SOME OF THE FINEST IN THE BUS

George Gouldbourn has restored his 1910 B-Type London bus into a working piece of living history. It has become a fixture within Citrus County in parades and events.

Inverness man, his replica double-decker bus cast in film any heads have turned in amazement and curios-ity when George Gouldbourn and his replica 1910 B-Type London double-decker bus have taken part in local parades.

Of those captivated was a Disney representative, who asked Gouldbourn in the spring of 2018 if the Magic Kingdom could use his bus in its latest film, "Jungle Cruise."

"I know it performed perfectly," the 87-year-old Inverness resident said after watching his prized vehicle's cameo appearance. "I'm in the movie, too, but I was only there for four seconds."

Starring Dwayne "The Rock" Johnson and Emily Blunt, "Jungle Cruise" was released July 30.

Gouldbourn said it took Disney some effort to find him and his bus after the company found footage of them celebrating a holiday in an Inverness parade.

Disney began its search by reaching out to the old Crown Hotel, which owned the bus before donating it to Inverness in 1995, with hope the city could restore it back to its former glory.

From Texas to Florida, some of the biggest gains reported Thursday came in states where Republicans will control the redistricting process, but often in and around cities where Democrats have been faring well in recent elections.

Gouldbourn said the Crown Hotel contacted him to say Disney was trying to reach him.

"It was a surprise," he said.

Disney flew someone down to tell Gouldbourn how he needed to tweak his bus to make it more historically accurate for a scene in downtown London, circa the late 1910s.

"He had specifications he needed, like taking the turn signals off," Gouldbourn said, adding Disney paid him to make the modifications.

Gouldbourn didn't drive his bus, which has a top speed of 12 mph, up to Disney's filming set in Atlanta, Georgia.

THE MOST POPULAR STORIES FROM THE WEEK THAT WAS

Coronavirus infections worsening

COVID-19 infections are on the rise in Citrus County with a growing number of people getting the disease, more people testing positive, and more people filling hospitals when they get sick.

Of the county's intensive care unit beds (ICUs) being used the week ending Aug. 4, nearly 40% were occupied by COVID patients, according to CDC information, nearly a 14% increase over the week before.

Audrey Stasko, spokeswoman for the Department of Health in Citrus County, said that the increases are not surprising, because of the new Delta variant.

Stasko also said as people are seeing record numbers of people getting infected and sick, the number of vaccinations are also increasing.

Teacher faces drug related charges

Citrus Springs Middle School teacher Jeffrey Scott Brake, 52, was arrested Aug. 9 and charged with trafficking in fentanyl, own/rent/lease a residence for the trafficking in a controlled substance, possession of methamphetamine with intent to distribute, possession of heroin with intent to distribute and drug paraphernalia.

Citrus County Sheriff's Office officials served two search warrants at Brake's Dunnellon residence as well as an RV on the property.

In addition to the drugs and paraphernalia, Brake was allegedly in possession of semi-automatic handguns, multiple revolvers and an AR-15 rifle.

Since 2001, Brake has

On July 30, Gov. Ron De-Santis issued an executive order, "Ensuring Parents' Freedom to Choose Masks in Schools." He also signed into law House Bill 241, the Parents' Bill of Rights, which prevents any governmental institution from making health care decisions for minor children.

Residents: Faulty drainage system is ruining Halls River

Homosassa residents say untreated water from a stormwater drainage system along U.S. 19 in Homosassa is draining into the Halls River and is slowly degrading it.

The problem is so acute that the Southwest Florida Water Management District (SWF-WMD) gave the Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) until Thursday, Aug. 12, to fix the problem.

"We're afraid it's all going to end," said Sally Krasny, who lives off the river in Palm Beach Loop. "It's a beautiful river and they are literally assaulting it.'

Every time it rains, loodwater sends dirty water, motor oil and other debris into the river, which has taken on a white sheen, she said.

More people are heeding the warning by state and local health officials to get vaccinated, Stasko said.

Vaccinations are available 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday and Friday, and 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Wednesday at the DOH in Citrus County at 3700 W. Sovereign Path, Lecanto.

Also, the DOH in Citrus will go to people's homes if they can't travel for vaccinations and to local businesses to make the inoculations convenient.

"I was raised in a single-wide trailer by parents who taught me good values," she said. "I know what it's like to live paycheck to paycheck.'

She said it was the Homosassa River issues between boaters and property owners that got her attention.

'The river spearheaded the idea," she said. "Some people want our county to grow, some people don't. I would rather be proactive than reactive."

ber Thomas Kennedy said.

With COVID-19 counts rising in Florida, "It's going to be the entire Citrus County community keeping our kids safe in the school," Citrus County School Board member Sandy Counts said.

The district can encourage masks and vaccinations, but not mandate them. However, Counts said, "All the teachers that I have talked to are going to mask up.'

SWFWMD wants FDOT to come up with an erosion and sediment control plan or other measures to prevent contaminants from draining into the river and nearby property, according to a July 29 letter from SWFWMD compliance engineer John Powanda.

It's safe to say we're seeing record-breaking numbers both in our hospitalizations and our new cases. With the delta variant, it's spreading quicker, stronger, and making people sicker.

'South Park' creators buying quirky restaurant

LAKEWOOD, Colo. - The creators of the irreverent animated television series "South Park" are buying Casa Bonita, a quirky restaurant in suburban Denver that was featured on the show.

Matt Stone and Trey Parker said in an interview with Colorado Gov. Jared Polis on Friday that they had come to an agreement with the current owners of the restaurant, which closed to diners in March 2020 as the pandemic took hold.

It declared bankruptcy in the spring.

"We're excited to work with everybody and make it the place we all want to make it," Parker said.

The Lakewood restaurant has been in business since 1974 but gained wider recognition when it was featured on a 2003 "South Park" episode and when the Denver Broncos announced some of their draft picks there in 2018.

The Mexican restaurant is known for its decor, which includes a pink facade and large indoor waterfall, as well as its cliff divers and skits that feature an excitable actor in a gorilla costume. But some have noted there is room for improvement.

"The one area that we would and I think I speak on behalf of everybody who patronizes Casa Bonita — is the food could be a little better," Polis said.

Casa Bonita's 85-foot-tall pink clock tower stands out in the nondescript strip mall. The 52,000-square-foot restaurant can seat more than 1,000 guests.

Larry Heinzerling AP EXECUTIVE/ BUREAU CHIEF

NEW YORK — Larry Heinzerling, a 41-year Associated Press news executive and bureau chief who played a key role in winning freedom for hostage Terry Anderson from his Hezbollah abductors in Lebanon. has died after a short illness. He was 75.

Heinzerling, who passed away at home in New York on Wednesday night, served as AP bureau chief in South Africa during a time of popular revolt against apartheid and in West Germany before the fall of the Berlin Wall. He was deputized by then-AP President and Chief Executive Officer Lou Boccardi to seek contacts with governments and international intermediaries to obtain the release of Anderson, the AP bureau chief in Beirut who had been kidnapped by the extremist group in 1985.

He worked behind the scenes for nearly seven years to win Anderson's release in 1991.

At AP headquarters in New York, Heinzerling was director of AP World Services and later deputy international editor. He was the son of the late Lynn Heinzerling, a Pulitzer Prize-winning foreign correspondent for the AP in Europe and Africa.

"Larry followed in the footsteps of his illustrious AP correspondent father but he walked his own widely admired path reporter, editor, bureau chief, headquarters executive and, in one painful period in AP history, my personal envoy as we searched across the world for the key to freedom for Terry Anderson," Boccardi said in an email Thursday.

Heinzerling grew up partly in Elyria, Ohio, and partly overseas in Johannesburg, Geneva and London among other cities where his father was posted. His father was a World War II correspondent for AP and won his

After graduation from Froebel High School, young and innocent, Gust enlisted at 18 years of age in the U.S. Navy 62nd Construction Battalion (Seabees) 5th U.S. Marine Division, V Amphibious Corps. He served three years in the South Pacific, including the battle of Iwo Jima. He became a member of the Underwater Demolition Team (UDT) 15, swimming as one of the 'free divers' to perform a recon of Iwo Jima's beaches.

While in his foxhole, he personally witnessed what most have seen in the iconic photo of the raising of the American flag. By the grace of God, he survived the battle without injury and was honorably discharged in 1946. As a WWII veteran, he was a member of American Legion Post 155.

Gust moved to Lecanto in 2000, with the love of his life, Elsie. He married her in 1952 and was blessed with two children. Gust loved his family dearly, always providing encouragement with his simple words, "All you can do is Always busy, he try!" enjoyed Gust lived a life of faith, discipline, generosity, and love. In various capacities, he served at Faith Lutheran Church where he was a member Devoted to his Christian faith, he desired to know God and make Him known to others with the hope of leaving a legacy of faith.

Pulitzer in 1961 for coverage of the 1960 Congo crisis as the country emerged from Belgian colonial rule.

Heinzerling graduated from Ohio Wesleyan University before joining the AP in Columbus in 1967, simultaneously acquiring a master's degree in international journalism at Ohio State.

After a stint at AP's New York international desk, Heinzerling was posted to sub-Saharan Africa, first in 1971 to Lagos, Nigeria, recently torn by civil war as West Africa correspondent. and then to Johannesburg as South African bureau chief in 1974. There he covered the 1976 Soweto uprising and ongoing cycles of violence and repression as the white minority government sought to maintain its racist system of apartheid.

In 1978, Heinzerling was named bureau chief in Frankfurt, West Germany, overseeing AP's newsgathering from central Europe and directing the large AP German service, then the second-largest news agency in Germany. Berlin was a divided city and East-West tensions seethed in Europe and in the country struggling to overcome the legacy of World War II.

When Anderson was kidnapped in March 1985, one of a string of hostage-takings by Iranian-backed Hezbollah militants, Heinzerling became the AP's point man in secret, backdoor diplomacy to find a way to persuade the kidnappers to let Anderson go. In later years, he declined to talk about his efforts, honoring the promises of secrecy he made at that time.

'Super volunteer' Joe Dube leaving Citrus County

NANCY KENNEDY Staff writer

For the past 14 years, Sugarmill Woods resident Joe Dube has been about one thing: making the community a better place.

Whether it's volunteering at the Ellie Schiller Homosassa Springs Wildlife State Park or Nature World Wildlife Rescue, serving on local nonprofits' boards of directors, raising money for charitable causes or writing stories and taking photos for the Greenbelt Gazette and the Chronicle, it has been his great joy.

Next month, Dube and his wife, Shirley, are moving to Trinity, Florida, in Pasco County, to be closer to their three young grandchildren.

But before he leaves, Dube agreed to share fundraising:

'You have to be careful, and you can't be blunt," he said. "Here's an example: I used to emcee the Celebration of Lights his fundraising seriously, he has at the wildlife park and I always ended my program saying, 'It's the end of the year, and I know a lot of you have a lot of money and you've got to get rid of some of it before the government takes it. So, come see me and I'll show you how to put your money to good use.'

"So, this lady came up to me and wrote a check for $50,000," he said. "It's about being in the right place at the right time and knowing that you're in the right place at the right time.'

In the past 14 years, Dube has raised $750,000 to support the wildlife park, $140,000 for Nature World Wildlife Rescue, $80,000 for Citrus County Blessings and $40,000 for the Academy of Environmental Science (AES).

"My whole thing there was to raise money to put into a pot for kids who can't afford to go out on adventures like a trip to Sea-World or SCUBA diving because they don't have the money," he said. "I'm the oldest of nine kids; I was brought up with nothing — we were very poor, and I understand the value of a dollar, and I understand the importance of charities.

"I also understand that donors need to be comfortable knowing that their money is going where they hope it's going.'

He said he took one would-be donor to Nature World Wildlife Rescue in Homosassa to see what they do, and took her into the beat-up trailer they were using to rescue 1,000 animals a year

The woman wrote a check for $100,000 so the rescue could buy a new trailer.

"Joe is a problem solver and a fixer," said Mary Opall, Nature World director. "He's also a friend and a voice of reason. When vou're with him, you walk away with a smile on your face and encouraged. "Any nonprofit he is involved with is always way better because he his secret to his success at was there. He and his wife both are extraordinary people and angels, not just to us, but also all of Citrus County," she said.

Dube said because he takes joined various nonprofits' boards of directors so he can "make sure the money goes where I tell the donors it goes.'

He added that he will remain on the boards of Citrus County Blessings and the wildlife park, where he served five years as president of the Friends of the Homosassa Springs Wildlife Park and had long ago stopped counting his volunteer hours when he reached 25,000 hours.

Michelle Leeper, an AES board member, said Dube not only raised money for the academy, but he would come to visit the kids in the classroom.

'His face was well-known around the academy," Leeper said. "The kids always enjoyed when he came around Veterans Day and talked about his military service. There's only so much you can get out of books, and Joe knows how to tell a story and make you think you're right in the middle of it. ... He's all about the kids, and the academy is close to his heart because it gives them the opportunity to learn about the environment in a unique and special way.

their party's candidates to win future elections, a process called gerrymandering. The parties' successes in that effort could determine whether taxes and spending grow, climate-change polices are approved or access to abortion is expanded or curtailed.

Republicans need to gain just five seats to take control of the U.S. House in the 2022 elections — a margin that could potentially be covered through artful redistricting. As they did after the 2010 census, Republicans will hold greater sway in more states over the redistricting process.

The question is going to be how creative this new data will force Republicans to get in maintaining or expanding their advantages, given an increasingly diverse, increasingly urban population," said Joshua Blank, research director of the Texas Politics Project at the University of Texas.

Texas will be a major point focal in redistricting.

The Census Bureau said five of the 14 U.S. cities that grew by at least 100,000 people are located in Texas — Austin, Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston and San Antonio. Four of the nation's 10 fastest growing cities also were Texas suburbs — Frisco and McKinney near Dallas; Conroe near Houston, and New Braunfels near San Antonio. All are prime battle grounds for redistricting.

By contrast, many Texas counties outside of its metropolitan areas saw populations decline, the Census Bureau said.

Republicans, who currently hold 23 of the 36 U.S. House seats in Texas, a separate ruling in 2019, will have full control over the redistricting process, allowing them to decide where to draw the two new seats the state is gaining. But that could be compligenerally have fared

Tropical Storm Grace forms; Fred downgraded

FORT LAUDERDALE -Tropical Storm Grace formed Saturday morning in the Atlantic Ocean and grew stronger, while Fred weakened into a tropical wave as it headed into the eastern Gulf of Mexico.

Both systems were expected to bring heavy rain and flooding. Fred, which was once a tropical storm, could regain such strength on Sunday, according to the U.S. National Hurricane Center.

The center said in its 11 a.m. advisory that Grace was centered about 265 miles east-southeast of the Leeward Islands and could reach the Lesser Antilles by Saturday night.

It was moving west at 23 mph with maximum sustained winds of 45 mph, up from 40 mph earlier in the day.

A tropical storm warning was issued for the British Virgin Islands, the U.S. Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico. A tropical storm watch was in effect for the Dominican Republic, which forecasters said Grace could reach by Monday.

Grace was forecast to bring 3 to 6 inches of rain to the Leeward Islands, Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico into Monday.

The current forecast has Grace approaching South Florida as a tropical storm by midweek.

WARSAW, Poland - Israel recalled its top diplomat from Poland on Saturday after the Polish president signed a law that restricts the rights of former Polish property owners, including Holocaust survivors and their descendants, to regain property seized by the country's communist regime.

Israeli Prime Minister Naftali Bennett called it "a shameful decision and disgraceful contempt for the memory of the Holocaust" and said "Poland has chosen to continue harming those who have lost everything."

Foreign Minister Yair Lapid said he had instructed Israel's top diplomat in Warsaw, the charges d'affaires, to return home immediately for an indefinite period. He said the new Israeli ambassador to Poland, who was scheduled to leave for Warsaw, will remain in Israel.

"Poland today approved - not for the first time an immoral, antisemitic law," Lapid said.

7.2 magnitude earthquake hits Haiti

At least 227 killed, hundreds injured and missing

Associated Press

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti — At least 227 people were killed and hundreds were injured and missing after a 7.2 magnitude earthquake struck Haiti on Saturday, and Prime Minister Ariel Henry said he was rushing aid to areas where towns were destroyed and hospitals overwhelmed with incoming patients.

The epicenter of the quake was about 125 kilometers (78 miles) west of the capital of Port-au-Prince, the U.S. Geological Survey said, and widespread damage was reported.

Haiti's civil protection agency said that the death toll stood at 227 and that search teams would be sent to the area. Rescue workers and bystanders were able to pull many people to safety from the rubble, the agency said Saturday afternoon on Twitter. It said injured people were still being brought to hospitals.

Henry declared a one-month state of emergency for the whole country and said he would not ask for international help until the extent of the damages was known. He said some towns were almost completely razed and the government had people in the coastal town of Les Cayes to help plan and coordinate the response.

'The most important thing is to recover as many survivors as possible under the rubble," said Henry. "We have learned that the local

He said the International Red Cross and hospitals in unaffected areas were helping to care for the injured, and appealed to Haitians for unity.

The needs are enormous. We must take care of the injured and fractured, but also provide food, aid, temporary shelter and psychological support," he said.

Later, as he boarded a plane bound for Les Cayes, Henry said he wanted "structured solidarity" to ensure the response was coordinated to avoid the confusion that followed the devastating 2010 earthquake, when aid was slow to reach residents after as many as 300,000 were killed.

Protesters in France denounce COVID-19 pass

PARIS - Thousands of people, from families to farright sympathizers, marched in cities across France for a fifth straight Saturday to denounce a COVID-19 health pass that is now needed to enter French restaurants, bars and sports arenas or use long-distance trains, planes or buses.

Some 1,600 police were deployed for three separate marches in Paris, a week after the health pass went into effect.

"Liberty" was the slogan, with protesters saying the health pass limits their freedom and is a disguised way to make COVID-19 vaccinations obligatory. One woman in Paris was dressed as the Statue of Liberty. Other signs included "Take Back Your Pass, Macron, and Get Lost" to vulgar slogans.

"We want none of this. It's nyet!" said a 53-year-old real estate agent marching in Paris who identified herself only as Stephanie. "It is a political crisis disguised as a health crisis."

The pass shows whether people are fully vaccinated, have had a recent negative test or proof of a recent COVID-19 recovery. The bill authorizing it includes mandatory vaccinations health workers by Sept. 15.

Final farewell to a legendary coach

Faith, family and Bowden as well as daughter Ginger Bowden Madden. Longfootball part of Bowden's legacy

BOB FERRANTE Associated Press

TALLAHASSEE — Bobby Bowden lived life with three guiding principles: faith, family and football.

The longtime college football coach may have been known across the country for winning two national championships and 377 games, including 314 of them at Florida State from 1976 to 2009. But the eulogies delivered for him Saturday focused almost entirely on how his faith led him in life as well as how much he valued his family and that included his thousands of players.

More than 300 players and coaches were among the crowd of about 2,500 who returned to the Donald L. Tucker Center to remember Bowden, who died last Sunday at 91 of pancreatic cancer.

The two-hour service in-time Florida State assistants Mark Richt and Mickey Andrews also spoke as well as players Bobby Butler, Charlie Ward, Warrick Dunn and Derrick Brooks.

"Coach Bowden saw something in me that no one else saw," said Dunn, who played at Florida State from 1993-96. "He believed in me and that's a powerful thing for an 18-year-old that is just trying to figure out life. Coach was the kind of man that used his faith and wisdom to shape boys into men."

Dunn reflected on the lessons Bowden handed down when he needed to be a father figure for his younger siblings after his mother, Betty Smothers, died in Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

Dunn also said Bowden promised him a chance to play running back when every other coach wanted him to be a defensive back.

He had three 1,000-yard seasons at Florida State and went on to play in the NFL from 1997-2008. Dunn also noted that three of his players — Derrick Brooks, Anguan Boldin and himself — won the Walter Pay-

Mixed reaction for road course Cup drivers come to Indianapolis

MICHAEL MAROT AP sports writer

INDIANAPOLIS — Kyle Busch and Kevin Harvick made their opinions perfectly clear Saturday. They'd rather be racing on Indianapolis Motor Speedway's historic oval.

Other drivers didn't seem to mind the switch.

Now, after one short practice session, Cup drivers will spend Saturday night plotting their strategical twists and turns for Sunday's reconfigured and renamed Brickyard 200.

"I really enjoyed it," Kyle Larson said after posting the third-fastest lap in practice at 97.445 mph. "I thought it was flowing and there were some hard-braking zones. I seemed to adapt to it pretty quickly, so I was definitely pleased."

That's not good news for the rest of the field.

Larson is this season's points leader after adding his series-high fifth victory last week on the road course at Watkins Glen. The only drivers who went faster Saturday were Martin Truex Jr. at 98.021 and William Byron at 97.487.

Many wonder if the series' best drivers should even be competing on the road course. Declining attendance and complaints about passing on the 2.5-mile oval have had race organizers searching for ways to inject excitement into Brickyard weekend for years. They seemed to inadvertently find a solution last year when the Indianapolis Grand Prix was postponed because of last year's COVID-19 pandemic. IndyCar officials rescheduled it as part of a rare crossover weekend with the top two NASCAR series.

And when Chase Briscoe outdueled AJ Allmendinger and Austin Cindric in the final laps to win the Xfinity race, organizers thought it might be a preview of how it would work with See INDY/Page B3

Fields rallies Bears over Dolphins

Rookie QB has hand in two TDs

GENE CHAMBERLAIN Associated Press

CHICAGO — Once rookie quarterback Justin Fields settled in the Chicago Bears saw the playmaking ability they dreamed about on draft day.

Fields rallied Chicago back Saturday from a 13-0 deficit in his preseason debut by throwing for a touchdown and running for one in a 20-13 victory over the Miami Dolphins.

"It is preseason and we understand that there's variables involved and all that, but at the same time if you said is he doing what you want him to do? Absolutely," Bears coach Matt Nagy said.

In just over two quarters of playing time, Fields was 14 of 20 for 142 yards and was at his best rolling outside the pocket and throwing.

"I definitely feel good outside of the pocket," Fields said. "It puts a lot of pressure on the defense and allows me to play backyard football with the receivers.

Fields' passing also helped the Bears get on the scoreboard for the first time with a 53-yard Cairo Santos field goal on the final play of the first half. Until that possession, the Bears hadn't picked up a first down as Miami dominated play early.

With Soldier Field fans chanting "Let's Go Fields," the former Ohio State passer replaced starter Andy Dalton with 12:11 left until halftime but needed a few drives to get warmed up. Fields did fumble during a scramble following a spin move in the second quarter before the rally began, but the ball went out of bounds.

"I think after that I'm going to officially retire the spin move,' Fields said.

The Bears put away the win with Brian Johnson's 44-yard field goal following a 51-yard run by Artavis Pierce in the fourth quarter after Fields left the game.

Rodney Adams, who led the Fields said. "You start thinking Bears with four catches too much ahead.'

Miami Dolphins running back Myles Gaskin, right, is tackled by Chicago Bears cornerback Duke Shelley during the first half of a NFL preseason game on Saturday, in Chicago.

for 57 yards.

The passing of Jacoby Brissette and Tua Tagovailoa staked the Dolphins to their early lead. Brissette threw a 23-yard TD pass to Salvon Ahmed and Jason Sanders had field goals of 21 and 35 yards in the first half.

Tagovailoa, who started for Miami, found tight end Mike Gesicke for a 50-yard completion to set up the 21-yard field goal.

Tagovailoa went 8 of 11 for 99 yards. Brissette was 6 of 10 for 67 yards.

FUTURE STARTER?

Fields will keep his focus on improving for now and not on what he might need to do to take the starting spot from Dalton. Nagy has insisted Dalton is the starter.

"I think when you look into the future you start worrying "He's a natural," said receiver about way too much stuff,"

HELP ARRIVES

The Bears have reached an agreement with former Eagles and Bills veteran Jason Peters, 39, and will let him have a chance to win the left tackle spot.

"I think he's coming in here to be the left tackle," Nagy said. "It's open, man. It's competition.'

Rookie Teven Jenkins had been expected to start there but has had back issues. The team hasn't said he's going on injured reserve.

"It's more about familiarity with a guy that's played in this league for a long time," Nagy said. "He's been very good."

Peters played for current Bears offensive line coach Juan Castillo in Philadelphia.

LEBRON SHOUT-OUT

"Of course I think this is my second shout-out from him,' Fields said, noting he had one in the national semifinal win over Clemson last year. "I think it's awesome for a prestigious athlete to give me a shout-out like that. Of course, I've been a LeBron fan since I was 6 or 7 years old. I used to have his poster up in my room.'

TAKEAWAY REBIRTH

The Bears' defense has made a huge point of forcing more turnovers under new coordinator Sean Desai. They succeeded against Miami with an interception and a fumble recovery.

Tagovailoa's pass to former Bears tight end Adam Shaheen was plucked by backup Bears safety DeAndre Houston-Carson just inside the end zone in the second quarter. In the fourth quarter, safety Marqui Christian stripped tight end Kai Locksley of the ball after a completion and Dionte Ruffin recovered for Chicago.

RETURN SPARK

Miami first-round draft pick Jaylen Waddle did nothing in the passing game in his debut but started the Dolphins out well with a 24-yard punt return. The Dolphins also had a 34-yard punt return by Jakeem Grant Sr.

INJURY REPORT

Bears WR Allen Robinson missed the game due to hamstring tightness. The Dolphins were without WR Will Fuller, who has been out with a foot injury.

UP NEXT

The Dolphins host Atlanta on Aug. 21. They will host the Falcons in joint practices on Wednesday and Thursday leading up to the game.

The Bears host Buffalo on Aug. 21 as former Bears quarterback Mitchell Trubisky comes to Soldier Field.

Cindric completes Penske sweep with Xfinity victory

INDIANAPOLIS — Austin Cindric took the lead early in the third stage at Indianapolis and held on Saturday for his NASCAR Xfinity Series-leading sixth victory of the season.

He beat pole-winner AJ Allmendinger by 2.108 seconds. Justin Haley was third.

It's Cindric's first victory at the Brickyard - and the second straight in 3 1/2 hours for Team Penske. Will Power won the IndyCar race earlier Saturday on the track's 14-turn, 2.439-mile road course.

"I can't even begin to put into words what it means to win at Indianapolis," Cindric said.

Cindric, the son of Tim Cindric, Penske's president, will try to make it three in a row when the Brickyard 200 is held on the same course Sunday.

It sure didn't come easily for Cindric. By qualifying second, like Power, he avoided getting involved in the chaotic first-lap start that sent multiple cars spinning and colliding through the turn. One car's tires actually left the track before safely coming down.

It was that kind of day on the road course - again.

Drivers aggressively tapped and banged their way through the field as they attempted to pass, leaving cars discolored and damage. Two cars even slid into the infield tire barrier though neither driver was seriously injured.

But after watching Haley beat Riley Herbst to win the first stage and Allmendinger take the second stage under caution, finishing ahead of Haley and Noah Gragson, Cindric took advantage of his opportunity to move to the front of the pack and pulled away for the victory.

Cindric, the points leader and defending series champ, has 13 Xfinity wins all since 2019.

on the field as a freshman but instead in the classroom. Brooks got a C in a biology class after never receiving a C in high school. Bowden circled the transcript and challenged him.

"Little did I know coach Bowden had my mom on speakerphone," Brooks recalled to laughter from the crowd. His mom chewed him out on the phone and threatened to come to Tallahassee. Bowden insisted he had it covered.

Fighting Irish coach Brian Kelly announced the choice Saturday in a Twitter post after suggesting for the last week that a decision would be coming soon.

Notre Dame opens Sept. 5 at Florida State.

Coan started for Wisconsin in 2019. leading the Badgers to the Big Ten title game. He completed 70% of his passes and threw for 2,727 yards and 18 touchdowns two seasons ago.

Coan broke his foot before last season's abbreviated Big Ten schedule began in late October and did not play, losing the starting job to former blue-chip recruit Graham Mertz.

Coan transferred in the offseason to Notre Dame, where the Irish were looking to replace long-time starter lan Book, who was drafted in the fourth round by New Orleans.

Coan, a graduate transfer heading into his senior season, was competing against underclassmen Drew Pyne and Tyler Buchner, a freshman.

"All three quarterbacks distinguished themselves in the spring and preseason camp," Kelly said. "Clearly, each has the skills necessary to lead, but Jack proved to be more consistent and therefore, going into our opener, gives us the best chance for success."

Coan and Notre Dame face Wisconsin at Soldier Field in Chicago on Sept. 25.

Bills owners committed to sharing costs on stadium

BUFFALO, N.Y. - Buffalo Bills owners Terry and Kim Pegula are committed to paying a portion of the projected $1.4 billion in their proposal to build a stadium.

"When it comes to the future new home of the Bills, (the Pegulas) have always known that, like virtually all NFL stadiums, this will ultimately be some form of a public/private partnership," Pegula Sports and Entertainment senior vice president Ron Raccuia said in a statement to The Associated Press on Saturday.

Raccuia's comments are the team's first public statement since discussions with state and county officials on the team's future home opened two months ago.

- From wire reports

Scott's father, Brad, was an assistant coach at Florida State from 1983-93. Fisher played for Terry Bowden at Salem College and then Samford in the 1980s before joining Bowden's staff in 2007.

"He's one of a kind," Fisher said. "How many times in the world can you say this about a man: Every time you talk to him, you learn something and you laughed. And you knew what he stood for with his relationship with God and where he's at. He was the epitome of the example of what a coach should be, a mentor, a guy of leadership."

Bowden's players have told stories "From that moment there, it just throughout the week of what he made me fall in love with him be- meant to them. Those stories weren't cause he made that commitment to about a win, even though there were my parents, sitting in our front room plenty, and it wasn't about chasing a title. It was about lessons that live on today, with many of his players college or high school coaches. 'The things I learned from him I'm instilling now," said Ole Miss assistant coach Terrell Buckley, who played at classroom. And I'm glad to tell you Florida State from 1989-91 before enjoying a 14-year NFL career. "I'm implementing on and off the field: Former Florida State coach Jimbo coaching styles, techniques, how do you handle certain situations. It all comes down to the leadership of coach Bowden. The former Cup star is expected to help call the race with NBC from the seventh turn, just a short walk from where he's staying. And it's not a spot he's completely comfortable with.

"I've never been on a scissors left in my life, so I'll be checking the wind the next couple days," Earnhardt said Friday.

Report: Ohio woman sought protective order against Bauer

Associated Press

LOS ANGELES — An Ohio woman sought a protective order against Los Angeles Dodgers pitcher Trevor Bauer last year after accusing him of punching and choking her without consent while they were having sex, according to a report by The Washington Post.

The allegations of sexual misconduct detailed in the story Saturday are similar to recent allegations by a California woman against Bauer, who is on paid administrative leave by Major League Baseball.

According to sealed court records and other documentation obtained by the Post, the Ohio woman said Bauer struck and choked her without her consent while they were having sex. He also allegedly sent her a text message from a phone number known to be registered to Bauer saying he doesn't "feel killing someone."

"And that's what would happen if I saw you again," Bauer allegedly wrote, according to the Post, prompting the woman to seek the protective order in June 2020.

Ohio was the result of an ex parte proceeding, which tives providing a wealth of means it was issued without a hearing from the other side. The protective order in California involving Bauer was issued the same way.

The Ohio woman tried in 2017 to show police photographs of injuries to her eves. but instead she was arrested for underage drinking, according to a police report obtained by the Post, which said the report did not indicate whether her allegations were investigated. The newspaper did not disclose the woman's age except to say she was a legal adult at the time.

Bauer tweeted a statement Saturday disputing the Post's report, calling it a "false narrative." He said the newspaper had contacted "hundreds" of his female The protective order in friends and acquaintances.

'Despite my representacontradictory evidence, documents, statements, and background information showing the pattern of disturbing behavior by this woman and her attorneys, The Washington Post opted to ignore much of this information and to run a salacious story disseminating defamatory statements, false information, and baseless allegations," Bauer wrote.

Bauer said the woman harassed and physically assaulted him and also tried to "extort me for millions of dollars last year in exchange for The Post obtained photo- her not coming forward with dez, Toronto, 78; Meadows, Tampa Bay, 77; Olson, Oakland, 77; Bichette, Toronto, 77; Martinez, Boston, 76; Alvarez, Houston, 74.

Henley shoots 69 to lead by 3 at Wyndham

Associated Press

GREENSBORO, N.C. - Russell Henley was grateful to get through the round with the lead at the Wyndham Championship. He hopes to hold on for 18 more holes for his first PGA Tour victory in four years.

Henley shot a 1-under 69 on Saturday to take a three-stroke lead.

Henley, who tied the lowest 36-hole score on tour this year, couldn't keep up that pace at Sedgefield Country Club. Yet, he rolled in a 33-foot putt for eagle on the par-5 15th and went on to finish at 15-under 195 as he tries to win his fourth career title and first since the 2017 Shell Houston Open.

Henley acknowledged he was edgy entering the round with his large lead. "That's not going to happen every time and these rounds are kind of what make and break really good tournaments," he said. "So I'm really thankful to be under par today."

Tyler McCumber, the son of 10-time tour winner Mark Mc-Cumber, shot a 66 and was at 12 under in second. He's winless on the tour.

The group of six four shots behind at 11 under included three playoff outsiders in Rory Sabbatini, Scott Piercy and Roger Sloan now on track to tee it up in the 125-man field for the postseason that starts next week at The Northern Trust.

Sabbatini, the Olympic silver medalist last month, has used his momentum from Tokyo to make a charge in the playoff standings. His 69 included a birdie on the 17th hole that moved him from outside the postseason—he began the week his form with his eagle on at No. 141 — to a projected place of No. 122.

Piercy, too, continued his drop a shot.

charge into the tour playoffs with a 68. He was first man out of the playoffs at No. 126 when the week began. But his third straight round in in the 60s projected him to 93rd.

Sloan also needed a big week to continue his season and he's gotten it so far with a second straight 64 to move from 131st in the playoff standings to No. 102.

Others tied at 11 under were Branden Grace, Kevin Kisner and Kevin Na. Grace shot 64, Kisner 66 and Na 67.

Former FedEx Cup champion Justin Rose, who started the week 138th in the standings, shot 69 after a bogey on the final hole. He's 126th in the projections.

There are no guarantees that current results mean anything come the next round - or next hole. Just ask Tyler Duncan, who made five birdies on his front nine to move up 61 spots in the playoff standings to 101st.

But Duncan played the back nine at 3 over for a 69 - anddropped to 150th by round's end.

It won't be a normal final round either as the PGA Tour will start earlier with the first golfers going off at 7 a.m. to beat expected bad weather later in the day. Golfers will also go off in threesomes and from the first and 10th tees.

Henley, who entered at No. 46, was locked into the playoffs long before this event began. He's focused on finishing out the victory, something he could not two months ago when he was in a three-way tie for the top after three rounds of the U.S. Open. Henley shot a final-round 76 at Torrey Pines to fall back. He looked as if he'd regained

No. 15. But Henley missed a 13-foot par putt on the 18th to Russell Henley hits his tee shot on the second hole during the third round of the Wyndham Championship golf tournament on Saturday, at Sedgefield Country Club in Greensboro, N.C.

Henley hopes to get away from golf for a few hours tonight, knowing he's got an earlier start than normal.

"I think just trying to get a good meal and get your mind away from it if you can," he said.

McCumber's career best came this year with a second at the Puntacana event in the Dominican Republic last September. He had missed his past six cuts before getting hot this week.

"You've got to stay in the process and I feel like I've been doing that pretty well and getting rewarded for it through the first three rounds this week, so taking that momentum into tomorrow," he said.

Doug Barron eagles 18th to go in front in Shaw Charity Classic

CALGARY, Alberta — Doug Barron eagled the par-5 18th for his second straight 6-under 64 and a one-stroke lead in the PGA Tour Champions' Shaw Charity Classic.

The 52-year-old Barron also had five birdies and a bogey at Canyon Meadows. He won the 2019 Dick's Sporting Goods Open for his lone tour title.

"I played really nice today," Barron said. "I hit the ball solid all day. I did make a bogey, but I still hit a good shot on the hole and I made bogey. I just didn't get up-and-down. I'm fine where I'm at. I did look at the leaderboard going into 18. I wanted to be in the final group, so I think the only way, my only path to the final group was to make eagle, so I can't believe I did it, That was pretty cool."

Calgary resident Stephen Ames, Steve Flesch and first-round leader Billy Mayfair were a stroke back at 11 under. Ames and Flesch birdied the 18th for 65s, and Mayfair followed an opening 62 with a 67.

Brandt Jobe was 9 under after a 66. David McKenzie (64) and Ken Duke (67) were 8 under.

Canadian star Mike Weir, a stroke back after an opening 63, had a 70 to drop into a tie for eighth at 7 under. The 2003 Masters champion won the Insperity Invitational in early May in Texas for his lone senior title. In his last start, he tied for second in the U.S. Senior Open in Nebraska.

an even-par 72 at windy Dumbarnie Links, leaving her tied for the lead with Charley Hull and Ryann O'Toole in the Trust Golf Women's Scottish Open.

Associated Press

Three strokes ahead entering the round, Jutanugarn had five birdies, three bogeys and a double bogey in wind gusting to 28 mph.

"I feel like tomorrow just have to play my own game," Jutanugarn said. "Today, I was thinking about the outcome so much ... and that's why I end up today not playing so well.

"So, I think tomorrow just have to go back to like yesterday or first round and have good commitment and not really thinking about the outcome."

The 25-year-old Thai star won the 2018 tournament at Gullane. She has two victories this year, the Honda LPGA Thailand and Dow Great Lakes Bay Invitational team event alongside sister Moriya.

O'Toole had a 68, and Hull shot her third straight 69 to match Jutanugarn at 9-under 207.

"The wind actually felt warmer, as well, so the ball was going a little bit farther," Hull said. "Especially on last few holes it dropped off a bit. I've been feeling confident the last six weeks ever since pretty much, just the couple weeks after U.S. Open. I feel good. I feel really good."

The 25-year-old Englishwoman won the 2016 CME Group Tour Championship for her lone LPGA Tour title O'Toole eagled the par-5 15th. The 34-year-old American is winless on the tour. "I had just been playing 15, take the drive down just that center left side," O'Toole said. "Today with the wind direction, it was helping a bit more versus left to right, so I was able to bite off more on the corner. The back pins, that's the risk is that if you come in on that left side, you have a short club in but it's a hard position to hold that green up top. I put myself in a good spot. I had an uphill lie with pitching wedge in and was able to hold the green nicely and make the 9-footer."

GAINESVILLE - SteveSpurrier stashed six decades worth of memorabilia in closets and cabinets, scattered between his office, his home and his nearby beach house. Jerseys and cleats. Helmets and visors. Trophies and trinkets. Rings and pictures. Spurrier's collection was as massive as it was impressive.

He stored another assortment of keepsakes in his head: "ball plays," some of them as famous as his notable one-liners.

He has gathered all those treasures — even the plays he jotted down from memory—and proudly put them on display at Spurrier's Gridiron Grille. The one-ofa-kind restaurant opened this week in Gainesville and doubles as the Head Ball Coach's personal museum.

PUBLIC NOTICE BY CITRUS COUNTY HOUSING SERVICES DIVISION

Under the State Housing Initiatives Partnership Program (SHIP) Citrus County Board of County Commissioners announces the following housing programs and availability of funding.

2021-2022 SHIP ALLOCATION $1,001,722

HOME REHABILITATION AND EMERGENCY REPAIRS FOR VERY LOW AND LOW INCOME FAMILIES

Repairs that remove conditions that are an imminent threat to the health and safety of the residents. Eligible repairs include re-roofs, electrical repairs, plumbing repairs, heating/cooling replacement or repair, etc. This program can't remodel units but instead repairs existing hazardous living conditions. Funds will be available for households making up to 80% of area median income. Site built homes, as well as mobile homes constructed after June 1994 provided the home is classified as Real Property, are eligible for assistance.

RENTAL HOUSING CONSTRUCTION OR REHABILITATION STRATEGY

This strategy will provide funding for the purchase of new construction housing, the purchase of existing housing and the rehabilitation of, or additions to, existing housing that is group home housing. Priority goes to Special Needs housing groups as noted in Section 420.0004, Florida Statutes, including, adult persons with a disabling condition, young adults formerly in foster care, survivors of domestic violence, and applicants receiving SSI or a disability benefit. Provided the Special Needs Strategy is met, this strategy will broaden to include group home and transitional housing for veterans, homeless, runaway youth and youth aging out of foster care. This strategy funds non-homeownership housing initiatives. This strategy is not restricted to geographical location, but must be located within Citrus County. Funds will be available awarded agencies housing residents making up to 80% of area median income.

MANDATORY UTILITY CONNECTIONS STRATEGY

This program will only be used to pay permit, impact, and other fees necessary to connect eligible owner occupied/homesteaded residences to regional central water and/or sewer service, including the cost of installing water and sewer service lines from the residence to the water or sewer main. These funds cannot be used just for general construction of lines. Priority will be given to hookups that are being completed in conjunction with other state or federal funding sources. The purpose of this program is twofold: to avert or reduce any adverse effect on the affordability of existing homes to which water and sewer service is being extended as well as to provide a source of leveraging for other state and federal funding sources for expansion of water and sewer service. (County ordinances require water and sewer hookups when available.) Funds will be available for households making up to 80% of area median income.

NOT-FOR -PROFIT DEVELOPER STRATEGY

Will assist with the construction or rehabilitation of homes sold by non-profit developers. This strategy will provide a subsidy to eligible sponsors, as established by resolution, to pay development costs including fees charged by government entities in conjunction with residential construction (impact fees, building permits, utility fees, etc), wells, septic and site preparation. Any funds not used for the payment of development costs may be used to offset cost of construction or rehabilitation of an acquired eligible housing unit. Sponsors eligible will be those 501(c)(3) agencies that build or repair affordable homes.

RENTAL DEVELOPMENTS STRATEGY

Local Government Contribution Funds will be made available to developers of affordable housing rental units (Very Low and Low Income) for the multi-family, elderly or disabled that are applying for funds through the Florida Housing Finance Corporation. This strategy will be considered on an annual basis as funding is allocated.

DEMOLITION/RECONSTRUCTION (HOUSING REPLACEMENT)

Due to the aging housing stock of very low income and low-income households, an alternative funding mechanism will be utilized for the construction of new homes to replace structures that are unsafe for human habitation and where rehabilitation is beyond feasibility. Funds will be available for households making up to 80% of area median income.

DISASTER STRATEGY

To provide emergency repairs to households making up to 80% of area median income in the aftermath of an Executive Order declared natural disaster to address emergency housing repair needs. Such needs may include tree and debris removal required to make individual units habitable, interim repairs to avoid further damage, and post-disaster assistance with noninsured repairs. Site built homes, as well as mobile homes constructed after June 1994 provided the home is classified as Real Property, are eligible for assistance. Funds may also be used for rental assistance for renter households that have experienced a temporary financial hardship that have been directly affected by the declared disaster that results in missed rental payments and in danger of being evicted. Funds will be available for households making up to 80% of area median income.

Could cannabis be viable treatment?

n June 2016, scientists at the Salk Institute in California published their findings "that THC another compounds found in marijuana care promote the cellular removal of amyloid beta toxic proteins (amyloid plaques) associated with Alzheimer's disease." This was an amazing discovery that could have had a major positive impact on the 6 million Americans presently suffering from this progressive debilitating condition.

Unfortunately, because the federal government considers marijuana, or scientifically named cannabis, a Schedule 1 drug. they forced the Salk Institute to stop the research or lose their funding for other research projects.

In June 2021, the FDA approved the new drug called Aducanumab (Aduhelm) for early Alzheimer's disease. It's a human monoclonal antibody which means it's expensive to produce and has some very unusual side effects.

When they tested this drug in the laboratory, it did dissolve amyloid plaque (like cannabis) but they never did show that in real humans it had any significant efficacy. But for some reason, even over the objection of three FDA advisers who quit over this, the drug passed muster and is now available for a prescription.

Aducanumab has side effects that include microhemorrhages in the

At this rate, total mortality in 2021 will exceed 20% of this formerly endangered, now threatened and perhaps soon-to-beendangered population.

Scientists examining carcasses this year have found many below their expected body weight and displaying atrophy of vital organs. This led them to conclude the main cause of high mortality was starvation, primarily due to the loss of seagrass in and around the Indian River Lagoon on the east side of the state.

Inadequate supplies of this food source can also heighten the susceptibility of these marine mammals to cold spells and affect milk production.

I've visited this area during previous outbreaks of blue-green algae and experienced the horrific sights and smells of rotting marine

Florida's native species as well as natural areas. The website is at www. fnai.org. It should be of particular interest to anyone wanting to learn more about preserving wildlife and habitat. Looking at the interactive map feature, it is easy to see what spaces are left and which ones should be preserved. The idea is to allow ecological greenways or wildlife corridors to keep our native species healthy through migration and expansion of food resources.

Unfortunately, Florida has not done the best job of planning for the future. Urban sprawl has allowed development in many rural areas. This has resulted in some wildlife habitats as being isolated from others. Failure of our wildlife to migrate and exchange genetic information causes inbreeding, which is unhealthy for the many different native species.

Citrus and Hernando counties are faced with such a dilemma. The Withlacoochee State Forest and the Chassahowitzka National Wildlife Refuge are such examples. Both are large areas of protected habitat that need to be con-

Citizens, business owners and motorists are on the short end of an "outstanding debacle."

Our local state legislators, as well as county commissioners, should be pressuring Secretary of bault to make this a priority to resolve these problems amicable sooner rather than later.

With either of these options the proceeds of my small purchase would be used to help other communities in other states.

Rather, I had the opportunity to purchase the headlight locally from Inverness Bicycle & Fitness, right here in Citrus County. I had the pleasure of asking store owner Sherry Bechtel about headlights for my bike. She immediately showed me her products and made sure I got the best one for my needs.

Sherry discussed the great options for cycling in Citrus County and made sure I was aware of the many bike trails in our community. And best of all, the small profits from my purchase will help our local economy and help her business.

In response to the (Sunday, Aug. 8, Page C2) Sound Off, "Please put information in day before." The person says the food giveaway should be posted a day before because some people don't read the paper until 12 o'clock and this way they can get there. My question is, if you do pick up your food, why don't you ask them when they are going to do it again? So when you pick up your food, ask the people, "When will you be doing this again?" Then make sure you thank them.

Tax assessments confusing

Notifications of various tax assessments in the newspaper are confusing (Tuesday, Aug. 3, Pages A7 and B4). I called the Citrus County Land Section phone number listed under one of the three assessments, but no one knew what was in the newspaper, nor how to explain it to me. I was told to wait until I received a letter, if it applied to me. Hope the letter carrier delivers whatever they're sending.

Better programming needed on TV

It's getting more and more difficult to find any programs on television worth watching. It seems that most of the programs scheduled are some empty-headed dolts who are within the hair's breadth of finding boundless treasures in gold. Well, whenever I see those on, I watch something else and come back at the end to see the result and it's always the same. I never see an ounce of gold.

Not everyone has a computer

In the paper is a message to say, "Where were you on Sept. 11, 2001?" and to give the comments, but they don't have a phone number. You know, not everybody has a computer, so maybe they can put in a phone number. Thank you.

Don't complain about money for kids

I'm calling in about the seniors complaining because they don't get extra money and because Social Security don't pay enough. First of all, they got all these payments since COVID started — it's because they are on Social Security - of $1,400 and $1,400 and $600 and $614. We've got all of them and none of us lost jobs. Maybe a few people did, but the majority of senior citizens did not lose their jobs. They're retired. They did not lose their Social Security. They're retired. And they have the same payments that they had two months before all this started and they didn't even need it. Most people didn't even need the money because they're retired, not working and their retirements are secured. So for you to fuss, saying they don't need to give $300 for a child's stuff and you have got all this extra...

Longer time needed for Sound Off

This is totally for the Chronicle, concerning the Sound Off line: You don't even let the Sound Off people be able to express their ideas. I can talk as loud as I can, talk fast as I can talk and I can't get through more than three or four sentences, which is about onethird of what some people put in here. You need to lengthen the process of the Sound Off column because you don't even have time to get your point across. If you want to have a Sound Off, extend the timeframe. As for the letters, cut them.

Old Subway a good location

I am reading the Sound Off in Friday's paper. July 30 (Page A10). There's someone in there who responded to someone about a Jersey Mike's coming to Crystal River. First of all, he didn't have to be as nasty as he was. Second, there are empty buildings around that can be filled. There's no need to buy a permit, buy land or buy anything like that. The one that opened in Inverness went into an empty building and we have the perfect empty building for our Jersey Mike's in Crystal River — the old Subway shop near the Publix shopping center. It would be a perfect place for Jersey Mike's. Think before you speak. Have a nice day. God bless all.

Get together and make it happen

Why don't all you people that are complaining there's no Starbucks here get together, buy a franchise and open a store? Simple.

Encounters with road issues

How many people realize that the county commissioners' road (department) is not open on Fridays? They're closed. Monday through Thursday, they work. Friday, Saturday and Sunday, they have a three-day weekend, which is not why I'm calling. I'm calling because there's a stop sign down. Two accidents actually almost happened this morning and guess what? We had a message that they might get to it on Monday. I called the county commissioners' office and they said, "Leave a message, they'll get to it Monday." It's interesting how our county works.

We should have options in power

Sunday's paper, talking about Duke Energy (in the Aug. 1, Page C4 Sound Off, "Duke energy bills out of control"). Well, let me tell you, Duke Energy themselves is out of control. What about all the money that they billed us for a new plant that never got built? What about all of that money? Now they need a raise? Not to mention we should be able to buy our energy from anywhere in the U.S.

Proper establishment indeed would be nice

This is reference to the Saturday, July 31, Sound Off wherein the caller stated a proper tea establishment would be nice in downtown Beverly Hills (Page A10). I totally agree with you. That has been my passion for years. I frequent many tea parlors. We should talk, but how are we going to do it?

New Chronicle carrier does a great job

I just wanted to thank our carrier that we have. He's been right on time, early in the morning, which I like also. Even with this rain and everything we've been having, it's always dry. He's doing a fantastic job. We used to have Sandra Ingram and I hope she's doing well, God bless her. I was wondering if this guy that throws our paper is a baseball player because he does such a great job. He actually gets it up to our garage door. OK, I just wanted to give kudos to the new carrier and I hope Sandra is doing fine. Thank you so much.

More deaths in this and future years from starvation and recurrent red tide and blue-green algae outbreaks are inevitable.

The report tabulated manatee deaths by county and cause. Citrus County accounted for 19 due to boat collisions and other causes, none of which related to seagrass loss

Presumably, most of the sea cows I run into year-round reside here and are acquainted with the locations of vital food sources. Such familiarity with the local environment may enhance their survivability relative to their snowbird cousins that migrate as far north as New England to spend their summer months.

Our resident population has no natural enemies; their biggest fear is the most dangerous of species speeding along in their power boats.

Brevard, Volusia and Indian River counties, which border the 156-mile-long Indian River, Mosquito Lagoon and Banana River complex accounted for about half of manatee deaths.

As one of the nation's most biodiverse estuary systems supporting a nationally renowned fishery and offering sustenance to thousands of these giant herbivores, the ecosystem has been degraded by decades of water pollution resulting from human activity.

Algal super blooms nourished by the high nutrient loads have blocked sunlight from reaching the once abundant seagrass, leading to its demise.

I've suspended my forays to this area to fish for redfish, seatrout and snook. Many anglers residing in Orlando and the surrounding area interested in fishing for these species now head west instead of east.

A large multi-agency Indian River Lagoon estuary program, created six years ago to nurse the area back to health, is underway. In addition, a 15-year effort by the Florida Department of Environmental Protection focused on muck removal and septic to sewer conversions.

I share the scientific community's deep concern about the loss of habitat along the Atlantic coast and its impacts on this aquatic relative of the elephant. These events also got me thinking about the implications and potential ramifications for Citrus County.

Generations of manatees have migrated southward to spend their winters in Florida following ancestral routes leading to natural warm water habitats containing abundant forage.

The average 1,000-pound manatee can consume up to 10% (100 pounds) of its body weight daily or upwards of 9,000 pounds over a three-month stay.

Multiply that by a few hundred individuals and, well, you get the picture.

If, indeed, the roots of these chewed-off plants survive, similar programs should be implemented on the East coast. In addition to offering nourishment, they'd assist in holding bottom sediments in place ists and tour operators, but I believe it author of "Kayak Fishing."

would be too much of a good thing.

Anyone familiar with the life history of manatees who has observed their masses huddled together around Three Sisters Springs has to wonder how such close contact between normally solitary animals isn't already causing a good deal of stress.

How could they not already be exceeding the limited carrying capacity of this confined refuge sanctuary?

Challenges already evident in managing public uses of our waterways would expand. More snorkelers and kayakers would lead to more harassment and further stress on the sea cows.

Good luck to the volunteers attempting to monitor adherence to the manatee manners program. Increases in the number of anglers and boaters projected to visit our area will lead to more collisions, rescues and rehabilitation efforts.

Good luck to local officials, wildlife refuge staff and other personnel with oversight responsibilities in the manatee capital of the world.

RV resort could have serious impacts

Here we go again the RV resort on the Plantation golf course is back. This time they are bringing their lawyers.

The Crystal River Council will vote on this, which brings me to my first question. Why isn't this a county issue?

How could Crystal River allow something that would seriously impact our entire groundwater, rivers, lakes and bays system?

Problem is, when someone shows up with money and lawyers, it is my opinion they can get absolutely anything they want. Here are some examples of a few issues together with my entirely imaginary official response on each issue.

Issue — the County Master Plan would have to change. Response no problem, the master plan is only a guide anyway. Issue — this would require rezoning. Response — that's easy, we can change the zoning. Issue — Fort Island Trail and the intersection with U.S. 19 could not handle the extra traffic. Response — we will spend city and county money to improve this road. Issue the intent to raise the entire site above flood plain would require substantial fill that could be unstable in a major storm. Response — no need to raise the site above flood plain. Issue — stormwater run-off could damage or flood neighboring properties. Response — so sorry, nothing we can do about that. Issue — stormwater run-off would pollute King's Bay. Response SWFWMD will provide a permit. Issue — there would be trailers on wheels that could float away in a major storm. Response — we're sure the RV people will take care of that. Issue — digging four feet below sea level to create a network of lakes could destabilize the subsoil and water table. Response — we'll look into that and publish a report in a couple of years. Issue — digging a canal to access King's Bay would violate the manatee protection plan. Response — the protection plan is not law so there is nothing we can do about it. Issue — RV people, like boaters on the rivers and bays, will have drunken, noisy parties that will disturb neighboring properties.  $Response-we \ do \ not$ have a noise ordinance, so feel free. Had enough? Regardless of all that, I predict this RV Resort will be approved. And that would be one more nail in the Citrus County coffin!

The Smithsonian's Water/Ways exhibition dives into water-an essential component of life on our planet, environmentally, culturally, and historically.

In societies across the globe, water serves as a source of peace and contemplation. Many faiths revere water as a sacred symbol. Authors and artists are inspired by the complex character of water – a substance that is seemingly soft and graceful that is yet a powerful and nearly unstoppable force.

Water also plays a practical role in American society. The availability of water affected settlement and migration patterns. Access to water and control of water resources have long been a central part of political and economic planning. Human creativity and resourcefulness provide new ways of protecting water resources and renewing respect for the natural environment.

Water/Ways is part of Museum on Main Street, a collaboration between the Smithsonian Institution and Florida Humanities. Support for the exhibition and programming was provided through a grant from Florida Humanities with funds from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Siri's a dud. Well, not quite. As you can change Siri's voice on an iPhone, you can also change it on your Mac computer or laptop.

The English voice choices were; Irish, British, South African, Indian and Australian. Here's where the dud part comes in. Except for the Aussie voice, all the others sounded pretty much the same. No charming Irish brogue!

WORLDWIDE CALL CENTERS

Recently, I had occasion to call my cell phone company. I reached Jasmine. I'm pretty certain Jasmine was located in the Philippines, and I guess she was working from home.

Why did I think that? In the middle of our conversation, I heard a rooster crow several times. Checked the local time in the Philippines. It was 4:45 a.m. so the rooster made sense. That was a first!

CELL PHONE INSURANCE

When you get a new cell phone, should you purchase cell phone insurance? If you lose or damage it, that's a big expense.

Depending on your carrier, prices range from $7 to $17 monthly for a single phone.

The good news is that there are alternatives to your carriers' insurance. First, check your credit cards. When you pay your monthly bill with that card, they may offer free cell phone protection with a deductible. If your card doesn't offer that, do an online search to find a card that does.

APPLE URGENT ALERT

In July, Apple issued an alert for iOS (iPhone), iPadOS (iPad) and macOS (Mac desktop, laptop). The issue is that a hacker could take over your device and do anything.

You need to update now to version 14.7.1 for iPhone and Mac. Unless you have selected auto update for all your devices, you will need to do this manually.

For iPhone iOS, go to Settings > General > Software Update. For macOS, click the Apple at the top upper left > About This Mac > Software Update > Update Now.

In the future, when you see that little red circle telling you you need to update your software, don't ignore it. Update!

READER TIP

A tip from Thomas Kennedy, our local school board member, whom I saw recently. He told me that his family uses Life360, an app that gives you peace of mind regarding your kids. Even though his kids are grown, they continue to use it.

Life360's features are Roadside Assistance, ID Theft Protection, Disaster Response, Medical Assistance, Travel Support, Location Safety, Driving Safety and Digital Safety.

Do you have a new driver in the family? The app can send you a weekly driving summary of their driving habits with total miles, top speed, phone usage, hard breaking and rapid acceleration.

If they have a breakdown, the live agent is just a tap away and can provide roadside assistance, medical support, travel support and more.

Tom told me that his wife gives him extra items to get when it says he is at Publix or Walmart.

There's a free app in the Apple App Store, as well as subscription versions.

business mentor.

Basically, any area of your life in which you need guidance or accountability, there's a mentor for that.

These relationships don't appear out of thin air. You need to seek out a mentor and put in the work to see results.

FINDING A MENTOR

Approaching someone and asking "Will you be my mentor?" feels a little awkward. But mentorship doesn't need to be that formal.

"I think the most valuable mentorships are the ones that arrive more organically," says Alison Green, creator of Ask a Manager, a work advice website.

Find someone you connect with, whether at work, in your social circle or in your spiritual community, and start having deeper conversations. Ask for their perspective and use them as a sounding board.

That person may be two decades your senior, or they may be close to For more information about Nature Coast SCORE, call 352-249-1236. To learn more about SCORE, visit score.org or call 800-634-0245.

your age.

In some cases, a mentor closer in age can better relate to your experiences at the workplace, in relationships and in life, Green says. It's still fresh for them.

There are situations where a structured, formal mentorship is the way to go. If you're trying to start a business, for example, you need someone who sees your vision and has the expertise to help you execute it.

That person may not already exist in your orbit. But you can find them through organizations like SCORE, a national volunteer organization that offers free business mentorship.

Whether you want to excel as a manager, save for retirement or become more involved with your house of worship, defining your goal can help narrow your mentor search, says Bridget Weston, CEO of SCORE.

"Try to understand your goals and what you want out of a mentor relationship," Weston says. "Then you can approach them and say, 'This is what I'm looking for. Does this work for you?'

MAKING IT WORK

A mentorship is a relationship, and even the easiest relationships require time, energy and focus. You also need to be open and vulnerable.

Don't hold back: Confessing your fears and doubts won't happen on day one, meeting one. But as the mentorship grows, try to open up.

"You have to gel with your mentor in order to make the most of that relationship," Weston says. "If you're holding back or not being 100% authentic, you're not going to get the most out of it.'

Special to the Chronicle

SECO Energy's Pennies from Heaven program recently donated $12,305 to local animal shelters and rescues.

In February, the not-forprofit electric cooperative announced that for every new Surge MitiGator meter-based surge protection lease enrollment or purchase, members could choose a shelter or rescue to receive a $5 donation on their behalf.

Between Feb. 1 to June 15, 2,461 members enrolled in SECO's Surge MitiGator surge protection product that resulted in donations to Citrus, Lake, Marion and Sumter counties.

The total allocated in Citrus County is $1,800 donated to the following shelters:

Critterville, Inc. — $200

Citrus County Animal Services - $500

Humane Society of Citrus County — $500 Precious Paws Rescue

Inc. — $200

St. Francis's Sunny Side Up Farm Animal Rescue $200

Ziggy's Haven Parrot Sanctuary - $200

"We are very honored and extremely appreciative to SECO Energy and its members for this donation," Humane Society of Citrus County vice president Karron Curtis said.

"The Humane Society of Citrus County has been serving the citizens and the animals of Citrus County since 1978," Curtis said. "We are a nonprofit organization and would not be able to exist without the support of the wonderful businesses and citizens of this community."

If you don't feel comfortable doing so after a few sessions, consider finding a different mentor, says Jennifer Jones, founder of Cosmopolitan Plated, a culinary company in Arlington, Virginia, that offers group cooking classes and team-building events.

"It's like dating someone. You need three dates to figure out who they are," says Jones, who has a life coach and a business mentor. "If after that third meeting you realize it isn't working, kindly tell them. They will understand."

■ Do the work: This isn't a college class where you can skim the assignment five minutes beforehand and wing it during the class discussion.

To get the most out of your mentorship, take notes during meetings, prepare questions in advance and, most importantly, work on the things you say you will.

"Here's the catch: If you're not working on them, they don't mean anything to you," Jones says. "If they don't mean anything to you, either you're in the wrong mentor/mentee relationship or you are not ready."

■ Close the loop: Find ways to show your appreciation and build the relationship. This step can be as simple as telling your mentor how you put their advice into action.

'If you have a big conversation with them about an issue you're grappling with, come back to them and tell them what you ended up deciding. Close that loop," Green says. "It's so gratifying when someone comes back to you and says, 'Here's what I did and here's how your advice helped me."

Wendy's plans to open 700 delivery-only kitchens by 2025 to meet the growing demand from people who want their fast food brought to them.

Wendy's said the kitchens will primarily operate in big cities in the U.S., Canada and the United Kingdom, where the chain Group. That rose to 8.4% has fewer brick-andmortar stores. The hamburger chain will open its Wendy's is partnering with Reef Technology Inc., a Miami company that runs 5,000 delivery kitchens in 30 cities worldwide.

In a conference call with investors Wednesday, Wendy's President and CEO Todd Penegor said Reef will build the locations and hire workers for the kitchens, each of which are expected to see sales of $500,000 to $1 million per year. Wendy's will get royalties of around 6% of sales.

parties like DoorDash, Uber Eats and Grubhub will deliver the food.

Demand for restaurant delivery was already growing before the pandemic but surged when restaurants closed their dining rooms last year. Delivery accounted for 3.3% of U.S. restaurant traffic in the year that ended in June 2019, according to NPD in the year that ended in June 2021.

Wendy's said its digital first 50 delivery kitchens sales — which includes this year. delivery and mobile or-Dublin, Ohio-based ders for pickup - hit 7.5% of total sales in the second quarter of this year. That's up from 2.5% in 2019.

Wendy's said it decided to expand its delivery-only kitchens with Reef after a successful test in Canada, where it opened eight kitchens late last year.

Wendy's isn't the first fast food chain to explore socalled ghost kitchens, which have no storefront and only prepare food for delivery. In 2019, Chick-fil-A began offering delivery from a DoorDash Kitchen Wendy's said third in Northern California.

enting an apartment or house is a cost-effective option for anyone who's making their first foray into the real estate world or moving somewhere new — no home remodeling costs! No cost of selling a house to worry about! but living in a temporary space can cramp anyone's interior design game. Although you pay a monthly rent, someone else ultimately owns the property and your rental agreement dictates what you can and cannot do to the space. Chances are, you can't drill big holes into the walls, add a carpet to your bedroom or replace your kitchen's awful backsplash.

rnamental flowering ginger plants are popular as houseplants, patio accents in large containers and as garden specimens. Gardeners need to be aware that these perennial tropical plants go dormant below 50°F and roots and rhizomes (underground stems) can freeze right through the pot during a frigid winter in northern Central Florida. If leaving perennial ginger rhizomes in the ground, they may need an inch or two of top mulch as insulation from the cold.

Several ornamental flowering gingers are readily available to gardeners at retail nurseries or online. Growers clone plants identical to the parent stock plant. Plant breeders have many named cultivars.

In spring, late May in Jane's zone 8b-9a garden, flowering gingers send up new stems and/or leaves directly from the rhizomes. Different species grow leaves of different heights and shapes. Flower stems rise separately from the leaves. Many ginger species have unusual flower forms and sizes.

Dear John: I have a cup commemorating the coronation of Edward VIII in 1937. It has a lovely picture of the King. The cup is in mint condition as it has always been in a display case. On the bottom of the cup, it has Radford, a crown, Crown China, Made in England, and a gold number 7189. The rim is also done in gold. I am sure there are collectors somewhere. Can you give me an idea of where and how much you think it might be worth? — N.L., internet

Dear N.L.: In the category of British Royalty commemorative memorabilia, your coronation cup of Edward VIII is low on the totem pole of collector interest. Potential dollar value is below $50.

Tips for recovering from food poisoning

Food poisoning is an illness caused by eating something contaminated by infectious organisms such as bacteria, parasites or viruses. Symptoms may appear within a few hours or days of eating the contaminated food, and they can include nausea, vomiting, cramps, diarrhea and fever. Here are some tips to help you deal with food poisoning and recognize when it's serious.

HOW TO TREAT IT

In most cases, this illness resolves itself within a few days. If you suspect you have food poisoning, you should take the same steps as you would to treat gastroenteritis (the stomach flu). In particular, health-care experts recommend that you:

- Isolate yourself from other members of your household in case you actually have gastroenteritis, which is highly contagious.
- Drink plenty of water and fluids with electrolytes to prevent or treat dehydration, especially if you experience vomiting or diarrhea.
- Eat healthy, bland foods that are gentle on your stomach such as rice, plain mashed potatoes, bananas and toast.

Since food poisoning can leave you weak and tired, be sure to take it easy and rest until you recover.

WHEN TO SEE A DOCTOR

Infants and young children, pregnant women, older adults and people with chronic conditions are more at risk of developing serious complications from food poisoning. Seek immediate medical attention if you experience any of the following symptoms:

- Persistent vomiting for more than 24 hours
- Bloody vomit or stools, or black stools
- Diarrhea that lasts more than three days
- Inability to keep liquids down over the course of 12 hours
- Diarrhea and a fever higher than 38 C (100.4 F)

Finally, keep in mind that food poisoning is more common in the summer because the higher temperatures promote bacteria growth. Therefore, keep food out of the sun during barbecues and picnics, and avoid eating anything that's been sitting out for too long.

6 habits for healthy eyes

Did you know that many common ocular health problems can be prevented by adopting a few simple habits? Set your sights on good vision and healthy eyes by following these proven tips.

- 1. Remember to blink regularly, especially while looking at your phone or computer screen. Make sure your eyes close completely with each blink.
- 4. Don't look directly at sources of bright light, such as the sun and headlights from oncoming traffic, and lower the brightness of your screens.
- 5. Wear sunglasses that offer full protection against both UVA and UVB rays. You can pick up a well-

- 2. Add foods to your diet that are rich in vitamins A, C and E as well as lutein and zinc. Eggs, legumes and dark, leafy greens are all great picks.
- 3. Quit or avoid smoking altogether, as it increases your risk of uveitis, a form of eye inflammation that can lead to permanent vision loss.

made pair at your optometrist's clinic.

6. Take 20-second screen breaks every 20 minutes by focusing your eyes on something that's at least 20 feet away.

Finally, be sure to schedule an eye exam with your optometrist every one to two years.

Cool facts about brain freeze

Many people are familiar with the brief hind your nose. These are linked to the but sharp pain felt in the forehead and temples while eating ice cream or drinking a cold beverage. In fact, brain freeze is one of the most common types of headache. Here's an overview of this cool phenomenon.

HOW IT HAPPENS

When something cold comes in contact with the roof of your mouth or the back of your throat, it causes the nearby blood vessels to constrict. This triggers a rush of blood to the area that widens these vessels in an attempt to restore warmth and proper blood flow.

The reason you experience pain when this happens is because there's a bundle of highly sensitive nerves located just be-trigeminal nerve in the brain, which is responsible for providing sensation to the face. This is why you might experience brain freeze in your temples, forehead or behind your eyes, even though the source of the cold is in your mouth.

HOW TO TREAT IT

A simple cure for an ice cream headache is to warm up the affected blood vessels. You can do this by firmly pressing your tongue to the roof of your mouth until the pain dissipates. Alternatively, you can take a few slow sips of a warm beverage.

If you want to avoid brain freeze altogether, without giving up your favorite frozen treats, remember not to rush and to take small bites or sips.
