there is a willing seller for this unique piece of property. Commissioners should see how the wind blows before huffing and puffing.

Military weighs penalties for those who refuse COVID vaccine

WASHINGTON — As deadlines loom for military and defense civilians to get mandated COVID-19 vaccines, senior leaders must now wrestle with the fate of those who flatly refuse the shots or are seeking exemptions, and how to make sure they are treated fairly and equally.

The vast majority of the active duty force has received at least one shot, but tens of thousands have not. For some it may be a career-ending decision. Others could face transfers, travel restrictions, limits on deployments and requirements to repay bonuses.

Exemption decisions for medical, religious and administrative reasons will be made by unit commanders around the world, on what the Pentagon says will be a “case-by-case” basis. That raises a vexing issue for military leaders who are pushing a vaccine mandate seen as critical to maintaining a healthy force, but want to avoid a haphazard, inconsistent approach with those who refuse.

Canadian snowbirds gear up for reopening of US borders

PHOENIX — Canadians Ian and Heather Stewart are savoring the idea of leaving behind this winter’s subzero temperatures when the U.S. reopens its borders to nonessential land travel next week and they launch a long-delayed drive to their seasonal home in Fort Myers, Florida.

Restrictions imposed by both countries during the coronavirus pandemic and their own concerns kept the retired couple and millions of other Canadians from driving south to warmer climes like Florida, Arizona and Mexico during last year’s freezing winter months.

Now, the Biden administration’s decision to allow vaccinated people to enter the U.S. by land for any reason starting Nov. 8 has many Canadians packing up their campers and making reservations at their favorite vacation condos and mobile home parks. Some are already in the U.S., arriving on flights that never stopped and have required just a negative COVID-19 test.

But many have waited to drive, preferring the convenience of having a vehicle to get around in with rental cars scarce and expensive.

COVID-19’s death toll tops 5 million

In under two years

CARLA K. JOHNSON
AP medical writer

The global death toll from COVID-19 topped 5 million on Monday, less than two years into a crisis that has not only devastated poor countries but also humbled wealthy ones with first-rate health care systems.

Together, the United States, the European Union, Britain and Brazil — all upper-middle- or high-income countries — account for one-eighth of the world’s population but nearly half of all reported deaths. The U.S. alone has recorded over 745,000 lives lost, more than any other nation.

“This is a defining moment in our lifetime,” said Dr. Albert Ko, an infectious disease specialist at the Yale School of Public Health. “What do we have to do to protect ourselves so we don’t get to another 5 million?”

The death toll, as tallied by Johns Hopkins University, is about equal to the populations of Los Angeles and San Francisco combined. It rivals the number of people killed in battles among nations since 1950, according to estimates from the Peace Research Institute Oslo. Globally, COVID-19 is now the third leading cause of death, after heart disease and stroke.

The staggering figure is almost certainly an undercount because of limited testing and people dying at home without medical attention, especially in poor parts of the world, such as India.

Hot spots have shifted over the 22 months since the outbreak began, turning different places on the world map red. Now, the virus is pummeling Russia, Ukraine and other parts of Eastern Europe, especially where rumors, misinformation and distrust in government have hobbled vaccination efforts. In Ukraine, only 17% of the adult population is fully vaccinated; in Armenia, only 7%.

“What’s uniquely different about this pandemic is it hit hardest the high-resource countries,” said Dr. Wafaa El-Sadr, director of ICAP, a global health center at Columbia University. “That’s the irony of COVID-19.”

Wealthier nations with longer life expectancies have larger proportions of older people, cancer survivors and nursing home residents, all of whom are especially vulnerable to COVID-19, El-Sadr noted. Poorer countries tend to have larger shares of children, teens and young adults, who are less likely to fall seriously ill from the coronavirus.

India, despite its terrifying delta surge that peaked in early May, now has a much lower reported daily death rate than wealthier Russia, the U.S. or Britain, though there is uncertainty around its figures.

The seeming disconnect between wealth and health is a paradox that disease experts will be pondering for years. But the pattern that is seen on the grand scale, when nations are compared, is different when examined at closer range. Within each wealthy country, when deaths and infections are mapped, poorer neighborhoods are hit hardest.

In the U.S., for example, COVID-19 has taken an outsized toll on Black and Hispanic people, who are more likely than white

Leaders dial up doomsday warning at climate talks

SETH BORENSTEIN
AP science writer

GLASGOW, Scotland — World leaders turned up the heat and resorted to end-of-the-world rhetoric Monday in an attempt to bring new urgency to sputtering international climate negotiations.

The metaphors were dramatic and mixed at the start of the talks, known as COP26. British Prime Minister Boris Johnson described global warming as “a doomsday device” strapped to humanity. United Nations Secretary-General António Guterres told his colleagues that humans are “digging our own graves.” And Barbados Prime Minister Mia Mottley, speaking for vulnerable island nations, added moral thunder, warning leaders not to “allow the path of greed and selfishness to sow the seeds of our common destruction.”

Amid the speeches, Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi said his coal-dependent country will aim to stop adding greenhouse gases to the atmosphere by 2070 — two decades after the United States and at least 10 years later than China. Modi said the goal of reaching “net zero” by 2070 was one of five measures India planned to undertake to meet its commitments under the Paris climate accord.

Meanwhile, U.S. President Joe Biden and German Chancellor Angela Merkel avoided soaring rhetoric and delved into policy.

“There’s no more time to sit back,” Biden said in a more measured warning that also apologized for his predecessor’s decision to temporarily pull the U.S. out of the historic 2015 Paris agreement, something he said put the country behind in its efforts. “Every day we delay, the cost of inaction increases.”

In a recorded welcome message, Queen Elizabeth II said she hoped the conference would be “one of those rare occasions where everyone will have the chance to rise above the politics of the moment.”

“History has shown that when nations come together in common cause, there is always room for hope,” she said in the video, which was recorded on Friday at Windsor Castle.

The conference aims to get governments to commit to curbing carbon emissions fast enough to keep global warming to 2.7 degrees Fahrenheit above pre-industrial levels. The world has already warmed 2 degrees Fahrenheit. Current projections based on planned emissions cuts over the next decade are for it to hit 4.9F by the year 2100.

Increased warming over coming decades would melt much of the planet’s ice, raise global sea levels and greatly increase the likelihood and intensity of extreme weather, scientists say. With every tenth of a degree of warming, the dangers soar faster, they say.

Coping with cancer during the holidays

People going through cancer treatments need to take special care of themselves through the holidays, which can be stressful even in the best of times.

I often tell my patients to use their treatment as permission to be sane over the holidays, to take a break from the normal holiday routine, and try to enjoy themselves.

The following suggestions can help people with cancer preserve their energy, capture a little holiday joy, and deepen their personal relationships.

Dr. C. Joseph Bennett
NAVIGATING CANCER

First of all, set lower expectations for this holiday season. Don't worry about decorating the house, baking, or buying gifts for everyone in your life. Remind yourself that this is temporary. For a short period, you can relax, and it's OK.

With that in mind, let others do things for you. Delegate tasks and errands to others, many of whom may be looking for a way to help you during this trying time in your life. And, always remember to rest each day. Many people experience fatigue during cancer treatment, and need to find the right balance of rest and activities.

It's also OK to allow yourself some depression, some pity, but then pick yourself up and go on. Many of my patients have a pity party for a day or two, and that is okay, but too long, such as two weeks, could be a sign of clinical depression.

The rate of depression among cancer patients is 15% to 24%, about twice that in the general population. So if a person in treatment doesn't care about getting out of bed, or is physically unable to get up, it could be clinical depression rather than fatigue, and should be discussed with a doctor.

Don't isolate yourself during the holiday. Find a way to be festive, such as choosing a few close friends for a small, manageable dinner party. Make it a potluck supper where everyone brings a dish, so you won't have to do all the work.

And, make no apologies if you need to retire early or skip a gathering that will be trying, such as one with hyper grandchildren. Do so without regret or an elaborate explanation. Simply saying "I don't feel up to it" should be all the explanation needed.

Food doesn't taste right to many people in treatment, and rich, holiday dishes can intensify feelings of nausea. Focus on family, friends and spirituality now, and look forward to enjoying meals at the next holiday, when treatment will be over. Eventually, the taste will come back.

People around the cancer patient always want to feed that person. Food represents life and celebration. But love and friendship can easily be the main holiday focus for people with cancer.

And finally, don't center the holiday around your cancer. Others may need to help the person in treatment see past his or her illness to capture the joy and excitement of the holidays.

While it is impossible to ignore the fact that you are dealing with cancer, it does not have to be the main course of the entire holiday season. State your intentions to enjoy the moment, and look forward to a better holiday next year.

Hogeweyk:

Model for person-centered compassionate care

Debbie Selsavage
COPING WITH DEMENTIA

November is National Alzheimer's Month. This will be used by many organizations to supercharge their efforts to solicit donations for a cure.

Well and good, but I would like to see an equal level of enthusiasm directed toward funding to support family care partners and organizations that promote person-centered compassionate care. For those already in the journey, a cure cannot come soon enough.

I have just returned from the Netherlands where I spent two priceless days of learning at Hogeweyk, otherwise known worldwide as the Dementia Village. It is, in my opinion, a world-class model of best practices in person-centered care. Since its founding some 20 years ago, this organization has continued to seek, find, and implement better practices of compassionate dementia care.

The goal of Hogeweyk is to provide a "normal" environment. Seniors classified with severe to end-of-life dementia live in "villages/homes," not in little rooms in big buildings that look like hospitals, factories, or hotels. Hogeweyk simulates four different Dutch lifestyles, and residents are evaluated to live in the village that best duplicate the lifestyles in which they were raised and lived prior to dementia.

Because daily shopping for groceries is still a societywide practice in the Netherlands, Hogeweyk has its own market where residents go each day to shop. There is a restaurant, but most residents eat in their own apartments which are carefully outfitted with the furniture, tableware, and decorations consistent with their "lifestyle."

It is a gated community, but not locked down. Residents are free to go where they choose, but wandering outside rarely happens because they are comfortable and have what they need in the environment that has been created for them. Hogeweyk is studiously maintained to NOT look anything like a hospital or health facility. Care staff do not wear scrubs; rather they wear normal street clothes with no name tags.

"Normalcy" is so well maintained that people come in from the town to enjoy Hogeweyk's restaurant, which helps supplement the community's income. Sometimes, it is a bit difficult to tell residents from the visitors. And among the residents, I saw very few using wheelchairs. Most residents are mobile, spending their time outside, in social activities, or interacting with the people of the community.

My mind is still spinning from this experience, trying to process the things I saw that were so different from the kind of senior care we are used to. I expect I will be sharing more of my thoughts about Hogeweyk in future columns.

Could these techniques of person-centered compassionate care be implemented on a national scale through our system of institutional care? I don't know, but I think we should be doing everything we can to find out.

This is why we recently created in Citrus County a nonprofit organization with the stated vision to create an institute for researching, teaching, and promoting techniques of compassionate care, including nonpharmacological therapies.

It does work; I've seen it work. And I believe pursuit of the methods I've seen at Hogeweyk is the best way we can use the resources we have until someone comes up with that elusive cure.

Lightning end Capitals' point streak, 3-2

Vasilevskiy makes 31 saves in home win

MARK DITTLER

TAMPA— Andrei Vasilevskiy made 31 saves, Anthony Cirelli had a goal and two assists, and the Tampa Bay Lightning beat Washington 3-2 Monday night, ending the Capitals' eight-game season-opening point streak.

Tampa Bay also got goals from Alex Killorn and Brayden Point. Taylor Raddysh picked up his first NHL point, coming in his eighth game, by assisting on Point's goal.

Brett Leason got his first NHL goal and Conor Sheary also scored for the Capitals, who came in 5-0-3. Vitek Vanecek stopped 23 shots.

Washington star Alex Ovechkin had his season-opening eight-game point streak (nine goals, six assists) end. He remains two goals away from tying Brett Hull (741) for fourth place all-time.

Ovechkin had a shot on goal and two more attempts from the top of the left circle blocked by Erik Cernak during a late first-period power play. He had a drive from the left circle during a 2-on-1 midway through the second stopped by Vasilevskiy.

Killorn and Cirelli had second-period goals as Tampa Bay took a 2-1

Arms race to title

CURTIS COMPTON/Atlanta Journal-Constitution

Braves starter Max Fried sits dejected in the dugout during the sixth inning of a 7-2 loss to the Astros in Game 2 of the World Series on Wednesday, Oct. 27, 2021, in Houston. The Braves will turn to Fried on five days rest to close out the series tonight in Houston. Atlanta missed out on a chance to win the World Series on Sunday at home, but still lead three games to two.

With pitchers fried, Braves' Fried tries to win World Series

BEN WALKER
AP baseball writer

HOUSTON — At this point, they're all fried.

Starters, openers, closers and the rest of them. So many pitching changes by the Houston Astros and Atlanta Braves, it's sometimes hard to keep track of who's on the mound.

"Everybody that's in the World Series right now is gassed, everybody," Braves manager Brian Snitker said during Monday's day off. "Both teams, all the players. It's been a long year."

Fortunately for him, he can now give the ball to Max Fried.

With five full days of rest, the 27-year-old lefty will start Game 6 on Tuesday night at Minute Maid Park as Atlanta again tries to win its first championship since 1995. The Braves missed a major chance Sunday night, wasting an early four-run lead at home in what became a 9-5 loss that cut their lead to three games to two.

Luis Garcia starts for Houston. For how long, we'll see.

It'll be a big ask for the AL Rookie of the Year candidate as he'll start on just three days' rest.

"We think that he's the best for the job. We realize that he has a short leash, but then everybody out there has a short leash and operating on low rest or not full rest," Astros manager Dusty Baker said.

Not a surprise considering both teams have employed at least five pitchers in every game so far.

Houston relievers Phil Maton and Ryne Stanek each have worked four times. Teammates Kendall Graveman, Brooks Raley and Yimi Garcia have been summoned three times apiece.

Braves relievers Tyler Matzek, Luke Jackson, A.J. Minter and Will Smith all have three appearances already.

They're fighting fatigue — and the familiarity hitters now have with their repertoires. But that's how it adds up when there's such a premium on finding the proper edge every inning. Many people play a role in factoring those equations.

"The organization gets together because we have quite a few pitching guys here in the analytics department, and it's probably bigger on the pitching side of things, bullpen side of things, matchup side of things," Baker said.

"We have charts and things ... pocket sheets and stuff that we have to decipher and use at our discretion," he said.

Williams and Wood tie at regional golf meet

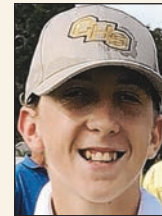

Hunter Williams of Lecanto and Luke Wood of Citrus tied for seventh place with 8-over par 79s Monday at the Region 2A-3 Meet at Dubsread Golf Course in Orlando.

Hunter Williams

That score did not qualify either golfer automatically for the upcoming state finals, but their seasons are not over yet.

A total of four more individuals will earn at-large selections later this week based upon combined score, slope and course rating at districts and regionals.

Luke Wood

Wood started out his day on hole No. 10 and had an outstanding back nine, finishing with a 1-over par 36. He ran into trouble, however, on his second nine holes. He began bogey, double-bogey, bogey, double-bogey, bogey, bogey, before rebounding with a birdie and two pars to finish his round.

Williams began his round on the first hole and was 3-over par at the turn. He was tied with Alex Veneziano of Mount Dora and Leesburg's Michael Woodley going into his final hole of the day, but shot a double-bogey on the par 5 18th.

Veneziano and Woodley — who both shot 77s — joined medalist Grey Cooke of Astronaut (2-over par 73) as the individual state qualifiers from the region.

Led by Williams, Lecanto placed eighth out of 12 teams with a score of 361. Albert Burn carded an 88, John Boatwright had an 89, Finn Hutchinson added a 105 and Reece DiMase carded a 107.

The Panthers are out of the running for an at-large team berth, but may still be cheering Williams on at state.

The Crystal River and Lecanto girls teams, along with a trio of players from Citrus, will compete in the Region 2A-3 Meet today back at Dubsread at 8 a.m.

Lecanto sends 14 events to regional swimming

The Lecanto swim teams knew three individuals were headed to regionals this Friday at North Shore Pool in St. Petersburg, but this past weekend the Panthers added 11 more events to the pool.

Automatic qualifiers based on first or runner-up finishes at districts were Josh Ambrose in the 100 freestyle, Nicole Shanks in the 500 freestyle and Grace Burkholder in the 100 breaststroke.

At-large qualifiers announced this past weekend were both Panther 200 medley relay teams, Mateo Valech in the 200 and 500 freestyle, Shanks in the 200 individual medley, Noah Ambrose in the 200 IM and 100 butterfly, Burkholder in the 50 freestyle, the girls 200 freestyle relay, Josh Ambrose in the 100 backstroke and the boys 400 freestyle relay.

Bulls rally from 19 down to top Celtics

Anthony's 31 leads Magic to 115-97 win

Associated Press

BOSTON — DeMar DeRozan scored 37 points and the Chicago Bulls rallied from a 19-point, second-half deficit on Monday night to beat the Boston Celtics 128-114 and improve to 6-1 for the season.

Zach LaVine scored 26 points and Nikola Vucevic had 11 points, 10 rebounds and nine assists for the Bulls, who outscored Boston 39-11 in the fourth quarter to turn a 14-point deficit into a 14-point victory.

Jaylen Brown scored 28 for the Celtics, who have lost three in a row and left their home court to boos after falling to 2-5 in new coach Ime Udoka's first season.

The Celtics led 94-75 with about three minutes left in the third quarter and still had a 103-89 lead entering the fourth.

Magic 115, Timberwolves 97

MINNEAPOLIS — Cole Anthony scored a season-high 31 points and Wendell Carter Jr. chipped in 15 points and 14 rebounds as the Orlando Magic came from behind to beat the Minnesota Timberwolves 115-97.

Rookie Franz Wagner had 28 points for Orlando, which snapped a four-game losing streak, while Minnesota native Jalen Suggs scored 15 points. The Magic trailed by 11 late in the third quarter before rallying with a strong night from the 3-point line by Anthony.

Anthony shot 8 of 17 from the field, including 6 of 11 3s. Orlando made 24 of 30 from the free-throw line, compared to 11 of 19 for the Timberwolves.

Karl-Anthony Towns had 23 points and 16 rebounds for Minnesota, which played the second half without starting point guard D'Angelo Russell because of a right ankle sprain. Russell finished with three points and three assists in 17 minutes.

Anthony Edwards added 24 points for the Wolves, who have lost three of four.

Pacers 131, Spurs 118

INDIANAPOLIS — Domantas Sabonis had 24 points and 13 rebounds, and Myles Turner added 19 points to lead the Indiana Pacers past struggling San Antonio 131-118.

It was a welcome change for the Pacers, who snapped a four-game losing streak and won for just the second time in eight games under new coach Rick Carlisle.

Dejounte Murray finished with 16 points and Derrick White had 13 to lead San Antonio.

76ers 113, Trail Blazers 103

PHILADELPHIA — Seth Curry stepped up in Joel Embiid's absence, scoring 23 points — including several key buckets late — to lead the short-handed Philadelphia 76ers to a 113-103 victory over the Portland Trail Blazers.

Norman Powell led the Trail Blazers with 22 points. Damian Lillard had 20 points and 10 assists and C.J. McCollum also had 20 points.

Grizzlies 106, Nuggets 97

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Ja Morant had 26 points, eight assists and seven rebounds, Tyus Jones added 17 points and the Memphis Grizzlies defeated the Denver Nuggets 106-97.

Xavier Tillman had 12 points, while Desmond Bane and Jaren Jackson Jr. finished with 11 each as Memphis snapped a three-game losing streak to the Nuggets.

Nikola Jokic led Denver with 23 points, seven rebounds and seven assists, while Aaron Gordon added 15 points and 10 rebounds.

Cavaliers 113, Hornets 110

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — Jarrett Allen had 24 points and 16 rebounds as the Cleveland Cavaliers held off a frantic fourth-quarter rally by the Charlotte Hornets to win 113-110 and close out a five-game trip on a positive note.

LaMelo Ball finished with 30 points and Terry Rozier added 23 for Charlotte, which overcame a sloppy first half to cut a 17-point fourth-quarter deficit to two before falling short.

Raptors 113, Knicks 104

NEW YORK — OG Anunoby scored a career-high 36 points and the Toronto Raptors won their fourth straight by beating the New York Knicks 113-104 in the 75th anniversary of the NBA's first game.

Gary Trent Jr. added 26 points for the Raptors, who surged into the lead by outscoring the Knicks 38-22 in the third quarter.

RJ Barrett scored 27 points for the Knicks, who were trying for their first 6-1 start since 2012-13. Julius Randle had 22 points, nine rebounds and five assists.

Hawks 118, Wizards 111

ATLANTA — Trae Young scored 26 points, Clint Capela had 16 points and 12 rebounds, and the Atlanta Hawks beat the Washington Wizards 118-111.

Bradley Beal scored 19 of his 24 points in the first half for Washington, which had its three-game win streak halted.

Florida coach Mullen shuts media access

MARK LONG

AP sports writer

GAINESVILLE — Dan Mullen's strange and subpar season took another twist Monday when the Florida coach canceled media access to players and coordinators for the remainder of the week.

It came two days after a 34-7 drubbing to rival Georgia in nearby Jacksonville, the program's seventh loss in its last nine games against Power Five opponents.

Mullen seemed frustrated earlier Monday as he shot down a question about recruiting during a 12 1/2-minute media session that was described by school officials as being fit into a "tight window."

"We're in the season right now," said Mullen, who can't be on the road recruiting because of NCAA sanctions that included a one-year, show-cause penalty. "We'll do recruiting after the season. When it gets to recruiting time, we can talk about recruiting."

It's become a sore subject for Mullen and a hot topic for Florida fans. Georgia has signed a higher-ranked class every year since 2014, waves of talent that include 26 more five-star recruits than the Gators have landed.

Florida's 2022 class now ranks 22nd in the nation following two recent decommitments; linebacker Shemar James of Mobile, Alabama, and cornerback Julian Humphrey of Houston withdrew verbal commitments following LSU's stunning upset of Florida last month.

Georgia coach Kirby Smart, either intentionally or inadvertently, took a shot at Mullen and the Gators following Saturday's game.

"There's no coach out there that can outcoach recruiting," Smart said. "I don't care who you are. The best coach to ever play the game better be a good recruiter because no coaching is going to out-coach players."

Saints QB Winston's season over

Suffers major knee injury vs Bucs

BRETT MARTEL
AP sports writer

NEW ORLEANS — Saints quarterback Jameis Winston was diagnosed on Monday with torn knee ligaments that will end his season, coach Sean Payton said.

Payton confirmed the extent of the injury, first reported by the NFL Network, following an MRI that showed a torn anterior cruciate ligament and damage to the medial collateral ligament in Winston's left knee.

Winston was injured early in the second quarter of New Orleans' 36-27 victory over Tampa Bay on Sunday. On the play, Winston was scrambling when he was pulled down from behind by linebacker Devin White, who was penalized for a horse-collar tackle.

Winston's knee buckled as he went down. He was unable to walk off the field without help and was replaced by Trevor Siemian for the rest of the game.

Payton also stated that he's content to stick with the three remaining healthy QBs on the Saints' roster: Siemian, Taysom Hill and rookie Ian Book.

"We're satisfied with the quarterback room," Payton said.

Winston had been 4-2 in six complete games as a starter and his 16-yard touchdown pass to Tre'Quan Smith on Sunday had tied the game against Tampa Bay at 7. That was also the score when he left the game.

Siemian was the primary backup against the Bucs because Hill was still recovering from a concussion against Washington in Week 5. Payton said Hill's condition was progressing well, but declined to say whether Hill had been cleared to return to practice this week.

Even if Hill is back against the Atlanta Falcons on Sunday, Payton declined to say how he'd approach deciding whether to give Siemian a chance to pick up where he left off, or install Hill, who went 3-1 as a starter last season while Drew Brees was sidelined with rib and lung injuries.

"This is going to be the $6 million question and honestly we're going to look closely at what's best for our team in this game" against Atlanta, Payton said. "As the week progresses we'll see how we want it to play it out."

Winston came to the Saints as a reserve to learn from Payton and Brees in 2020, after the Buccaneers allowed him to go into free agency so they could replace him with Tom Brady.

In New Orleans, Winston had focused on improving his coverage reads and decision-making, and his 14 touchdown passes against just three interceptions this season — not to mention his winning record as a starter — indicated he was making progress on that front.

Now his NFL future is less certain again. He was under just a one-year contract with New Orleans.

NFL BRIEFS

Von Miller traded from Denver to LA

ENGLEWOOD, Colo. — The trade began to hit Von Miller as he toddled past the photo gallery of great moments that decorate the Denver Broncos headquarters.

The featured shot is the one of him knocking the ball and, in effect, the Lombardi Trophy, from Cam Newton's grasp five years and nine months ago.

"Always have Super Bowl 50," a choked-up Miller said on a gray Monday morning.

Miller is no longer the face of the franchise in Denver.

The loquacious linebacker is headed West to join Aaron Donald and Jalen Ramsey with the Los Angeles Rams in a trade that surprised him.

Two people familiar with the deal that wasn't immediately announced by either team told The Associated Press that the Rams are sending the Broncos second- and third-round picks in the 2022 draft for the perennial Pro Bowler.

Titans' Henry will have foot surgery

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — NFL rushing leader Derrick Henry will have surgery Tuesday morning on his right foot, and coach Mike Vrabel says the Tennessee Titans are not putting a timeline on when he will return.

Henry had tests Monday to check the severity of the injury after he finished a 34-31 overtime win in Indianapolis.

Henry finished with 28 carries for 68 yards and a 2.4-yard average that was his lowest this season.
