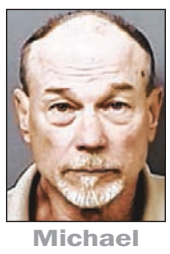
Judge: Shooting unjustified

Howard rules BH man wasn't acting in self-defense when he shot neighbor

BUSTER THOMPSON
Staff writer

Michael Kenneth Ball's fatal shooting of Tyler Dorbert in their Beverly Hills neighborhood was not justified.

Circuit Court Judge Richard "Ric" Howard made the ruling Thursday, June 17, ending a two-day hearing to determine whether 64-year-old Ball was reasonably defending himself against 32-year-old Dorbert during an argument the morning of March 25, 2020.



Michael Ball

Ball remains scheduled to stand trial the week of Aug. 2 on charges of second-degree murder and carrying a concealed firearm without a permit.

Had Howard found Ball was in his right to shoot and kill Dorbert under Florida's laws on justifiable use of force, the judge would have granted Ball immunity from further prosecution.

Citing evidence and testimony from the hearing, Howard said Ball was committing a crime when he shot Dorbert on South Monroe Street because he was hiding his gun illegally beforehand, making Ball ineligible for the state's self-defense protections.

Assistant Public Defender Ed Spaight, Ball's lawyer, said his client was lawfully armed because he was in the immediate vicinity of his house.

Howard also noted Dorbert had his hands up and was 10 feet away from Ball when Ball had his pistol drawn on him, but Ball decided in that moment of calm to open fire.

"There was silence, and then a bang," the judge said, adding Ball had no reasonable belief Dorbert was going to harm him. "You took the gun and shot him in the heart."

Gov. signs bill limiting gas station rules

Gov. Ron DeSantis announced late Wednesday he had signed 24 bills, including a measure to limit local-government regulation of gas stations.

The gas-station law (SB 839) will block local governments from preventing the siting or development of stations. The bill also will prevent mandating infrastructure, including electric vehicle charging stations, on fuel retailers.

The Sierra Club said this week that the changes will make "the transition to electric vehicles more difficult." Sen. Travis Hutson, a St. Augustine Republican who sponsored the bill, argued on the Senate floor in March that the changes will allow local governments to advance clean energy without prohibiting already-existing fuel sources.

Court says no to marijuana ballot proposal

TALLAHASSEE — A proposed constitutional amendment to allow recreational marijuana use in Florida won't be on the 2022 ballot after the state Supreme Court ruled Tuesday that the ballot language was misleading.

The court, in a 5-2 decision, said proposed ballot language that says marijuana is "for limited use and growing by persons twenty-one years of age or older" is misleading. The court said nothing in the proposal's actual wording limits marijuana use.

The proposed amendment, called "Regulate Marijuana in a Manner Similar to Alcohol to Establish Age, Licensing, and Other Restrictions," already faced an uphill battle.

'Yappy Hour' to benefit pet clinic

MATTHEW BECK/Chronicle

Humanitarians of Florida Inc. surgical technician Deana Litle, left, administers a liquid to a kitten Tuesday, June 15, at the Humanitarians' clinic in Lecanto. The clinic will hold a fundraiser July 3, to raise funds to offset costs incurred over the last year as many families have struggled to pay for pet care during the pandemic.

Humanitarians of Florida brings low-cost pet care services to county

NANCY KENNEDY
Staff writer

On an average weekday, staff at the Humanitarians of Florida low-cost veterinary clinic in Lecanto take care of between 75 and 100 animal clients, from shots to dental cleanings and claw clippings, checkups to elective surgeries.

Since it opened in 1980, the clinic has so far done 78,399 spays/neuters on cats and dogs — plus one rabbit and a peacock.

Most mornings, it's not uncommon to have as many as 10 people and their pets waiting in the parking lot before the clinic even opens.

It's a busy place and has been ever since it opened, and as a nonprofit organization, it relies on donations and fundraising events.

"Lately we've been getting a lot of emergencies, pets hit by cars or sick pets in general, and a lot of people do not have any money (to pay for services)," said practice manager Audie Montgomery.

Also, people often bring in injured animals and surrender them to the clinic. When that happens, they raise funds to treat them and bring them back to health, then find them good homes, Montgomery said.

In the past, the Humanitarians have had yard sales and bake sales to raise money to help these animals. Plus, they operate a thrift store, which generates income, and they work with several rescue organizations that provide funding.

Multi-use path linking parkway, US 19 proposed

Project would be funded from state coffers

MICHAEL D. BATES
Staff writer

A multi-use path allowing pedestrians and bicyclists to make an uninterrupted journey from the Suncoast Parkway Trail at the U.S. 98 interchange west to U.S. 19 in Homosassa could become reality.

And it wouldn't cost Citrus County a dime.

The Hernando-Citrus Metropolitan Planning Organization (MPO) board agreed in consensus Thursday to support the state's proposal to build the 6.5-mile path, especially since it fits right in with the county's commitment to build interconnected trails and paths throughout Citrus.

Walt Eastmond, the county's project manager, said a consultant with the Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) contacted him about whether he believed the county would be interested in a new path at the same time it resurfaces and makes median improvements along that stretch of road.

PDC rejects RV resort near Crystal River

MIKE WRIGHT
Staff writer

The neighbors didn't think much of the proposed Crystal River Luxury RV Resort.

Neither did members of the Citrus County Planning and Development Commission, which on Thursday, June 17, unanimously rejected rezoning 61 acres on Citrus Avenue north of Crystal River.

Final decision rests with the county commission. The matter will be scheduled for a public hearing once the zoning applicant provides a formal legal description of the property, land development director Joanna Coutu said.

The proposal from Jaymelday Holdings LLC calls for up to 600 RV pads, along with amenities such as pool, golf cart rentals, bar and grill, basketball court and walking trails.

Jaymelday's application is to rezone 61 of 85 acres from low-density residential to RV park. The remaining acreage alongside Citrus Avenue would keep its professional service-office zoning.

Joe Cubas, representing the applicant, promised a quality development.

"Is it going to become trailer trash to the neighborhood? The answer is no," Cubas said.

Area neighbors held a different view.

"I know what goes on in RV parks: Party city," Mark Schultz said.

The property is heavily wooded and boarded on three sides by residential streets. Many of those neighbors packed the Lecanto Government Building meeting room to say the proposed RV resort isn't compatible.

"This neighborhood is a quiet, peaceful neighborhood," Roy Gordon said. "To bring this into a quiet neighborhood doesn't make any sense at all."

Neighbors also voiced concern about noise, traffic and stormwater running off from the RV pads into their yards.

"We all deal with flooding out there," Charles Stoney said.

Fred Taylor said he and his wife "escaped from the city" 20 years ago to the Crystal Street neighborhood to enjoy peace and quiet.

"We were looking at our last landing spot," he said, "and thought this was going to be it."

Kiwanis Club of Inverness donates to Jeremy's Journey

Special to the Chronicle

On Saturday, June 12, Jeremy's Journey fundraising barbecue, hosted by M&B Dairy vice president Leon McClellan raised $26,935 toward the medical costs for an experimental brain surgery for 18-year-old Jeremy Schreifels who hopes this surgery will give him relief from a severe case of Tourette syndrome. Members of the Kiwanis Club of Inverness recently presented McClellan, center, wearing a baseball cap and holding the left edge of the display check, with $4,400 toward the cost of the meat that was smoked, carved and packaged that day.

Floral City man arrested

BUSTER THOMPSON
Staff writer

A Floral City man was arrested on accusations he pointed a gun at a woman, threatened her and tried to keep a deputy from arresting him.

William Michael Larsen, 32, was jailed Tuesday, June 15, on charges of resisting law enforcement without violence and aggravated assault with a deadly weapon without the intent to kill. His bond was withheld.

According to Larsen's arrest report, obtained Thursday, the Citrus County Sheriff's Office got a tip Monday from a witness who said a woman and family friend called her at around 4 p.m. May 26 to say Larsen pointed a gun at her inside a house off of East Hawk Lane in Floral City.

William Larsen

Larsen, the witness said, was also overheard on the phone call.

Investigators questioned the woman, who said she and Larsen got into an argument when Larsen grabbed a .380-caliber pistol from a bedroom.

According to the arrest report, the woman went outside and tried to hide, and Larsen pointed the firearm at her. She went back inside the house, where Larsen aimed the gun at her again.

When the woman left the house a third time, she heard a loud bang come from inside. She went inside to find Larsen in a bathroom and the firearm on a bed, but she didn't see evidence of a gunshot.

Larsen denied the allegations to authorities, according to his arrest report, and claimed he didn't remember what happened because he was high on Xanax. He did admit to pointing an unloaded gun at the woman as a joke, similar to what his father did.

Larsen also admitted to firing the gun in the bathroom while he was under the influence of Xanax.

When a detective told him he was being arrested, Larsen pulled away and repositioned his hands, causing another detective to help restrain him.

Red tide outbreak grows closer

Associated Press

TALLAHASSEE — Plumes of toxic oceanic bacteria known as red tide continued to move up the western Florida coast, strewing thousands of dead fish on beaches while state officials tried to reassure Floridians and potential tourists Thursday that the outbreak was being taken seriously but isn't as bad as it would seem.

Gov. Ron DeSantis on Thursday assembled a team of experts in St. Petersburg to describe the work that is underway to better understand and control the latest outbreak.

As the state's economy continues to emerge from the devastation of the coronavirus pandemic, images of beaches littered with dead fish could threaten to keep visitors from flocking to seaside communities during the July 4 holiday.

> "The hotels, the restaurants, the beaches are open."
> Gov. Ron DeSantis

The governor said it was important to let "folks know that these places are open."

"The hotels, the restaurants, the beaches are open," he said.

Three years ago, massive blooms of the red tide prompted some beaches to close. The outbreak killed tons of aquatic life, littering coastlines with rotting fish and keeping people off the sand and water.

Officials are encouraging people to monitor beach conditions through an online dashboard.

Much of the current outbreak of the red tide bacteria, Karenia brevis, is centered in the Tampa Bay area.

Even low concentrations have the potential for killing fish. Higher concentrations could affect some people if they swim in the water or eat contaminated shellfish, including oysters.

Fears over red tide prompted Florida officials late last month to briefly prohibit aquaculture farmers from harvesting in lower Tampa Bay, although the ban was lifted about 10 days later.

Inverness to host Teens Night Out

City, county to ensure youths' safety

FRED HIERS
Staff writer

Inverness offers no shortage of entertainment for young children with such attractions such as Whispering Pines' playground and splash pad and Liberty Park with its popular downtown playground and play field.

But for 10-year-old sixth-graders up to 15- and 16-year-olds in 10th grade, it's been another matter in the city, with few things to entertain that age group.

Woody Worley
Inverness parks and recreation director.

To help alleviate that, Inverness is trying something new for the city of about 7,300 people.

The city is hosting a Teens Night Out from 5 to 8 p.m. Thursday, June 24, at the city's Depot District pavilion and surrounding area near the water tower by Liberty Park.

"This particular age group gets left out," said Woody Worley, the city's parks and recreation director.

One sponsor will set up tables inside the pavilion and offer free drinks and snack. Another will offer giant, oversized games such as Connect Four, Jenga, and chess.

The Citrus County Sheriff's Office will bring its boat and a deputy will discuss water safety. Another vendor will offer cornhole games.

The city is also hiring DJ Trae to play music.

There will be hula hoop and limbo contests, Worley said.

The plan is to make the Teens Night Out a monthly event, if there's enough interest.

Worley said he also wants the event to be an opportunity for parents.

Parents are welcomed to drop off their children and spend time on their own.

He said there will be ample city staff and sheriff's deputies to ensure the children's safety.

"They will be taken care of for the duration," Worley said.

The cost to put on the event is less than $1,000.

Teens Night Out may also be a windfall for downtown businesses if parents drop off children and head downtown for some time on their own.

Being a new event, Worley said he didn't know what to expect as for attendance.

During the city's council meeting this week, Councilwoman Linda Bega said the event serves an underserved group.

"(The 10- to 15-year-olds) are too old for the playground and too young to hang out," she said.

For more information about the event, call 352-726-3913.

Disneyland reopens to tourists in France

PARIS — France's tourism sector is taking a further step toward normality with the reopening of Disneyland Paris, two weeks after the country reopened its borders to vaccinated visitors from across the world.

Europe's most frequented theme park in Marne-la-Vallee, east of the French capital, opened its doors on Thursday after nearly eight months of closure.

A crowd of smiling visitors was welcomed by Disney characters dancing to the sound of joyful music.

"Amazing," said Debbie Tater. The Delaware resident travelled from the United States to visit her family, including her daughter and two granddaughters, who live in France and whom she hadn't seen for a year and a half.

"Happiest place on Earth," she said, with tears in her eyes.

Visitors must wear masks inside the park and other measures are in place, including a cap on visitor numbers to ensure distancing.

Prime Minister Jean Castex said Wednesday that France is returning to "a form of normal life again," as he announced that people won't have to wear masks outdoors any more, except in crowded places.

The government confirmed children can remove masks in school playgrounds — yet they remain compulsory in class for those aged 6 and above.

The 11 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew will be lifted on Sunday.

Tourists will still have to wait for the Eiffel Tower, set to reopen on July 16 after major renovation work.

US pumps up Paralympic trials

The U.S. Paralympic team trials will receive unprecedented coverage this year, streaming live this week and culminating with a 90-minute highlight show on NBC.

The U.S. Olympic and Paralympic Committee unveiled the coverage plans along with its campaign called "Show the World," which is designed to highlight Paralympic athletes on their journey to Tokyo.

The trials in several sports begin Thursday, with the highlight show set for June 27. The Paralympics are Aug. 24 to Sept. 5. NBC plans 1,200 hours of programming from Tokyo, including more than 200 on TV.

"We've got a really nice opportunity to showcase and celebrate something at a moment where unification is so deeply craved," said Sarah Hirshland, the CEO of the USOPC. "It's a window for those of us who haven't yet been introduced to the Paralympics. It's an opportunity to expand that, to see the incredible athleticism."

Sarah Hirshland

One of Hirshland's first moves as CEO was to change the name of the organization to add the word "Paralympic" to the USOC name.

"We've been trying to create a more integrated approach," Hirshland said. "We're over the moon with the progress we've made and we're glad to see NBC match our commitment."

As part of a push to expand opportunities for Paralympians, the USOPC increased payments to medal winners to make them equal to what Olympians get ($37,500 for gold medals, for instance).

Man accused of holding woman against her will, strangling her

HANNAH SACHEWICZ
Staff writer

A 36-year-old Beverly Hills man allegedly held a woman against her will in her bedroom and strangled her multiple times, according to a Citrus County Sheriff's Office arrest affidavit.

Ashley Santiago was arrested and charged with kidnapping, aggravated battery and domestic felony battery by strangulation. Due to the domestic nature of the charges, no bond was set.

Deputies responded to the Central Ridge Library on June 15 in response to a domestic disturbance. Upon arrival, the woman involved was shaken up, but told deputies that earlier she was braiding a client's hair at her residence.

According to the report, Santiago was present and told one of her customers that he "kills people for a living." The woman asked Santiago to leave her clients alone and the client left her residence.

Santiago allegedly began choking the woman with one hand around her neck. In an attempt to free herself, she grabbed his forearm and wrist and dug her nails into them. She said that the defendant choked her multiple times from the front and from the back in a headlock position. She allegedly bit Santiago's hand when he had her in a headlock.

The woman alleged that she was unable to breathe on multiple occasions but couldn't identify when because of how many times he choked her. Deputies also noticed two cuts and a bruise on various parts of her neck.

The woman reportedly told deputies that she bit Santiago's hand to regain her ability to breathe, which resulted in him pulling out a chunk of her hair. Deputies noticed a visible bald spot on her head. She told them that it was painful and became upset when recollecting it.

According to the report, the woman said that Santiago brought her into her bedroom, closed the door, placed her on the bed and physically restricted her from leaving the room. She was unable to call for help because she could not reach her cellphone.

While allegedly being restrained by Santiago, the woman attempted to free herself multiple times but was unsuccessful. She also had a large bruise on her leg, which was a result of Santiago wrapping his legs tightly around her as she attempted to kick free. He also choked her multiple times while restraining her on the bed, according to the report.

The woman alleged that she escaped to a friend's house when Santiago fell asleep. Her friend then dropped her off at the library where she met with law enforcement.

When deputies made contact with Santiago, they reportedly noticed small cuts on his hands and chest, which appeared to be inflicted from fingernails. The defendant was transported to the Citrus County Detention Facility for booking and processing.

Crossing guard's book now available

Special to the Chronicle

Inverness Middle School crossing guard Walter Lawrence recently released his book, "Life of Abuse to Success, a Child's Story."

Lawrence began writing the book in March of 2020, after schools closed due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

His book is now available online with Amazon Kindle (amazon.com) and Barnes and Noble (barnesandnoble.com).

Worth NOTING

Sign up for Camp Color Rush

Citrus County Parks and Recreation presents Camp Color Rush, a five-day art camp that includes drawing, painting, crafts, games and a hula hooping contest. The camp is for kids ages 11 to 14 and will be hosted at Citrus County Canning Center in Lecanto.

The camp will take place from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. the week of June 28 to July 2 (register by June 24), 8 a.m. drop off and 5 p.m. pick up is available. The cost is $50 per child per week. Scholarships will be available for some campers thanks to a grant from Citrus Fine Arts Inc.

Cost includes an art kit for each child, including markers, acrylic and watercolor paints, pastels, sketchbook, sketching pencils, colored pencils, watercolor pencils and canvases.

To sign up, visit tinyurl.com/52mr8whd or call the Citrus County Parks and Recreation administrative office at 352-527-7540.

Attend an ABCs of Dementia workshop

Citrus County Libraries and Coping with Dementia LLC announced an expanded schedule of free ABCs of Dementia workshops.

The workshops provide an overview of Alzheimer's disease and other forms of dementia, how they affect the individuals and how their care partners can use this knowledge and techniques of voice, approach and appropriate touch to provide more effective care.

Citrus County's Libraries provide this training for their personnel and encourage the public to attend. All workshops are from 10 a.m. to noon.

■ Monday, June 21, Central Ridge Library, 425 W. Roosevelt Blvd. in Beverly Hills, call 352-746-6622.

■ Friday, July 23, Coastal Region Library, 8619 W. Crystal St. in Crystal River, call 352-795-3716.

■ Monday, Aug. 16, Central Ridge Library.

CDC guidelines will be observed and seating may be limited.

To reserve seats, call 352-422-3663 or email deb@coping.today.

Sign up for the Cornhole League

The city of Inverness will host a Cornhole League from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Thursdays beginning July 1 at the Wallace Brooks Park shuffleboard courts. The league will run for six weeks with an additional playoff round. Each team will consist of two players. The cost is $50 per team and the deadline to register is June 24.

For more information or to sign up, email rworley@inverness.gov or call 352-726-3913.

VFW Post 4864 to have July 4 picnic

VFW Post 4864 will host a Fourth of July picnic at the post, 10199 N. Citrus Springs Blvd. Music will be provided by one-man band Charly Petra.

The post plans a special spaghetti and meatball dinner meal from 5 to 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, July 13. The cost is $9 per person. Groups larger than four people are requested to call to reserve a table at 352-465-4864.

Register for Camp Rah Rah

Summer Cheer Camp Rah Rah will be from 8 a.m. to noon July 13 to 16.

The camp is for boys and girls in fourth- through eighth-grade.

Together with the Crystal River High School cheerleaders, campers will learn cheers, dances and make crafts. The cost of attendance is $60 and includes daily snacks, crafts and a performance shirt.

To get a registration packet, email Leah Grady at GradyL@citrusschools.org.

Attend a joint pain seminar July 20

Citrus Memorial Hospital's Orthopedic and Spine Center of Excellence will present a free joint pain seminar at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday, July 20, at the Citrus Memorial Health Foundation YMCA, 4127 W. Norvell Bryant Highway in Lecanto.

The presentation will be guided by a physical therapist who will walk attendees through causes of joint pain, diagnosis and the variety of treatment options available.

Those who are experiencing joint pain, have difficulty standing or walking or who experience trouble with daily activity would benefit from this seminar. Seating is limited, so RSVP is required.

To reserve a seat, call 352-637-3337 or visit citrusmh.com.

Landfill to have quarterly drop-off day on July 24

Citrus County Landfill's Household Hazardous Waste (HHW) disposal program offers an additional drop-off day each quarter. The next quarterly HHW drop-off day will be from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, July 24, at the Citrus County Landfill, 230 W. Gulf-to-Lake Highway in Lecanto.

As a reminder, residents who can use the regular HHW program on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday of each week are encouraged to do so. This Saturday collection is no different from their weekly program, but is meant to facilitate residents who work or are otherwise unable to participate during the week. Wait times will be longer on a Saturday HHW drop-off day.

Assessed households may bring up to 10 gallons (or 60 pounds) of household hazardous waste for proper disposal on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays or on quarterly Saturday drop-off days for no additional charge.

For more information, call 352-527-7670 or visit tinyurl.com/jstmykh8.

COURT

Dorbert fell back into his front yard, where he was pronounced dead. Ball went back inside his own house, where he left his gun, and went back outside as Citrus County Sheriff's Office deputies responded.

Spaight argued Dorbert had told a relative he was going to attack Ball, and ignored warnings not to approach him. Howard said Dorbert "never communicated his intentions" to Ball.

Most of Thursday was spent listening to Ball's five-hour recorded interview with detectives after he was detained from the shooting scene.

While Ball was waiting to be questioned, he grew irate and uttered numerous statements.

"The guy was going to murder me, and I had to defend myself," Ball said. "I shot him, I admit it."

When detectives read him Miranda Rights, Ball asked for a lawyer but withdrew his request.

Ball told investigators he moved to his house on the corner of Plaza Street and South Monroe Street over 30 years ago from New Port Richey. He lived catty-corner to the house Dorbert lived in with his fiancée, brother-in-law and two children.

Ball said his feud with Dorbert stemmed back to April 2018, when Dorbert purportedly struck Ball in his face for going onto his property to get a cat. No arrests were made in the case, and Ball didn't cooperate with deputies or want treatment.

Investigators paused their questioning and left Ball detained with a detective so they could keep processing evidence.

Impatient, Ball had curse-laden outbursts throughout the repetitive police interview, and also struck the wall with a fist because he wanted to contact his 82-year-old mother who was living with him. A detective had to walk Ball back to a chair.

"I'm getting pissed," he said. "I should've just ate a bullet."

Howard also made note of Ball's aggression in the interview room.

Ball told detectives a friend gave him a Colt .45-caliber pistol to clean. Ball later claimed ownership of the firearm because he didn't want to identify his friend, a convicted felon.

"I was going to buy it anyway," he said. "I needed protection because I can't fight no more."

When asked if he had a permit to carry a concealed firearm, Ball said he was applying for one.

Ball said he tucked the pistol in his waistband and covered it with a sweatshirt the morning of March 25 before he got his mail because he was concerned Dorbert would attack him again.

"I had to worry about this guy," Ball said, claiming Dorbert was over 6 feet tall and weighed more than 200 pounds. "I should be able to go outside my house without getting beat."

At his autopsy, Dorbert was measured at 5 feet, 7 inches tall and weighed 159 pounds. Ball's height was measured at 5 feet, 8 inches, and he weighed 160 pounds, prior reports show.

When Ball got to the corner of his yard, he said, Dorbert began yelling at him from his own yard, starting an argument. Ball said he then walked down the road toward a neighbor a couple houses down from Dorbert to try and get a mediator.

"(Dorbert) started running his mouth," Ball said. "I wanted to see if I got this thing stopped ... I wanted a witness, that's all."

Ball said Dorbert came at him from his yard, prompting Ball to show Dorbert the hidden gun. Howard said that didn't happen.

Ball said Dorbert continued to approach him, threatening to kill him, causing Ball to fire a round at Dorbert's chest.

"It just happened so fast ... I just wanted him off of me," Ball said, adding he was trying to shoot Dorbert in his shoulder. "He deserved what he got ... I just didn't want to get beat again."

Witnesses from the neighborhood testified Wednesday Dorbert was unarmed and didn't pose a threat to Ball. One neighbor said Dorbert had his hands up in a questioning gesture when Ball had a gun on him.

After speaking with Ball, detectives arrested him for unlawfully carrying a concealed firearm. Ball posted bail, but was arrested roughly a month later for Dorbert's second-degree murder.

BONUS

program has defined parameters and is designed as an enticement to get job seekers in the door and working for our local businesses that are struggling to fill open positions, Prendergast explained.

The rules are simple, Prendergast said, noting businesses with fewer than 75 employees and are offering jobs that pay $14.99 per hour or less may qualify. There is no restriction regarding the position or job description. However, to participate in the program, the business must advise CareerSource CLM it wants to participate and must also post the job through CareerSource.

As for the job seekers, they must be currently receiving unemployment benefits, cannot have previously turned down a position since the start of the COVID pandemic, and be willing and ready to accept a job if offered, Prendergast said.

The Chamber and CareerSource realize the program might not be a good fit for all businesses seeking employees, she said.

"However, the purpose of this sign-on bonus program is to reach out to those individuals who may have been hesitant to re-enter the job market due to concerns that wages will not equal the benefits they have been receiving," Prendergast said. However, she added, the additional $300 per week Federal Pandemic Unemployment Compensation ends June 26 in Florida. Florida's rent moratorium also ends June 30.

During the interim before benefits cease, Prendergast said this sign-on bonus program can help businesses get the employees they need now and provide job seekers a jump on securing open positions. The bonus costs the employers nothing. Following 90 days of successful employment, Prendergast said, the business pays the bonus to the employee, certifies to CareerSource that the employee has successfully completed the 90 days, and then invoice CareerSource for the $1,000 reimbursement, which will be processed promptly.

Another facet of this program is child care credit, Prendergast said.

"Again, we understand and appreciate that a further reason why individuals may not be returning to the job market is due to child care concerns," she said. "When the pandemic hit and jobs were lost, many child care facilities became unavailable to parents due to cost or pandemic restrictions."

To assist parents with these concerns, child care "scholarships" are available through the YMCA to parents to help with child care costs, Prendergast said.

Some businesses have also expressed concerns that once an employee has received the bonus, there is nothing to stop them from leaving the position, she said.

"That is true," Prendergast said. "However, we would counsel an employee that they may only receive this bonus one time, and should they choose to willingly leave employment, they will not be eligible for Florida re-employment benefits.

"Whether the Citrus sign-on bonus program provides solutions and a pathway for our local businesses to secure the employees they need, it is an option."

To date, 22 businesses have reached out about the program and 12 jobs are currently posted, Prendergast said. For more information about the program, contact CareerSource Citrus Levy Marion at 800-434-5627.

PETS

"What we really want to do is establish an emergency fund to be able to help more people and their pets," Montgomery said. "So, we came up with the idea of a fundraising 'Yappy Hour.'"

From 3 to 7 p.m., Saturday, July 3, at Norton's Riverside Sports Bar and Grill in Crystal River, pet lovers, or even the pet curious, are invited to the Humanitarians of Florida "Yappy Hour."

Events include:

■ Pet photos from CvB Photography by Ursula. Bring your fur baby for a professional photo session.

■ Raffle baskets and T-shirts.

■ Live music by Remember This Band.

■ Costume contest. Dress your pet in red, white and blue to celebrate the Fourth of July holiday. Winner will receive a free nail trim and ear cleaning at the clinic.

All dogs must be friendly, up to date on rabies vaccine and on a leash.

Also, staff and volunteers will be on hand with information about the clinic, educational information about your pet's health and stories about animals they have helped.

"We have a ton of photos of animals we've helped, and some of the people who adopted them are going to bring them to show them off," Montgomery said.

Yappy Hour will be at Norton's outside covered patio.

Food and drinks will be available for purchase from Norton's.

Norton's Riverside Sports Bar and Grill is at 16 NE Fifth St., Crystal River, FL 34429.

For information about Humanitarians of Florida, go to their Facebook page.

Humanitarians of Florida is at 1031 N. Commerce Terrace, Lecanto. Phone: 352-563-2370.

PATH

Eastmond agreed to bring it before the MPO, which enthusiastically supported the proposal. County Commissioner and MPO Chairman Jeff Kinnard said he would present the proposal to the commission at their Tuesday, June 22 meeting.

Given the county's support of multi-use paths, Kinnard said he didn't expect any resistance to the idea — especially since it would be state funded. The county would be responsible for the path's upkeep after it is built.

Pending commission approval, the proposal would go back to FDOT for final consideration.

Eastmond said it hasn't been determined what side of the road the path would be built on but it makes sense to put it on the north side of U.S. 98 where most people live.

Citrus County officials have been staunchly supportive of interconnecting trails through the county. If this one is built, it would tie into a new multi-use path being constructed from U.S. 19 north to Homosassa. That would, in turn, connect to an existing path going farther north to the Crystal River Mall.

Also at Thursday's MPO meeting:

■ MPO member and Inverness City Councilman Cabot McBride sought assurance from a Florida Turnpike Enterprise (FTE) representative that the Suncoast Parkway will eventually be extended from its current terminus at State Road 44 another three miles to County Road 486.

He got that assurance.

The state will bid the construction part of that extension in 2022, with construction expected to start in early 2023.

New Pill Repairs Aged Cells All Over the Body

Based on groundbreaking research from UC Davis, anti-aging pioneer creates the world's first life-extension pill that boosts the energy center of cells

By Ray Wilson
Associated Health Press

AHP – Researchers at the University of California, Davis, have discovered a new compound that has the amazing ability to reverse the aging process in cells, extending lifespan and restoring health.

The compound was immediately formulated into an all-natural pill which adults and seniors, from all over the country, are now taking every day.

Sold under the brand name Ultra Accel II, the new once-daily pill can significantly improve many of the ailments associated with aging including memory and recall, heart and lung function, poor immunity, and low energy levels.

According to the pill's developers, it may also increase the average lifespan to 146 years old, shattering the current U.S. average of 78.

Research shows the pill works by triggering the growth of new mitochondria in the body's most important organs, a phenomenon known as mitochondrial biogenesis.

Scientists long believed this was impossible to experience after a certain age. But the new research proves that it can now be achieved at any age with Ultra Accel II.

Energizes the Body's Most Vital Organs

Mitochondria are found in all cells (and there are trillions of them in your body), They produce the cellular energy required by your organs to function.

In the most energy-demanding organs, like the brain and heart, there can be as many as 2,000 mitochondria per cell. And according to a landslide of clinical data, the health of these mitochondria determines our level of health and how long we live.

When organs lack the cellular energy they require to work at a 100% efficiency, your health deteriorates and you age faster.

This is why mitochondria dysfunction are the root of many problems associated with growing older. Low energy, fatigue, muscle weakness, memory loss, poor immunity, skin aging, and blood sugar problems, are often the result of an energy crisis in your cells.

But now, for the first time ever, there's a fix for the estimated 50 million adults and seniors who suffer — often unknowingly — from these ailments.

"With daily use, Ultra Accel II helps users feel more energetic and vital. Many also notice significant improvements in brain, heart, and lung function too," explains Dr. Al Sears, creator of the Ultra Accel II pill.

"And that's because Ultra Accel II multiplies the number of youthful mitochondria in every cell of your body in every important organ and tissue.

The result is an enormous spike in cellular energy that literally reverses your biological clock. In laymen terms, you grow younger."

The University Study That Started the Anti-Aging Movement

Dr. Sears' inspiration for Ultra Accel II came after reviewing the new study published by researchers at UC Davis. These researchers discovered that when mice were fed the natural compound called PQQ the number of mitochondria in their cells multiplied.

In eight weeks they saw a staggering 55% increase in young, youthful mitochondria. Even more remarkable was the fact that the mice with the strongest mitochondria showed no signs of aging even when they were the equivalent to 80 years old.

"After reading the study on PQQ, I immediately called my manufacturer. He explained to me PQQ was incredibly hard to source but after a few months I finally got my hands on some and successfully blended it into a softgel" explains Dr. Sears.

"I was the first to try it. After the first dose I felt an immediate boost in energy. With daily use I noticed my endurance, memory, vision and even the appearance of my skin and hair improved. It was truly amazing."

Science of Age Reversal

Two key ingredients make up the Ultra Accel II softgel. The first is a patented form of PQQ called BioPQQ. The second is Ubiquinol, the most effective form of CoQ10.

Research shows that as we get older the number of mitochondria in our cells declines sharply. In fact, by age 67 nearly 80% of the mitochondria we had at 25 have died.

This dramatic decline can trigger many serious health problems including heart failure, memory loss and relentless fatigue. It can also cause the skin to look older and accelerate the overall aging process.

The BioPQQ in Ultra Accel II is one of the only known compounds to actually multiply the number of mitochondria in your cells! And just like a power cord, the Unbiquinol has the amazing ability to energize these new, youthful mitochondria so that they are fully charged.

Patients Hail Improvements in Health and a Deceleration in Aging

The initial feedback from patients using Ultra Accel II has been strong. Many say they have never felt better.

"I'm a 70-year-old man and I've been taking Accel for 2 1/2 months. On a recent treadmill stress test, I was told that I did as well as several patients tested who were in their 20s," raves one user.

Adds another: "I noticed a difference within a few days. My endurance almost doubled. But it's not just in your body. You can feel it mentally too,"

Changing the Way We Age

Ultra Accel II is an exciting new anti-aging pill that's now helped thousands of people reclaim their energy, vitality, and youth regardless of their age or health status.

With daily use, it can help you look and feel decades younger and sidestep the illnesses that accompany aging and can make life hard.

You can now regain boundless energy, new vigor and physical capabilities you enjoyed in your youth.

BOISTEROUS BOATING

Ordinance, enforcement needed to ease river rowdiness

You know how infuriating it is when you're in the car, stopped at a light, and another car comes up beside or behind you with windows down and music playing waaay too loud? At least you can escape that situation by jockeying for a different position in traffic when the light changes.

Now imagine yourself trying to relax on your patio or in the backyard, being assaulted by not just overloud — and competing — boom-box noise, but also antics that you wouldn't want your kids to see. That's what Homosassa residents in the Blue Water/Homosassa River headsprings vicinity have been subjected to every weekend, as well as some weekdays, from rowdy boaters. It's also why they recently asked the Board of County Commissioners (BOCC) for a noise ordinance and enforcement.

Sheriff Mike Prendergast agrees with them. He said at a recent county commission meeting, "I would not bring my grandchildren to the Homosassa River during a weekend day for all the tea in China." The president of the Homosassa River Alliance noted that it has "become a place known as anything goes." A shameful footnote is that observers have noted the offenders are heavily local, not all tourists as some have speculated.

THE ISSUE:
Homosassa residents near the springs ask county for help with noisy boaters.

OUR OPINION:
An ordinance and enforcement are badly needed.

BOCC members agreed with the Homosassa contingent, and directed the county attorney to bring them ordinance language within 90 days. Crystal River faced this issue several years ago, instituting a prohibition against making "noise that shall disturb the peace and tranquility of the neighborhood or break the rest or annoy residents of the community."

We say — it's about time. This issue surfaced to the BOCC in 2015, but that year's board did not act on it. If the issue was simmering then, it has reached a rolling boil now. In addition to disturbing surrounding neighborhoods, the rowdiness of boaters with excessive noise, inappropriate behavior and on-water crowding has an economic drawback. When people no longer want to be subjected to that kind of noise and behavior, they'll find their way to other places. And there are plenty of alternatives.

We expect an ordinance to be enacted, though the anticipated timing will leave residents to suffer through summer months without one. The other big piece of this solution, though, is enforcement. The county must not only create the legal framework to control this situation, it must also execute on it, and commit whatever resources are necessary.

LETTERS to the Editor

We deserve daily COVID stats

I think a weekly report is acceptable but Citrus County needs to know how we stand compared to the state and nation or what good is it.

The paper reported 85% of seniors were vaccinated in Florida. What percent are Citrus County seniors? Nearly fifty percent of all eligible people were vaccinated. What percent is Citrus County? What percent of people are dying compared to the state?

And if we are not doing well what are we doing about it?

Shots were given out at the pavilion in Inverness (to my knowledge it was not in the paper). They had a sign "COVID-19," no mention of shots.

People driving by would not know they were giving shots there and it was a missed opportunity.

So unless we are given more information we don't know if Citrus County has met herd immunity.

Please put a reporter on this. We deserve to know.

A blight on American exceptionalism

I want to share with you a different perspective than Bill Claustre's on the Critical Race Theory. Claustre's view is a lot more apocalyptic than mine.

Critical Race Theory (CRT) holds those current social problems, such as racism, have been shaped by long-term American customs, laws, and economic institutions. Critical race theory merely examines these issues as they relate to race and racism. It gives us a window into the stories of minorities in American history who were excluded from the typical American story.

In describing CRT, The Very Rev. Stephen Brehe said: "Critical race theory opens up our past and helps us deal with racism differently. It's not easy. We have painful, often hidden, moments in our history. But it's the only way that true healing can take place. An extra benefit is that it allows for learning about other peoples, decreases stereotyping, creates a spirit of respect, and increases tolerance."

CRT declares that America has "skeletons in our closet." Racism is one of them. People don't want to talk about it because our racial history flies in the face of the myth of American exceptionalism. Over the years, we have developed a national doctrine that God has blessed America with success, and every success confirms God's blessing. But if you are African American or Native American, you know that hasn't always been the case for you.

CRT does not say that individuals are racist. It says the system is racist. It does NOT say that western civilization should be dismantled. It says we will all be better if we resolve our race problems.

We see systemic racism everywhere we look. The judicial system, employment, education, etc., are tilted against Black citizens. Black Americans even have longer wait times than white people (46 minutes a day). Remember, I am talking about the systems and not individuals.

CRT should be taught in our schools, primarily if it teaches our kids about other peoples, respectful, and decreases stereotypes.

Unfortunately, some use coordinated language to attack CRT as some big boogeyman, calling it anti-American, anti-white, socialist, unpatriotic, anti-individualism, divisive, etc. This is an "outrage of the day" since CRT is none of these things.

Degrading treatment a sign of disrespect

Degrade: to treat or regard (someone) with contempt or disrespect.

In my classroom, I posted a banner — "If you degrade another person, you only degrade yourself."

At the beginning of the school year, high school students loved to argue with me about this sign. I simply asked them if they respected someone who treated them with contempt, who called them vile names, and who bragged about these actions.

"NO!" was the vehement reply.

In their attempt to degrade others, many people are simply degrading themselves and others see them as contemptuous, rude and disrespectful.

Let those who want it pay for it

(Re Thursday, May 27's front-page story, "Board backs property sale to fund new shelter"): So, as I and many people struggle to pay their property taxes, the commissioners see fit to spend $8 million or $9 million on a boondoggle for some animals to be sheltered before they're euthanized? That is ridiculous. It's just another project where they can move some cash around. We've already got donations totaling almost $1 million. We built a YMCA with donations of about $8 million. Let these people that want a new animal shelter pay for it. When you get enough donations, build it. You already have a building. It's absurd to try to tell us it's going to cost $8 million or $9 million for a new facility. Quit ripping the public off.

Investigative reporter needed

When I moved to Citrus County, it was called Circus County. The reason it was called Circus County is because it was run by politicians, it's run with money and this newspaper will never investigate anything or print anything negative about the people that run this county. Just take "The Best of the Best." That's been in the paper for years and years and there's a lot of negative restaurants and businesses in this county, but they never print it. Twenty years ago I said we needed a good investigative reporter. It didn't happen then and it's not going to happen now and it's not going to happen in the future. ...

What's up with Elm Street

I retired to Inverness 32 years ago to a new development, new streets. Here's where it gets strange: When you come to my street, you can either turn left or right. A left turn and you're on South Elm Street; a right turn and you're on Elm Terrace. That means that one set of neighbors live on two separate streets. When you take a left on South Elm, it is a cul-de-sac with five lots on each side. I would expect the first house on the left side to be No. 1 and across the street to be No. 2. Uh-uh. The first lot is 3000 S. Elm. Help! Thank you for listening.

Bikers would love a safe path

Give us our bike path back. For years we rode the Fort Island Trail bike path from (U.S.) 19 to the beaches and back every week or so for exercise, but mostly to admire the beautiful scenery of the last three miles before the beach. It is no longer safe because of the high volume of the pickups towing trailers with wheels running on and off the bike path. How about putting a parking area and off-road path for the bikes for the last three miles of the beach road? It would be one of the most used and most beautiful bike paths in the state.

Motorized wheelchairs sometimes too big

What is it with these motorized wheelchairs? I was in (a grocery store) the other day and this guy had a motorized wheelchair almost the size of a motorcycle. It looked like a motorcycle. I think it's getting kind of ridiculous that these motorized wheelchairs that are that big are in a store. This looked like a motorcycle running through the aisles.

Not so tranquil on the river

I worked hard, scrimped and saved to afford a nice retirement home on a canal in Crystal River. It's Memorial Day. I want to lounge by the pool, read a book and this evening have a glass of wine. Instead, across the canal, there's at least 40 people, kids screaming, dogs barking, drinking and swearing — total chaos. We need this to stop. Hotel/motel owners, start a petition. Mr. Meek, enough is enough.

Hope the 'no's are returned

(Re Thursday, May 27's front-page story, "Board backs property sale to fund new shelter"): I just read about Betz (Farm) perhaps being purchased for the animal shelter. Good idea. No matter what happens, of course, Mr. "Arrogant" Kitchen votes no. I hope when the new voting comes around, the county people will vote no and get the arrogant Ron Kitchen out.

Be thankful there's a newspaper to read

To the person who complained about the paper being too thin (in Sound Off, Page C2 Sunday, May 30): Maybe it's to cut costs, conserve and stop paper waste. Some publications have stopped print editions altogether. So if you enjoy your morning paper, lick your fingers five times and stop complaining.

US 19 an inconvenient mess

The mess that the engineers made on (U.S.) 19 is unforgiveable. They have caused more inconvenience and frustration with this stretch of road through Homosassa between Grover Cleveland and Periwinkle. It is extremely frustrating to drive this section of road. You can't access any of the businesses on the opposite side of the road without going a quarter mile down to do a U-turn. Taking the median out of this road was the dumbest thing that an engineer could do. They should be forced to drive this section and realize what harm they've caused the businesses and the customers of this area. Thanks a lot for nothing.

Confront the dog owner

I'm responding to (the May 25) Sound Off, "Pet owners don't have the high ground": First of all, when I walk my dog and if he does something on somebody's property, I always carry a bag with me to pick it up all the time. It's never an issue with me whatsoever. And as far as you complaining about it if you see some dog defecating on someone's property, did you bother to say something to the person that's walking the dog? I bet you didn't. You kept your mouth shut because you were afraid, but you could speak up to Sound Off. When you see someone's dog doing their business on a property, tell them, "Hey, why don't you clean up after your dog?" But you know what? You won't do that.

Code violators wear on neighborhood

I'm sounding off about a repeat offender on (our street). Code Enforcement — these people are constantly charging them. We have to give our names, put our properties on the line. They clean up their mess and the county tells them to go on their way. Then a few weeks later, it's back to the same old stuff. They've got couches on the lawn. They've got junk all over the place. It looks like Sanford and Son here. I mean, why won't the county do their job? I know it's job security for them to keep coming out, but it's wearing on the neighborhood.

Whole job would reap greater reward

Good morning, it's Saturday, May 29. I just read your (front-page story) in the Chronicle about the Crystal River roofer being arrested. I just don't understand why they would take the deposit and cash it in instead of working and getting the money for the whole job. Contractors, especially roofers, make excellent, excellent money. I have no idea why they would want to only get a partial amount when they could get the whole thing and it would be very rewarding.

County doing hospital board a favor

The BOCC is doing the hospital board a big favor to propose an intersection at the nearly 100 acres of CMH property on County Road 491. With the Central Ridge growth underway, we can expect the largest hospital in the county on that 100 acres several decades down the road. As the hospital board and HCA lawyer up, do not let them take advantage of the county, as the intersection is primarily for the benefit of CMH and HCA.

Thinking about road completion

(Re the Wednesday, May 26, Page A2 story, "Hospital board mulls county's land giveaway proposal"): The 30-year stop-and-go project to four-lane County Road 491 from State Road 44 to County Road 486 continues. First workshops, 1995; first plans drawn, 1996; and now 2021, reworking right-of-way with hospital board. Let's hope for completion in 2025.

Code needs stronger enforcement

On June 4, there's an article in the Sound Off about the Code Enforcement (titled, "Take more pride in county"). I totally agree. Someone that works in Code Enforcement should drive up and down the roads and see what's happening here in Citrus County. People are taking advantage of the county and you're just sitting back and letting them do that. People are moving in extra trailers next to homes on small pieces of property where it has not been fitted for that kind of environment. Why can't you have someone that's getting paid to turn these people in? They need to check this out. Look at what's happening to our county. We have people with less than an acre of land that have three dwelling places on that property because people are afraid to call in because they don't want to be retaliated against. Think about it, Citrus County. You're being taken advantage of.

UK sees virus surge

New cases top 10,000 as gov't rushes to vaccinate more

PAN PYLAS
Associated Press

LONDON — The U.K.'s latest surge in coronavirus infections gathered pace Thursday with new confirmed cases rising above 10,000 for the first time in nearly four months as a result of the spread of the more contagious delta variant.

Government figures showed another 11,007 cases were reported. That's the highest daily number since Feb. 19, when 12,027 cases were recorded, and cements talk that the country with Europe's highest virus-related death toll is in the midst of a third wave of the pandemic.

The government's chief medical adviser, Professor Chris Whitty, said the height of the current surge is "still uncertain" but that it "will definitely translate into further hospitalizations and, unfortunately, it will undoubtedly translate into further deaths."

Daily cases have risen fairly sharply over the past few weeks after fluctuating around the 2,000 mark earlier. The delta variant, which was first identified in India and is considered by government scientists to be between 40% to 80% more transmissible than the previous dominant strain, accounts for around 95% of all new cases in the U.K.

Most of the new confirmed cases are among younger age groups which have not yet gotten COVID-19 vaccines. The U.K.'s widely praised rollout of vaccines is being extended to all adults over the age of 18 starting Friday, Health Secretary Matt Hancock confirmed.

The spread of the variant upended government plans to lift all remaining restrictions on social contact in England starting next week. On Monday, Prime Minister Boris Johnson delayed the move until July 19, saying now was the "time to ease off the accelerator" so more people could get vaccinated and prevent thousands more deaths.

Johnson laid out his hope that by July 19, two-thirds of the U.K.'s adult population will have been offered two vaccine shots, including everyone over 50.

The government's figures Thursday showed that another 19 people died after testing positive for the virus, the highest daily death toll reported since May 11. It takes the U.K.'s total deaths in the pandemic to 127,945, the most in Europe.

In addition to warning about further deaths in the near-term, Whitty, the government's chief medical adviser, said the country should brace itself for further waves of the virus to come.

"In terms of the medium-term, my expectation is that we will get a further winter surge, late autumn/winter surge, and that is because we know that winter and autumn favor respiratory viruses, and therefore it'd be very surprising if this particular highly transmissible respiratory virus was not also favored," he said in a speech to health professionals.

US to spend $3.2B on treatments for COVID-19, other viruses

WASHINGTON — The United States is devoting $3.2 billion to speed development of antiviral pills to treat COVID-19 and other dangerous viruses that could turn into pandemics.

The new program will invest in "accelerating things that are already in progress" for COVID-19 but also would work to come up with treatments for other viruses, said Dr. Anthony Fauci, the nation's top infectious disease expert. He announced the investment Thursday at a White House briefing.

"There are few treatments that exist for many of the viruses that have pandemic potential," he said, including Ebola, dengue, West Nile and Middle East respiratory syndrome.

But he added, "vaccines clearly remain the centerpiece of our arsenal.

The U.S. has approved one antiviral drug, remdesivir, specifically for COVID-19, and allowed emergency use of three antibody therapies that help the immune system fight the virus. But all the drugs have to given by IV at hospitals or medical clinics, and demand has been low due to these logistical hurdles.

Health experts have increasingly called for a convenient pill that patients could take themselves when symptoms first appear. Some drugmakers are testing such medications, but initial results aren't expected for several more months. The new funds will speed those tests and support private sector research, development and manufacturing.

Last week, the U.S. said it would purchase 1.7 million doses of an experimental antiviral pill from Merck and Ridgeback Biotherapeutics, if it is shown to be safe and effective. Results from a large study of the drug, molnupiravir, are expected this fall. Early research suggests the drug may reduce the risk of hospitalization if used shortly after infection by stopping the coronavirus from quickly reproducing. It did not benefit patients who were already hospitalized with severe disease.

Several other companies, including Pfizer, Roche and AstraZeneca, are also testing antiviral pills.

The currently available drugs have mostly been shown to help patients avoid hospitalization or shorten their recovery time by several days.

Under President Donald Trump, the U.S. poured more than $19 billion into rapidly developing multiple vaccines. But less than half that amount went toward developing new treatments. That shortfall has become increasingly concerning as the vaccination campaign slows and experts emphasize the need to manage the disease in millions of Americans who may never get the shots.

Court dismisses 'Obamacare' case

On 7-2 vote, justices duck challenge to controversial health law

MARK SHERMAN
Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court, though increasingly conservative in makeup, rejected the latest major Republican-led effort to kill the national health care law known as "Obamacare" on Thursday, preserving insurance coverage for millions of Americans.

The justices, by a 7-2 vote, left the entire Affordable Care Act intact in ruling that Texas, other GOP-led states and two individuals had no right to bring their lawsuit in federal court. The Biden administration says 31 million people have health insurance because of the law, which also survived two earlier challenges in the Supreme Court.

The law's major provisions include protections for people with existing health conditions, a range of no-cost preventive services, expansion of the Medicaid program that insures lower-income people and access to health insurance markets offering subsidized plans.

"The Affordable Care Act remains the law of the land," President Joe Biden, said, celebrating the ruling. He called for building further on the law that was enacted in 2010 when he was vice president.

Also left in place is the law's now-toothless requirement that people have health insurance or pay a penalty. Congress rendered that provision irrelevant in 2017 when it reduced the penalty to zero.

The elimination of the penalty had become the hook that Texas and other GOP-led states, as well as the Trump administration, used to attack the entire law. They argued that without the mandate, a pillar of the law when it was passed, the rest of the law should fall, too.

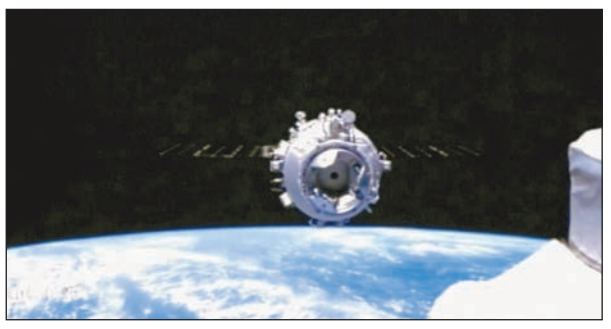
And with a Supreme Court that includes three appointees of former President Donald Trump, opponents of "Obamacare" hoped a majority of the justices would finally kill the law they have been fighting for more than a decade.

But the third major attack on the law at the Supreme Court ended the way the first two did, with a majority of the court rebuffing efforts to gut the law or get rid of it altogether.

Trump's appointees — Justices Amy Coney Barrett, Neil Gorsuch and Brett Kavanaugh — split their votes. Kavanaugh and Barrett joined the majority. Gorsuch was in dissent, signing on to an opinion from Justice Samuel Alito.

Nation/World BRIEFS

In space



Associated Press

In this image taken from video footage run by China's CCTV, the docking process in space between the Tianhe core module of China's space station and a Shenzhou-12 spaceship carrying a crew of Chinese astronauts is seen Thursday, June 17.

Chinese crew enters new space station

JIUQUAN, China — Three Chinese astronauts arrived Thursday at China's new space station at the start of a three-month mission, marking another milestone in the country's ambitious space program.

Their Shenzhou-12 craft connected with the space station module about six hours after taking off from the Jiuquan launch center on the edge of the Gobi Desert.

About three hours later, commander Nie Haisheng, 56, followed by Liu Boming, 54, and space rookie Tang Hongbo, 45, opened the hatches and floated into the Tianhe-1 core living module. Pictures showed them busy at work unpacking equipment.

"This represents the first time Chinese have entered their own space station," state broadcaster CCTV said on its nightly news broadcast.

The crew will carry out experiments, test equipment, conduct maintenance and prepare the station for receiving two laboratory modules next year. The mission brings to 14 the number of astronauts China has launched into space since 2003, becoming only the third country after the former Soviet Union and the United States to do so on its own.

Biden signs bill to make Juneteenth a federal holiday

WASHINGTON — President Joe Biden signed legislation Thursday establishing a new federal holiday commemorating the end of slavery, saying he believes it will go down as one of the greatest honors he has as president.

Biden signed into law a bill to make Juneteenth, or June 19, the 12th federal holiday. The House voted 415-14 on Wednesday to send the bill to Biden, while the Senate passed the bill unanimously the day before.

"This is a day of profound weight and profound power, a day in which we remember the moral stain, the terrible toll that slavery took on the country and continues to take," Biden said.

Juneteenth commemorates June 19, 1865, when Union soldiers brought the news of freedom to enslaved Black people in Galveston, Texas — two months after the Confederacy had surrendered. That was also about 2 1/2 years after the Emancipation Proclamation freed slaves in the Southern states.

Most stocks fall as markets digest Fed moves

NEW YORK — The S&P 500 ended Thursday barely changed after stocks sloshed around in mixed trading, as investors make preparations for a future where the Federal Reserve is no longer doing everything it can to keep interest rates super low.

Markets around the world were mixed but mostly calm after investors in Asia and Europe got their first chance to react to the Federal Reserve's signaling on Wednesday that it may start raising short-term interest rates by late 2023. The Fed's chair also said it began discussing the possibility of slowing its bond-buying program. Such support has been a key reason for the stock market's resurgence to records, with the most recent coming Monday.

The S&P 500 slipped 1.84 points, or less than 0.1%, to 4,221.86 after earlier meandering from a 0.2% gain to a 0.7% loss. Most of the stocks in the index and across Wall Street were lower, but gains for Apple, Microsoft and a few other tech heavyweights helped offset the losses.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average dropped 210.22, or 0.6%, to 33,823.45, while the Nasdaq composite rose 121.67, or 0.9%, to 14,161.35, lifted by the gains for tech and other high-growth stocks.

In the bond market, the yield on the 10-year Treasury note gave back nearly all of its spurt from a day before. It fell back to 1.51% from 1.57% late Wednesday.

St. Louis couple pleads guilty to misdemeanors

ST. LOUIS — A St. Louis couple who gained notoriety for pointing guns at social justice demonstrators pleaded guilty Thursday to misdemeanor charges, but the man left the courthouse defiantly pledging to "do it again" if faced with the same circumstances.

Patricia McCloskey pleaded guilty to misdemeanor harassment and was fined $2,000. Her husband, Mark McCloskey, pleaded guilty to misdemeanor fourth-degree assault and was fined $750. They also agreed to give up the weapons they used during the confrontation.

When several hundred demonstrators marched past their home in June of 2020, the couple waved weapons at them. They claimed the protesters were trespassing and that they feared for their safety.

Scotch makers welcome US tariff suspension

LONDON — Scotch single malt whisky makers breathed a sigh of relief Thursday after the United States agreed to suspend tariffs on one of Scotland's main exports in the wake of the resolution of a long-standing transatlantic trade row over subsidies to aircraft companies Boeing and Airbus.

President Donald Trump imposed the 25% tariffs on select products of the European Union, including Scotch single malt whiskies, in October 2019 as part of the trade dispute. While the U.K. is no longer an EU member, it belonged to the bloc when the tariffs were introduced.

Earlier this week, the U.S. and the EU reached an agreement to end the aerospace dispute, paving the way for a 5-year suspension of tariffs.

Henley has happy return to Torrey Pines

Takes early Open lead

Editor's note: The first round of the U.S. Open was not completed at deadline, so a final story and par scores were not available for this edition.

AP golf writer

SAN DIEGO — Russell Henley's visit to the rough-and-tumble South course at Torrey Pines went a lot better Thursday than the last time he played, especially under the circumstances.

Anything around par never hurts in a U.S. Open. He opened with a 4-under 67, finishing just as the wind off the Pacific was kicking into gear.

"If it's blowing like this the whole week, it's just going to be a hard week. That's kind of what you want in a U.S. Open, though, right?" Henley said.

Henley got up-and-down by holing a 6-foot birdie putt on the par-5 18th hole for a one-shot lead over Francesco Molinari and Rafa Cabrera Bello among early starters.

Two-time U.S. Open champion Brooks Koepka, looking tough as ever in the strongest events, and San Diego native Xander Schauffele were at 69.

A 90-minute fog delay before the opening tee shot meant the first round had no chance of being completed until Friday morning.

The difference between Torrey Pines for a PGA Tour stop in January and Torrey for the toughest test in golf? Henley couldn't say. He has only played the Farmers Insurance Open one time, in 2014, and it was memorable for the wrong reasons. He holed a 40-foot shot on the 18th hole for birdie to break 80.

That's about all he remembers except for "leaving the course feeling like I just got beat up."

There was plenty of bruising going on Thursday in the U.S. Open.

Former U.S. Open champion Webb Simpson had to birdie the last hole to break 80. Max Homa four-putted from 20 feet for triple bogey on No. 12 and three-putted for double bogey on No. 14.

UNIONDALE, N.Y. — Brayden Point kept up his scoring touch with a tiebreaking goal late in the second period, Andrei Vasilevskiy stopped 27 shots and the Tampa Bay Lightning beat the New York Islanders 2-1 on Thursday night to take a 2-1 lead in the Stanley Cup semifinals.

Yanni Gourde also scored to help Tampa Bay improve to 6-1 on the road in the playoffs.

Cal Clutterbuck scored for the Islanders, and Semyon Varlamov made 23 saves.

Game 4 is Saturday night at Nassau Coliseum, with Game 5 back in Tampa on Monday night.

The Islanders outshot the Lightning 8-5 in a tight third period, but couldn't

Bucks force Game 7 with Nets

Middleton, Antetokounmpo lead Milwaukee to victory

STEVE MEGARGEE

MILWAUKEE — Khris Middleton scored 38 points, Giannis Antetokounmpo added 30 and the Milwaukee Bucks never trailed in a 104-89 victory over the Brooklyn Nets on Thursday night to force a decisive seventh game in their second-round playoff series.

Game 7 will be Saturday night in Brooklyn. The home team has won each of the first six games in this series.

Milwaukee forward Giannis Antetokounmpo (34) drives between Brooklyn's James Harden (13) and Blake Griffin during the first half of Game 6 of a second-round NBA playoff series Thursday in Milwaukee. The Bucks won to force a Game 7.

Milwaukee never trailed and broke the game open by going on a 14-0 run that started with less than 8 ½ minutes left.

Middleton answered every Brooklyn comeback attempt and had 10 rebounds, five assists and five steals to go along with the highest scoring total of his playoff career. Antetokounmpo had 17 rebounds.

The Bucks shot just 7 of 33 from 3-point range but made up for it by outscoring the Nets 26-4 in fast-break points.

Milwaukee bounced back two nights after blowing a 17-point lead in a 114-108 Game 5 loss at Brooklyn that featured an epic 49-point, 17-rebound, 10-assist performance from Kevin Durant.

Durant had 32 points and 11 rebounds Thursday. James Harden added 16 points but still looked as though he was at far less than full strength in his second game since returning from

ROUNDUP/MATCHUPS

Indians 10, Orioles 3: José Ramírez and Bobby Bradley homered during a three-run first inning, extending Baltimore's road losing streak to 19 games.

Giants 10, Diamondbacks 3: The Diamondbacks set a major league record with their 23rd straight road loss, breaking a tie with the 1963 Mets and '43 Philadelphia Athletics for road futility.

Cubs 2, Mets 0: Kyle Hendricks flummoxed the Mets for six innings to win his career-best seventh straight start, Javier Báez hit a two-run homer in the first off Marcus Stroman.

Braves 4, Cardinals 0: Charlie Morton didn't allow a hit until the seventh inning and took a shutout into the eighth. Morton gave up his first hit when Paul Goldschmidt lined a single to left-center with one out, but the right-hander followed by getting Nolan Arenado to pop up and struck out Tyler O'Neill.

Astros 10, White Sox 2: Jose Altuve homered for the fourth time in three games, Michael Brantley and Abraham Toro also connected.

Yankees 8, Blue Jays 4: Giancarlo Stanton hit a go-ahead homer in a four-run seventh inning and the Yankees pulled off a wacky triple. Stanton broke a 3-all tie with his homer off Anthony Castro (1-2). The triple play in the first inning marked the first time the franchise turned two in one year.

THIS DATE IN BASEBALL

1938 — The Brooklyn Dodgers signed Babe Ruth to coach for the remainder of the season.

1947 — Cincinnati's Ewell Blackwell tossed a 6-0 no-hitter against the Boston Braves.

1950 — In the nightcap of a doubleheader, the Cleveland Indians scored 14 runs in the first inning for an American League record as they trounced the Philadelphia A's 21-2.

1953 — At Fenway Park, Dick Gernert's home run highlighted the 17-run, 14-hit seventh inning as the Boston Red Sox beat the Detroit Tigers 23-3. The Red Sox were up 5-3 after 6 1/2 innings. The Red Sox scored the 17 runs on 14 hits and six walks and left the bases loaded. Gene Stephens collected three hits and Sammy White scored three runs and Tom Umphlett also reached base three times in the inning.

1960 — The San Francisco Giants fired Bill Rigney and selected Tom Sheehan as manager. At 66 years, 2 months and 18 days, Sheehan was the oldest man to debut as a manager of a major league team.

1967 — Houston Astro Don Wilson tossed the first of his two career no-hitters by blanking the Atlanta Braves 2-0, facing 30 batters and striking out 15.

1975 — Fred Lynn batted in 10 runs with three homers, a triple and a single in a 15-1 Boston Red Sox victory over the Detroit Tigers. Lynn's 16 total bases tied an AL record.

1976 — Commissioner Bowie Kuhn voided the sale of Oakland Athletics stars Vida Blue, Rollie Fingers and Joe Rudi. Athletics owner Charlie Finley sold Blue to the New York Yankees for $1.5 million and Rudi and Fingers to the Boston Red Sox for $1 million each. Kuhn ordered the players to return to Oakland on grounds that they would upset the sport's competitive balance.

1977 — New York Yankees outfielder Reggie Jackson and manager Billy Martin get into a dugout confrontation at Fenway Park that's seen on national television. Martin removed his right fielder for loafing on a ball hit to the outfield. Jackson questioned Martin in the dugout and the two are eventually separated by coach Elston Howard.

1986 — California's Don Sutton pitched a three-hitter for his 300th career victory as the Angels beat the Texas Rangers 5-1. The 41-year-old right-hander became the 19th pitcher in baseball history to win 300 games.

2007 — Chone Figgins went 6-for-6 and drove in the game-winning run in the ninth inning to lift the Los Angeles Angels over Houston 10-9.

2011 — Connor Harrell hit the first College World Series home run in the new TD Ameritrade Park to break a sixth-inning tie and first-time qualifier Vanderbilt defeated North Carolina 7-3.

2012 — R.A. Dickey became the first major league pitcher in 24 years to throw consecutive one-hitters and Ike Davis hit a grand slam in the New York Mets' 5-0 victory over the Baltimore Orioles. The previous pitcher to throw consecutive one-hitters was Dave Stieb for Toronto in September 1988.

2012 — Aaron Hill hit a solo homer in the seventh inning to become the fifth Arizona player to hit for the cycle, lifting the Diamondbacks to a 7-1 win over the Seattle Mariners.

2017 — Nolan Arenado completed the cycle with a three-run homer in the bottom of the ninth inning, and the Colorado Rockies stunned the San Francisco Giants by rallying for a 7-5 victory.

Rays aquire first baseman from NY

Associated Press

NEW YORK — First baseman Mike Ford was traded by the New York Yankees to the Tampa Bay Rays on Thursday for $100,000 and a player to be named.

Ford was designated for assignment Saturday when reliever Zack Britton was activated from the injured list.

The money in the trade is payable July 1.

Ford, who turns 29 on July 4, had a strong rookie season with the Yankees in 2019, hitting .259 with 12 homers and 25 RBIs in 143 at-bats over 50 games.

But he slumped to a .135 average with two homers and 11 RBIs in 74 at-bats during the pandemic-shortened 2020 season. With first base time available this year because of Luke Voit's injuries, Ford batted .133 with three homers and five RBIs in 60 at-bats.

A rare left-handed hitter on the current Yankees, Ford had a .199 average with 17 homers and 41 RBIs in parts of three major league seasons.

Ford hit .083 (2 for 24) with one RBI in seven games this season at Triple-A Scranton/Wilkes-Barre. He was optioned to Triple-A Durham by the Rays.

Tampa Bay activated right-hander Collin McHugh from the COVID-19 related injured list, transferred right-hander Tyler Glasnow (sprained right elbow) to the 60-day injured list and optioned right-hander Chris Mazza to Durham.

SPORTS BRIEFS

Nadal, Osaka both out for Wimbledon; she'll go to Olympics in Tokyo

Rafael Nadal and Naomi Osaka are sitting out Wimbledon, leaving the oldest Grand Slam tennis tournament without two of the sport's biggest stars as it returns after being canceled last year because of the coronavirus pandemic.

Nadal, a two-time champion at the All England Club, announced via a series of social media posts Thursday that he would also miss the Tokyo Olympics to rest and recover "after listening to my body."

"The goal," the 35-year-old Spaniard said, "is to prolong my career and continue to do what makes me happy."

Osaka's agent, Stuart Duguid, wrote Thursday in an email that the four-time Grand Slam champion does plan to head to the Summer Games after skipping Wimbledon.

Osaka is a 23-year-old who was born in Japan to a Japanese mother and Haitian father; the family moved to the United States when she was 3 and she is still based there.

Osaka has been ranked No. 1 and is currently No. 2; she is the highest-earning female athlete and was the 2020 AP Female Athlete of the Year. She is 14-3 this season, including a title at the Australian Open in February.

Last month, Osaka was fined $15,000 when she didn't speak to reporters after her first-round victory at the French Open. The next day, Osaka pulled out of the tournament entirely, saying she experiences "huge waves of anxiety" before meeting with the media and revealing she has "suffered long bouts of depression."

Wimbledon, which was called off in 2020 for the first time since World War II because of COVID-19 concerns, begins main-draw play on June 28. The Olympic tennis competition opens on July 24.

Miami-Auburn set home-and-home football series

AUBURN, Ala. — Miami and Auburn will play a home-and-home series starting in 2029.

The schools announced Thursday that the Tigers will visit Miami on Sept. 1, 2029. The Hurricanes play at Auburn on Aug. 31, 2030.

Auburn is 7-4 against Miami but the two teams haven't met since the 1984 Kickoff Classic in East Rutherford, N.J., which Miami won 20-18.

Miami hasn't played at Auburn since 1978. The Tigers haven't played at Miami since 1974.

Carlisle steps down as Mavericks' coach

Rick Carlisle stepped down as coach of the Dallas Mavericks on Thursday, the second major departure for that franchise in as many days.

Carlisle spent 13 seasons in Dallas, leading the Mavericks to the 2011 NBA title. His decision was announced one day after general manager Donnie Nelson and the team agreed to part ways, ending a 24-year run for Nelson as part of the organization.

"This was solely my decision," Carlisle said in a statement released to ESPN shortly before the team announced that he was leaving.

Dallas becomes the seventh team with a coaching vacancy, joining New Orleans, Washington, Orlando, Indiana, Portland — and Boston, where Carlisle played for the team that won the 1986 NBA title.

After Open playoff loss, Hataoka shares lead

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. — Nasa Hataoka had a share of the Meijer LPGA Classic lead in her first event since losing a playoff in the U.S. Women's Open.

The 22-year-old Japanese player birdied three of the last five holes at Blythefield Country Club to match fellow morning starters Leona Maguire, Charley Hull and Lauren Stephenson at 7-under 65.

Two weeks ago in the Women's Open at Olympic Club in San Francisco, Hataoka lost to Yuka Saso on the third playoff hole.

tie it. They pulled Varlamov for an extra skater with about 1:48 remaining but couldn't manage a shot on goal.

Both teams had chances in a fast-paced second period. The Islanders had some sustained pressure in the offensive zone midway through, but couldn't beat Vasilevskiy. The goalie denied a shot by Adam Pelech with 6 minutes to go and Mathew Barzal hit a goalpost seconds later. Vasilevskiy then denied Barzal's tip try.

The Islanders tied it late in the second. Off a scramble for the puck in front of Vasilveskiy, Lightning defenseman Eric Cernak attempted to push the puck into the goalie. Clutterbuk and several players whacked at the puck and it went through Vasilevskiy's feet and in with 2:22 left.

The Lightning regained the lead just four seconds after their power play expired in the final minute of the second. Point got the rebound of a point shot by Victor Hedman and whipped it in past Varlamov as he was falling to the ice with 18 seconds remaining. It was Point's 11th of the postseason and extended his goals streak to six games. He has eight goals in the last nine games.

The Lightning outshot the Islanders 9-7 in the first and got on the scoreboard first midway through the period. Blake Coleman's shot from the left circle was stopped by Varlamov. Coleman got the rebound and sent a backhand pass across the front of the goal from behind the line, and Gourde knocked it in from the right side for his third of the postseason with 9:55 left.

STRIKING FIRST

The Lightning improved to 10-1 when scoring first this postseason. They are 0-3 when allowing the first goal. The Islanders dropped to 5-5 when the opponent scores first.

GAME 3 FORTUNES

The Islanders have lost Game 3 at home in each of their three playoff series to fall into a 2-1 series deficit. They rebounded with three straight wins to advance past Pittsburgh in the first round and Boston in the second round,

The Lightning have led 2-1 after three games in each of their series. They lost Game 3 in their first two series, against Florida and Carolina. However, those were at home after Tampa Bay won each of the first two games on the road.

HENLEY

That led to a 76.

PGA champion Phil Mickelson, who turned 51 on Wednesday, shot a 75 on Thursday. That's not the start he hoped for in his bid to finally get a U.S. Open title for the career Grand Slam. What bothered him were two soft bogeys toward the end of his round.

"Look, it's part of this tournament, and I was able to go without any doubles. I just didn't make enough birdies to offset it," Mickelson said.

Defending champion Bryson DeChambeau, world No. 1 Dustin Johnson and Jon Rahm were among those playing in the afternoon.

There were a few cheers for "Bryson" directed at Koepka as fans tried to keep their feud going, though Koepka didn't appear to be the least bit distracted. This is a major, and he showed why he's called "Big Game Brooks" when the biggest tournaments roll around.

For so much of the day, Koepka made it look easy by keeping it in the short grass, off the tee and on the green. He was bogey-free and 4 under through 11 holes when he missed the green on the par-3 third and made bogey, and he dropped another shot from on the sixth, which has been converted to a par 4 for the U.S. Open.

Even so, it was a solid start for Koepka, a four-time major champion coming off a runner-up finish to Mickelson at the PGA Championship. It wasn't easy. He made it sound that way.

"It's pretty simple. It's a lot simpler than what guys make it," Koepka said. "I think a lot of guys make it more difficult than it needs to be. Just got to understand where the flag is, what you're doing and where to miss it."

The surprise might have been Molinari, the former British Open champion who has not been the same since losing a two-shot lead on the back nine at the Masters two years ago that paved the way for Tiger Woods slipping on another green jacket.

The Italian had to pull out of the PGA Championship with a sore back. He mentioned other nagging injuries. He's had three top 10s this year. He also has missed the cut in three of the last four tournaments he played. But he was solid at Torrey, and two birdies over his last three allowed him to match his best start in a U.S. Open.

"There's no tricks. You need to grind and fight for 18 holes and then relax until tomorrow and start over again," he said. "I haven't played recently, so it's nice to get off to a good start, but there's a long way to go. Start over tomorrow like nothing happened today."

Henley was among three players from the early draw who reached 4 under at some point, and the only player who stayed there thanks to his birdie at the end.

Koepka played his final seven holes with two bogeys, no birdies and no complaints. Patrick Rodgers was 4 under with five holes to play until he dropped three shots coming in. That didn't rattle him too much, either.

"I really felt like I played decently coming in, but just playing a U.S. Open, you're sometimes a bounce away or a lip-out away from a tough hole or a tough situation," Rodgers said. "That's just part of this event."

Eriksen tribute in Denmark loss to Belgium

Netherlands reaches knockout stage with win

Belgium's Dries Mertens, left, is challenged by Denmark's Joakim Maehle during the Euro 2020 soccer championship group B match Thursday at the Parken stadium in Copenhagen.

COPENHAGEN — Substitute Kevin de Bruyne set up one goal and scored the winner himself to give Belgium a 2-1 victory over Denmark in a European Championship game marked by an emotional tribute to Christian Eriksen in the first half.

De Bruyne came on after halftime for his first appearance since sustaining a facial fracture in the Champions League final and squared the ball for Thorgan Hazard to equalize in the 55th minute. He then scored in the 71st with a low shot from outside the area.

It was Denmark's first game since Eriksen's collapse, and the hosts started at a furious pace at a raucous Parken Stadium. Yussuf Poulsen scored with a low shot inside the far post in only the second minute.

Players from both teams then halted play after 10 minutes as the 25,000 fans rose for a minute of thunderous applause in tribute to Eriksen, who wears the No. 10 shirt for Denmark's national team.

The players joined the applause as well, as did referee Bjorn Kuipers.

Eriksen remains in a nearby hospital after suffering cardiac arrest in the team's opening game against Finland.

The victory give Belgium a spot in the round of 16. Denmark can still advance with a win over Russia on Monday if the Belgians beat Finland.

Netherlands 2, Austria 0

AMSTERDAM — This time, the Netherlands never looked like throwing away their two-goal lead.

Memphis Depay and Denzel Dumfries scored a goal in each half as the Dutch comfortably beat Austria 2-0 to advance to the round of 16 at the European Championship.

Depay sent a penalty kick low into the corner in the 11th minute for his 27th goal in 66 international matches. Dumfries then scored his second goal of the tournament — following his late winner against Ukraine — in the 67th after an unselfish pass from PSV Eindhoven teammate Donyell Malen.

The Netherlands is playing at a major international soccer tournament for the first time in seven years and qualified for the knockout stage with a game to spare.

The Netherlands will play its final Group C match against North Macedonia on Monday. Austria will take on Ukraine.

Ukraine 2, North Macedonia 1

BUCHAREST, Romania — Andriy Yarmolenko and Roman Yaremchuk both scored again, and this time it was enough.

The pair of forwards netted a goal each in the first half to give Ukraine a 2-1 victory over North Macedonia at the European Championship.

The same two players also scored in the team's opening match at Euro 2020 on Sunday, but that ended up being a 3-2 loss to the Netherlands.

Yarmolenko netted from close range in the 29th minute after Oleksandr Karavaev's flick from a corner. He then released Yaremchuk on the right flank in the 34th to double the lead with a low shot past onrushing goalkeeper Stole Dimitrievski.

Ezgjan Alioski got the only goal for North Macedonia in the 57th minute.

Ukraine has three points in Group C while North Macedonia has zero.

Reviving the performing arts

Jim Davis
PLAY IT BY EAR

As folks edge back into the new abnormal, the visual and performing arts are reviving.

During the pandemic, some artists and musicians gathered outdoors or within safe spaces with trusted friends to make art and music minus viewers or listeners. My hope is this column breaks the chains of quarantine to regale your eyes and ears with art to enjoy and music to hear.

The exhibit "Thirteen Ways of Looking at a Blackbird: An Exercise in Artistic Perspective" is an example of artists persisting. It continues at the Old Courthouse Museum in Inverness through June 18. There is no admission charge.

Seven artists present their interpretations of a 13-part poem by Wallace Stevens. It is well worth viewing.

On June 20 at 2 p.m., the Will McLean Foundation's Sunday Sampler re-opens with Florida favorites 2PM. The group — Pete Price, Peter Hennings and Mike Jurgensen — amalgamate their talents and perform a wide array of original and cover music with original harmonies.

Rotary Club concludes successful month with 626 hours volunteer service

Special to the Chronicle

You know that good feeling when you achieve a really ambitious goal? Members of the Rotary Club of Inverness got that feeling when they met and exceeded their goal of contributing 500 hours of community service during what they called "Motivational May."

The Rotary Club of Inverness is celebrating its 50th anniversary in different ways during 2021, and members determined that dedicating Motivational May to service was a perfect way to honor our community as well as the Rotary motto of "Service Above Self."

In April, the club offered a project preview and invited other Rotarians and community members to join Inverness club members for community service projects. A number of Rotarians from the other five Rotary clubs in the county, plus friends, family and community members showed up to volunteer throughout the month.

The goal was to contribute 500 hours of community service. Thanks to the collective effort, the final count was 626 hours.

Rotarian Bonnie Rybak exclaimed, "I never thought we would get to 500 hours of service in one month. But when we inched towards 400 in just two weeks, our enthusiasm built and we easily rolled past our goal."

Projects chosen were among the seven areas of focus that guide all Rotary clubs around the world: promoting peace; fighting disease; providing clean water, sanitation and hygiene; saving mothers and children; supporting education and literacy; growing local economies; and protecting the environment.

Water and environment were very important in Motivational May.

Twenty-three people, including scouts and leaders from Troop 457, which the Rotary Club of Inverness sponsors, fanned out around Whispering Pines Park for a trash pickup around facilities and on trails.

Downtown Inverness water cleanup, May 22

This was a three-part project. The City of Inverness had invited the ROCCS youth rowing club members to do a waterfront cleanup at the lakeside parks.

While they went to the lakes, Rotarians stayed downtown, some doing trash pickup and others working with city representatives to affix medallions to storm drains. The medallions warn people: "No Dumping. Drains to Lake."

Good Times

Attend the Market at the Depot

The Market at the Depot will be from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, June 19, 286 N. Apopka Ave. in Inverness. They will have more produce, fresh beef from Riversend Cattle Co. in Floral City, fresh seafood, desserts, bread, jams and jellies, local honey and arts and crafts.

Musician Tayler Speckner will play guitar from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Stock up on summer reading

The Friends of the Dunnellon Public Library will host a book sale from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, June 19, 20351 Robinson Road. The sale will be a buy one, get one free of the same or lesser value.

Shelter to host book signing

Citrus County Animal Services will host a book signing for local author and veterinarian, Dr. K.C. Nayfield, at 10 a.m. Saturday, June 19, 4030 S. Airport Road in Inverness.

Nayfield will have copies of his new book, "Some of my Best Patients Were Animals: Memoirs of a Florida Veterinarian," available for purchase at the event. Books will cost $20 each and all proceeds will be donated to fund the construction of a new animal shelter.

Nayfield's book tells the story of his career in veterinary medicine. With more than 40 years of practice, he treated a wide variety of animals, including wildlife, which resulted in some interesting tales. Although his practice was in Florida, he made several good will medical and surgical trips to the Bahamas and Cuba.

Adoptions will also be available during normal Saturday business hours, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. For information, call 352-746-8400.

Attend a virtual Scotch tasting

The Rotary Club of Inverness will host a virtual connoisseur level Scotch tasting at 7 p.m. June 19 via Zoom.

Participants will learn the nuances of Scotch whisky that has been aged in sherry cask. Sherry casks have been used to age Scotch whisky for more than 200 years.

The cost of admission is $79. The samples will be personally delivered to those who live within Citrus County. Samples can be delivered to those who live outside of the county with an extra postage cost of $14 per package.

To purchase a ticket, visit tinyurl.com/2cbw5rt8.

Attend the next Movie Matinee

Friends of Citrus and the Nature Coast's will host their next Monthly Movie Matinee, "My Big Fat Greek Wedding," at 2 p.m. June 24 at the Wings Grief Center, 8471 W. Periwinkle Lane in Homosassa.

Children are a recurring theme in Rotary Club of Inverness community service.

Special to the Chronicle

Attendees personalize reusable bags at the first stop in a multi-station round-robin for the One Bag at a Time environmental education activities at the Inverness Boys & Girls Club. Rotarians and club staff supervised and guided the children through all the activities.

Cleanup and sprucing-up at the Inverness Boys & Girls Club, May 15

The grounds of the Inverness Boys & Girls Club had become ragged-looking. Rotarians, who were also volunteer tutors there before the pandemic suspended normal activities, spent a Saturday morning in cleaning and beautification. It included installing new plants and mulch donated by Lowe's in Inverness.

"One Bag at a Time" environmental education activities, May 18, 19, 20

The Inverness Boys & Girls Club also hosted "One Bag at a Time" environmental education activities on three afternoons in May. Learning is easy when you're having fun — just ask the many attendees or the Rotarians from three different clubs who helped run the multiple activity stations.

Proper nutrition helps prevent disease.

Assisting Blessings, May 5 and 27

During Motivational May, Inverness Rotary engaged with the Blessings organization on two projects. First, on May 5, Rotarians helped restock the Blessings food pantry at First Baptist Church in Inverness. On May 27, members helped Blessings with end-of-school-year tasks, collecting food and bins from various pantry locations around the county.

■■■

Promoting peace fit nicely with hygiene efforts.

Collecting hygiene products, May 2, 8 and 15

The Rotary of Inverness worked with the Publix and Winn-Dixie stores on Main Street in Inverness on a hygiene products drive on May 2, 8 and 15. Volunteers staffed tables outside the stores to encourage community members to donate hygiene products to be made available for Citrus County students and their families over the summer.

The two stores also each donated a $250 gift card to buy more hygiene products. In addition, bins were available in the stores on days that volunteers were not staffing tables.

The project did double-duty, as volunteers also promoted peace-building and conflict prevention by sharing Rotary's Four-Way Test, a worldwide code of ethics. Adopted by Rotary in 1943, It asks these four questions:

Of the things we think, say or do:

1. Is it the TRUTH?
2. Is it FAIR to all concerned?
3. Will it build GOODWILL and BETTER FRIENDSHIPS?
4. Will it be BENEFICIAL to all concerned?

Community economic development begins with people.

Inverness Community Garden project, May 29

Rotarians worked with the Key Center team of staff and clients to tidy up the Inverness Community Garden. The City of Inverness recently partnered with the Key Center to operate the garden, which needed weeding and tidying as we head into the summer growing season.

Special to the Chronicle

Rotarian Tom Slaymaker directed runners at a turning point on the Triathlon course on May 7 and 8 at the Kids Triathlon.

Food distribution with the New Church Without Walls

Rotary Club of Inverness members, along with friends and family, turn out routinely to help the New Church Without Walls with its "Feed Citrus" drive-through food distributions for needy families. Volunteers heft boxes, distribute food packages, direct traffic and just generally help out where needed.

This is an ongoing project for Rotary Club of Inverness members.

GOOD

The feature will also be shown at 10 a.m. July 7 at Grand Living at Citrus Hills, 850 W. Norvell Bryant Highway in Hernando.

The film stars Nia Vardalos, John Corbett and Michael Constantine. A discussion will follow the movie. Monthly Movie Matinees are open to the public and observe CDC guidelines.

Space may be limited. To reserve a seat in advance, call 352-249-1470. To learn about other programs, visit friendsofcitrus.org or Friends of Citrus on Facebook.

Attend the next Movie in the Park

Citrus County Parks and Recreation will have their next free Movie in the Park at 9 p.m. Friday, June 25, at the Holden Community Park, 4229 S. Rainbow Drive in Inverness.

The movie shown will be "Onward." Teenage elf brothers Ian and Barley embark on a magical quest to spend one more day with their late father.

Attendees should bring chairs and blankets. You may bring your own snacks and beverages. Food will also be available for purchase by Jeanetta's Frosty Freeze.

For information, call 352-527-7540.

Inverness to host Smithsonian traveling exhibit

The Old Courthouse Heritage Museum has been chosen to host the traveling exhibit, "Water/Ways," in cooperation with the Florida Humanities from June 26 to Aug. 21 at 1 Courthouse Square in Inverness.

This exhibit is part of the Smithsonian's Museum on Main Street program, an initiative to bring exhibitions and programs to rural cultural organizations.

The exhibit explores the water cycle, water's effect on landscape, settlement and migration, and its impact on culture and spirituality. It looks at how political and economic planning have been affected by access and control of water resources.

"Water is an important part of everyone's life and we are excited to explore what it means culturally, socially and spiritually in our own community," said Kathy Turner Thompson, historical resources manager.

"Water/Ways" is part of the Smithsonian's "Think Water" initiative to raise awareness of water as a critical resource.

For additional information, visit museumonmainstreet.org.

Crystal River sets First Friday event

The City of Crystal River will have their First Friday event from 4 to 8 p.m. July 2 at the Town Square, 559 N. Citrus Ave.

The event will feature live music by Rob Nichols from 5 to 8 p.m. and local craft and produce vendors. Downtown retail shops will stay open in the evening.

Join Independence Day ride

The American Legion Riders Chapter 237 will conduct a ride to Bushnell National Cemetery in honor of Independence Day. Riders will meet at 9:30 a.m. Friday, July 2, at the post, 6726 N. Lecanto Highway in Beverly Hills. Kickstands up at 10 a.m.

At the cemetery, riders will place 5,000 U.S. flags on the graves of the fallen to honor them and their families. All vehicles are welcome to participate. This will be a police escorted event.

For information, call John Roby, director, at 352-536-7480.

Attend the 'Heartland of America' concert

The Nature Coast Community Band will have their "Heartland of America" concert from 3 to 4:30 p.m. July 3 and 4 at the Citrus Springs Community Center, 1570 W. Citrus Springs Blvd.

The band will play a wide variety of patriotic tunes, including band favorites like "God Bless America" and "The Stars and Stripes Forever."

The concerts are free, but donations at the door are appreciated.

Sign up for Camp Sport 'N Splash

Citrus County Parks and Recreation presents Camp Sport 'N Splash, a five-day camp that includes kickball, soccer, flag football, basketball, tennis, board games, arts and crafts and a field trip to Bicentennial Park Pool. The camp is for kids ages 11 to 14 and will be hosted at the Central Ridge community Center in Beverly Hills. The camp will take place during the following weeks from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.:

- July 12 to 16 (register by July 8).
- July 26 to 30 (register by July 22).

An 8 a.m. drop off and 5 p.m. pick up is available. The cost is $50 per child per week. To sign up, visit tinyurl.com/52mr8whd or call the Citrus County Parks and Recreation administrative office at 352-527-7540.

Join the Floral City Crafters

The Floral City Crafters meet from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Tuesdays at the Floral City Baptist Church, 8545 Magnolia St.The crafters are a group of knitters, crocheters, quilters, jewelry makers and more who share their love of crafts and spend time together. There is a $2 fee for each weekly meeting. For information, call 352-637-5423 or 352-726-5658.

Annie offers advice

Dear Annie: I have been married for 20 years. When my wife and I first married, I was the sole breadwinner. I had a very good job and made a pretty comfortable living. My wife stayed home and raised our children. In 2008, technological advances rendered my line of work obsolete. I had to start over, reinventing myself in another industry. We struggled financially for years; it was difficult and put a strain on our marriage. Today, I have a full-time gig and make decent money, as well as a side business that does OK. My wife has a full-time job and side gig as well, and she makes nearly double what I make.

DEAR ANNIE

My problem is this. All the years when I was the sole breadwinner, my salary was "our money." Now that she makes the lion's share, her salary is "her money." She expects me to pay my expenses with my own salary. For instance, I recently had an expensive car repair done. She spotted me the cash, but she wants me to pay her back. Never mind the fact that for a long time my car was our only car, and she put half the miles and wear and tear on it herself.

I just feel like I was taken advantage of — like she has forgotten the sacrifices I made all those years ago. It really makes me resentful. I've mentioned this to her before, and she got better about it for a bit, but now her attitude has reverted back to how it was before I'd mentioned something.

Annie, I am not freeloading. I pay my share. Just sometimes, when a major unexpected expense comes, I need a little help. I don't feel, after all I've done and all we've been through together, that I should have to feel uncomfortable asking for money. What should I do? — Husband to a Forgetful Wife

Dear HTAFW: Attitude adjustments require periodic tune-ups. Gently remind her of your previous conversation and let her know you've noticed the issue cropping up again. She was receptive to your feedback last time; she probably will be this time, too. That is one of the most valuable assets a couple can share: a willingness to hear each other out and try to change accordingly.

And to head off the responses I'll get from people who think a married couple should always pool all their funds together: Yes, it can be difficult to merge lives without merging finances, but it is possible, and more and more couples are choosing to do so. Some have found a good balance with a "yours, mine, ours" approach — sharing one bank account for household expenses and utilities and things like car maintenance, while each maintaining a separate bank account for discretionary spending. You and your wife might consider trying that for greater harmony.

Dear Annie: After reading the letter about office workers who wanted to approach a coworker with body odor, I wanted to let people know something that has worked for me after I struggled with embarrassing B.O. for decades. I shower daily, wash with Lever soap, shave my underarms every day, and apply witch hazel to my armpits once they're dry. I also rotate through four different deodorants (three of which are meant for men, even though I'm a woman). It took several years of doing this every day before I no longer had a problem. — Stuck With It

Dear Stuck With It: Witch hazel, which can reduce the skin's pH and make it difficult for bacteria to thrive, is a smart idea here, and it can be kept in a spray bottle for easy misting, no cotton balls or pads needed.

PHILLIP ALDER

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Gregory Maguire, a novelist, said, "I'm not a writer because I want to make money. I'm a writer because I'm a very slow thinker; but I do care about thinking, and the only way I know how to think with any kind of finesse is by telling stories."

Bridge players need to think, whether facing a finesse or a different play technique. But sometimes someone will follow suit first and study second, which is always fatal in newspaper columns and teaching deals.

Today, for example, how should South continue in four hearts after ruffing West's second high diamond at trick two?

South might have rebid two spades, allowing for North's holding, say, five spades and three hearts.

But he decided to hope that they did not have a superior spade fit, preferring to keep his hand in the dark from the defenders.

Declarer continued with a heart to the jack and a heart to his ace, getting the bad news.

Now, if South drew trumps, he would have none left. The defenders would get in with the spade ace and run diamonds. So South turned to spades.

However, East held up his ace until the second round, then gave his partner a spade ruff. Eventually, the defenders scored a club trick to defeat the contract.

The dummy was disappointed. He said, "Partner, you don't lose trump control if you discard your inevitable club loser on the diamond king.

Then, if West perseveres with a third diamond, you can ruff it on the board."

"Yes, partner. I'm sorry. I played too quickly, thoughtlessly."

SCAM ALERT******

How to Avoid a Fake Check Scam

- INSIST ON CASH
- Don't accept a check for more than the selling price. You can bet it's a scam.
- Inform the Buyer that you'll wait two weeks before sending any merchandise.
- Never use money from a check to send gift cards, money orders, or wire money to strangers or someone you just met. Many scammers demand that you send money through money transfer services like Western Union or MoneyGram, or buy gift cards and send them the PIN numbers. Once you wire money, or give someone the gift card PINs, it is like giving someone cash. It's almost impossible to get it back.
- Toss offers that ask you to pay for a prize. If it's free, you shouldn't have to pay to get it.
