Testing restriction raises concerns

Health department limits COVID-19 testing for preteens

BUSTER THOMPSON Staff writer

With schools about to reopen to students amid a pandemic, Citrus Springs Middle School teacher Randy Hobson became worried when he heard state health officials stopped testing preteens for COVID-19.

"Here we are trying to get schools back up and going, and testing for kids is being restricted," said Hobson, who's taught 34 years with the Citrus County School District. "It just doesn't make a whole lot of sense ... it's just unfortunate." On July 14, the Florida Department of Health in Citrus

County (DOH) began limiting COVID-19 testing for people 12 and younger. Appointments are also no longer needed to be tested — with or without symptoms — for free at the DOH's drive-thru site at 1570 W. Citrus Springs Blvd. in Citrus Springs. See TESTING/Page A6

Virtual bike race challenge leads to mapping Florida's coast-to-coast trail

ABBY EPSTEIN Chronicle Intern

What started off as a virtual race challenge between several cyclists, turned into discovering and mapping bike trails for locals to explore.

Max Schulman, Tom Craig, and a few others, decided to bike the Coast to Coast trail from Crystal River to Merritt Island.

Six days and 350 miles later, the challenge was complete.

The trip took six days because they went back home after every day of cycling due to COVID-19 and to save money.

"Over this month, I pedaled 350 miles," Schulman said. "Over 220 of it was on the State Coast to Coast Trail. The rest was about finding the best Nature Coast and Citrus County Centric way from the Gulf of Mexico to the Atlantic Ocean."

The Florida Coast to Coast Trail is a continuous paved multi-use trail that will extend from the Gulf of Mexico to the Atlantic Ocean. The trail will span approximately 250 miles and is the first state trail of its kind in the United States.

"They want to put Citrus County on the map by ecotourism, part of ecotourism is trying to make people proud," Schulman said. "This is done through highlighting the culture and history and capitalizing on what Citrus County has to offer."

One part of history is the Cross Florida Barge Canal, which began in the 1930s with most of the work being done in the 1960s before being abandoned in the 1970s. Schulman intentionally started his biking trip from there.

"It's an amazing thing," Schulman said. "There is a 7-mile trail that ends right at a very beautiful spot and you are in Citrus County looking across the canal where the river is in Levy County right on the Gulf," Schulman said.

The trail they decided to do next was the Fort Island Trail which they believe will be the main route, but both of the trails feed into a 47-mile long trail.

"It is one of the most beautiful trails in the country," Schulman said.

The first goal Schulman and Craig have is to let the locals know of all these bike trails in Citrus County and then expand and let people in the state know.

One trail both would recommend for anyone who is looking for a nice trail to ride is the Withlacoochee Trail.

"The Withlacoochee trail is great, the trail has a lot of cover and even part of it is like you are in a little tunnel," Craig said.

Study: Florida social interactions returned to 'near-normal' in June

JOHN HAUGHEY The Center Square

A University of West Florida study confirms what anecdotal observations suggest about the genesis of the state's sustained COVID-19 surge: a significant number of people in June apparently believed the pandemic was over.

An analysis of cellphone movement data indicated Floridians increasingly moved about more in June with the rate of social interactions returning to near normal, according to the study.

"Our results show Floridians decreased social contacts before the lockdown, which supports the commonsense school," UWF computer science professor Ashok Srinivasan, who led the study, told The Associated Press. "On the other hand, they did not maintain it long enough to avoid epidemic spread. Government mandates did not appear to help, either." Preliminary results of the study were released Wednesday. It has not been peer-reviewed and published in its entirety and is built from data collected from the tracked cellphone location of about 5 percent of adults nationwide who have agreed to have that information recorded.

The study documented Floridians had scaled back social interactions by two-thirds between early March, when the state's first coronavirus cases were reported, and March 21, the day after Gov. Ron DeSantis ordered bars closed and prohibited indoor dining at restaurants.

According to the study, interactions remained well below pre-pandemic levels into May, with schools and universities closed and many businesses shuttered and then slowly reopened. See SOCIAL/Page A9

Commissioners to look at EOC oversight

MIKE WRIGHT Staff writer

Citrus County commissioners meet Tuesday when they are expected to vote on the new emergency operations center director and then decide that agency's direction.

Sheriff's Capt. David DeCarlo announced his retirement as EOC director effective Aug 7. The sheriff's office is recommending his deputy director, Chris Evan, be named interim director.

State law requires county commissioners to confirm the appointment, which is why it's on the July 28 agenda.

The agenda item also asks commissioners to "discuss future plans" of the EOC. The sheriff has a five-year contract with the county to operate the EOC; the contract expires next year. Commissioner Jeff Kinnard said he thinks the county should oversee emergency operations.

"You've got one elected politician that controls it," he said. "I don't think they're doing a bad job. I would say very good things about DeCarlo. It should not be a politicized department. Everybody should be on equal ground there and feel comfortable."

Tuesday's county commission meeting begins at 1 p.m. at the Courthouse, 110 N. Apopka Ave., Inverness. The agenda includes:

- 2 p.m. public hearing on a Citrus Springs water line extension assessment area.
2:10 p.m. public hearing on the limerock road paving assessment area.
2:15 p.m. public hearing on the solid waste assessment program. The $25 annual residential fee is not changing.
5 p.m. public hearing on the "health in all policies" ordinance.

Local volunteer center seeks donations

CHRISTINE MARINO
Staff writer

When faced with uncertainty, most individuals place priority on the safety and well-being of their loved ones. This is not uncommon, especially during an unprecedented time such as what Citrus County residents have experienced in the past several months.

Although so many people worry about those closest to them, there are still some left that do not have access to essential items for themselves or their family members, even outside of a time like this.

The volunteers and staff of the Nature Coast Volunteer Center (NCVC) are making sure that children in Citrus County have access to items considered to be essential by most — socks and shoes.

The NCVC is hosting “Two Good Soles,” a socks and shoes drive for local students.

Traditionally, this drive is held in honor of those who were lost during the 9/11 attacks. Although always important to the NCVC to raise awareness for this annual event, this could be considered by many as the most important year for donations yet, as so many Citrus County families are struggling during this time and are finding essential items far less accessible than they normally would be.

“We do this for our Citrus County children,” said Laurie Diestler, NCVC supervisor. “All of the socks and shoes collected stay right here, locally, in Citrus County.”

Diestler and the rest of the staff at the NCVC place a high priority on the youth of the community and work tirelessly alongside volunteers to ensure that any school-aged children that find themselves in need of socks and shoes have access to them.

“This is mainly a volunteer-based project, organized through the Retired and Senior Volunteer Program,” Diestler explained. “Each year, we put out collection boxes all around the community to collect the donations. It’s a big production and it’s the seniors who do all the work. They’re the ones who put out all those boxes and then collect all the donations of socks and shoes.”

The volunteer center encourages all to consider donating sneakers and socks, as most students are required to participate in physical education during the school day.

“If a child is worried about their shoes, you don’t want them to be uncomfortable and not participate in activities and be embarrassed by that,” Diestler said. “We can change that worry for a child. We can take that one worry off their mind.”

Many Citrus County residents are unaware of this issue that faces some elementary through high school students, but it is, nonetheless, a very real issue. The NCVC has seen thousands of both socks and shoes donated over the years and not a pair goes to waste.

Students in need are discreetly gifted the socks and shoes by guidance counselors, teachers or other school staff. Parents are notified and it is kept confidential between the staff member and student.

Diestler knows that the work her group does within the community makes a difference and does not go unnoticed.

“We’ve heard so many heartwarming stories over the years of the reactions from the students,” she said. “This work is so important. We have to do right by our children.”

Donations of all sizes of new socks and shoes are now being accepted through Friday, Sept. 11. Look for a drop-off box at the following locations:

- Bealls Outlet, Crystal River
- Central Citrus Community Center, Lecanto
- Citrus County Libraries, all locations
- Citrus County Resource

Center, Lecanto

■ Citrus County Tax Collectors Office, Crystal River and Inverness

■ East Citrus Community Center, Inverness

■ Hernando Area Senior Program, Hernando

■ Lecanto Government Building, Lecanto

■ West Citrus Community Center, Homosassa

■ YMCA, Lecanto

Those unable to acquire and donate new socks and shoes but still wishing to contribute to this cause may send checks made payable to “Friends of NCVC” to 2804 W. Marc Knighton Court, Key 4, Lecanto, FL, 34461. The memo should indicate the donation is for socks and shoes.

Key telethon raises close to $260K

The 44th annual Run for the Money and Key Center telethon, which wrapped up Saturday, helped raise $259,367.18 this year to help cover costs for unfunded Key Training Center clients.

In response to the rapidly-changing COVID-19 situation, the decision was made to be on the right side of the pandemic, and transition the Run for the Money events into virtual events this year.

Starting Monday, July 20, 2020, the Key’s core runners and cyclists pounded the pavement throughout Citrus County to log those 180 miles.

The Run is designed to generate up to $300,000 to provide scholarships to unfunded clients, explained Melissa Walker, executive director for the Key Training Center.

While not the celebration they have been accustomed to, those runners and cyclists completed their journey Saturday, logging 11 miles, making it from Chicken King on County Road 486 to the Key’s Lecanto campus on State Road 44 in Lecanto.

Trump administration eyes nursing home visit

Plans to test staff

The News Service of Florida

The Trump administration has announced plans to require certain nursing homes to test staff “and visitors” for COVID-19 once a week and opened the door to again allowing visitation at the homes.

Federal Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services Administrator Seema Verma said Wednesday night that the administration wants to require nursing homes in states with a minimum 5% COVID-19 positivity rate to test nursing home staff and visitors once a week.

“In terms of visitors, you’ll see this coming up, what we’re going to say is, ‘We want to make sure there is no COVID inside a nursing home,’” Verma said in a phone call with the news media. “And once we see that for two weeks, our recommendation will be to permit visitation and to require testing.”

To accomplish that goal, the Trump administration will send rapid point-of-care diagnostic devices and associated tests to nursing homes.

The weekly testing mandate will require rules before it can be implemented.

Verma refused to comment on the timeline for the rule other than to say that “it’s forthcoming.”

The administration also announced an additional $5 billion in “provider relief funds” to nursing homes that participate in Medicare and Medicaid.

Florida Health Care Association Executive Director Emmett Reed lauded the additional funding, saying in a prepared statement that the “support will go a long way in meeting the needs of our members, who we know will be in this battle for months to come.”

Verma also said the federal government sent strike teams to 18 nursing homes in six states — including Florida — between Saturday and Monday. The teams worked with the 18 nursing homes, offering testing and infection-control guidelines. The two-day deployment was a first, she said, adding that the administration will continue to send the teams to nursing homes with serious infection-control deficiencies and increases in COVID-19 cases.

In addition to Florida, strike teams visited nursing homes in Illinois, Texas, Louisiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania. “Testing and sound infection-control practices are more critical than ever,” Verma said.

Workers praise Disney virus safety, but will visitors come?

ORLANDO — Every week, it seems, Kaila Barker, her husband and their five children change their minds about whether to travel from their home in Connecticut to Florida's Walt Disney World as planned in September.

On the one hand, the lack of crowds means more opportunities to go on rides without long waits. On the other hand, Connecticut and Florida have implemented pandemic-related quarantines for each other's residents and visitors, and the Barkers worry whether the Disney "magic" will get lost with mandatory mask-wearing for visitors and workers, temperature checks and no parades, fireworks shows or up-close "meet-and-greets" with costumed characters.

"We keep going back and forth. It's such a hard decision to make," Barker said last Tuesday.

Two weeks after Disney World started opening its theme parks for the first time since closing in March because of COVID-19, the Barkers' quandary affects not only Disney World's future but that of central Florida's tourism-reliant economy.

In the week that Disney World's Magic Kingdom and Animal Kingdom started welcoming back visitors, occupancy of hotel rooms in the Orlando area was down more than 60% from the previous year, a much deeper drop than the state as a whole, which declined more than 41%, according to STR, which tracks hotel data.

Less than half of Disney World's 43,000 unionized workers have been recalled to their old jobs, contributing to two

Associated Press

Guests wear masks as required to attend the official reopening day of the Magic Kingdom at Walt Disney World in Lake Buena Vista. Two weeks after reopening, workers at Disney World are praising the company for the safety protocols that have been implemented to protect against the new coronavirus.

Orlando-area counties having the state's highest unemployment rates last month — Osceola at 22.9% and Orange at 17.2%. Disney World has an overall workforce of 77,000 employees, the nation's largest single-site labor force.

Many of those still-furloughed workers are about to lose federal benefits at the end of the month.

"This is an extremely difficult moment," said Paul Cox, president of the local union that represents stagehands and show technicians at Disney World. "There are still a majority of workers who are staying at home and they're about to lose support. Things are going to get bad."

Union officials estimate the Disney parks are no more than a third full, but that may be more by design to maintain social distancing.

Leaders of the Disney World workers' unions describe the virus-related safety measures Disney has taken as "exemplary."

After workers complained about patrons walking around with their masks pulled down while eating food like turkey legs, Disney World updated its mandatory mask policy, requiring visitors to eat in one place while maintaining social distancing.

In response to other worker concerns, Disney has distributed personal hand sanitizer containers for workers to wear on their belts, added additional break rooms to limit the number of workers in them and reduced the number of riders on buses that shuttle workers from parking lots to the parks. Performers dressed as Disney princesses being driven in a horse-powered carriage through the parks now sit individually in rows separated by clear-plastic window partitions.

"Singing their praises seems so strange," said Julee Jerkovich, an official with a United Food & Commercial Workers union, which represents Disney merchandise and banquet workers. "As far as this grand experiment, I would have to say Disney has done a really good job."

TV reporter credits viewer with noticing cancerous lump

TAMPA — A television news reporter in Florida is crediting an eagle-eyed viewer for noticing a lump on her neck and emailing her that she should get it checked out. Victoria Price, a reporter for WFLA in Tampa, followed the advice and was diagnosed with cancer.

Price tweeted that she is undergoing surgery on Monday to remove the tumor, her thyroid and a couple of lymph nodes.

"Doctor said it's spreading, but not too much, and we're hopeful this will be my first and last procedure," she said.

The viewer emailed Price last month, saying the lump reminded her of one she had had. Price, 28, an investigative reporter, said this week that her television station's catchphrase is "8 On Your Side."

"But the roles recently reversed when I found a viewer on MY side, and I couldn't be more grateful," Price said. "I will be forever grateful for the woman who went out of her way to email me, a total stranger. She had zero obligation to, but she did anyway. Talk about being on your side, huh?"

ORLANDO — Florida's insurer of last resort says it won't cancel any policies for the rest of the year because of the challenges facing policyholders in the middle of a pandemic.

Citizens Property Insurance Corporation said it was extending a moratorium on policy cancellations until the end of the year.

The moratorium had been set to expire in mid-August. It

TRAILS

When this endeavor started, Schulman had goals he wanted to complete along the way. One of them was to determine the status of each coast-to-coast leg and the viability of each segment within the Florida Greenways and Trails System.

They wanted to validate the trails so when they advocate to locals about the trails they have the correct information. There were some places that were listed as trails but when they got to that point there was no trail to ride on.

“He (Schulman) calls me up and says there’s no trail, everywhere in all the books says there is a trail. They are actually building it. There are bulldozers out there but they just haven’t completed a certain section in the middle,” Tom Craig said.

Ultimately, Schulman and Craig hope to attract tourists to stay in Citrus County longer, instead of coming here for a weekend then leaving. They believe these bike trails can be a tourism draw because anyone can ride them as long as the person has access to a bike.

“Compared to most tourism, or even most sports, it’s dirt cheap to free,” Schulman said.

TESTING

Registration starts at 7:30 a.m. and testing begins at 8 a.m. but will be limited to the first 150 people daily or until 10 a.m. Photo ID is required.

Audrey Stasko, a spokeswoman for the DOH, said the recent addition of the age restriction came after health department testers began using oral swabs instead of nasal swabs.

“We use whatever the state provides us ... it’s all on the supplies that we get,” Stasko said, adding the DOH will reassess its testing requirements if its testers go back to nasal swabs.

Stasko said the oral swabs, which go “pretty far down your throat,” are uncomfortable for most adults.

Testing under-12s via their throat is even more challenging if they’re unwilling to cooperate, which could lead to an inconclusive result.

“Our staff feel uncomfortable swabbing a young child, but it doesn’t mean we won’t do it,” Stasko said. “It is tough for people to open their mouths and be relaxed.”

“I can just imagine the problems they’re having with kids,” Hobson said.

Stasko said parents who believe their child is showing signs of COVID-19 should self-isolate their young one and make an appointment with the child’s primary-care doctor.

“It’s not an easy test, it’s not an easy procedure,” she said, “and we prefer the pediatrician, who they know and trust, to talk them through that.”

If a child’s symptoms are more severe, parents should seek medical treatment for them instead of a test, which takes between seven and 10 days to get a result.

“Don’t delay getting emergency care,” Stasko said.

If a child’s symptoms warrant a test, their pediatrician might do it themselves if they have the supplies, Stasko said, or they’ll coordinate the child’s testing with either the DOH or a private facility.

If the DOH contacts a family to inform them a child in its household may have been exposed to a positive COVID-19 case, health department staff will place the child on a monitoring list.

Each day, DOH staff will either text or call the child’s caregivers to get a status of their symptoms, and the child may be asked to get tested or treated if their condition worsens, Stasko said.

Citrus County School Board member Doug Dodd discussed the age restriction for testing with DOH Administrator Ernesto “Tito” Rubio when Rubio brought it up during a July 14 board meeting.

“If they have been exposed and they’re from age 2 to 12, then the health department can’t test them?” Dodd asked Rubio.

“If they’re symptomatic, we would test them,” Rubio responded.

“What if they’re not symptomatic?” Dodd said.

“Then we’d tell the parent to monitor them,” Rubio replied, “because the reality is testing them is not going to change anything you do for that child; positive or negative, you’re still going to have to self-isolate for 14 days.”

Dodd told the Chronicle July 24 he wants parents to know what options are in place for their children when it comes to testing during the school year.

He also wants parents to make sure they’re diligent and cautious if they’re child shows any symptom, regardless if it’s COVID-19.

“The school district has to create a culture that encourages parents to keep children at home if their child is feeling ill,” Dodd said. “They might overlook a sore throat or a low-grade fever, but that is what we can’t do today; we can’t take that risk.”

Dodd said the school district will do what it can to make sure sick students get the lessons they need to study while they’re out of school.

School board members will discuss their district’s reopening plan for the 2020-21 school year during a July 28 meeting.

Stasko said with more people in Citrus County knowing others who’ve contracted the virus, the best thing they can do for protection is stay home, monitor symptoms and practice good hygiene as best they can.

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), if somebody — from a child to a senior — believes they have COVID-19 but can’t get tested, they should self-isolate until after:

- At least 10 days since symptoms first appeared; no fever for at least 24 hours without the use of fever-reducing medication; and their overall symptoms improved.

- If healthcare providers suggests somebody be tested to see if they still have the virus, according to the CDC, they should still self-isolate until after: their fever dies, their respiratory symptoms improved and they’ve received two negative tests in a row, at least 24 hours apart.

For more information about local DOH testing information, visit citrus.floridahealth.gov/alerts.html or call 352-527-0068 between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. on weekdays.

Hair Loss Reversed? Clinical Trial Reawakens Hair Follicles in Both Men and Women

New clinical trial from the University of California shows 74% more hair in 12 weeks

By Jason Kennedy
Health Correspondent

PALM BEACH, FLORIDA — Thousands are rushing to get a new hair restoration method based on surprising new studies from the University of California.

It is the world’s first and only hair loss solution that revives dead hair follicles. And studies confirm it helps men and women regrow a thick, full head of hair, even after years of balding.

Now, with news of this breakthrough spreading like wildfire — the manufacturers are struggling to keep up with overwhelming demand.

That’s because, unlike other methods, it is prescription-free, drug-free, and has no side effects. And while hair transplants can cost $4,000 or more, this new approach costs pennies on the dollar and doesn’t involve going to the doctor’s office.

Instead, it leverages cutting-edge technology to prevent hair loss, fill-in embarrassing bald spots, and nourish thinning hair — with results you can see and feel in 30 days or less.

As Jeanne F. from San Diego, CA reports: “When my husband began to use this product, all he had on top of his head was fuzz. His hair began to grow after 30 days and now it is about 2 to 3 inches long!”

Surprising Truth About Hair Loss

It is commonly believed that hair loss is hereditary.

Unfortunately, most people think there is nothing they can do to stop it. However, while many doctors will tell you that thinning hair, a receding hairline, and bald spots are due to your genetics, this is not the whole story.

“While genetics play a role, it’s not the main reason you lose hair,” says Dr. Al Sears, the nation’s top anti-aging doctor. “And surprisingly it’s not just your age, thyroid, hormones, stress, or a vitamin deficiency, either.”

The latest scientific research reveals that hair loss is primarily caused by the stem cells in your hair follicles dying.

“This discovery is a true breakthrough because by reviving these stem cells on your scalp, you can stop hair loss dead in its tracks and trigger new hair growth, even in areas that have been thinning for years,” explains Dr. Sears.

Now, at his world-famous clinic, the Sears Institute for Anti-Aging Medicine in Palm Beach, Florida, Dr. Sears and his team have used this game-changing discovery to develop a brand-new hair restoration formula that is taking the country by storm.

Sold under the name Re-Nourish, it is flying off the shelves with men and women of all ages raving about the results it delivers.

“I have seen a significant improvement in hair growth. Previously, you could see thinning areas at the back of my head and now hair has grown over it,” says Peter W. from Ontario, Canada.

Breakthrough research proves this discovery helps fill-in bald spots, re-nourishes thinning hair, and leads to noticeable growth in as little as 30 days.

And Susan D. from Fort Pierce, Florida reports, “My hair was thinning. So, I began to use Re-Nourish every day on the front part of my scalp. Now I have thicker hair.”

Dr. Al Sears, M.D., is America’s leading anti-aging expert. He’s authored more than 500 scientific papers, and his discoveries have appeared on more than 50 media outlets including, ABC News, CNN, ESPN, Discovery Channel, National Geographic, Lifetime, and many more.

Regrows Hair In Just 30 Days

Scientists now know that stem cells are the lifeblood of your hair follicles.

Research from the University of California shows they’re the reason you’re able to grow hair. However, these stem cells aren’t always active. In fact, studies reveal they’re only active during certain phases of the hair growth cycle.

“Your hair grows in three phases,” explains Dr. Sears. “First, you have the anagen phase, the hair growing phase. Then the catagen phase, when hair gets ready to shed. And finally, the telogen phase, where your hair is pushed from the follicle and falls out.”

As you get older it becomes harder for your hair follicles to complete this three-phase cycle. The results? Your hairs get stuck in the telogen phase. This is when they start falling out and stop regrowing, no matter what you try.

This process doesn’t happen overnight, says Dr. Sears.

“At first, your hair dries out, becoming brittle, thin, and harder to style. Then, you start finding hairs on your pillow and down the drain. Finally, you’re left with bald spots that age you prematurely.”

Fortunately, Re-Nourish puts a stop to this. It revives the dead stem cells in your hair follicles and reactivates your hair’s three-phase cycle, triggering new growth in as little as 30 days — even in areas that’ve been balding for years.

Reawakens Dead Hair Follicles

For years, scientists couldn’t figure out why hair follicle stem cells died.

However, a study from the University of California finally found the answer.

It has to do with T-cells — an important immune cell in your body. The researchers discovered these T-cells are the only way to command hair follicles to grow new hair.

More importantly, they showed that T-cells helped revive the stem cells in your hair follicles — spurring new growth, filling in bald spots and natural hairline.

Re-Nourish uses a unique blend of all-natural ingredients. By spraying it on your hair once per day, scientific studies show you can revive dead stem cells and improve the appearance of thicker, fuller hair.

For example, the key nutrient of Re-Nourish was tested on a group of severely balding women.

After 6 months, nearly 70% of the women saw significant improvement in hair growth. Their hair was noticeably fuller, thicker, and healthier looking. Most exciting of all, they grew new hair on parts of their scalp that had been bald for years.

In another study, Italian researchers gathered a group of both men and women with thinning hair and applied the core ingredient of Re-Nourish. After 12 weeks, they reported a staggering 74% increase in hair growth.

“It’s really mind-boggling that my hair started growing back,” says Zan R., another Re-Nourish customer.

With results like this, it’s no surprise that demand for Re-Nourish is soaring. Thousands of men and women are scrambling to get their hands on the limited-supply available.

Re-Nourish is not currently available in any store at any price. But we’ve secured a small batch for our readers.

Try Re-Nourish 100% Risk-Free

On body cams, future of policing

The future of policing is changing across the country and it will change in Citrus County as well.

As law enforcement leaders across the country are meeting and discussing the challenges that lay ahead, so are a wide variety of citizens groups.

Change and adaptation to improve police/citizen encounters is the wave of the future. Change in policies, change in the law, and change in how we handle everyday incidents.

Leaders will explore the use of new information and crime analysis techniques to assist in reducing confrontations thus reducing risk while building trust within communities. Body Worn Cameras (BWC) will be one of the proven and effective tools available to law enforcement to protect both our citizens and officers.

In 2015, I was honored to lead and help implement a large Body-Worn Camera project and through its implementation, we found that the benefits of Body Worn Cameras far outweighed the costs.

Through the inclusion of community leaders and the public, we developed policies that addressed privacy concerns, the release of the footage, and preservation of evidence.

Human behavior studies show that people behave better when they are being recorded which leads to both officers and citizens respecting one another and physical confrontations are reduced.

Chief law enforcement officers focus on reducing harm and risk to all parties involved. The protection of officers against frivolous civil, administrative and criminal complaints is in everybody's best interest.

As a past industry expert for a well-respected law enforcement technology company, I learned many progressive and innovative city, county and state leaders across the country support the transparency that BWCs bring to their departments.

Maj. Mel Eakley (Ret.)

GUEST COLUMN

It has been many years since officers have been able to be taken at their word without supportive evidence or testimony.

Today, personal cameras are recording more and more of our movements as nearly every citizen possesses a cell phone camera. Leveling the playing field to protect officers must be a top priority and recording their perspective is a start.

Retaining and recruiting officers is less arduous when they know their leaders are doing what they can to protect and support them.

Officers who wear BWCs typically spend less time in court for hearings and trials, they are being injured less due to using force less and the time spent on investigating citizen complaints against officers is reduced.

Agencies may experience some if not all these positive outcomes and results may vary from agency to agency.

The bottom line is transparency and accountability are a public mandate and no longer will an agency be able to distance themselves from this public pressure.

Today's law enforcement leaders must have a vision and strong relationships in their communities long before a critical incident threatens to derail the trust and credibility that has been built.

Maj. Mel Eakley (Ret.) is a candidate for Citrus County Sheriff.

RETURNING TO SCHOOL

School officials wise to seek DOH guidance

The big question these days isn't about re-opening bars or restaurants, it's about schools. And the Citrus County School Board has looked to the county health officer for assistance as it tackles how to comply with a state order to open schools this fall for at least five days a week, offering "the full panoply of services."

Tito Rubio, administrator of the Florida Department of Health in Citrus County, was on hand at the School Board's regular July 14 meeting to answer questions. It would have been a relief for School Board members, we're sure, to hear that Rubio would take responsibility for the decisions — but that's not how it works. As Rubio said, the health department is "here to advise and assist you and help you make the decisions you have to make." It's the elected officials who have the authority to close down schools or issue other directives.

School system officials must continue to work closely with the health department for preparing to safely welcome students and teachers back into brick-and-mortar schools, as well as for planning the response when a student or staff member falls ill with a contagious disease.

Right now, COVID-19 is on everyone's mind, but the same process of consultation and response would accrue if there were, for example, a measles outbreak at school. The health department would swing into action, in concert with the school, for issuing notifications to parents while it tries to contain and contact-trace positive cases. Health department staff would recommend to those they called about COVID-19 to get tested and self-isolate for 14 days before they're either cleared by a negative test result or their symptoms diminish.

If schools follow CDC recommendations, Rubio said, he saw no reason why the schools could not open.

THE ISSUE:

OUR OPINION:

At a July 22 emergency meeting, the School Board did make some decisions about school opening, including instituting a mask policy and pushing the date 10 days later, to Aug. 20, to allow staff to get the schools and themselves ready. Health and government officials have advised that it's better to delay and be ready for all alternatives than to rush. As Gov. Ron DeSantis said recently, "(If a school district needs to delay the school year for a few weeks, so everything will be in good shape, have at it.")

CDC Guidelines for a Safe Return to School in Fall 2020

Schools are an important part of the infrastructure of communities and play a critical role in supporting the whole child, not just their academic achievement.

This guidance is intended to aid school administrators as they consider how to protect the health, safety, and wellbeing of students, teachers, other school staff, their families, and communities and prepare for educating students this fall.

This guidance is for K-12 school administrators who are preparing for students, teachers, and staff to return to school in fall 2020. School administrators are individuals who oversee the daily operations of K-12 schools, and may include school district superintendents, school principals, and assistant principals.

It is critical that all administrators:

■ Engage and encourage everyone in the school and the community to practice preventive behaviors. These are the most important actions that will support schools' safe reopening and will help them stay open.

■ Implement multiple SARS-CoV-2 mitigation strategies (e.g., social distancing, cloth face coverings, hand hygiene, and use of cohorting).

■ Communicate, educate, and reinforce appropriate hygiene and social distancing practices in ways that are developmentally appropriate for students, teachers, and staff.

■ Integrate SARS-CoV-2 mitigation strategies into co-curricular and extracurricular activities (e.g., limiting or cancelling participation in activities where social distancing is not feasible).

■ Maintain healthy environments (e.g., cleaning and disinfecting frequently touched surfaces).

■ Make decisions that take into account the level of community transmission.

■ Repurpose unused or underutilized school (or community) spaces to increase classroom space and facilitate social distancing, including outside spaces, where feasible;

■ Develop a proactive plan for when a student or staff member tests positive for COVID-19.

■ Develop a plan with state and local health department to conduct case tracing in the event of a positive case.

■ Educate parents and caregivers on the importance of monitoring for and responding to the symptoms of COVID-19 at home.

■ Develop ongoing channels of communication with state and local health departments to stay updated on COVID-19 transmission and response in your local area.

The guidance described in this document is based on the best available evidence at this time.

This guidance is meant to supplement — not replace — any state, local, territorial, or tribal health and safety laws, rules, and regulations with which schools must comply.

LETTERS to the Editor

GOP-led county a total failure

The same people elected with the same bad result over and over.

It's time to elect some Democrats. Republicans have had their chance. Worst unemployment, if not the worst in the top 10. No high paying jobs, which is why graduates go elsewhere.

The high priority isn't infrastructure and better roads, many of which are unpaved. It's bike paths and other wasteful spending. Citrus County has a large senior population, but the county spends money on kiddie parks, as if there isn't too many parks already.

The sheriffs race is four Republicans; same old choice, I'm voting for Lee Alexander, no party affiliation. The sheriff's office shouldn't be partisan at all. Thirty-seven percent of registered voters are Democrats.

The chamber of commerce leader doesn't seem to do his job independently, either. As a wealthy businessperson, there's no opportunity for growth the way things are, as you see businesses fail one after the other because of policies put in place by these same Republicans. They have to beg for school funding because of a Republican governor. This wouldn't happen with a Democrat running the state. Nor would we be in the mess we're in with the pandemic. Even though 75% of residents believe in masks, people like commissioners Jimmie T. Smith and Ron Kitchen asked for everything to open up. Great decision, this is the people you elected. Politically motivated and self-serving politicians who only care about themselves.

This virus is real

After testing positive for COVID-19 I have received no guidance on how to self treat. I was given a number to the health department with an extension that when pushed, terminated the call.

As my symptoms increased, I went to the Citrus emergency room. My symptoms are not manifesting in my chest (no SARs-2) at this point, but some hypoxia. One doctor said they would admit me then the next they would discharge.

What's even more disturbing is they retested me even though I told them I have already tested positive. They did not take precautions in the beginning. So, for all the people who still do not believe that this virus is real, I'm here to tell you it is, and the truth has been ignored enough. This county's death rate is twice as high as the national average. Please, if you get sick, go somewhere where they trust science.

Health care in jeopardy for millions

In the midst of a global pandemic with the presidential election just months away, the Justice Department and President Trump asked the Supreme Court on Thursday to invalidate the Affordable Care Act, the landmark health care law that enabled millions of Americans to get insurance coverage.

President Trump and the Republicans' campaign to rip away the protections and benefits of the Affordable Care Act in the middle of the coronavirus crisis is an act of unfathomable cruelty.

Can you imagine coming down with covid and not having insurance? This would also eliminate preexisting conditions for everyone else, as it's tied to the law. Also, people on Medicaid and especially nursing homes would have to pay thousands out of pocket for care.

Joe Biden, who is planning to make a new health care push on protecting the Affordable Care Act this week, was vice president when former President Barack Obama signed the bill into law in 2010. He is calling for strengthening it by making federal premium subsidies more generous and allowing more people to qualify for subsidies. He would also add a government-run public option and would lower the Medicare eligibility age to 60.

Reynard: I'll carry on strong, stable work environment

The property appraiser's office is often praised for being very well run.

That may be because between Les Cook and myself, we have 73 years of experience in appraisal and assessment administration. I have been working directly with Les for six years and will be in a unique position to carry on the corporate culture and management style he established. Working with the Les and senior staff has given me the knowledge and experience to continue this strong and stable working environment with integrity and fairness. That's why Les has endorsed me for property appraiser. I intend to build on the current stability while seeking to integrate my ideas and vision into the operation of the office. One thought I have is to do a series of videos on technical issues, such as exemptions, to help Realtors, estate planners and homeowners.

My mission is to maintain that experienced leadership that it takes to value all property in Citrus County fairly and equitably in line with fair market value, and to promote personal, economic, and religious liberty, away from political controls, contributor influence or business conflicts. We must also stay transparent, helpful and informative to the residents of Citrus County.

Our philosophy has been to hire competent people, making sure they have the tools they need to do the job, and then give them the freedom to perform, without micro managing. It doesn't take a hyper-management style to keep things running smoothly when you have the right people. In fact, it becomes counter-productive. We promote a pleasant office environment so that everyone enjoys coming to work and encourage our staff to improve their professional qualifications and administrative skills.

However, this is a very technical job, not a policy-making political job. It's not about what you would like to do, it's about what you know how to do. In my 34 years as a professional appraiser, the most enjoyable parts of the job are doing community outreach and training other appraisers, since I basically have a teacher's mentality. I can give other appraisers the wisdom and judgement that it takes decades of complex appraisal work to achieve.

This position requires experienced leadership in assessment administration to orchestrate the entire operation with the vision to see years into the future, to steer the ship to correct valuations and away from appraisal litigation that would result in needless tax increases. It takes a high-level appraisal background with the ability to defend complex appraisal issues and to arbitrate major valuation cases. But it's not just about winning in court, because it costs hundreds of thousands of dollars to go to court. I want to keep us out of court. When our opponents see we have developed a strong argument, they drop their case. Weakness at the helm would only invite costly litigation and distract from the basic operation.

That's why I want to stay on as the Citrus County Property Appraiser. To be the guardian of the people of Citrus County. To accomplish these goals, I ask for your vote in the coming elections.

Crippen's sincerity stands out

I endorse Patrick Crippen for sheriff for his many qualifications, but mostly for his sincerity. When Patrick speaks to you, he looks you straight in the eye and gives you his full attention. In other words, what you are saying is important to him and he is listening. I find that when other candidates are talking to you, their eyes look at you and then glance around the room to see to whom they should be talking to next.

Because of this sincerity, I believe him when he speaks of the improvements to enact in the sheriff's office. I know that he will listen personally, or appoint a fellow officer to listen and report back to him, to our individual concerns and problems.

Patrick's background is excellent for the sheriff's position, being formerly in law enforcement and management. Today's sheriff has to be both an officer of the law and a businessman. Patrick easily fits that profile.

I am proud to say that Patrick Crippen has my vote.

Michaela Burke

I changed parties to vote for Crippen

I was born into an Irish/Catholic family and had 12 great years in private Catholic schools. Naturally, being from both, they had Democrat as their affiliation. After I got married, I decided to vote nonpartisan, which I have done ever since.

However, this election I feel strongly that Patrick Crippen is my choice for sheriff of Citrus County. After having been a nonpartisan for about 40 years, I have changed my party affiliation to Republican to vote in the primary for Mr. Crippen.

I have had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Crippen and to host a meet and greet at my home. My family consists of a deputy sheriff of Pinellas County, a deputy sheriff of Pasco and Hernando counties, and a nephew who is a warden of a prison in Tennessee. So, this election is particularly important to me, and I give my endorsement to Mr. Crippen.

Doty will provide fresh ideas

I find it extremely refreshing to see a young, educated and well-accomplished candidate running for the school board. Yes, we have a good school district, but it is time for new ideas and new approaches because it can be even better.

I believe that Danielle Damato Doty has all the right qualifications, experiences, talent and intelligence to take the school district to new heights. She has demonstrated that she can think outside the box. She will introduce fresh and innovative perspectives when tackling school issues. Let's face it, "The times they are a-changin'," and it is imperative that we elect a candidate that has diversification and flexibility to keep ahead of the changing times.

There are new analyzed trends in education that are important, such as digital responsibility, emerging technologies, computational thinking, collaborative classrooms, innovating pedagogy and experiential learning, life skills and workforce preparation, student-led learning, internal student/staff research projects, connecting guardians and schools, etc. I also believe schools need to include some form of leadership recognition/education and mentoring. If you snooze, you lose, and the only way to stay ahead of emerging trends is to have someone who has outside the classroom experiences and valuable exposures. We need a candidate who can think ahead and predict what students will need tomorrow. We cannot wait for tomorrow to catch up on yesterday.

I believe that Danielle Damato Doty will provide fresh ideas that will benefit students today and into the future. She has a solid well-rounded résumé of accomplishments that makes her the best candidate running for School Board District 2. She has a clear vision for the district, excellent communication skills with sound collaboration skills. She also has fiscally sound budget experiences, and experience at implementing sound policies. She will be an asset to the school board, to our community and students from day one.

The education of our children is extremely important. It is equally important that we elect someone who has the experience and ability to move the district to reach greater heights. We need fresh and new perspectives. Let us not be complacent because our school system is already good. Remember: Complacency is the last virtue of a dying society. Let's work together to make it even better!

Please vote for Danielle Damato Doty for School Board District 2. She will not disappoint!

Reinhardt has my vote

I plan to vote for Dr. Paul Reinhardt for Citrus County Superintendent of Schools. Dr. Reinhardt has been a resident of Citrus County since 1979. He has served as substitute teacher in our schools and has taught anatomy and physiology to health science students at College of Central Florida. He has been involved in Mercy Missions to Haiti and Latin America.

Dr. Reinhardt agrees with phasing out Common Core and the challenges associated with that change. He believes that we need an American Focused Education, with emphasis on our Constitution. Civics and a course in the Constitution should be part of the curriculum.

He believes our schools need to be safe environment to promote learning. Thus Dr. Reinhardt will improve the use of equipment such as camera, locks, and inexpensive wand metal detectors. Clear transparent backpacks would also help in security.

Bullying has been an issue in schools. School uniforms and parental permission for discipline will be two measures to help with this problem. We want to make the schools a safe place for students to come and enjoy learning. Dr. Reinhardt knows that a hungry child can not learn. He plans to give half his salary to the school breakfast/lunch programs and to Citrus Blessings.

We need a conservative educator like Dr. Paul Reinhardt for Citrus County Superintendent of Schools.

The future of the world is in our classroom today. Remember this when you vote on Tuesday, Aug. 18.

Davis thorough, thoughtful and smart

As voters, we all have a role in shaping what we want in our government, and the impact is greatest in our local elections. In the County Commission District 5 race our choice is between two candidates, Holly Davis and Jimmie T. Smith. As this paper has reported, since the only candidates are Republicans, the upcoming primary election of all registered voters on Aug. 18 will decide the outcome. I enthusiastically support Holly Davis with my vote and want to share with you why.

A mutual friend introduced me to Holly earlier this year. As I have gotten to know her, I am grateful that she is running for public office, and the county commissioner role in particular. An examination of her career reveals she has honed the ideal skill sets necessary for the position. As a marketing consultant for the past 25 years, she has had to learn how to do deep research on her clients and their markets in order to set the stage for undertaking strategies to compete. Our beloved Citrus County needs to do the same thing. Increasingly complex questions are facing our public leaders in this present age we live in.

As I have had the opportunity to introduce Holly to folks in the area, the comments shared with me afterward are almost always the same: Beyond the obvious passion and enthusiasm she holds for Citrus County, she's thorough, thoughtful and smart.

These are traits we need in our county commission now more than ever. If you have not had the opportunity yet to meet Holly, I urge you to visit her website hollydavisforcitrus.com to learn more about her and I am confident you will come to this same conclusion.

She's running for us, not for herself. We need more people like Holly helping us navigate the future, so please give her your vote.

Schlabach has the experience to lead

There has been a lot of talk and discussion during this campaign season about the virtues of being a public servant. There is nothing wrong in being a public servant, in fact, it is highly admirable in choosing a career as public servant.

Being the daughter in a military family and a also being a teacher, I have been exposed to public servants all my life. The one thing I know, for a fact, is that in the military you cannot just be a public servant. You must also be a leader. You either lead or you follow.

Citrus County is still struggling economically from the COVID-19 virus shutdowns and restrictions. We are going to need strong leaders with business experience and knowledge to get Citrus County back to work.

Leadership that comes from taking the risk of starting your own business, working hard and sacrificing to grow that business into a huge success. Leadership that comes from the ability to make the difficult but yet the correct decisions, allowing that company to grow through hurricanes, the financial meltdown of 2008 and now, the coronavirus.

Ruthie Schlabach is the only candidate in the County Commission District 3 race who has that business experience and knowledge. This county has for far too long had a reputation of not being business friendly. We can no longer afford that reputation.

The only way for the county to economically recover from this pandemic is to attract new and viable business to this county. The type of industry that provides decent wages and benefits for the citizens of this county.

Ruthie Schlabach can and will provide that leadership. She has the credentials and experience to get the job done.

I'm voting for Ruthie and I ask that you do as well.

Hot Corner: JULY FOURTH

■ I imagine you're going to get quite a few calls discussing the noise last night from fireworks and all, and maybe complaining against it, but I'm not here to do that. I want to make it clear that the fireworks were entertaining. I live out in the Highlands, just off of Apopka, and I had two neighbors that were sending out several displays of fireworks, which I enjoyed from my back yard. Thank you, guys, for spending your time and money to buy these. You don't know how much enjoyment it gave me to watch these going off. To those that want to complain: Next year, why don't you try doing fireworks and maybe making somebody else as happy as they did me?

■ Thank you, thank you, thank you to the citizens of Crystal River for putting on such a wonderful display of fireworks off of Fort Island Trail. This was the best that we ever had in Crystal River — much better than what the city puts on. I want to thank all the individuals who donated their own money to put that on so we could enjoy the Fourth of July. We know who those people were. We know the main contributors of it. We appreciate what they do for the whole city, the YMCA and all the other functions that they take part in. Those people are just wonderful. I want them to know that we totally enjoyed it and the city council should take a second look at what citizens can do vs. what they're doing. Thank you.

■ I want to thank the one guy — I don't know what his name was — at the fireworks place down there on (U.S.) 19 and (State Road) 44. My wife passed away not too long ago and I couldn't afford a whole lot of fireworks and I bought a six-pack and I was going to launch my wife's ashes up and he came running out and gave me a great, big tube to launch some of my wife's ashes in. I appreciated that so much. I don't know if you are all local or anywhere, but I just want you to know that I really, really appreciate it. Thank you.

Kayak ordinance should be countywide

(Re the July 8, 2020, front-page story, "Kayak rules begin to take shape," "Crystal River looks to control traffic, roll out fee system for rental firms"): This Sound Off is about Crystal River and their kayak ordinance, which is good. Weeki Wachee had to do it. But it needs to be countywide — Homosassa and Chassahowitzka — because everybody's going to flock here, which we're already overcrowded. So I don't know what to tell everybody, other than I think everybody who paddles a kayak should have to play by the same rules as people with motorboats do. Take a boating course and learn what you're doing.

No business run in public parks

I'm calling in about the Crystal River kayak rental fees for commercial kayakers. I say that we should not let any commercial businesses run businesses out of county-owned or city-owned public parks or boat ramps. Those are for private use only, not commercial use. Make the people rent an area with commercial property to run a commercial business. This is ridiculous. Please end it now. No more commercial kayak renters or paddle boarders at public parks or boat ramps.

No tax money for Beverly Hills pool

I'm responding to Sound Off (about the July 9, 2020, front-page story), "Pool supporters change direction," "Committee will approach county later this year with new proposal." Guess what, Beverly Hills? We don't need a new proposal. We don't need our tax money spent refurbishing or giving you a bigger pool than one that you didn't even maintain or take care of, which you let go to pot. So my attitude is, fill it in with concrete or make a park out of it or do whatever you want. If you want a new pool or to make it bigger or whatever, you pay for it, not the county taxpayers. If the county taxpayers' money goes towards it, then it should be a community pool for all of Citrus County to use, not just Beverly Hills.

Return to two days of watering

I support Carole Scragg's July 9 letter requesting more watering days. She's absolutely right in her opinion that you cannot keep St. Augustine grass alive watering it once a week. It is hard enough to keep it growing with watering it twice a week with no rain. At one time, Ocala allowed watering one time a week in winter and two times a week in summer, which is reasonable. I truly believe the commissioners should review this decision and return to two days watering a week.

Do something about out of town kayakers

I hope something is done about these kayakers coming from out of town with major companies bringing them in here. All this work cleaning up the river is going to be for naught. It's dangerous. It's crazy. We're getting nothing out of it other than ruining our river again. Will somebody get some sense and do something?

Crush of boat buyers seek recreation, safety during pandemic

DAVID SHARP
Associated Press

YARMOUTH, Maine — Brandon Mitchell had big plans to visit family in Michigan and take his wife and three kids to Disney World. The pandemic put those plans on ice.

So they bought a boat instead. “We’re going to take the sea. There’s so much to explore,” the ebullient skipper said. “It’ll get us the recreation and the escape that we’re not going to be able to get anywhere else.”

A growing number of people like Mitchell — who plans to spend the remainder of the summer island-hopping along the Maine coast — are looking to the water amid the coronavirus pandemic. And that’s good news for the boat industry.

From Maine to California, boat dealers are reporting unprecedented sales that began in the spring in warm-weather states before picking up steam in other parts of the country, like Maine and Minnesota. Marinas and boat repair shops are swamped by the wave of interest. There also are waiting lists for slips for boats.

A recent survey showed more than 70% of boat dealers were either completely out of boats or had low inventory, said Matt Gruhn of the Marine Retailers Association of the Americas.

The trend stands to reason: People are looking for something to do and a safe place to go, at a time when the pandemic has raised safety concerns and limited recreational opportunities. Oceans, lakes and ponds are good places for people to socially distance while having fun at the same time.

“I’ve never seen anything like this,” said Rob Soucy from Port Harbor Marine, which describes itself as Maine’s biggest boat dealer. “Since the end of April, we’ve seen boat sales at historic levels.”

At one point, his inquiries were up 300% to 400%, and he expects to sell about 1,000 boats this year, a couple hundred more than usual.

“It’s like wildfire. People are searching for ways to get on the water,” said Tracy Coughlin from the Yarmouth Boat Yard, also in Maine.

Sales are up 65% at Yarmouth Boat Yard and a sister company, Moose Landing Marina in Naples, Maine, she said. The single biggest month for sales growth has been June, when sales increased 85%.

Boats come in all sizes, shapes — and prices. A new aluminum fishing boat with outboard engine might cost $10,500, while a 44-foot cruiser could cost up to $900,000. And the prices go up from there.

But with vacation travel canceled and other activities on hold, people are ready to escape on the water — on everything from modest boats to luxury yachts, said Chris DiMillo, from DiMillo’s Yacht Sales in Portland.

“Our inventory in the market in general is as thin as I’ve seen. We’re getting calls from people who said they’d never buy a boat. And now they’re buying boats,” he said.

In Southern California, sales are up 40% to 50% at Marina del Rey Yacht Sales near Los Angeles and the Long Beach Yacht Center, said owner Steve Curran.

“I’ve been in the business for 50 years, so I’ve seen lots of ups and downs. I certainly was not expecting this,” he said.

In Florida, salesman Bill Aston said sales were up more than 200% over the past two months at Central Marine Boat Sales in St. Petersburg, Florida.

“We’re selling everything we’ve got. We’ve run out of product,” said Aston, who reports that 95% of his older inventory has been sold.

The U.S. Coast Guard recommends safety courses for new boaters, but hands-on instruction has been hard to find this summer because of the pandemic. Some boaters have discovered online safety courses.

Sailing or motoring around on the water represents a nice consolation prize for people who canceled vacations or missed summer camps, athletic programs or the myriad of other canceled events. Boating allows families to get away from shore, remove masks, and enjoy themselves.

Mitchell said he and his wife, Hilary, work full time. They’re also raising kids ages 9, 8 and 2. So a boat hadn’t been a priority.

But the pandemic readjusted the Cape Elizabeth, Maine, family’s priorities.

The pre-owned boat, which the family picked up on Friday in Yarmouth, opens a new opportunity to get away, tie up with his brother-in-law’s boat, and let the kids play and swim together. They can also explore Maine’s mostly uninhabited hundreds of islands.

The 26-foot boat, which has a small galley, a head and sleeping space, will become a floating oasis from a world in turmoil, Mitchell said.

“The coronavirus was the catalyst for the decision,” he said. “This is our family vacation. This our family road trip. This is it.”

DeSantis reopened restaurants, gyms and other “nonessential” businesses May 5 at restricted interior capacities in the first-phase of his three-step reopening plan. Bars that don’t serve food remained closed until June 5.

Gov. Ron DeSantis

In May, Florida’s rate of positive tests dropped from 11% to 2%, with the number of new cases flattening then declining and daily death tolls measuring between 30 and 60.

By late May, however, according to the study, movement and interactions had increased significantly and “had returned to a level that would allow significant spread of the virus and were back to near-normal in June as Florida’s economy reopened.”

Florida’s average daily positivity rate for COVID-19 tests surged in June from 3% to 16%, and hospitalizations and fatalities also spiked.

Those trends have accelerated in July. The Florida Department of Health’s (DOH) COVID-19 dashboard reported 10,249 new COVID-19 cases Thursday, bringing the total recorded since March to 389,868 cases.

DOH also reported a single-day record 173 fatalities attributed to the disease, bringing the state’s overall death toll to 5,632.

Since March, more than 23,000 COVID-19 patients have been hospitalized, with more than 9,000 people currently in hospitalized with the disease.

In July, the UWF study documented, interactions have declined, especially after the state closed bars again June 26, and Floridians began to display behavioral changes that reflect awareness of the disease’s spread.

Interactions remain at higher levels than in late March and April, however, according to the study.

Srinivasan told the AP the study’s goal was to ascertain whether government mandates are needed to prevent social interactions or whether people will self-distance. He said there is no clear evidence of either.

“Decision-makers may need to work on getting people’s buy-in on social distancing and sustain it,” he said.

According to a Quinnipiac poll released Thursday, Floridians are ready to “buy in.”

In a survey of 924 voters between July 16-20, 79% said they favored a statewide order mandating face masks compared with 20% opposed.

Seventy percent believe the coronavirus is “out of control” and 61% said Gov. Ron DeSantis reopened “too quickly.”

WH pushes narrow virus aid; Pelosi blasts delay

WASHINGTON — House Speaker Nancy Pelosi on Sunday assailed Republican “disarray” over a new pandemic relief package as the White House suggested a narrower effort might be necessary, at least for now.

The California Democrat panned the Trump administration’s desire to trim an expiring temporary federal unemployment benefit from $600 weekly to about 70% of pre-pandemic wages. “The reason we had $600 was its simplicity,” she said from the Capitol.

The administration’s chief negotiators — White House chief of staff Mark Meadows and Treasury Secretary Steven Mnuchin — spent a few hours at the Capitol later Sunday to put what Meadows described as “final touches” on a $1 trillion relief bill Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell is expected to bring forward Monday afternoon.

“We’re done,” Mnuchin said as he and Meadows left Capitol Hill after meeting with GOP staff.

Meadows said as the White House was “looking for clarity” on a “handful” of remaining issues ahead of Monday. “We have an agreement in principle,” he said.

Protesters breach fence around courthouse

PORTLAND, Ore. — Authorities declared a riot early Sunday in Portland, Oregon, where protesters breached a fence surrounding the city’s federal courthouse building where U.S. agents have been stationed.

Police described via Twitter the “violent conduct of people downtown” as creating a “grave risk of public alarm.” Police demanded people leave the area surrounding the courthouse, around 1:20 a.m. Sunday, and said those who fail to adhere may be arrested or subject to tear gas and impact weapons.

By 1:40 a.m., both federal officers and Portland police could be seen on the streets, surrounding the courthouse, attempting to clear the area and deploying tear gas.

Protesters remained in the streets past 2:30 a.m., forming lines across intersections and holding makeshift shields, as police patrolled and closed blocks abutting the area. Multiple arrests were made, but it wasn’t immediately clear how many.

Cease-fire in war-torn eastern Ukraine begins

KYIV, Ukraine — Ukrainian and rebel forces in war-torn eastern Ukraine have started preparing for a “full and comprehensive” cease-fire was scheduled to begin at midnight, a move that officials hope can lead to more steps to resolve the 6-year-old conflict.

Rebel officials said Sunday they have instructed their troops about the cease-fire and issued a decree banning the use of weapons. Ukraine’s military said their forces “have begun preparations” for the ceasefire.

If upheld, it would “pave the way for implementing other clauses” of the Minsk peace deal, the office of Ukraine’s president said earlier this week, calling the cease-fire a “breakthrough.”

Brokered in 2015 by France and Germany, the Minsk peace plan aimed to resolve the conflict between Ukraine and Russia-backed separatists.

South Texas gets drenched

Hanna hits hard amid virus surge

JOHN L. MONE AND NOMAAN MERCHANT
Associated Press

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas — A day after roaring ashore as a hurricane, Hanna lashed the Texas Gulf Coast on Sunday with high winds and drenching rains that destroyed boats, flooded streets and knocked out power across a region already reeling from a surge in coronavirus cases.

Downgraded to a tropical depression, Hanna passed over the U.S.-Mexico border with winds near 50 mph, the National Hurricane Center said. It unloaded more than 12 inches of rain on parts of South Texas and north-eastern Mexico.

Border communities whose health care systems were already strained by COVID-19 cases — with some patients being airlifted to larger cities — found themselves under siege from the first hurricane of the 2020 Atlantic season. There were no immediate reports of any deaths on either side of the border.

Dr. Ivan Melendez, the health authority in Hidalgo County, Texas, was treating a patient overnight at a hospital when he and a nurse noticed water streaming down a wall and pooling on the floor. The water was flowing through a vent in the room, which had been retrofitted with a fan to create negative pressure and prevent the virus spreading through the hospital.

After driving home in the storm in the middle of the night, Melendez was trapped Sunday morning in his home by downed trees and had no electricity. He used the phone to discuss whether to put a 58-year-old woman on a ventilator, a decision he felt uncomfortable making without seeing the patient in person.

“You look at the people’s eyes,” he said. “You’ll know if they’re in despair.”

Another doctor decided to place the woman on the ventilator, he said later.

Henry Van De Putte, CEO of the Red Cross’ Texas Gulf Coast chapter, said the organization would open more shelters with reduced capacity to ensure social distancing. Volunteers and people seeking refuge will undergo temperature checks, and a medical professional will be assigned to each location, he said.

A community building known as the “Dome” in Mercedes, Texas, was set aside for evacuees who had tested positive for COVID-19 or were exposed to the virus. Across the region, shelters were also opened in hotels, schools and gyms.

Van De Putte emphasized that people should not delay seeking help because of the virus.

“Yes, coronavirus provides risk, but so does floodwater, so does not having electricity, so does not having required medications,” he said. “We’re doing everything we can do possible to make it a safe environment.”

In the Mexican border city of Reynosa, a maternity hospital was damaged by heavy rain, and water had to be pumped out, authorities said. Some patients had to be moved to upper floors, and a few were evacuated to other hospitals, said Pedro Granados, director of civil protection for Tamaulipas state.

Coastal states scrambled this spring to adjust emergency hurricane plans to account for the virus, and Hanna was the first big test. Gov. Greg Abbott said Saturday that some people in need of shelter would be given hotel rooms to keep them apart from others.

Abbott announced Sunday that the Federal Emergency Management Agency approved an emergency declaration that will provide federal aid.

Hanna blew ashore as a Category 1 storm late Saturday afternoon with winds of 90 mph not far from Port Mansfield, which is about 130 miles south of Corpus Christi.

French infections rise

Spain cracks down on nightclubs

JOHN LEICESTER

PARIS — France’s coronavirus infection rate crept higher Saturday and Spain cracked down on nightlife but German authorities were confident enough to send a cruise ship out to sea with 1,200 passengers for a weekend test of how the cruise industry can begin to resume.

French health authorities said the closely watched “R” gauge is now up to 1.3, suggesting that infected people are contaminating 1.3 other people on average. That means the virus still has enough victims to keep on going instead of petering out.

France’s daily new infections are also rising — up to 1,130 on Friday. Health authorities warned that the country is going backward in its battle against the pandemic, which has already killed at least 30,195 people in the country and that infection indicators now resemble those seen in May, when France was coming out of its strict two-month lockdown.

“We have thus erased much of the progress that we’d achieved in the first weeks of lockdown-easing,” health authorities said, adding that the French appear to be letting down their guard during their summer vacations and those testing positive are making less of an effort to self-isolate.

They appealed for a return to “collective discipline,” asking people to work from home and get tested if they have any suspicions of infection.

In Spain, Catalonia became the latest region to crack down on nightlife, trying to tamp down on new infection clusters. The wealthy northeast region home to Barcelona ordered all nightclubs to close for 15 days and put a midnight curfew on bars in the greater Barcelona area and other towns around Lleida that have become contagion hot zones.

Spain has reported over 900 new daily infections for the last two days as authorities warn that the country that lost over 28,000 lives before getting its outbreak under control could be facing the start of a second major outbreak.

Despite the concerns, some European countries kept up their gradual reopenings Saturday.

In other parts of the world, the pandemic appeared to have the upper hand.

India, which has the world’s third-highest infections behind the United States and Brazil, reported its death toll rose by 740 to 30,601. It saw a surge of more than 49,000 new cases, raising its total to over 1.2 million. The Home Ministry issued an advisory calling for Independence Day celebrations on Aug. 15 to avoid large gatherings.

South Africa, Africa’s hardest-hit country, reported more than 13,000 new cases, raising its total to over 408,000.

South Korea on Saturday reported more than 100 new coronavirus cases for the first time in four months. The 113 new cases included 36 workers returning from Iraq and 32 crew members of a Russian freighter.

Worldwide, more than 15.7 million infections and over 640,000 deaths have been reported, according to data compiled from government announcements by Johns Hopkins University. Experts say all those figures understate the true toll of the pandemic, due to limited testing and other issues.

Kiermaier walks it off

Triple in the 10th inning lifts the Rays over the Blue Jays in opening series finale, 6-5

FRED GOODALL
AP sports writer

ST. PETERSBURG — Kevin Kiermaier's first hit of the season, a two-run triple into the right field corner in the 10th inning, gave the Tampa Bay Rays a 6-5 victory over the Toronto Blue Jays on Sunday.

Tampa Bay's defensive whiz delivered the second walk-off hit of his career after the Rays scored twice in the ninth to force extra innings, then fell behind again 5-4 when Blue Jays pinch runner Santiago Espinal stole third base and scored on Lourdes Gurriel Jr.'s sacrifice fly off Chaz Roe (1-0).

"It was a frustrating series for me personally ... but I had a feeling something good was going to happen," Kiermaier said. "It was good to see one fall, finally."

The Rays began the bottom of the 10th with Kevan Smith on second base. Jose Martinez drew a walk from rookie Shun Yamaguchi (0-1) before Kiermaier — a three-time Gold Glove center fielder — ended an 0-for-11 skid to begin the pandemic-delayed season.

"Full team effort. ... It says a lot about the resolve" of the Rays, manager Kevin Cash said.

The loss concluded an unsettling week for the displaced Blue Jays, who will not play any home games in Toronto this season after being denied permission by the Canadian government to play at Rogers Centre during the pandemic.

Instead, the team will play a majority of its home dates in Buffalo, New York, in a minor league stadium undergoing improvements.

Despite losing two of three to the Rays, the Blue Jays left Tropicana Field encouraged.

"When you lose games like that, it's tough. But I was right there on the top of the stairs making sure they knew we played three good games. Keep your head up," Toronto manager Charlie Montoyo said. "We competed with one of the best teams in baseball. That was my message."

Bo Bichette's two-run single was the biggest blow in Toronto's four-run sixth inning against Trevor Richards.

Anthony Kay pitched 2 2/3 innings in relief of rookie starter Thomas Hatch, who made his major league debut for the Blue Jays. He was in a position to get the win until closer Ken Giles faltered after getting two outs in the ninth.

Tampa Bay Rays center fielder Kevin Kiermaier, second from right, celebrates with teammates, including Yoshitomo Tsutsugo, of Japan, after his two-run, walk-off triple off Toronto Blue Jays relief pitcher Shun Yamaguchi during the 10th inning of a game Sunday, July 26, 2020, in St. Petersburg.

Tsutsugo to load the bases. Ji-Man Choi worked him to a 3-1 count before Giles left the game because of elbow soreness.

"He got the first two outs like he always does and then Wendle has a great at-bat with the double," Montoyo said. "Then his command wasn't there, but he looked fine, he never complained or anything. That's why I thought he was fine the whole time."

Hatch walked two but didn't allow a hit while striking out three in 2 1/3 innings.

Kay worked into the sixth inning, when Choi hit the first right-handed home run of his career and Brandon Lowe followed with a double to end the Toronto reliever's day.

The lefty-swinging Choi, who experimented with batting right-handed during workouts in spring training and summer camp, switched over to the right side for two at-bats against

Kay. After striking out in the third, he drove the left-hander's first pitch of the sixth over the wall in left center field.

"The first at-bat we were playing defense for a while, so I wasn't really warmed up as a righty," Choi said through an interpreter. "The second one, I swung and the ball just traveled."

Blake Snell, the 2018 AL Cy Young award winner, started for the Rays. The lefty, looking to rebound from going 6-8 with a 4.29 ERA last season, pitched two scoreless innings but had to work out of jams in each of them.

Toronto left the bases loaded in the first, then stranded two more runners in the second. The Blue Jays finally broke through against Richards in the sixth, beginning the inning with six consecutive hits.

Manuel Margot's fielding error allowed the first Blue Jays run to score.

Danny Jansen followed with a RBI single, and Bichette extended the lead to 4-0 with his two-run single.

TRAINER'S ROOM

Rays: OF Austin Meadows, placed on the injured list after missing most of summer camp due to testing positive for the coronavirus, took part in a simulated game in Port Charlotte, Florida. Manager Kevin Cash said there's no definitive timetable on his return. Meanwhile, RH Diego Castillo remains on paternity leave, though he possibly could return as early as Monday.

UP NEXT

Rays: Four straight games vs. Atlanta, the first two at Tropicana Field. RH Tyler Glasnow (6-1, 1.78 ERA in 2019) starts Monday, with RH Mike Foltyniewicz (8-6, 4.54) going for the Braves.

Thompson wins 3M Open by 2 strokes

Michael Thompson holds the trophy after winning the 3M Open tournament in Blaine, Minn., Sunday, July 26, 2020.

Ends his 7-year drought with second career win

DAVE CAMPBELL
AP sports writer

BLAINE, Minn. — Without a gallery around him on the 18th green, Michael Thompson settled for a subdued victory celebration at the 3M Open with a FaceTime call home to his wife and children in Georgia.

The tears came from him and his wife as soon as they saw each other on the screen.

Thompson birdied two of the last three holes Sunday for a 4-under 67 and a two-stroke victory, finishing off his second PGA Tour win seven years after his first.

"It is a little sad that there wasn't anybody out there to cheer on some of the great shots that I hit toward the end, but I know everybody who's rooting for me at least was watching and screaming at their TV," Thompson said. "This is definitely a win for everybody who supported me throughout the years.

It doesn't diminish the excitement."

Adam Long took was second after a 64. Richy Werenski, who had the 18-hole lead and shared it with Thompson after both Friday and Saturday, shot a 70 for his worst round of the tournament and settled for a nine-way tie for third — three strokes back.

Tony Finau finished in the third-place group, too, after a 68. Finau was the only one among the five world top-30 players in the field to reach the weekend, far outperforming fellow high-profile peers Dustin Johnson, Brooks Koepka, Tommy Fleetwood and Paul Casey.

Thompson finished at 19-under 265 at the TPC Twin Cities. He was more nervous than he anticipated, even without spectators.

"It means so much to get a win, and it gets you into so many different tournaments and solidifies your job for two more years. That's enough pressure for anybody, let alone having fans out

Verlander out at least two weeks with forearm strain

HOUSTON — Reigning AL Cy Young Award winner Justin Verlander has a strained right forearm and will be shut down for at least two weeks.

Astros manager Dusty Baker announced the injury after Houston's 7-6 loss to the Mariners on Sunday, saying Verlander would be evaluated after two weeks.

Verlander denied a report that the injury would end his season in a tweet Sunday.

there," said Thompson, who has a 3-year-old son and an infant daughter he and his wife adopted in March.

Nobody throughout the windy and muggy week in Minnesota was steadier than Thompson, who entered the week 151st in the FedEx Cup standings and rocketed up to 39th on the way to Tennessee for the World Golf Championships event. He had three bogeys in 72 holes.

He hit solidly out of the sand to set up a birdie on the 16th and take sole possession of the lead. He deftly steered around the water danger on the 18th, landing his approach on the back of the green within 15 feet. With Long in the clubhouse, having played five groups ahead, Thompson had two putts to win. He needed only one, bending backward and thrusting his arms straight up in the air after the ball dropped in the cup.

Thompson's best previous finish in this stopped-and-restarted 2020 season was a tie for eighth at the Travelers Championship in Connecticut, and he missed the cut in his last start at the Workday Charity Open in Ohio two weeks ago. For this win, he not only secured a spot in the PGA Championship, the U.S. Open and next year's Masters, but a prize of $1,188,000. That's nearly 12% of his career earnings on the tour. The U.S. Open, rescheduled for Sept. 17-20, is at Winged Foot in New York, which Thompson called his favorite course "in the entire world."

In stroke play over the last four seasons, Finau has finished 35 rounds inside the top three, by far the most without a win on tour over that stretch. Tommy Fleetwood (20) has the second most.

Finau and Werenski were joined in third by Robby Shelton, who shot a 64 on Sunday, as well as Charles Howell III, Emiliano Grillo, Alex Noren, Max Homa, Cameron Tringale and Charl Schwartzel.

SUDOKU

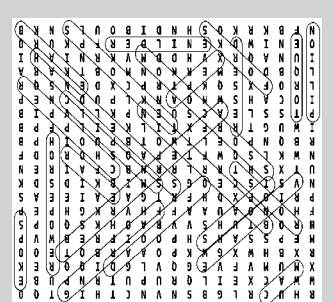

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

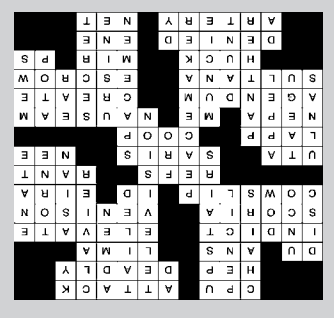

Level: Intermediate

Here's How It Works: Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
