POLL

What do you think?

Citrus Countians are currently divided on the construction of an interchange at County Road 486 off of the Suncoast Parkway. What do you think?

A. There are too many interchanges planned in Citrus. This one isn't necessary.

B. Make a temporary terminus at C.R. 486 and let the community decide if it needs to stay in the future. C. An interchange at 486 would dump traffic in an already congested area.

Don't do it. D. The proposed location is a fine, centrally located exit in Citrus.

County: State restricts noise law on the water

MIKE WRIGHT Staff writer

Citrus County commissioners in June promised Homosassa residents a noise ordinance to combat rowdy boaters.

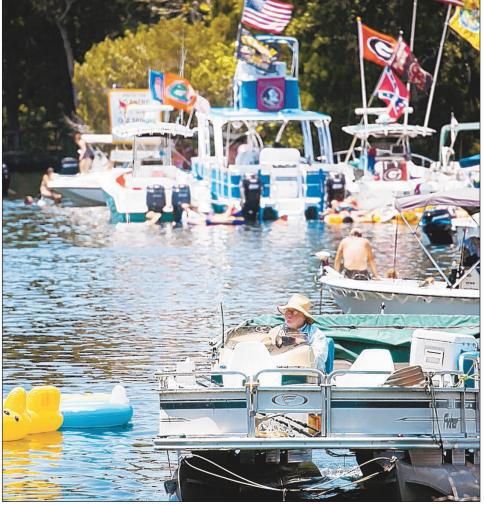

On Tuesday, they'll decide exactly what that is — and isn't.

Citrus County officials learned a state law prohibits them from enacting any specific restriction on the water related to noise except for one: 90 decibels at 50 feet, according to the agenda for Tuesday, July 27, meeting.

They're also relying on a 2005 attorney general's opinion from, coincidentally, a Citrus County case in relation to a proposed noise ordinance to combat nighttime airboats that was more restrictive than the statutory limit.

County commissioners, after hearing irom Homosassa residents wno say the head springs and adjacent canals are clogged with loud boaters, said they wanted to consider an ordinance restricting noise in that area.

County Attorney Denise Dymond Lyn, in an agenda memo, says state law restricts counties to the one specific noise regulation of no more than 60 decibels at 50 feet. The proposed ordinance reflects that, along with a second-degree misdemeanor for anyone who refuses to submit to a sound detector test by a law

Florida man's walk on water ends short of goal

BUNNELL — A man in a cylindrical floating contraption washed ashore in Florida Saturday in an apparent attempt to walk on water to New York.

The Flagler County Sheriff's Office reported that the man left St. Augustine in the vessel with the goal of reaching New York. The department posted photos of the vessel on Facebook.

WOFL-TV in Orlando reported the man was trying to raise money for charity.

"My goal is to not only raise money for homeless people, raise money for the Coast Guard, raise money for the police department, raise money for the fire department. They are in public ser vice, they do it for safety and they help other people," Reza Baluchi told the station.

It wasn't Baluchi's first time trying to cross Atlantic waters in a flotation device. In 2014, the U.S. Coast Guard rescued him while he tried to reach Bermuda from Florida in a homemade "hyrdo pod."

On a quiet weekend, 'Old' tops box office, 'Snake Eyes' sinks

M. Night Shyamalan's "Old" easily won a slower weekend at the North American box office, while the G.I. Joe pic "Snake Eyes" lived up to its name.

Although both fresh offerings from major studios, moviegoers turned out in modest numbers on a weekend where there was the notable distraction of the Olympics as well as rising concerns about the delta variant.

Universal on Sunday said that "Old" grossed an estimated $16.5 million. Paramount's "Snake Eyes" origin story brought in an estimated $13.4 million in ticket sales.

While not wildly far apart in grosses, "Snake Eyes," starring Henry Golding as the warriorin-training, cost significantly more with a reported $88 million price tag, excluding advertising.

Meanwhile "Old," starring Gael García Bernal and Vicky Krieps as the heads of a family whose tropical vacation turns into a horror when they begin to rapidly age, was independently financed for around $18 million. Including international grosses, "Old," which is based on the graphic novel "Sandcastle," grossed $23 million worldwide in its first weekend.

"It's an extraordinary debut," said Jim Orr, Universal's head of distribution. "M. Night Shyamalan is an amazing filmmaker and one of the best in the industry."

Orr said he also expects "Old" will continue to play well in the coming weeks.

Neither audiences nor critics reviewed the two new films especially well. "Old" has a 52% on Rotten Tomatoes and got a C+

CinemaScore, while "Snake Eyes" is currently at 42% on Rotten Tomatoes with a B- Cinema-Score, which historically does not bode well for long-term potential.

Disney and Marvel's "Black Widow" crept ahead to third place with $11.6 million, bringing its global total to $314.9 million, while last week's No. 1 film "Space Jam: A New Legacy" grossed $9.6 million, down 69% from last weekend. Both are available to watch at home too: "Space Jam" is streaming on HBO Max, while Disney+ subscribers can rent "Black Widow" for $30.

"This is part of the natural ebb and flow of the box office as we are still on the road to recovery. " said Paul Dergarabedian, the senior media analyst for Comscore. "You're going to have bigger weekends, and you're going to have smaller weekends. It's still an unusual marketplace."

The entire North American box office weekend generated around $68 million in revenue, according to Comscore. It's a far cry from just three weeks ago when "Black Widow" alone made $80 million.

But, Dergarabedian said, it's also worth noting where the box office was a year ago when drive-ins were the only option and the weekend grosses totaled just $746,000.

"How much the industry has recovered over the course of one year is nothing short of astounding," Dergarabedian said. "We're in a really good spot and next weekend, when 'Jungle Cruise' opens, should be a solid weekend as well."

Standup perfected amused outrage

NEW YORK — Jackie Mason, a rabbi-turned-comedian whose feisty brand of standup comedy led him to Catskills nightclubs, West Coast talk shows and Broadway stages, has died. He Mason died Saturday at 6 p.m. ET at Mt. Sinai Hospital in Manhattan after being hospitalized for over two weeks, the celebrity lawyer Raoul Felder told The Associated Press.

The irascible Mason was known for his sharp wit and piercing social commentary, often about being Jewish, men and women and his own inadequacies. His typical style was amused outrage.

"Eighty percent of married men cheat in America. The rest cheat in Europe," he once joked. Another Mason line was: "Politics doesn't make strange bedfellows, marriage does." About himself, he once said: "I was so self-conscious, every time football players went into a huddle; I thought they were talking about me.'

His death was mourned far and wide, from fellow comedian Gilbert Gottfried, who called him "one of the best," to Fox News Channel personality Sean Hannity, who hailed Mason as "irreverent, iconoclastic, funny, smart and a great American patriot." Henry Winkler tweeted: "Now you get to make heaven

"A person has to feel emotionally barren or empty or frustrated in order to become a comedian," he told The Associated Press in 1987. "I don't think people who feel comfortable or happy are motivated to become comedians. You're searching for something and you're willing to pay a high price to get that attention.'

Mason started in show busi-Mason was born Jacob Maza, ness as a social director at a rethe son of a rabbi. His three sort in the Catskills. He was the guy who got everybody up to play Simon Says, quiz games or shuffleboard. He told jokes, too. After one season, he was playing

"Nobody else knew me, but in the mountains, I was a hit," Mason recalled

In 1961, the pint-sized comic on Steve Allen's weekly television variety show. His success brought him to "The Ed Sullivan Show" and other programs.

He was banned for two years from the "Sullivan" show when he allegedly gave the host the finger when Sullivan signaled to him to wrap up his act during an appearance on Oct. 18, 1964.

Mason's act even carried him to Broadway, where he put on several one-man shows, includ-

"Love Thy Neighbor" in 1996 and "The World According to Me" in 1988, for which he received a special Tony Award.

"I feel like Ronald Reagan togot a big break, an appearance night," Mason joked on Tony night. "He was an actor all his life, knew nothing about politics and became president of the United States. I'm an ex-rabbi who knew nothing about acting and I'm getting a Tony Award."

Mason called himself an observer who watched people and learned. From those observations he said he got his jokes and then tried them out on friends. "I'd rather make a fool of myself in front of two people for nothing "Freshly Squeezed" in 2005, ing than a thousand people who paid for a ticket," he told the AP. His humor could leap from computers and designer coffee to then-Sen. John Kerry, former Israeli Prime Minister Ariel Sharon and Donald Trump. He was able to articulate the average Joe's anger, making the indignities of life seem funny and maybe just a little bit more bearable. "I very rarely write anything down. I just think about life a lot and try to put it into phrases that will get a joke," he said. "I never do a joke that has a point that I don't believe in. To me, the message and the joke is the same."

On TV, Mason was a reliable presence, usually with a cameo on such shows as "30 Rock" or "The Simpsons" or as a reliable guest on late night chat shows. He performed in front of Britain's Queen Elizabeth II and his show "Fearless" played London's West End in 2012.

He portrayed a Jewish expajama salesman in love with an Irish-Catholic widow portrayed by Lynn Redgrave in a series called "Chicken Soup" in 1989 but it didn't last. During the O.J. Simpson murder trial, the British Broadcasting Corp.'s Scottish service hired Mason as a weekly commentator. He was in "Caddyshack II," a notorious flop.

Mason's humor sometimes went too far, as when he touched off a controversy in New York while campaigning for GOP mayoral candidate Rudolph Giuliani against Democrat David Dinkins, who was Black. Mason had to apologize after saying, among other things, that Jews would vote for Dinkins out of guilt

Felder, his longtime friend, told the AP that Mason had a Talmudic outlook on life: "That whatever you would say to him, he would start an argument with

Letter showed some honest insight

I just want to thank Mr. Clark for his honest and insightful letter, "Goodbye to what we know and love."

I don't know you, but you are the first person I have read to truly understand the dilemma of a true Floridian. This has been going on for

The building on waterways, the shops and restaurants, the destroying of our natural habitat for the animals, the poor manatees, the birds and all other creatures who have been run out of their homes. I feel the exact same way.

I worked for DNR Game and Fish, trying my best to make people understand how precious our land and waters are. Most people here do not care. What was it the Lord said on the cross? "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do."

This is how people treat the world? Yes. All for the love of money. They should all be ashamed of their behavior.

May we never return to time sans vaccines

Since the Spanish Flu, scientists have kept us safe from another pandemic for 100 years. How? Scientists developed vaccines, antiviral drugs, antibiotics, community mitigation techniques to prevent contagion, and developed international health organizations that monitor worldwide diseases: we learned.

epidemics such as smallpox, polio, tuberculosis, and diphtheria? Scientists continued learning and researching and developed vaccines to prevent these diseases.

Terrifying diseases such as leprosy and bubonic plague are almost non-existent due to antibiotics. Look up images of the ravages of smallpox or the horrors of the choking death of diphtheria or the slow-wasting death of tuberculosis. Whole families died as they were the caregivers. Measles, mumps, and chickenpox are potentially fatal and survivors often suffer from serious after-effects, but our children are vaccinated and we no longer have to be afraid of these diseases. We epidemic has killed countless people and caused thousands of paralyzed people to have to live in iron lungs. Parents lived in fear and terror every time their children went out to play or go to school. We, the lucky ones, ran to stand in long lines grateful to get the miracle polio vaccine.

We live in a relatively safe world, confident in our health systems. We learned and continue to learn. When we have new diseases we have educated scientists who spend their lives researching ways to cure and prevent them. We learn faster for many reasons. We have had a continually growing base of knowledge to guide us and international communication through the internet to share information immediately. So, when a new type of virus or bacteria breaks through, we build on existing systems to create vaccines and medications to fight the new enemy more quickly than we did in past years.

We are safe from these diseases because we have vaccines to prevent them. Many of us are alive today because research scientists developed these barriers to protect us. When the novel coronavirus burst upon the world, scientists were prepared due to their continuing research with an already-developed platform to create a vaccine that would control its spread. In our lifetime, we have witnessed science conquering diseases and can have full confidence in a new vaccine based on their history of continued success. May we never return to a deadly, terrifying past without vaccines.

Hot Corner: ANIMAL SHELTER

■ (Re the Thursday, July 22, front-page story, "No big changes with county's new budget"): I see $7.5 million our lovely commissioners put in the budget for an animal shelter (Page A2). My goodness, the YMCA cost $8 million. A new high-rise motel cost $8 million. What on earth could possibly make a new animal shelter cost that much money and why are these commissioners pursuing it when the taxpayer adamantly does not want it? There's only one reason why they want this huge boondoggle and we all know what it is, but I digress. We need an 11-member citizens committee that has the authority to approve or shoot down any budgetary expenditure over $50,000 that the commissioners come up with.

■ There's a very simple way to end this debate over the cost of the animal shelter: All you have to do is publish the cost of what they want to do, how much they want to spend on individual items and show the whole picture. Then people will understand why it costs more to build an animal shelter than a 72-room hotel — or maybe they won't.

■ The new animal shelter will be a larger, more humane shelter for abused, neglected, starved, discarded, abandoned animals; also, an animal hospital for animals that come in with injuries so horrible and horrific they need surgery immediately. Hospitals are not cheap.

Rent more desirable out of county

I'm calling in reference to the (Sunday, July 11, front-page story) "Fighting for affordable housing." I totally agree. I had to take two of my family members to other counties so that they can live. They wanted to live closer to me, which I live in Citrus County, and it's a shame. They were willing to pay $750 to $800 a month for rent and I couldn't find them anything at all, anything that was worth it. What I did find was all trashy trailers, you know, and nasty apartments that was full of slumlords, probably. I really, really am very sad about this. They really need to do affordable housing for people of limited income.

Something doesn't seem right

(Re the Saturday, July 10, Page A8 Sound Off, "Time to answer some questions"): I agree with the person in today's paper about the new Inverness hotel costing less than the new animal shelter is supposed to. How can the 72-room hotel cost only $7 million, but the shelter for animals will cost $8 million to $9 million or more?

Dangerous driving all around the county

Something doesn't seem right

The drivers in this town are really getting dangerous. There are so many speeders, tailgaters, red-light runners, people on cellphones and just the ones not paying attention to anyone else. I feel like I'm taking my life in my hands every time I get in my car to go somewhere in Inverness. Crystal River is even

Perfect storm of low wages, unaffordability

I've read recently in the Chronicle about the difficulty that low-wage business owners are having to attract employees. And then another day I read about the booming housing market and no rentals available. So it sounds like a perfect storm. The people that you want to hire can't afford to live here, so they're going to probably move somewhere else where they can afford to live, which doesn't make it any easier to find employees here.

Interchange wasted on evacuation route

Government waste in Citrus County is the County Road 486 interchange for the Suncoast Parkway now that there are plans to extend to U.S. 19 near Red Level. The next 13 miles from State Road 44 to U.S. 19 may be a lifesaving evacuation route if another 1921 hurricane reaches the Tampa Bay area.

Put pool money toward something new

In reference to (the Monday, July 12, front-page story) "Schlabach: Property needs purpose": Beverly Hills is giving them some ideas about a pickleball court or putting in a fountain. The Beverly Hills homeowners had the pool, nobody attended it and we drained it. Then they wanted the pool and they raised money for the pool. Let them take that money and build their pickleball courts. We put enough money as taxpayers into that pool for absolutely nothing. Let them put whatever money they raised for the pool, let them put that for the pickleball court or a fountain.

FCC will take your complaint

To the senior citizen who called in about his or her cable bill going up constantly (in Tuesday's, July 13, Page A9 Sound Off): I hear you. You can lodge a complaint with the Federal Communications Commission at 888-225-5322, as I did. They will investigate the complaint and our cable company will have to provide a rationale for the monthly increases.

My Chinese fortune cookie message the other day was, "Everyone around you is rooting for you. Don't give up!" So, reluctantly, I picked up my spoon and absolutely forced down the rest of my caramelized banana fritters with vanilla ice-cream!

At bridge, it's often the same. Even when things look grim, hunt for a fortunate lie of the cards that will allow you to finish with a clean score sheet. This deal, which I got from Eddie Kantar's first book of lesson notes, would fool most people. Do you see any chance to bring home four hearts after West leads the diamond jack?

Law & Order "Strike '14'

Despite its 10 points, that North hand is only just worth a limit raise. The black-suit queens might be useless, but the five trumps make one loath to settle for two hearts.

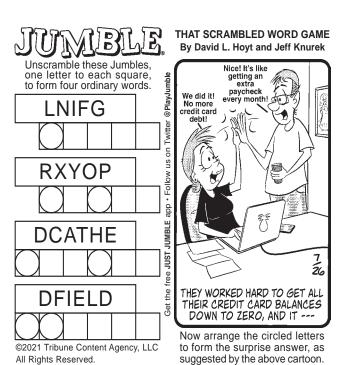

Even if East has ace-doubleton of spades, establishing dummy's spade queen for a discard doesn't help you. So, after winning trick one and drawing trumps, did you continue diamonds, hoping for a 3-3 split? Fair enough, but the defenders will surely cash their three black-suit winners to defeat the contract. Both of them can see what is happening.

You must put up a smokescreen at trick one. You should play the diamond eight from hand.

Thinking he has struck gold, West is virtually certain to continue with another diamond. Then, since the suit breaks 3-3, you have a discard established for one of dummy's club losers. Note, though, that you must make this play smoothly. So, always pause to plan your campaign before playing from the dummy at trick one.

Annie offers advice

Dear Annie: My son is soon to be 23 years old. He was two courses short of earning his Bachelor of Science degree in computer science when something bad happened. He would not tell me what. He fell apart and did not graduate.

That was two years ago. We got him into counseling, and he saw several different counselors; he was in group therapy, and they tried different combinations of antidepressants. They've tried something called transcranial magnetic

DEAR ANNIE

stimulation, which really seemed to work, but then it stopped working.

Now he is considering electroconvulsive therapy. He tells me nothing. He is over 18, so his counselors and doctors will tell me nothing. He asked to be taken to the psychiatric hospital emergency room recently, and he checked himself in for a week.

I decided to tidy up his room, which was an absolute mess. I was also keeping a sharp eye out for anything he may hurt himself with. I found marijuana and some kind of high-tech lung infuser. The marijuana worries me. It won't help with depression, and I did find out that he admitted using it to his psychiatric team. I do not have a clue about how to confront him on it.

I just want my son to get out of the long, dark place where he's been for years now. He could have a fantastic life ahead. He's very smart; he's handsome, literate and fun. Please, where do I start with all this? -- Mom in Need of Miracles

Dear Mom in Need of Miracles: Yes, he could, and potentially will, have a fantastic life. He is going through a rainstorm right now, but after every rainstorm, there is a rainbow, and that will be the case for your son. He is doing all the necessary things to get help. It is so challenging not to be able to go and fix all of your son's problems right away, but with lots of love from you and with professional treatment from the doctors, your son will thrive. The key is for him to find the right therapist, one who will design a treatment program for his depression.

Depression is a disease, and like any disease, it can be either managed or cured. Marijuana may ease his depression in the moment, but it will exacerbate it in the long run. A good therapist will help him see the importance of a zero-tolerance policy for himself.

Dear Annie: Having worked in customer service for over 20 years, I have found that people are usually pretty patient if they are told the truth about the delay and are given an ETA, if possible.

Of course, in this fast and furious world, there are businesses that routinely overbook and short staff. I help them out by reducing their customer base by one.

If I am going to be late for an appointment, I call to let them know so they can see someone else in front of me, or so we can reschedule. -- Considerate

Dear Considerate: You are correct that consideration is number one. What a great suggestion. Thank you.

Tampa residents had role in Cuban revolutions

City supports recent protests

PAUL GUZZO Tampa Bay Times

TAMPA — Locals have taken to the streets in solidarity with those in Cuba protesting the island nation's Communist leadership.

The Tampa City Council approved a resolution voicing their support of the Cuban protestors.

And Tampa Mayor Jane Castor declared on Twitter, "The fight for freedom and against repression is all of our fight."

Tampa, home to the thirdlargest Cuban-American population in the country, has made it clear that Cuban dissidents have their backing — indirectly. But Tampa was once known for getting more directly involved in Cuban revolutions. Residents fought in battles, smuggled guns, fundraised for causes and participated in attacks against the Cuban government.

According to news archives, Tampa's connection to Cuban revolutions began with Cuba's beloved freedom fighter, Jose Cuba declared victory in 1898. Eduardo Chibas was Tampa's next direct link to a Cuban revolution.

In 1929, Chibas was arrested for plotting to assassinate Cuban President Gerardo Machado, a leader known for suppressing freedom of speech through violence.

Exiled from Cuba as punishment, Chibas moved to New York but traveled to Tampa to garner support.

He returned to Cuba after Machado was forced out of power but continued as a vocal leader against political corruption.

Chibas' movement led him back to Tampa in 1950 where he held fundraisers. Tampa Mayor Curtis Hixon welcomed Chibas to the city and provided use of a municipal park for a rally that drew around 3,000. There, Chibas was presented a ring that Marti left in Tampa.

A year later, on live radio in Cuba, Chibas warned that Cuban military officer Fulgencio Batista was planning a coup. Chibas then shot himself in the stomach. He died days later.

Some believe Chibas shot himself to bring attention to his cause, but the definitive motive remains unknown.

the Liberation of Cuba. They later became a Tampa branch of the Miami-based Insurrectional Movement of Revolutionary.

That group then assimilated into the Miami-based Cuba Power organization that threatened actions against any country doing business with Cuba.

In 1968, Cuba Power took credit for an explosion on a Japanese freighter ported in Tampa. An explosives expert from MacDill Air Force Base determined it was set off by a 'chemical long-delay detonator." No one was injured.

Tampa continued to support the Cuban people, but in the peaceful and indirect ways on display today.

For decades, hardliners have held rallies protesting the Cuban government while those who believe engagement is the best way to bring positive change to Cuba have advocated for the end of the embargo.

Pelosi adds to committee 2nd GOP Trump critic appointed

HOPE YEN AND MARY CLARE JALONICK Associated Press

WASHINGTON House Speaker Nancy Pelosi on Sunday named a second Republican critic of Donald Trump, Rep. Adam Kinzinger, to a special committee investigating the Capitol riot and pledged that the Democratic-majority panel will "get to the truth." Kinzinger said he "humbly accepted" the appointment even as his party's leadership is boycotting the inquiry.

With the committee set to hold its first meeting, hearing from police officers who battled the rioters, Pelosi said it was imperative to learn what happened on Jan. 6, when insurrectionists disrupted the congressional certification of Joe Biden's presidential victory, and why the violent siege took place. That mission, she said, must be pursued in a bipartisan manner to ensure "such an attack can never happen again."

Kinzinger, an Illinois Republican, will bring "great patriotism to the committee's mission: to find the facts and protect our Democracy," she said in a statement.

He joins Rep. Liz Cheney of Wyoming, as the two committee's Republicans, both selected by the leader of the opposition party. Kinzinger and Cheney were among the 10 House Republicans to vote for Trump's second impeachment. They were the only two Republicans who voted last month to form the special committee.

"For months, lies and conspiracy theories have been spread, threatening our selfgovernance," Kinzinger said in a statement. "For months, I have said that the American people deserve transparency and truth on how and why thousands showed up to attack our democracy."

"I will work diligently to ensure we get to the truth and hold those responsible for the attack fully accountable," he

House Republican leader Kevin McCarthy has said the GOP will not participate after Pelosi, D-Calif., refused to accept two of the members he picked.

McCarthy, R-Calif., has said the committee was a "sham process" and withdrew his five members when Pelosi rejected two of them, Reps. Jim Banks of Indiana and Jim Jordan of Ohio. Both voted on Jan. 6 against certifying Biden's election victory over Trump and both are outspoken allies of the former president. In a statement Sunday, McCarthy said Pelosi's decision to reject his picks and appoint members "who share her preconceived narrative will not yield a serious investigation" and is intended "to satisfy her political objectives."

Kinzinger and Cheney have faulted Trump as a factor in spurring the insurrection with his persistently false claims that the 2020 election was "stolen" due to voting fraud.

Unnecessary predicament

Top infectious disease expert Dr. Anthony Fauci responds to accusations by Sen. Rand Paul, R-Ky., as he testifies before the Senate Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions Committee, on Capitol Hill in Washington on Tuesday. Cases of COVID-19 have tripled over the past three weeks, and hospitalizations and deaths are rising among unvaccinated people.

Fauci says US headed in 'wrong direction' on virus

Associated Press

WILMINGTON, Del. — The United States is in an "unnecessary predicament" of soaring COVID-19 cases fueled by unvaccinated Americans and the virulent delta variant, the nation's top infectious diseases expert said Sunday.

"We're going in the wrong direction," said Dr. Anthony Fauci, describing himself as "very frustrated.'

He said recommending that the vaccinated wear masks is "under active consideration" by the government's leading public health officials. Also, booster shots may be Fauci, who also serves as President Joe Biden's chief medical adviser, told CNN's "State of the Union" that he has taken part in conversations about altering the mask guidelines.

He noted that some local jurisdictions where infection rates are surging, such as Los Angeles County, are already calling on individuals to wear masks in indoor public spaces regardless of vaccination status. Fauci said those local rules are compatible with the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention recommendation that the vaccinated do not need to wear masks in public.

More than 163 million people, or 49% of the total U.S. population, are fully vaccinated, according to CDC data. Of those eligible for the vaccine, aged 12 and over, the figure rises to 57%.

"This is an issue predominantly suggested for people with the reason why we're out there, said.

cinated people to go out and get vaccinated," Fauci said.

Fauci said government experts are reviewing early data as they consider whether to recommend that vaccinated individuals to get booster shots. He suggested that some of the most vulnerable, such as organ transplant and cancer patients, are "likely" to be recommended for booster shots.

He also praised Republicans, including Govs. Asa Hutchinson of Arkansas and Ron DeSantis of Florida, and the second-ranking House leader, Rep. Steve Scalise of Louisiana, for encouraging their constituents to get vaccinated. Their states have among the lowest vaccination rates in the country.

"What I would really like to see is more and more of the leaders in those areas that are not vaccinating to get out and speak out and encouramong the unvaccinated, which is age people to get vaccinated," Fauci

TUNIS, Tunisia — Tunisia's president fired the country's prime minister Sunday and froze parliament's activities after violent demonstrations over the country's pandemic and economic situation.

Protesters erupted with celebration in the streets of Tunis after the late-night announcement.

President Kais Saied also lifted the immunity of all parliament members and said he would name a new prime minister in the coming hours to bring calm to the country. He used a special constitutional measure allowing him to assume executive power and freeze parliament for an unspecified period of time until normal institutional workings can be restored.

"We have taken these decisions ... until social peace returns to Tunisia and until we save the state," he said in a televised address after an emergency security meeting following nationwide protests.

Bus swerves off road in Croatia: 10 killed, 44 hurt

ZAGREB, Croatia — A bus swerved off a highway and crashed in Croatia early Sunday after the driver apparently fell asleep, killing 10 people and injuring at least 44 others - some of them seriously, authorities said.

The crash happened about 6 a.m. near the town of Slavonski Brod on the highway between the Croatian capital of Zagreb and the Serbian border, a key artery over the summer due to tourists and workers coming home from Western Europe. Police said the bus had Kosovo license plates and was traveling from Frankfurt, Germany, to Kosovo's capital of Pristina, which is south of Serbia.

Officials said the bus was carrying 67 passengers, including children, and two drivers, one of whom died in the crash. The 44 injured were transferred to local hospitals. Slavonski Brod hospital chief Josip Samardzic said eight people had serious injuries.

Authorities said the bus driver was detained after he apparently lost control of the vehicle after briefly falling asleep.

INDIAN FALLS, Calif. California's largest wildfire merged with a smaller blaze and destroyed homes in remote areas with limited access for firefighters, as numerous other fires gained strength and threatened property across the U.S. West.

The massive Dixie Fire, which started July 14, had already leveled over a dozen houses and other structures when it combined with the Fly Fire and tore through the tiny Northern California community of Indian Falls after dark Saturday.

An updated damage estimate was not available Sunday, though fire officials said the blaze had charred nearly 298 square miles acres of timber and brush in Plumas and Butte counties. It was 21% contained.

Even Biles suffers mistakes heading into Tuesday's finals

AP sports writer

TOKYO — The trouble started early. A step out of bounds on floor exercise here. A short landing there.

Over the course of two hours on Sunday, the mistakes — some almost imperceptible, some laid bare for the world to see — kept piling up, chipping away at the aura USA Gymnastics has built over the past decade. Not even the greatest of all time was immune to the realities of a sport where perfection is unattainable.

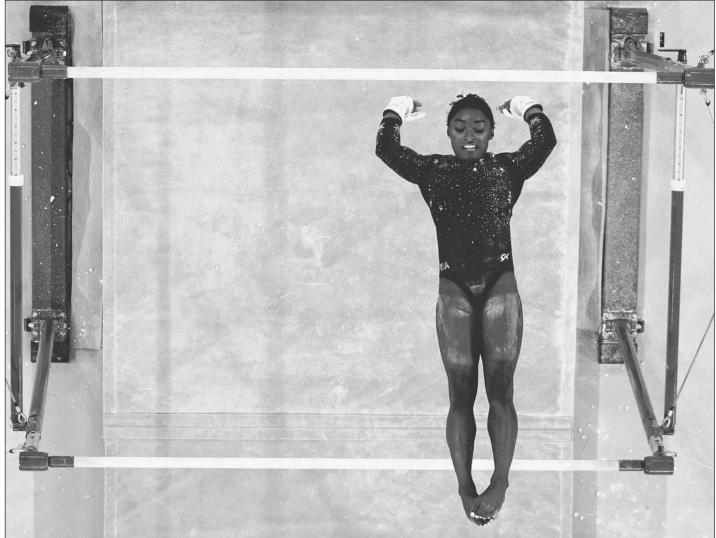

For 11 years, the Americans flirted with it, at least from a competitive standpoint, flying all over the globe, then flying back home with their suitcases stuffed with gold.

It still might happen at the Tokyo Olympics. But for the first time in a long time, it appears it won't happen without Russia pulled off a stunner in qualifying, posting a top score of 171.629, more than a full point ahead of the U.S. total 170.562. While reigning Olympic champion Simone Biles topped the all-around with teammate Sunisa Lee close behind in third, the Americans ended their session looking up at another name on the scoreboard in the team standings for the first time since the 2010 world championships.

"This was not the finals," U.S. highperformance director Tom Forster said. "This was getting into the finals. So this might be a great awakening for us and we'll take advantage of it.

China, France, Belgium, Great Britain, Italy and host Japan also advanced to Tuesday night's final. Olympic legend Oksana Chusovitina's journey is over. The 46-year-old from Uzbekistan did not qualify during the vault final at her record eighth Olympics.

Simone Biles performs on the uneven bars Sunday during women's artistic gymnastic qualifications at the 2020 Summer Olympics in before posing for pictures with whoever specialist didn't matter. He reasoned sacwanted one.

"I'm saying goodbye to sports," Chusovitina said. "It's kind of mixed feelings. I'm alive, I'm happy, I'm here without any injuries, and I can stand on my own."

Something the Americans have done in the team competition for 10 years. After going largely unchallenged over two Olympic quads, they suddenly have company.

Forster raised eyebrows following the Athletes, judges and administrators Olympic Trials last month when he said rose to their feet to salute Chusovitina as taking the top four finishers in the allwaved to the crowd with tears in her eyes potentially score a bit higher by taking a under it.

rificing a tenth or two here or there wasn't going to matter based on the history of blowout wins by the Americans at world championships since he took over

"We thought it was a good order, and I still feel good about it," Forster said, who later added, "it will all work out."

It always has since Biles joined an already dominant program in 2013. Everything will be reset for the finals, when the format changes to three-up/threecount. The pressure will be greater. And she made her way off the floor. She around in rank over a squad that could the Americans have found a way to thrive

Inside a largely empty Ariake Gymnastics Center, they finally faltered. At least by their towering standards.

Not even Biles was immune.

While the 24-year-old star topped the all-around with a total of 57.731 and advanced to the finals in all four events, it didn't come easy. She backpedaled all the way off the mat following a tumbling pass on her floor exercise, then basically did the same on vault. She responded with a solid set on uneven bars, but a spectacular beam routine ended with her temporarily reeling following her dismount, something Forster said he's never seen her do.

OSAKA'S DEBUT

Naomi Osaka got back on the court - and back in front of reporters' microphones — for the first time since withdrawing from the French Open in May to take a mental health break.

The Japanese superstar who lit the Olympic cauldron defeated 52nd-ranked Zheng Saisai of China 6-1, 6-4 in her opening match.

Osaka revealed in May that she has dealt with depression and stopped talking with reporters, saying the experience gave her "huge waves of anxiety."

She said she was "happy" that journalists were asking her questions, then added: "I feel a little bit out of my body right now."

'More than anything else I'm just In the 400 free, 18-year-old Ahmed focused on playing tennis," she added.

medal rematch with Japan

RONALD BLUM AP baseball writer

YOKOHAMA, Japan — The United States had just given up its first run and was two outs away from losing for the first time in the Olympic softball tournament.

Amanda Chidester stepped up to the plate with two runners on and slapped the ball into left field.

"In my head, I'm like: Score! Score two! Score two! Score two!" she recalled. "When I got up and everyone was running out at me, I was like, We did it!

Pinch-runner Ally Carda and Haylie McCleney came across the plate on Chidester's eighth-inning single, giving the United States a pulsating 2-1 victory over Australia on Sunday and a rematch with defending champion Japan in Tuesday's gold medal game. Monica Abbott (2-0) struck out 13 and threw a three-hitter in a 126-pitch complete game, giving up an unearned run when Jade Wall walked on eight pitches with the bases loaded in the top of the eighth to force home the automatic runner.

With pinch-runner Ally Carda on second as the automatic runner in the bottom half, leadoff hitter Mc-Cleney reached against Tarni Stepto (0-1) with an infield single on a 1-0 pitch. McCleney hit a twohopper to shortstop Clare Warwick, who set her feet before throwing, allowing McCleney to get on base for the fourth time in the game. She is batting .727 (8 for 11) and has reached 13 times in 15 plate

Janie Reed sacrificed for the fourth time in the tournament, putting runners at second and third. "Give me a strike, and I'm going for it," Chidester recalled thinking to herself. She swung at a pitch on the outer half of the plate and singled sharply past a diving Warwick. Wall picked up the ball two steps onto the outfield grass and heaved home, but first baseman Taylah Tsitsikorinis cut off the throw as Carda and McCleney scored standing up. Chidester slid into second, taking the extra base just in case a runner ahead of her was thrown out. When she popped up, she saw teammates running onto the field to celebrate.

desperation swipe at the ball in an effort to knock it into Fournier's direction.

Fournier turned Yabusele's dive into a dagger, and just like that the Americans are in Olympic trouble.

"I think that's a little bit of hubris if you think the Americans are supposed to just roll out the balls and win," U.S. coach Gregg Popovich said. "We've got to work for it just like everybody else. And for those 40 minutes, they played better than we did.'

The Americans lost for only the sixth time in 144 games at the Olympics all-time, and fell to 53-4 in the Olympics with NBA players on the roster. The 2004 team at the Athens Games lost the other three, and won bronze. Every other U.S. team in the era that started with the "Dream Team" in 1992 won the gold and this one still can — but it's far from a certainty. "When you lose a game, you're

'You're disappointed.'

Fournier had 28 points for France, while Rudy Gobert scored 14 and Nando de Colo had 13. Jrue Holiday had 18 points for the U.S., Bam Adebayo had 12, Damian Lillard 11 and Kevin Durant had 10 for the Americans — who are just 2-3 in their games this summer, the first four of them exhibitions in Las Vegas that weren't supposed to mean much.

The Olympics, they were supposed to be different.

They weren't. They lost, again. "I mean, it's great," Gobert said. "But until we have what we want to have around our neck it

The idea of anyone else leaving an Olympics with gold hasn't been all that realistic in recent years. Now, it's very real.

A 10-point U.S. lead in the third quarter was wasted, and so was a 12-point barrage from Holiday in the opening 4 ½ minutes of the fourth quarter as the Americans went from six points down to start the period to six points up with 5:23 remaining.

The U.S. lead was seven with 3:30 left. France outscored the U.S. 16-2 from there, and the Americans missed all nine of their shots—five of them in a 21-second span on the same trip down the floor in the final minute, three of those from 3-point range.

"Evan was amazing," France coach Vincent Collet said. "I don't want to use big, big, big words, but he made some very big shots."

The loss doesn't knock the U.S. out of medal contention, but it essentially eliminates the margin for error. The Americans play Iran on Wednesday and then the Czech Republic on Saturday in its final two Group A games; win both of those, and the U.S. will be in the quarterfinals. Lose another one, and the Americans might not even finish in the top eight of this 12-team tournament.

The Americans scored three points in a seven-minute span of the third, Durant picked up his fourth foul — the FIBA limit is five with 16:45 left in the game, and that once-comfortable lead was soon gone. De Colo's 3-pointer with 2:42 remaining in the third put France up 55-54, its first lead since the game's first four minutes. France led 62-56 going to the final quarter. Holiday — who arrived in Tokyo on Saturday, less than a week removed from helping Milwaukee win the NBA title did all he could to will the U.S. to a win in the fourth, but simply didn't get enough help. "He was outstanding," Popo-vich said. It was the first time the U.S.

and France played since the quarterfinals of the Basketball World Cup two years ago, a game that the Americans lost on the way to a seventh-place finish the worst ever by a USA Basketball team with NBA players.

not surprised," Popovich said.

THIS DATE IN BASEBALL

1939 — The New York Yankees tied a major league record by scoring in every inning against the St. Louis Browns. Bill Dickey hit three home runs in the 14-1 win.

1962 — Warren Spahn of the Milwaukee Braves set the National League record for home runs by a pitcher when he hit his 31st off New York's Craig Anderson. Spahn dealt the Mets their 11th straight loss with a 6-1 victory.

1970 — Johnny Bench of the Cincinnati Reds hit three straight homers off Steve Carlton of the St. Louis Cardinals. On the same day, Orlando Cepeda of the Atlanta Braves connected for three consecutive homers in an 8-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

1984 — Pete Rose of the Montreal Expos tied Ty Cobb on the career singles list, No. 3,052, with a base hit in the eighth inning in a 5-4 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

1998 — Trevor Hoffman's bid to set a major league record with 42 straight saves ended when the San Diego closer gave up a home run to Moises Alou on his first delivery in the ninth inning, tying the game.

2005 — Greg Maddux reached 3,000 career strikeouts, striking out Omar Vizguel in the third inning of a 3-2, 11-inning victory for San Francisco.

2010 — Matt Garza pitched the first no-hitter in Tampa Bay Rays history and the fifth in the major leagues this season, beating the Detroit Tigers 5-0. Garza faced the minimum 27 batters, allowing only a second-inning walk.

2015 — Zack Greinke's shutout streak ended at 45 2/3 innings when the Mets scored the first of two scratch runs against him.

Expansion would just mean more for Sl

AP college football writer

Barring a dramatic change of direction, Texas and Oklahoma are moving toward taking the Red River Rivalry to the Southeastern Conference in a seismic shift that will have repercussions in college sports from coast to coast.

According to multiple reports, the first and very significant formal step of the process could come as soon as Monday with the two schools informing the Big 12 they will not renew the contractual agreement that binds conference members until 2025.

After that, lawyers can take over. An early departure by Texas and Oklahoma could cost the schools more than $100 million combined to get out of that grant of rights.

But a pot of gold awaits in the SEC and having the Longhorns and Sooners linger as lame ducks doesn't have much upside for the Big 12.

There is a good chance that come kickoff of the 2022 college football season, Texas and Oklahoma will be in the Southeastern Conference.

IT JUST MEANS MORE MONEY

The SEC signed a new $300 million deal with ESPN last year that gives the network rights to all SEC football games starting in 2024 and is expected to bump the conference's annual distribution to its members to about $68 million.

The Big 12 distributed $34.5 million per school recently, down over the previous year because of the pandemic.

A projection done by Navigate Research, which does data modeling for professional sports leagues and college conferences, for The Athletic last year had the annual distribution gap between calls for a 12-team field. There the SEC's favor by 2026.

That was under the assumption the Big 12 would still have Texas and Oklahoma.

The Big 12's next TV deal will pay substantially less without its flagship schools than the $574 million in 2026 that Navigate was projecting.

"That's a given," said former Big 12 Commissioner Chuck Neinas, who stepped in to help the conference survive the last round of realignment in the early

Generally, TV contracts are structured so if a conference adds new members, the network's payout increases proportionally.

The addition of Texas and Oklahoma to the SEC could break from standard operating procedure. That's especially true if ESPN decides it no longer needs a partnership with the Big 12 and the SEC increases the quality and quantity of its football inventory by going to a nine-game conference schedule. Or maybe 10.

TEXAS A&M'S REACTION

The Aggies are not thrilled about the prospect of sharing the SEC with the Longhorns, who they were happy to leave behind when they left the Big 12

There will be complaints from board members and politicians, but Texas A&M will not play obstructionist as the SEC tries to complete this deal.

CFP EXPANSION

SEC Commissioner Greg Sankey was part of a four-person group, along with Big 12 Commissioner Bob Bowlsby, that worked on College Football Playoff expansion for about two years.

The plan unveiled last month the SEC and Big 12 at about are steps to go before formal $16 million per team per year in approval, but implementation fittest. Collegiality and collabocould come as soon as 2023.

Those with a background in college sports believe it was no coincidence that Sankey was working on both CFP and SEC

"People have tried to say, 'Why now?" former Western Athletic Conference and Sun Belt Commissioner Karl Benson said. "If there's a different structure and if the SEC going to 16 teams is going to create a different structure among its peer conferences, you need to do it before the next CFP expansion.'

The current CFP expansion proposal calls for the six topranked conference champions to make the 12-team field, along with six at-large picks by the selection committee.

only Big 12 school (Oklahoma) to make the playoff and the only other Big 12 school (Texas) to win a national championship since the conference was formed in treacherous path to the CFP in the SEC, but more roads are opening up.

"If there is a 12-team playoff, they still can be in line to play for a national championship, Neinas said. "If it remained at four or even went to eight with conference champions having automatic bids, their odds of winning a national championship would be diminished.'

An even stronger SEC could cannibalize its best teams in some seasons. It could also potentially eat up half the spots in a 12-team CFP in others.

BIG 12 SURVIVAL

If Texas and Oklahoma leave, do Texas Tech, TCU, Baylor, Kansas, Kansas State, Oklahoma State, Iowa State and West Virginia scatter to other conferences or stay together and rebuild?

Realignment is survival of the Big 12 leftovers.

party finds a better deal for itself than the collective can

There are a few factors that might work in the Big 12's favor.

Currently, the Big 12 is one of five autonomy conferences in NCAA Division I governance along with the SEC, Big Ten, Pac-12 and Atlantic Coast Conference.

That doesn't go away if Texas and Oklahoma leave.

The Big 12 also has status within the current CFP structure. The Big 12's share of CFP revenue is $67 million per season, same as the other Power Five (or Autonomy Five) conferences Throw on top of that the Big The SEC is about to add the 12's deal with the Sugar Bowl, which pays another $80 million per year to the conference and puts its champion (or another highly rated team) in a high-profile game to face an SEC team.

Those agreements expire Texas and OU will have a more after the 2025 season, but for five more football seasons, the Big 12 has big money flowing in through the CFP and its current TV agreements with Fox and

> Plus, a possible windfall in exit fees from Texas and Oklahoma.

A new Big 12 might be stripped of all this status and earning potential eventually, but tapping into that for even five years should be appealing to a lot of schools that currently have neither.

AAC ON GUARD

Can the A in American stand for aggressor?

The American Athletic Conference has no plans to sit back and let a rebuilding Big 12 lure its best programs such as Houston, UCF and Cincinnati.

Expect Commissioner Mike Aresco to court the potential

What the AAC has going for it ration last right up until one is an ESPN contract that runs through the 2031-32 school year.

> Aresco can sell long-term stability and the ability to re-open that $1 billion TV deal for a super conference of 16, 18, maybe even 20 schools that will be more valuable long-term than what the next version of the Big 12 could get when it hits the open market.

THE REST OF THE POWER FIVE

Big Ten — The conference is still positioned with its big markets, big brands, large fan bases and relationship with Fox (TV deal is up in 2023) to be the SEC's biggest rival.

But it does seem as if the SEC's Sankey might have taken advantage of a change in leadership within the Big Ten — not just Kevin Warren replacing Jim Delany as commissioner, but also at the university president level — to make the one move that could pull the SEC ahead of the Big Ten in revenue generation.

ACC — Even before this move, the ACC was searching for a way to reopen a long-term TV deal with ESPN (expiring in 2036) that could leave the conference lagging way behind its peers in revenue

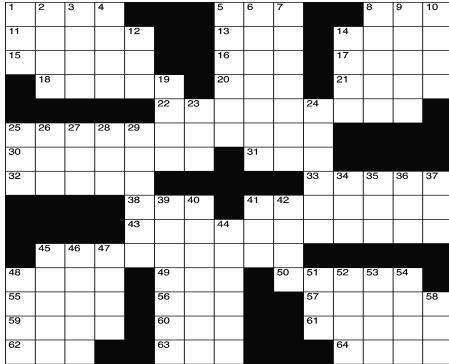

Is it add Notre Dame or bust? Could some combination of West Virginia, Cincinnati and UCF create an opportunity for significant renegotiations?

Pac-12 — The West Coast's conference might benefit from a weakened Big 12, allowing it to jostle with the ACC to be a distant No. 3 in the pecking order.

Expansion works best in the Pac-12 if it brings in a new time zone (Central) or fertile recruiting ground. The school would also need to be an academic and cultural fit with existing members. None of the non-Texas Big 12 schools check every box.

SUDOKU

Fun By The Numbers Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works: Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
