Citrus County COVID-19 update

Twenty-three new positive cases were reported in Citrus County since the latest FDOH update. One new hospitalization was reported; no new deaths were reported. To date in the county, 545 people have tested positive, 61 have been hospitalized and 14 have died.

Homosassa man killed in wreck

A 31-year-old Homosassa man was killed while a 29-year-old Homosassa woman was seriously injured Saturday, July 11, 2020, in a two-vehicle wreck, according to a Florida Highway Patrol report.

A 63-year-old Homosassa man was driving a sedan at approximately 4:15 p.m. southbound on South Suncoast Boulevard in the left turn lane approaching the intersection of Suffolk Terrace.

The woman, who was driving a sports utility vehicle, was traveling northbound on South Suncoast Boulevard in the outside lane approaching the intersection of Suffolk Terrace, troopers noted in their report.

At the intersection, the sedan turned left into the path of the sports utility vehicle. As a result, the report stated, the sedan collided with the sports utility vehicle.

Post-impact, the sedan came to a controlled stop as the sports utility vehicle rotated and overturned several times, ejecting the two adult occupants, according to the report. Neither of them were wearing seatbelts. In addition, there was a 3-year-old minor inside the SUV, who was wearing a seatbelt, who suffered minor injuries.

Transported to an area hospital, the adult male passenger died from his injuries sustained in the crash.

Impairment on the part of the 63-year-old man is suspected; charges are pending the conclusion of the investigation.

Due to Marsy's Law, FHP is not releasing the names of the victims.

Kitchen proposes agenda item to address comments about staffer

Two weeks ago county commissioners admonished one of their own for his public comments about a county staffer.

On Tuesday, July 14, 2020, one commissioner plans to take it a step further:

Commissioner Ron Kitchen Jr. is asking the board to support a resolution condemning Commissioner Jimmie T. Smith for comments in the newspaper and social media where he suggested land development director Joanna Coutu be fired over what Smith believes is overstepping authority in zoning cases.

Doug DeRespiris, owner of the just-opened Beauty and the Barber in Homosassa, had an opt-out clause in his lease that would have enabled him to back away from the deal back in March when the coronavirus pandemic was first starting to ramp up.

DeRespiris not only did not want to back away he welcomed the opportunity to move forward in these challenging times, even when he admits many thought he was crazy from a business sense.

But that's the difference — while making a profit is important, it wasn't just about the business angle for DeRespiris. The Sugarmill Woods resident is pastor of Freedom For Life Family Church in Homosassa and his spiritual views had a lot to do with it.

"I know we're supposed to be here," DeRespiris said. "We're not profit-driven. We're people-driven."

It was a "leap of faith" and a chance to help minister to people during these hard times, he said.

Six people on stage, all hoping to say something that will vault him or her to the top in voters' minds.

With no incumbent in the Citrus County Commission District 3 race, six Republican candidates used the Citrus County Chronicle's virtual forum to get a leg up on the competition.

The candidates are: Thomas Corkery, Ruthie Davis Schlabach, Mark Hammer, Angel Starr Lewis, Luis Marin and Edwin Roberts.

HEARING LOSS now linked to Dementia and Alzheimer's disease

Don't ignore the WARNING signs:

- ☐ Are you increasingly frustrated and feel socially isolated?
- ☐ Are you unable to hear well in social settings?
- ☐ Do you ask others to repeat themselves?
- ☐ Do you hear, but don't understand?
- ☐ Do others repeatedly ask you to turn down the TV?

"By following 639 people ages 36 to 90 for nearly 12 years, We showed for each 10-decibel loss in hearing, the risk of dementia rose about 20 percent among the participants. Compared with those who could hear normally when first examined, the risk of dementia doubled among those with mild hearing loss, tripled among those with moderate hearing loss and increased fivefold among those with severe hearing loss."

Indiana woman

struck, killed

A 25-year-old Fort Wayne, Indiana, woman was struck and killed by a truck Sunday while walking in the eastbound lane of West Fort Island Trail, according to a Florida Highway Patrol report.

The woman was walking eastbound in the middle of the eastbound lane at approximately 2:41 a.m. Sunday on West Fort Island Trail near North Palm Springs Terrace.

As the truck, driven by a 37-year-old Crystal River man, approached the pedestrian, he attempted evasive action to avoid a collision, the report stated.

Unsuccessful in his attempts to miss the woman, according to the report, the driver struck the woman who suffered fatal injuries at the scene of the crash.

The report did not indicate if alcohol was a factor.

Due to Marsy's Law, FHP is not releasing the name of the victim.

On the big issues

County commission candidates take center stage at chamber luncheon

MICHAEL D. BATES
Staff writer

All eight Republican candidates for county commissioner said they would oppose a mandatory face mask ordinance if they were on the board right now.

The timely question was one of several asked of candidates at a Friday, July 10, 2020, forum. Because of the COVID-19 pandemic, it's been five months since Citrus County Chamber of Commerce members were able to physically meet for a monthly luncheon.

But following health protocols — including limited capacity and social distancing — 100 of them gathered Friday at Citrus Hills Golf and Country Club to hear candidates running for county commission in the Aug. 18 primary.

Present were District 3 republican candidates Thomas Corkery, Mark Hammer, Angel Lewis, Luis Marin, Edwin Roberts and Ruthie Schlabach. District 5 candidates Holly Davis and incumbent Jimmie T. Smith were also present.

County Commissioner Jeff Kinnard, present at the luncheon, ran for re-election to District 1, but won back his seat when no one filed to run against him.

Chamber members, representing about 1,000 businesses in Citrus County, submitted questions, which were then narrowed down by the chamber's governmental affairs committee. Here are the questions and the candidates' responses:

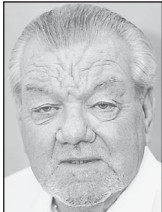

Is the county prepared for the completion of the Suncoast Parkway to State Road 44? What would you do to get us prepared?

District 3

■ Corkery: The road is coming and the county needs to deal with it. There will be setbacks, but nothing the county cannot handle. "I don't know why everyone gets so upset about the road coming. Let it come."

■ Hammer: Not ready. Improvements must be made to the county's "convoluted" permitting process which restricts business from coming. The future land use map still is not established.

■ Lewis: Not ready. The county needs to get "in front of the growth" by bringing in all the economic entities in the

Corkery

Lewis

Marin

Edwin
Roberts

Ruthie

county to partner with the county and work as a team.

■ Marin: Not ready. The county is still in disputes with land development codes around the West Cardinal Street interchange. He wants more discussions with the sheriff's office to make sure public safety is addressed.

■ Roberts: Not ready. More interaction with different county and community boards must take place to figure out how it wants growth to take place when the road is complete.

■ Schlabach: Not prepared. After years of notice about the road, the county is still behind. She would also address the State Road 44 terminus and how traffic emptying out there will affect County Road 491.

Holly
Davis

Jimmie T.
Smith

District 5

■ Davis: Not prepared. Commissioners need to look "decades out" and plan for infrastructure and the availability of high-speed internet. The preparation now seems "haphazard" and there's too much emphasis on gas stations and fast food restaurants.

■ Smith: Not prepared. The old comprehensive land use plan is a problem. The permitting process is too slow and impeding businesses that want to come here.

What is your position on using public funds for economic development? Some examples include infrastructure, tax abatements and incentives.

District 3

■ Corkery: Don't keep going to the taxpayer for money. Make sure businesses who come here build their facilities right the first time and they won't need more financial help.

■ Hammer: Use state funds, not local county funds, for economic development. The state has programs and tax abatements available if we look into them.

■ Lewis: It's time to pick and choose what kinds of businesses come here and get away from gas stations and fast-food restaurants. Give landlords that keep up their property incentives and penalize bad landlords.

■ Marin: Before using public tax money, hold business owners accountable, possibly by exacting a promise from them that they will create so many jobs and live up to their promises. Ease up on impact fees on building.

■ Roberts: Rather than create new taxes, use some of the previous tax money to help businesses. Look into grants. Use someone in the county who has ideas.

■ Schlabach: The county is going to have to use tax dollars, as spelled out in the new economic development ordinance. Incentives are necessary because the county has to do something to attract business. The tax base has to go up and that happens with more businesses.

District5

■ Davis: There should be a cost-benefit analysis done when looking at new manufacturers and businesses. Look for alternative sources of money outside the county.

■ Smith: The county must offer incentives to businesses wanting to come here. Look into grants. Make sure water and sewer is readily available to better entice business.

What is your top priority for Citrus County? (Short answer only)

District 3

■ Corkery: The Beverly Hills pool (currently sitting empty with supporters trying to get the county's help to pay for a new pool).

■ Hammer: Preservation and conservation.

■ Lewis: Bridge the disconnect.

■ Marin: Public safety and jobs.

■ Roberts: Growth.

■ Schlabach: Growing our tax base.

District 5

■ Davis: Economic development.

■ Smith: Developing a future for our youth.

Other than the Suncoast Parkway, what are your top two road priorities for Citrus County? (Short answer only)

District 3

■ Corkery: Jobs, jobs and the Beverly Hills pool.

■ Hammer: Establish proper funding.

■ Lewis: Hurricane season.

■ Marin: Citrus Springs roads.

■ Roberts: Fix the roads.

■ Schlabach: County Road 491 and the road resurfacing program.

District 5

■ Davis: County Road 491 and road resurfacing.

■ Smith: Roads and jobs.

Would you consider a half-cent sales tax increase to further fund infrastructure? (Short answer only)

District 3

■ Corkery: Stay away from it.

■ Hammer: No.

■ Lewis: Find another solution.

■ Marin: No.

■ Roberts: Yes.

■ Schlabach: Yes.

District 5

■ Davis: Yes.

■ Smith: Yes.

CR Council plans kayak launch talk

Scallop Fest to be delayed for six weeks

GWEN BITTNER
Staff writer

Leaders of the city of Crystal River will continue their discussion of kayak and paddleboard launch areas at their meeting Monday evening, requesting a motion to action regarding commercial paddlecraft use in city parks.

City staff is recommending that all commercial launches take place at Kings Bay Park beginning Aug. 7, 2020, as paddlecraft in the city has dramatically increased in the past few years with little to no oversight. Going forward, City Manager Ken Frink is asking the City Council consider a comprehensive program to separate commercial launches from the patrons of Hunters Springs Park, and to regulate the use of paddlecraft launches at Kings Bay Park with a fee schedule.

Members of the city's Waterfront Advisory Board voted 5-0 on Monday, July 6, approving of Frink's recommendation for the council to consider. Frink said his proposal will help ease an overcrowding of paddlecraft launching into narrow canals alongside motorized boats, while gaining additional revenue for the city to manage influxes of tourism. It will also provide a short- and long-term plan to redesign and maintain city launches and facilities.

If approved, ordinance revisions and resolutions will be drafted to move commercial paddlecraft launches to Kings Bay Park only for council consideration at a future meeting.

Scallop Fest

rescheduled

The popular summer-season Scallop Fest, hosted by Best Florida Fest, has been postponed due to the current threat of COVID-19.

The host company is requesting a special event permit change from the city council, delaying the annual event to Sept. 5-6.

The six-week postponement will allow Best Florida Fest to put safety protocols in place for the event to follow CDC guidelines, and allow time for the virus to be less of a threat in the Citrus community. As the new date draws closer, the coronavirus risk will be re-evaluated; hosting the event will be subject to the state of Florida allowing gatherings of more than 50 people.

City negotiates

Riverwalk easement

Despite Gov. Ron DeSantis vetoing $2 million in funding for the continued construction of the nearly 1-mile long Crystal River Riverwalk along the city's waterfront and downtown, enthusiasm in the city remains strong for the project.

City Council will consider a motion Monday to authorize Mayor Joe Meek to execute an easement agreement between owners of The Crab Plant, J&B of Citrus, LLC, with the city of Crystal River, to move the project forward along The Crab Plant property on the eastern portion of the Riverwalk Project area.

The Riverwalk Project is currently about 75% completed, traveling from Northwest 2nd Avenue to King's Bay Park, at a cost of $6.7 million.

In other action, the Council will discuss:

■ The approval of an Interlocal Agreement for enhanced law enforcement between the city of Crystal River, the Citrus County Sheriff's Office (CCSO) and Citrus County will be discussed by city council. The proposed contract for fiscal year 2021 is for a total amount of $993,583 for services from Oct. 1, 2020, to Sept. 30, 2021. The contract shows a 3% increase from last year's contract, with a majority of the increase attributed to merit raises for employees and personnel adjustments related to the hiring of new CRO and Marine CRO positions.

■ A motion to authorize an agreement with CCSO for School Traffic Control for the 2020-21 school year will be discussed. Since 2011, the city has assumed the cost of providing five school crossing guards from the Citrus County School Board. The guards assist students in crossing a four-lane highway at NE 3rd Avenue and U.S. 19. The agreement proposes a fiscal year cost of

Search of California lake resumes for missing 'Glee' star

LOS ANGELES — The search to find "Glee" TV show star Naya Rivera in a Southern California lake resumed on Sunday, authorities said.

The Ventura County Sheriff's Office said last Thursday that they believe Rivera, 33, drowned in Lake Piru, northwest of Los Angeles. Her 4-year-old son was discovered alone in a rented boat.

The boy, who was found asleep and wearing a life vest late Wednesday afternoon, told investigators that he and his mother went swimming and he got back on the boat, but "his mom never made it out of the water," Sheriff's Sgt. Kevin Donoghue said.

Rivera began acting at a young age, but she rose to national attention playing a lesbian teen on "Glee," which aired from 2009 until 2015 on Fox.

Great White sorry for mask-less show in North Dakota

DICKINSON, N.D. — Metal band Great White has apologized for performing at an outdoor North Dakota concert where the crowd didn't wear masks despite the ongoing threat of the coronavirus.

The band drew criticism on social media after the performance Thursday night as part of the "First on First: Dickinson Summer Nights" concert series in Dickinson, in the southwest of the state. Spin magazine posted video showing the crowd packed in and not wearing face masks.

"We have had the luxury of hindsight and we would like to Naya Rivera participates in the "Step Up: High Water" panel during the YouTube Television Critics Association Winter Press Tour, Jan. 13, 2018, in Pasadena, Calif. The search to find "Glee" TV show star Rivera in a Southern California lake ended Saturday, July 11, 2020, without any results, authorities said. The Ventura County Sheriff's Office said in a tweet Saturday night that the search of Lake Piru will resume Sunday morning. Authorities said Thursday they believe Rivera drowned in the lake. apologize to those who disagreed with our decision to fulfill our contractual agreement. The Promoter and staff were nothing but professional and assured us of the safety precautions," Great White said in a statement Saturday.

Although North Dakota health officials recommend social distancing and wearing masks when possible, there is no legal requirement to do so in the state and Great White said the band nevertheless was "not in a position to enforce the laws."

"Our intent was simply to perform our gig, outside, in a welcoming, small town," said the band, which is best known for its version of "Once Bitten, Twice Shy."

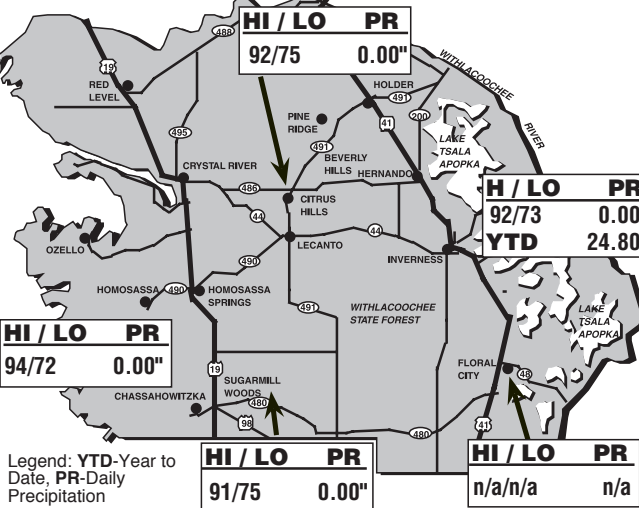

Bollywood's Bachchan hospitalized with coronavirus

NEW DELHI — Amitabh Bachchan has tested positive for the coronavirus and is hospitalized in Mumbai, India's financial and entertainment capital, the Bollywood superstar announced Saturday on Twitter.

Bachchan, 77, said in a tweet on Saturday that his family and staff have also undergone tests and are awaiting results. He appealed to those who were in close proximity to him in the past 10 days to get themselves tested.

Today in HISTORY

Today is Monday, July 13, the 195th day of 2020. There are 171 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight:
On July 13, 2013, a jury in Sanford, Florida, cleared neighborhood watch volunteer George Zimmerman of all charges in the shooting of Trayvon Martin, the unarmed Black teenager whose killing unleashed furious debate over racial profiling, self-defense and equal justice.

On this date:
In 1863, deadly rioting against the Civil War military draft erupted in New York City. (The insurrection was put down three days later.)
In 1974, the Senate Watergate Committee proposed sweeping reforms in an effort to prevent another Watergate scandal.
In 1985, "Live Aid," an international rock concert in London, Philadelphia, Moscow and Sydney, took place to raise money for Africa's starving people.
In 1990, the romantic fantasy "Ghost," starring Patrick Swayze and Demi Moore, was released by Paramount Pictures.

Ten years ago: The National League won the All-Star Game, defeating the American League 3-1 in Anaheim, California, to capture its first Midsummer Classic since 1996.

Five years ago: New York City reached a $5.9 million settlement with the family of Eric Garner, a Black man who died after being placed in a white police officer's chokehold.

One year ago: A power outage crippled the heart of Manhattan just as Saturday night Broadway shows were set to go on, sending theatergoers into the streets and bringing subways to a near halt; electricity was restored by about midnight.

Today's Birthdays: Game show announcer Johnny Gilbert (TV: "Jeopardy!") is 96. Actor Patrick Stewart is 80. Actor Harrison Ford is 78. Actor-comedian Cheech Marin is 74.

re-election in District 5. Davis, daughter of former longtime Crystal River Airport operator Tom Davis, is making her first run at public office. Both sought to point out differences to voters during the Citrus County Chronicle's virtual forum. Here are the highlights:

- Both candidates were asked about Smith publicly calling for the dismissal of the land development department.
- Smith said he never mentioned anyone by name and hasn't overstepped his position.
- "I never called for them to be fired," he said. "I said I'd have no problem if they were."
- Davis said if she had an issue with a county staffer she would take it up with the county administrator, who the staffer works for. "You always respect the chain of command," she said.

- On the subject of the permitting process, Smith said it's flawed but he's been unable to convince fellow commissioners to make changes. He said he suggested processes that would allow more permitting to occur online.
- "My peers turned it down," he said.
- Davis agreed county permitting needs review but she offered no suggestions for improvement. "It is a culture of no and that has to go," she said. "We have to figure out a way to do that."

- Asked if the county was ready for the Suncoast Parkway when it opens to State Road 44 in 2022, both candidates had their doubts.
- Davis suggested the county conduct more frequent workshops to discuss the likely impact, so that it reaps the benefits of the parkway without letting growth from it overrun the county.
- Smith said the county should have planned years ago the widening of Cardinal Street to anticipate the parkway interchange there. "I told my peers we should four-lane Cardinal now ... and it was dismissed," he said.

- On the matter of building support for ideas from other commissioners, Smith said he raises topics because the public asks him to, but many of them do not find traction on the board.
- For example, Smith said he suggested the community park in Beverly Hills be set up for food trucks to entice people to the area.
- "The answer was, 'I don't get it, I don't see it,'" he said.
- Davis, who owns a marketing consulting company, said she knows how to gain support.
- "I've spent 30 years building consensus and selling visions," she said. "You have to have the sales skills and humility to bring people along you."
- Asked for a yes or no answer whether they live within District 5, Davis said yes and Smith said no.

don't want to get off track talking about budgets."

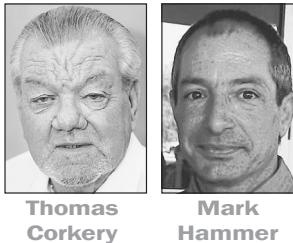

Schlabach said staff training can occur in a virtual setting, rather than the expense of travel and attending seminars out of town.

Hammer said he's heard of waste within the road maintenance division and thinks savings could be made if the county were to take bids on purchasing certain equipment.

Lewis: "I don't see a ton of waste in the budget." She said the board can "pat themselves on the back" for low taxes.

Marin: "I don't know exactly where the waste is." He said he would want to know which department directors have take-home vehicles and the cost of those vehicles.

Roberts said pay attention to details, as he learned while an elected member of a village council in North Carolina.

- Responding to a question on whether the county commission can do anything to assist businesses hurt by COVID-19 restrictions, Schlabach, Hammer, Marin and Roberts said the county had no role in deciding what stays open or closed because that is the governor's call.
- Lewis suggested looking at how other communities have opened up spaces for restaurants to allow outdoor seating.
- Corkery offered a different take: The county should open a discotheque in an abandoned shopping plaza to draw residents from their homes. "When I explain about bringing back disco, people laugh," he said. "It's about getting people out of the house."

- Candidates were asked the county's role in assisting localized community projects, such as the pool in Beverly Hills or the riverfront park in Homosassa.
- Corkery said the county should reopen the Beverly Hills pool. He called reopening the pool his "number one priority."
- Schlabach said the key is ensuring that community members have a voice. "Nobody wants to feel like they're not heard," she said.
- Hammer suggested a closer relationship between the county commission and civic/homeowner associations that could help build partnerships for local projects.

Lewis said the community park in Beverly Hills has lots of promise, saying it would be perfect for festivals and outdoor movies. "I feel like our district is missing that piece of the pie," she said, referring to the central ridge area.

Marin said the county needs to have a good working relationship with both cities of Crystal River and Inverness.

Roberts said the county needs to put more money into the Central Ridge communities.

"Beverly Hills is not the only one," he said. "We need help in Citrus

- Candidates were asked to provide a simple yes or no answer to the question of whether they currently reside in District 3. Although they are elected by voters county-wide, commissioners must live in the district they represent.
- All but Marin said yes.

DeRespiris said the store not only serves locals with their hair-cutting and styling needs, it also allows him to spend whatever is left over from salaries and rent to give to the community food banks and other ministries.

Traci Borra, the shop's business manager, said it's too early to gauge whether customers are wary of venturing out because of the pandemic. Also, the shop is still trying to get the word out that it's open at 4530 U.S. 19, inside Homosassa Square by Yulee Drive, near Ollie's Bargain Outlet.

"We're taking it one day at a time (and) making it as safe as possible for our clients," Borra said.

Pandemic or not, haircuts and grooming is a needed service for the community, she said. "Hair is essential," she said. "You have to feel good about yourself and you have to look good for the public if you're in the public eye."

Megan Moody, co-partner and co-manager, said the expansive salon (3,400 square feet) allows for 6-foot spacing of salon chairs and other safety protocols. There are 10 employees.

Moody said the shop's location is ideal. It's a main route for tourists heading to the waterways, she said.

"This is like the center of Homosassa," Moody said. Moody said she likes the name Beauty and the Barber because it makes it clear it caters to women and men.

DeRespiris said he felt it was important to become established in the community to better invest in its people.

"We need to position ourselves as Christians to establish relationships and keep the community going," he said. "We've got to be at a place where we can help people."

He signed a lease in February, just before the virus started shutting down the economy. He figured he had to renovate the inside of his storefront — formerly a gaming parlor — so it made sense while everything was closed to do just that.

He knew this pandemic would go on for a while, even after remodeling was done. He also said he knew far before the virus actually hit that the country would be faced with plagues.

DeRespiris has plans to someday turn the back of his salon into a barber cosmetology school and perhaps start a school that would help those facing mental health issues. He even has the name for the school: "Secrets of Your Soul."

But that's the future.

Today, he just wants to get the word out that he's open.

And to show his support of law enforcement, he's giving free haircuts to deputies, first responders and EMTs.

"I'm 100% for our law enforcement," he said.

COVID-19 TESTING

Citrus COVID response needs improvement

If you want to be tested for the coronavirus, you’re not alone.

Amidst the record rise of COVID-19 cases locally and state-wide, the residents of Citrus have been lining up to get tested, utilizing the daily available swabs from the Florida Department of Health in Citrus County (DOH-Citrus) within the first few hours of the day, every day.

Many people wanting to be tested by the DOH are being turned away. And call volume to the DOH-Citrus was so high in early July, that calls were being dropped because the agency’s phone lines were overwhelmed.

Does that sound like everything is under control?

More and more people want to be tested, but many are finding the wait times to be over a week (sometimes nearly two) to get tested and receive results. Testing should not take so long that the virus has a chance to run its course before you even know you have it.

While the DOH-Citrus officially changes their testing protocol beginning Tuesday, July 14, to do away with appointments at their drive-thru testing site at the Citrus Springs Community Center, the DOH still only has about 150 tests per day on hand for those wanting to be tested — that’s not enough.

Not only that, but the DOH-Citrus does not offer the antibody test.

Realistically, testing should be a one-stop-shop for active infections and COVID-19 antibodies. If a test comes back negative, people should be able to find out if they have developed the antibodies for COVID-19 at the same time. They shouldn’t have to increase their potential exposure by traveling to another place to get an antibody test.

The number of people wanting to get tested is going through the roof, and it seems like in some ways, testing was more convenient and readily available when positive numbers were much lower. Citrus even had a COVID-19 hotline; where did that go?

The purpose of the initial state shutdown was to increase our testing capability and prepare for the worst of the infection rate. Instead of going into planning mode, our state and local politicians went into denial — and that’s not a plan.

We continue to bounce around and have no national policy. The president says it’s up to the governors, the governors say it’s up to the individual counties, and across the board, local leaders all do different things.

The pandemic does not respect geo-political boundaries, so unless we are all on the same page with a national approach, the numbers will continue to spike.

If the state-led health department cannot grasp the proper number of tests to meet demand or manage the testing speed of the overwhelmed state labs, the governor needs to seek federal help. This needs to be fixed, and fast.

COVID-19 testing sites in Citrus

Assumptions about Democrats

This is written in response to a July 8 letter written by Frank D. Lovell.

Please don’t presume that Democrats in Florida are not born here. Please don’t assume that Democrats who moved here from elsewhere did so to escape some imagined Democratic oppression. The weather is nice. I encourage you to educate yourself on Florida’s voting history. It is a swing state. There are currently more active, registered Democrats in Florida than Republicans. You may find such information at the Florida Department of State website. Here is the link to the specific page that proves my statement of the number of voters in each party. <https://tinyurl.com/ybhny2su>.

infected and can spread the COVID-19 virus to others. The mask helps to prevent the transmission of virus particles emitted from the nose and mouth of an infected person. So it makes sense that wearing a mask should help to prevent the inhalation of virus particles into our own nose and mouth.

Whether or not this is true, one thing is certainly true: not wearing a mask ensures absolutely no personal protection, zero! The issue is asymptomatic infection. If a person has symptoms, we can hope they stay home or go to a doctor or hospital. But those who are infected and have no symptoms are walking among us. On a recent day in Florida, there were 11,433 new cases identified by tests. This means that the days and weeks before the day of the test there were 11,433 infected individuals out there and no one knew who they were.

When we look around, we have no way to know who is infected and who is not. The current rate of infection is peaking at 20%. That means one in every five has the virus and is spreading it. Look around, can you see four other people somewhere nearby? Including you, we now have a group of five. One of the group probably has the virus. Perhaps it is you! If the group is following your example by not wearing a mask then all of you have chosen to expose yourselves to the risk of infection. I sincerely hope you do not become another unfortunate statistic.

Hot Corner: BOATING

■ Sunday Chronicle, July 5 (front-page headline), “Boat sales soar during pandemic.” Hey, commissioners, where are the new boat ramps that help provide water access for all the new boat owners? And, by the way, it’s scallop season again. I can’t go out in the Gulf until September now.

■ Great news, Citrus County boat dealers report record sales for new and used boats. That’s great news for the dealers. Unfortunately, these new boat owners have no place to launch their boat in Citrus County unless you want to wait in line one to two hours and have no place to park your trailer after you launch the boat. Thank goodness we have the new barge canal boat ramp. That’s right, there is no new barge canal boat ramp — just a talking point.

■ Well, it’s here — scallop season. Have you been by the boat ramps? That’s if you can get close enough. Total chaos. Most boat owners have their yearly service check in the early spring. I had mine done in July since you can’t get on the water anyway. I keep hearing about a new boat ramp on the barge canal. Commissioner Carnahan keeps bragging about it all the time, saying it’s coming next year — no, next year, or no, maybe next year.

Many boats, few ramps

(Re the Sunday, July 5, 2020, front-page story, “Boat sales soar during pandemic”): In the weekend Chronicle, record-setting boat sales. Has anyone who bought a boat looked to see if a boat ramp is available? It is virtually impossible to launch a boat in the western part of the county. Boat ramps and parking are full any day of the week. It has been years since a new boat ramp has been built in the western part of Citrus County. I find myself traveling to Tampa and St. Petersburg to launch my boat. They have had enough forethought to build quality and numerous ramps. Think about this before you go buy a boat. Where is the money from the boat registrations going? We might want to check into that because I know it hasn’t been spent on boat ramps because that’s what the intention of the registration was for.

Truth is just what we need

(Re the Sunday, July 5, front-page Commentary Section B, Out the Window column, “Poop in the shoe for holiday weekend.”) Thank you so much, Gerry Mulligan. You’re the best. You write the truth and the truth is what we need. All about Crystal River — a wonderful article. That’s so true; foul language does not belong in a public place. God bless you. Thank you so much.

Slobs of Citrus are to blame

This is a comment about the recycling bins. I seen in the paper this morning where somebody is blaming the commissioners (in the July 6, 2020, Sound Off, “Three times as much garbage”). I, personally, really don’t have much use for our commissioners. But if the slobs in Citrus County — some of them or all of the slobs — would have not have misused them recycling bins, we would surely still have them. At any given day, you could see some slob dumping their TVs, tires, mattresses, bed-springs and you name it. Then the county would have to send a man out or two men — in fact, sometimes a lady was there — and they’d have to clean that mess up every week. The smart thing would have been done is to put cameras up, take some license numbers and start handing out some tickets and enforce the tickets. That might stop some of it. I doubt if it would stop all of it because we have a lot of slobs in Citrus County. I sure hope that you print this. It’s not the commissioners’ fault. It’s the people’s fault in this county for misusing it. Instead of paying to have their garbage dumped like a normal person would, they’d say, “Well, recycling’s free.” So off they’d go with their spaghetti plates, corn on the cob and all the other goodies that come off a table leftover from a meal. That’s all I’ve got to say. I still think they ought to have recycling, but with definitely, definitely with some cameras. Cameras would probably be the same price as paying those two or three people to clean that up every week. And don’t let it go, like the taxes. Make them pay for their sloppiness and ignorance.

Take old furniture to the dump

What is it with the people in Crystal River putting their nasty, old furniture out on the side of the road with a sign on it saying, “Free”? Nobody wants your nasty, old furniture. Haul it to the dump.

Rising COVID-19 numbers

(Re the July 7, 2020, front-page story, “Citrus sees COVID-19 spike”): I see by the paper this morning that the cases in Citrus County is 40.5% up. You all should be proud of yourself.

Stewart’s ideas make sense

I’m calling to say thank you to Cortney Stewart for the wonderful column she writes for the Sunday paper. It’s the first thing I look for in the paper. Cortney’s ideas make more sense than anything I have ever heard from our elected leaders, including our commissioners, Rep. Massullo, Gov. DeSantis and Trump. I hope you consider running for one of these offices. We desperately need someone like you in there. Also, thank you to the Chronicle for continuing to push for a mask mandate. It’s nice to know that the people at the Chronicle care about the citizens in this county, even if the elected representatives do not.

Enforcement key to water restrictions

If Citrus County enforced the ordinance of watering lawns two days a week like they should have, the new regulation of watering only one day a week would not even be needed. This is a joke and will only be penalizing the people who abide by laws and so-called ordinances. Pretty much everyone knows they can water their lawns any time for however long they want, rain or shine, five to six days a week on average — here, like in Pine Ridge — and there will be no penalty or enforcement. Drive through Pine Ridge or any other upscale community about 6 a.m. and it looks like a water park nearly every day. People with wells figure there’s no check on their usage, so they have a serious advantage on metered houses. Please understand the water belongs to everyone, not just you. If the water shortage becomes even more critical than it is now and lake levels keep dropping, then just ask yourself why the county is not doing anything about it. Enforce the regulations we have made already and don’t waste your time coming up with new ones. Watering one day a week isn’t worth the paper it’s written on. It’s just a joke unless it’s enforced.

reports
record increase

TAMARA LUSH AND
PABLO GORONDI
Associated Press

The World Health Organization, meanwhile, reported another record increase in the number of confirmed coronavirus cases over a 24-hour period, at over 230,000.

Countries in Eastern Europe were among those facing rising waves of new infections, leading to riots in Serbia, mandatory face masks in Croatia and travel bans or quarantines imposed by Hungary.

In Bulgaria, authorities reintroduced restrictions lifted a few weeks ago because of a new surge in cases.

Albania also has seen a significant increase in infections since mid-May, when it eased lockdown measures. The Balkan nation reported 93 new cases, over twice as many as the highest daily figures in March and April, and the health ministry called the situation at the main infectious disease hospital "grave."

Croatia, whose island-dotted Adriatic Sea coast is a major tourist destination, is making wearing masks mandatory in stores beginning Monday.

India, which has the most cases after the United States and Brazil, saw a record surge of 28,637 cases reported in the past 24 hours. Authorities also announced a weeklong lockdown beginning Tuesday in the key southern technology hub of Bangalore, where the offices of top tech companies like Microsoft, Apple and Amazon are located.

South Africa has reported over 10,000 new daily cases for several days in a row, including 13,497 new infections announced Saturday night. Johannesburg's densely populated Soweto township is one of the virus hot spots.

Meanwhile, in Taiwan, which kept its coronavirus outbreak to a few hundred cases, an annual film festival wrapped up with an awards ceremony this weekend where actors and others lined up for photo shoots with no social distancing, and participants didn't wear masks.

Florida passes 15,000 positives

State reports
143,000 tests

TAMARA LUSH AND
TERRY SPENCER
Associated Press

ST. PETERSBURG — Florida shattered the national record Sunday for the largest single-day increase in positive coronavirus cases in any state since the beginning of the pandemic, adding more than 15,000 cases as its daily average death toll continued to also rise.

According to state Department of Health statistics, 15,299 people tested positive, for a total of 269,811 cases, and 45 deaths were recorded.

California had the previous record of daily positive cases — 11,694, set on Wednesday. New York had 11,571 on April 15.

The numbers come at the end of a grim, record-breaking week as Florida reported 514 fatalities — an average of 73 per day. Three weeks ago, the state was averaging 30 deaths per day. Since the pandemic began in March, 4,346 people have died in Florida of COVID-19, the state says.

Testing has doubled over the last month, going from about 25,000 tests per day to almost 50,000, but the percentage of people testing positive has risen even more dramatically. A month ago, fewer than 5% of tests came up positive on a daily average. Over the past week, the daily average exceeded 19%.

About 10.7% of Saturday's 143,000 tests came up positive, with an average age of 38. "I still think we need to increase our testing a little bit more," said University of Florida epidemiologist Dr. Cindy Prins, adding that the state and local health departments should ramp up their contact tracing.

Prins said that she's still concerned about large crowds, gyms and some restaurants as being places of mass transmission. Reports of illegal clubs and raves in South Florida is also a worry, she said.

"I really do think we could control this, and it's the human element that is so critical. It should be an effort of our country. We should be pulling together when we're in a crisis, and we're definitely not doing it," she said. "I know people want to live their lives. There have been a lot of other times, people have made those sacrifices in order to benefit our society. It's almost like a war effort. That's what we need right now."

Terry Shaw, AdventHealth's president and CEO, said Sunday on CBS' Face the Nation that the peak of COVID-19 hospitalizations in Florida will be "sometime in front of us in July."

While on the program, he said that the health system, which has hospitals in nine states including 30 in Florida, has adequate PPE, a stockpile of ventilators and a clinical team that's learned how to better treat the disease.

"I give you an example. Our length of stay in our ICU for COVID patients has dropped in half. The number of people coming in to our hospital with COVID that need a ventilator, we've also been able to cut that in half. And because of those things, our death rate has also been cut in half" since the beginning of the pandemic," he said.

The health system's ICU capacities in Florida are currently running at about 85% to 90%. He said the system could turn some "progressive care units" into ICU units if needed.

Hospitals in several counties have stopped doing elective surgeries. HCA West Florida have ceased inpatient elective procedures at hospitals in Hillsborough, Pinellas and six other nearby counties, said an HCA spokeswoman on Sunday. Florida ceased elective surgeries statewide from March until early May in order to free up beds, and to reserve personal protective equipment for health care workers caring for COVID-19 patients.

Miami-Dade, Broward, and Palm Beach are the top three counties for hospitalizations, with 3,232 people hospitalized — 42 percent of the 7,542 people in hospitals statewide for coronavirus.

Miami-Dade County Mayor Carlos Gimenez told CNN on Sunday that his county's hospitals will soon reach capacity, but he said more beds can be added, including for intensive care.

"We still have capacity, but it does cause me a lot of concern," he said.

Throughout May and into June, the state reopened much of its economy with some restrictions — and the number of positive cases began rising, but it wasn't until the last week that the daily death total began rising, too.

Because of the increase in cases and the positivity rate, doctors have predicted a rise in deaths, saying the mortality rate usually increases two to four weeks later as some of those infected get sicker and eventually die. Health experts are concerned that people are gathering in crowds, and have expressed concern that the Republican National Convention's nomination party for President Donald Trump will be held in Jacksonville in August.

On Saturday, the Magic Kingdom and Animal Kingdom reopened at Walt Disney World in Orlando, according to health experts who urge people not to gather in groups. Guests at the park said that people were wearing masks and social distancing, and videos showed near-empty parks.

Florida Gov. Ron DeSantis said that even with the rising rates, he still wants the schools to reopen as scheduled next month, saying children have not proven to be vectors for the disease in states and countries where campuses are open. He said while each county will have to come up with procedures, depending on their local infection rate, not opening the schools would exacerbate the achievement gap between high- and low-performing students.

"We know there are huge, huge costs for not providing the availability of in-person schooling," he said. "The risk of corona, fortunately, for students is incredibly low."

Helen Ferre, a spokeswoman for DeSantis, said Sunday that the state has tested more than 2.4 million people for COVID-19.

Ferre said the important statistic isn't the raw number of positives, but the percentage — on Sunday, it was just over 11%, about 8 percentage points lower than the weekly average.

"The more people who get tested and are proportionately reporting negative for this virus is meaningful," she wrote in an email to The Associated Press.

Meanwhile, a commissioner for a county near Jacksonville is seriously ill with the virus, according to a posting by his daughter on Facebook.

St. Johns County Commissioner Paul Waldron had recently voted against a county ordinance requiring masks, but not because he opposed them. He said he wanted more answers from county administrators about which masks are most effective and whether the county had enough for employees and visitors at government buildings.

Custer wins in upset at Kentucky

Rare triumph for NASCAR Cup rookie driver

GARY B. GRAVES
AP sports writer

SPARTA, Ky. — Cole Custer saw an opening and, with help from a friend, squeezed through for the most fulfilling moment of his young racing career.

Custer became the first rookie regular to win in the NASCAR Cup Series in nearly four years, surging to the lead in a four-wide, final-lap scramble Sunday at Kentucky Speedway.

Kevin Harvick and Martin Truex Jr. were dueling side by side for the lead on the Lap 266 final restart when Custer — with a push from Matt DiBenedetto on the outside — made his move from sixth in the No. 41 Stewart-Haas Racing Ford. As the leaders bunched in Turn 1, Custer slid ahead and outlasted Truex's Toyota.

"I knew I just had to get to the top," said Custer, who led twice for five laps — the first of his young career. "The top rolled pretty good and once I got past and I was like in third I was like, 'I've just got to take a shot and do whatever I can here.'"

"And it ended up the 4 (Harvick) and the 19 (Truex) got together a little bit and I was able to take advantage of it."

Making his 20th series start, the 22-year-old Custer celebrated with a frontstretch burn-out as his crew happily ran to greet him.

He's the first rookie to win a non-rain-shortened race since Juan Pablo Montoya in 2007. Brad Keselowski won a race in 2009, Trevor Bayne in 2011 and Justin Haley in 2019 while not racing full seasons. All three would have been classified as rookies had they been competing a full year. Chris Buescher won a rain-shortened race in August 2016 while competing for rookie of the year.

Custer also won at Kentucky last July in the Xfinity Series.

Matt Kenseth's Turn 4 spin forced the final caution and Cole Custer, top, celebrates with his crew after winning a NASCAR Cup Series race Sunday, July 12, 2020, in Sparta, Ky.

created the opportunity for Custer's victory.

DiBenedetto was third, and Harvick fourth — both in Fords. Kurt Busch, the winner last year, was fifth.

"I got a good restart and was curious what he was going to do," Custer said. See CUSTER/Page B3

Ready to pitch in

CR grad Jordan Humphreys reaches Big Apple for 'Summer Camp'

CHRIS BERNHARDT JR.
Staff writer

This certainly isn't the way anyone would have imagined Jordan Humphreys finally getting his chance to join the New York Mets at Citi Field.

But on Thursday, July 9, 2020, the Crystal River High graduate and current Citrus Springs resident arrived in New York City prepared to take part in "Summer Camp" as a member of the Mets' 60-man player pool.

"It's been a waiting game for everybody really," Humphreys said. "It's my first year on the 40-man roster. I expected to be part of it, to help the team out. That's the ultimate goal."

The 24-year-old Humphreys has spent the previous five seasons pitching in the Mets' farm system after they drafted him right out of high school in 2015. The 6-foot-2 right-hander has impressed enough to go from 18th-round pick to a coveted spot on the 40-man roster and an invite to Major League spring training camp earlier this year.

In order for a player to be added to the big league roster, he must first have a place on the organization's 40-man roster. For a prospect such as Humphreys, it's an important step toward making it into the majors.

That would be the case under normal circumstances. With MLB hoping to begin its long-delayed regular season on July 23, each team can submit up to 60 players as part of a pool to pull from to fill out its roster.

However, all Minor League Baseball seasons were officially canceled on June 30, leaving players outside of those 60-man pools without the chance to take the field in 2020.

Fortunately for Humphreys that won't be the case, after he was added to the pool on Tuesday.

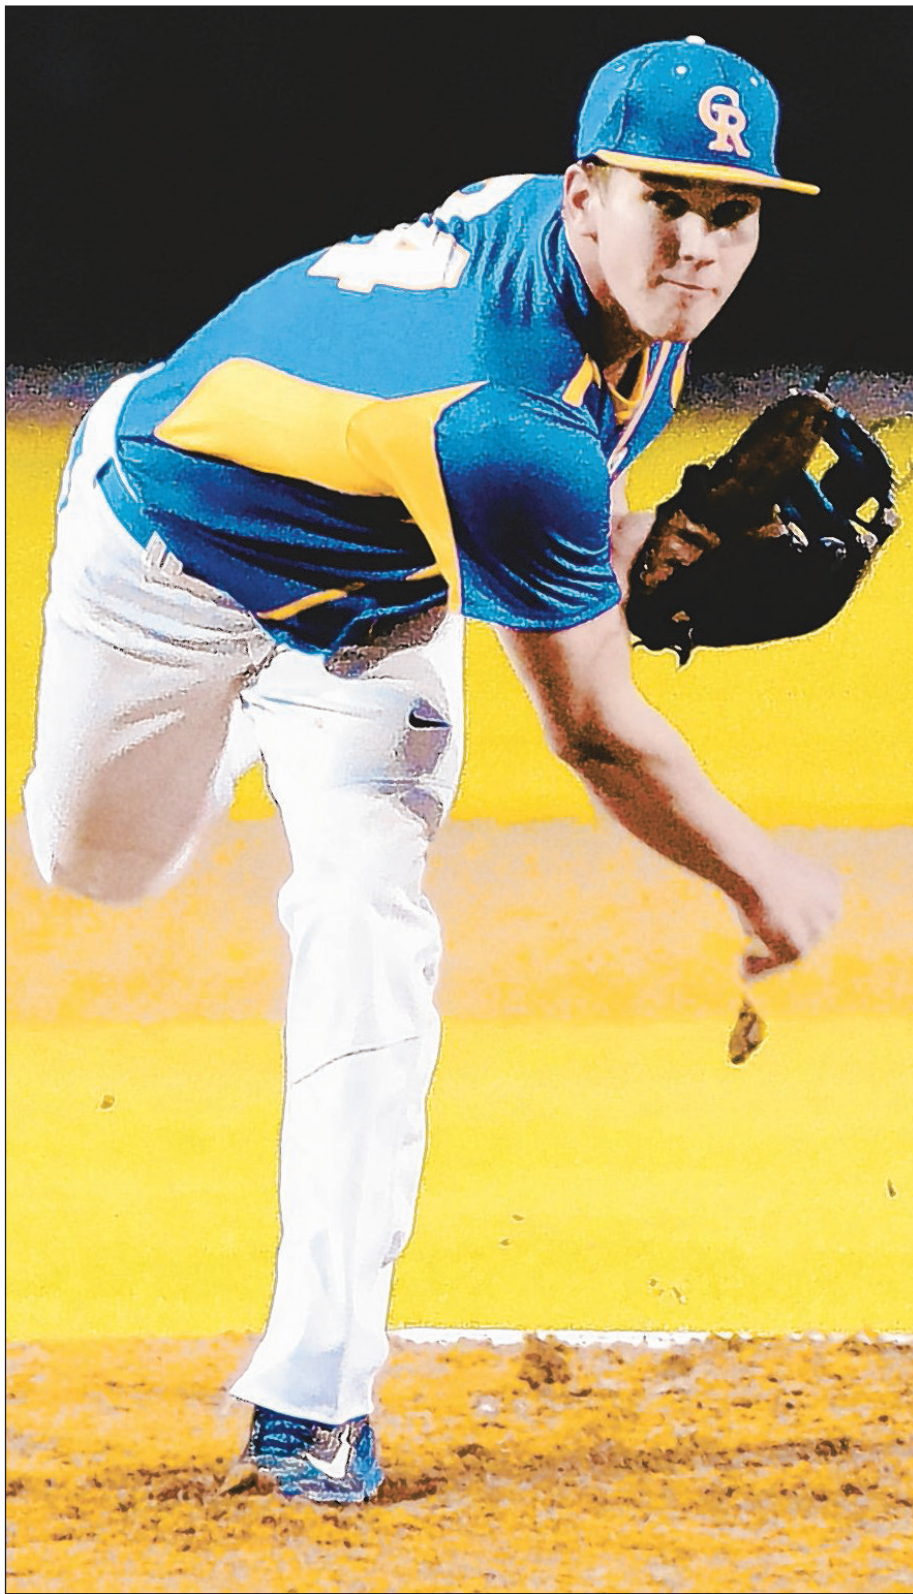

"Everybody has been on their toes a little bit," Humphreys said. "Teams are being really strategic and so much is going on in the world. It was just being patient. I got the news and I'm here now. It gives me an opportunity to help the big club out and get some work in."

"I feel for a lot of those guys not getting an opportunity to play. There's nothing you can do. It's just a crappy situation. You've got to make the most out of it."

Humphreys was speaking from a hotel on Thursday, just hours after being tested for COVID-19, part of the intake process players must first clear in order to work out with the team.

Opening Day rosters will be set at 30 players and the remaining members of the pool will move to an alternate training site. For the Mets, that will be likely in Brooklyn where they have a Class A Short Season affiliate, the Cyclones.

Once a player is selected to a team's pool, they're fairly well locked in barring trade, injury or illness. Removing a player would place him on waivers, where he could be claimed by another team.

So Humphreys should be able to get consistent throwing in over the next few months, which is critical considering how much time he has missed in recent seasons.

Humphrey was enjoying a breakout 2017 campaign at the Class A level, going 10-1 with a 1.79 ERA, striking out 83 in 80.2 innings. He was holding batters to a .197 average and walked only 12, but his season ended in late June as he required Tommy John surgery.

While sitting out the 2018 season he struggled in his rehab, needing a second surgery to clean things up.

"It was quite the process," Humphreys said, "a lot of ups and downs coming back from Tommy John surgery."

He made two starts for the Gulf Coast League Mets last season, throwing an inning apiece. Then he spent part of the offseason pitching for the Scottsdale Scorpions in the Arizona Fall League, See METS/Page B3

Play ball — and mask up, too. Protective face coverings won't be out of sight when Major League Baseball resumes in less than two weeks. Some players and coaches are planning to wear them on the field.

MLB's safety protocols require masks in clubhouses to prevent the spread of COVID-19, and coaches and managers are required to wear them in dugouts, but they're optional on the field. Some are going to wear them during games as well.

Among those encouraging masks: Los Angeles Dodgers closer Kenley Jansen.

Jansen said he recently tested positive for COVID-19, causing him to report late to summer camp. He took part Sunday and said he's "doing great and better now."

Jansen expects to be ready for the season opener on July 23, when San Francisco visits Dodger Stadium.

New York Yankees outfielder Clint Frazier has been experimenting with various masks during intrasquad scrimmages. He says it's not only a matter of safety but setting an example during televised games.

"We have a big platform," Frazier said.

Yankees teammates Aroldis Chapman, DJ LeMahieu and Luis Cessa already are all sidelined due to the virus.

Frazier won't be alone with a face covering.

"I'm masking up, too," Atlanta third base coach Ron Washington said.

At 68, Washington has seen fellow Braves coach Eric Young Sr. and Mets hitting coach Chili Davis opt out this season.

"I know I'm one of the high-risk guys," he said. "I trust the protocol that MLB has in place and I also trust Ron Washington even more."

"This is very safe," he said Sunday, adding, "Sixty games? I can hide out for 60 games."

Wearing a mask, that is.

Most players have gone maskless during on-field workouts.

"I won't be wearing a mask during a game," Cincinnati pitcher Trevor Bauer said recently. "If I have a mask on, it See MLB/Page B3

Two-time All-Star 2B Bolling dies

MOBILE, Ala. — Frank Bolling, a two-time All-Star second baseman and the last player to hit a grand slam off Sandy Koufax, has died. He was 88.
Bolling died Saturday. He was diagnosed with cancer about five years ago, his family said.
Bolling played 12 seasons in the majors, six with Detroit and six with the Braves, and hit .254 with 106 home runs. He won a Gold Glove in 1958 with the Tigers and for part of that season, his double-play partner was his older brother, shortstop Milt Bolling.

Rosenqvist gets 1st IndyCar victory

ELKHART LAKE, Wis. — Scott Dixon's win streak finally ended. Chip Ganassi Racing just kept rolling along.
Felix Rosenqvist overtook Pato O'Ward on the next-to-last lap and earned his first career win Sunday in the second half of an IndyCar doubleheader at Road America. Rosenqvist became only the second driver to win an IndyCar event this year after Dixon posted three straight victories to start the season.
Rosenqvist and Dixon, who finished 12th, are Chip Ganassi Racing teammates.
The race turned into a duel between Rosenqvist and O'Ward, who were both chasing their first career victories. O'Ward pulled ahead on the 43rd of 55 laps, but his margin steadily decreased before Rosenqvist finally passed him.
“You're never really too confident,” Rosenqvist said. “But when I saw the gap with Pato decrease the last four or five laps, I only had one thing on my mind and my crew also had only one thing on my mind, and that was winning the race.”

Clutch finish leads Morikawa to top

Defeats Thomas in playoff at Workday Open

DOUG FERGUSON
AP golf writer

DUBLIN, Ohio — Collin Morikawa figured his tournament was over if he didn't make a 5-foot par putt on the 15th hole at Muirfield Village.
He couldn't have imagined all the fun was just starting.
Still three shots behind Justin Thomas with three holes to play, Morikawa made only one birdie and it was enough for a 6-under 66 to force a playoff.
The three times he played the 18th hole, he twice could only watch as Thomas had 10-foot putts for the win.
The other time, Morikawa had to make a 25-foot putt to keep playing.

The only dull moment Sunday at the Workday Charity Open was the end, when Morikawa took two putts for par from just inside 10 feet to beat Thomas on the third playoff hole and win for the second time in his career.
“Amazing,” Morikawa said

Associated Press

Collin Morikawa reacts to a putt on the first playoff hole during the final round of the Workday Charity Open, Sunday, July 12, 2020, in Dublin, Ohio.

when asked how he would sum up the day to someone who only saw the result.

That covered a lot of territory. Morikawa never looked like the winner until it was over.
Thomas had 10 straight one-putt greens, the last one a 25-foot eagle putt on the par-5 15th for the three-shot lead with three holes to play. And while he made two bogeys for a 69 that allowed for a playoff, he had reason to think it was over when he made a 50-foot birdie putt from the back of the 18th green.

do,” DiBenedetto said about helping Custer. “When he pulled to the top, I was like, ‘Yeah, that was a good move right there.’ And I just decided to shove him since I couldn’t go around to the outside.

“It helped him to get to the win and I joked with him that he owes me $100. But he did a great job.”

The final hundred laps created plenty of lead changes but nothing like the final 20 where Harvick, Truex and Blaney all had their shots.

Even seven-time Cup champion Jimmie Johnson — back behind the wheel after missing last week’s race in Indianapolis following a positive coronavirus test — was running in the top three late with a chance to win. A spin into the front stretch grass on a lap 255 restart ended his quest and left his No. 48 Chevy 18th in his final Kentucky start.

Johnson’s day wasn’t a complete bust. The track named one of its entrances Jimmie Johnson Boulevard, and a banner over the infield tunnel entrance read, “Thank You, 48.”

The race’s intrigue wasn’t shocking with the concerns centered around Kentucky’s first day race since Kenseth won a rain-postponed event in 2013. While it favored previous winners — including five Cup champions who combined for nine wins — the opportunity was there.

Aric Almirola made his case at the start, pushing pole-sitter Kyle Busch forward from the outside and chasing in the early laps before taking over nine laps later and threatening to run away from it. Almirola led 128 of the first 137 laps — nearly 40 more than he has led all season.

Blaney and DiBenedetto took their turns in front before Keselowski inherited it on pit road during green-flag pit cycles. That didn’t last long as Truex quickly stalked him on the last-stage restart and took over on 181 in hopes of his third Kentucky win in four years.

Truex gave it a good run against Harvick but instead settled for watching Custer take the win.

“The 41 (Custer) just came with a big head of steam and there was no way I was going to be able to block that,” Truex said. “He was just in the right place at the right time, I guess.”

tossing 11.2 innings in four appearances while going 1-0 with a 0.77 ERA.

Finally feeling healthy, he got into two games during this past spring training. He gave up two hits and a run in two innings of work, striking out two and earning a win. He was optioned to the minors on March 6, 2020.

“It was my first big league camp. I was pretty excited to be around those guys, learning how to be a big league player,” Humphreys said. “So that was definitely cool.

“My expectations were to be healthy, number one, and be able to compete and eventually help the Major League team out. That was the ultimate goal. In spring training I felt things were going in the right direction.”

When the pandemic hit he found himself back home working out, trying to stay in game shape. He was able to throw two bullpen sessions a week with the help of a nearby friend who is a catcher. But he was also able to log some unexpected quality family time.

Now he’s in the Big Apple, looking to keep building up his arm and dreaming of eventually making his big league debut.

“I was hoping to get some work in this year. I didn’t want to sit out and not get my innings up,” Humphreys said. “I’ve got to get some innings, get some work and get better.”

Brewers shortstop Luis Urias and pitcher Angel Perdomo are sidelined because of the virus. Both have tested positive but don’t have symptoms, manager Craig Counsell said.

While players scrimmage to get ready for games, umpires also are starting to return.

SUDOKU

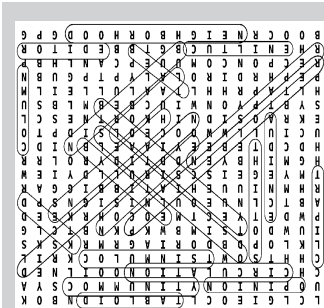

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

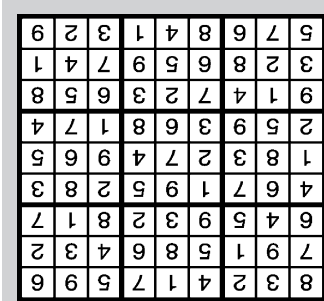

Level: Intermediate

Here’s How It Works: Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
