Alligator attack suspectea in woman's death

VALRICO - An alligator apparently attacked a woman whose body was found in a retention pond near Tampa, sheriff's officials said.

Hillsborough County Sheriff's deputies found the woman's body in a pond Sunday night, a news release said.

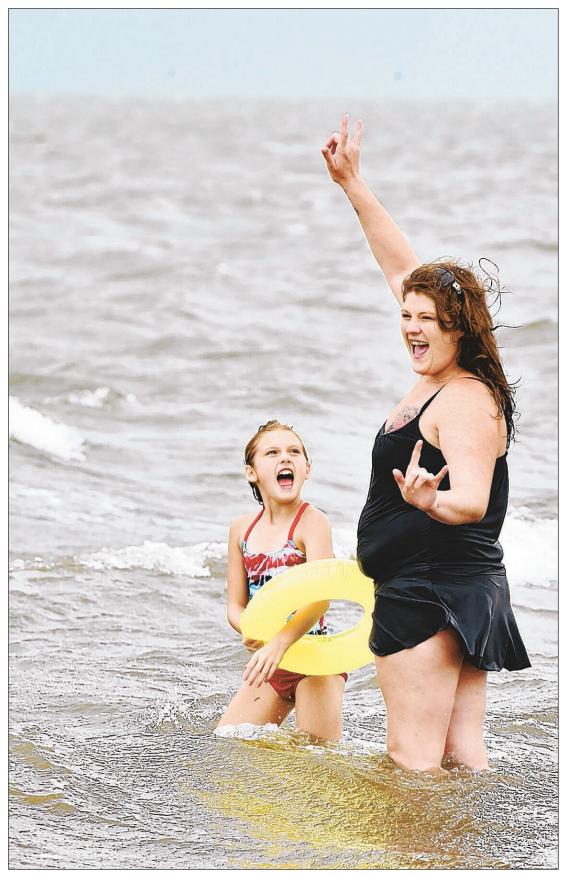

The family of the 29-year-old woman told WFLA-TV that she was known to swim in the pond. They said they are grieving and asked for privacy.

Sheriff's officials said the woman suffered injuries "consistent with an alligator attack," but the medical examiner's office would determine the official cause of death.

Deputies called the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission and trappers to the scene to try to catch the gator, the release said.

Tropical Storm Elsa spared Citrus County as it churned along Florida's Gulf Coast toward the Northeast but left a lingering threat of flooding in its rainy and windy wake. By their 11 a.m. Wednesday, July 7, update, when Elsa was making landfall in Taylor County, National Hurricane Center officials downgraded Citrus County's hurricane warning to a tropical storm warning, which later expired by 3 p.m. Amanda Woodward, the county's emergency management director, said hazardous conditions from storm's arrival Tuesday night into Wednesday morning were expected to die down Wednesday afternoon.

That is very rapidly coming to an end," she told the Chronicle. "I'm feeling good about where we are.'

According to the National Weather Service, a peak wind gust of 41 mph was reported at a home station in Crystal River, and the agency's station in Inverness captured a gust as fast as 26 mph.

Woodward said no local injuries or significant damages were reported because of the storm, which was forecast to head toward Georgia, the Carolinas, Virginia and on to Maine over the next week.

Downed tree limbs and utility cables obstructed local pathways, and area electric companies worked to restore power. By noon, Duke Energy reported 12 outages in Citrus County; the Withlacoochee River Electric Cooperative (WREC) had two; and SECO restored power to all its local customers.

A tree fell on top of power lines near the intersection of Northeast Eighth Avenue and Northeast First Terrace in Crystal River, closing the junction to traffic.

SAVANNAH, Ga. — A weakened but resilient Tropical Storm Elsa killed at least one person in Florida on

The National Hurricane Center said Elsa still packed 45 mph winds more than nine hours after making landfall along Florida's northern Gulf Coast. The storm's center was sweeping over southeast Georgia by 8 p.m. Wednesday.

Elsa seemed to spare Florida from significant damage, though it still threatened county's coast into Wednesday afternoon, but tidal floods were manageable.

"I think we're looking pretty good," Woodward said.

National Hurricane Center officials at 11 a.m. downgraded Citrus County's peak storm surge risk from 3-5 feet to 2-4 feet above normal tides, and then down to 1-3 feet within the next half-hour.

A coastal flood advisory of 1-3 feet replaced the storm surge warning by 3 p.m. and was due to expire by 11 p.m. Wednesday.

Minor tidal flooding in and around Ozello and King's Bay, Crystal River, was reported.

Crystal River Assistant City Manager and Fire Chief Brown 'Jack' Dumas III said the city's fire department and public works department crews monitored the bay and its canals for waters spilling over the tops of seawalls and onto streetscapes.

Other than that, he said. "it's been very, very quiet.'

Dumas said HEART 9/11, or the Healing Emergency Aid Response Team, loaned the city two 16-foot boats to help with searchand-rescue missions, if needed.

'They went out of their way to help us out," he said, thanking the volunteer group centered in New Jersey.

Joe Palminteri, a Citrus County-based response team leader for HEART 9/11, said he and his crew offered the city their vessels after hearing its fire department's boat was out of service.

City sets tentative property tax rate

FRED HIERS Staff writer

The property tax rate for Inverness property owners will not increase, and could instead fall again this year, after the city's council voted Monday, July 6, to tentatively keep the millage rate unchanged.

Florida law allows the council to lower it during future millage hearings, but not to raise it.

Keeping the millage rate the same as it was during the past 12 months would mean more money for city coffers, though.

That's because the taxable value of the city increased $21.4 million from the previous year, according to the Citrus County Property Appraiser's Office. Of that $21.4 million, $4.3 million is from new and improved development. The full taxable value of the city is $534,147,532. The difference over last year is a 4.2% increase.

City Manager Eric Williams said later he will propose a millage rollback rate plus incorporating a 3% growth instead of the 4.2%. Williams told his council that would result in a millage of 7.8211.

He told the council the 7.8211 would still generate enough money to operate the city along with paying for some service increase costs.

The rollback rate is the millage rate which would generate the same amount of property tax as the previous year. So if the value of taxable property in the city increases, the roll back rate decreases.

One mill in property, or ad valorem taxes, is equal to $1 for each $1,000 of the property's taxable value. So if a property is worth $75,000, after homestead

Until recently, the city had been raising its millage rate each

'For the ensuing fiscal year, the city will incur increases from multiple areas: the Florida retirement system, medical benefit program, electric (and) utility consumption, law enforcement /fire/public safety increases and program/maintenance increases to support events, the depot district, and enhanced parks that are driven by greater usage," Williams told his council.

"The hard push has been to build a budget that provides the expected levels of service and not ... to find the need to adjust the current mill-

"Now is a time to reunpredictable," Jacksonville Mayor Lenny Curry said during a news conference Wednesday evening as he urged drivers to stay off the road. Rocco Mediate and his caddie Martin Courtois size up his putt on the ninth green during the second round of the Champions Tour's 3M Championship golf tournament at TPC Twin Cities, Aug. 2, 2014 in Blaine, Minn.

the PGA Tour Champions. formerly known as the Senior PGA Tour and still often called by its old name of Champions Tour. The first round is set for Thursday.

Courtois brings 30 years of caddying experience to the course. The first time he ever worked on the PGA Tour was 1982, at what was then the Bing Crosby National Pro-Amateur but now the more familiar AT&T Pebble Beach Pro-Am.

That was local for him at the time; he's originally from Castro Valley, California. He was about to go to the University of Wyoming on a basketball scholarship when another sport grabbed his attention.

"After basketball season I picked up golf," Courtois said. "My friend talked me into going. I always thought the sport wasn't for me. It never had much appeal. But I gravitated toward it quickly.

"Only once did I shoot over 100. I broke 90 after a month, 80 after fourth months. I led California in scoring my senior year (of high school) in 1979."

Within a year of first picking up a club he was a scratch golfer, and in 1992 he played in the U.S. Amateur Championship.

He only lasted half a year at Wyoming, and upon returning from college he met a caddy named Dudley Logan, who Courtois said mentored him and "took my interest in golf to another level."

"He taught me where to stand, how far away to stand, he taught me the ins and outs of caddying,' Courtois said. After caddying for a few years at Orinda Country Club in California, he moved on to other ventures. He ended up in North Carolina, opening up a large sports bar called T.J. Hoops. Additionally, he served as director of operations for the Pro Billiards Tour. "I never depended on caddying being my sole source of income," Courtois said. "Ultimately it's a very insecure profession.'

However, around 1993 Courtois decided that he would devote the next 10 years to caddying and see where it took him. He had caddied for various golfers through the 1980s and built up many relationships.

"I've been blessed. The game has been great to me," Courtois said. "Some of the greatest players in the world are close friends of mine.

One of those in particular is Rocco Mediate. Courtois had worked with a variety of golfers up until 2007, when he first teamed up with Mediate.

By the fifth week of us being together, he had a second-place finish at Bay Hill, which procured him full exemption status (on the PGA Tour) and off we went from there," Courtois said.

Courtois wasn't there during Mediate's most memorable performance, when he was the runner-up in the 2008 U.S. Open, losing to Tiger Citrus County are symbolic added to Units 1 and 2. of a change in direction for the energy company.

In early June, the company imploded the two oldest coal burning plants on the Crystal River site, and later in the month broke ground on a solar plant near the site. These two events are a graphic demonstration changes in power generation being taken by the company. The two units that were taken down by implosion were the two oldest generating units on the site. They were the first generating plants built at the Crystal River site, which was initially developed in the 1960's. They were later joined in the 1970's by a nuclear plant, which was retired a decade ago, and two coal plants built in the 1980's.

At one time, the Crystal River Plant was one of the largest generating plants in the country, with trainloads of coal coming in by rail and barges loaded with coal coming through the Gulf of Mexico and entering the site through a long channel in the Gulf.

new environmental regulations came into effect, all of the coal units were fitted with precipitators, large emission control devices that remove particles from try as efforts are made to exthe coal plant emissions. And then last month, as part of a billion-dollar statewide plan to significantly increase solar generation in Florida, Duke broke ground on the new 500-acre solar site just north of the Crystal River plant. The plant is expected to generate about 75 megawatts of electricity, or approximately the amount needed to provide power to 23,000 homes.

This installation alone will not nearly replace the power that could be generated by the older coal plants, but it is part of an overall system of solar plants planned for the state that will significantly increase Duke's solar generation in Florida.

Over the past year or so, I have written about our poor delivery service — but not this time!

Since last I wrote, the service has been super and it has been several months. As much as I will raise a sink with poor service, I will laud good service like we have had. Thank you.

A special thanks also for eliminating those oppressively long winded political columns made by the same small group of so-called experts on either side.

They tossed up more garbage than Waste Management, and most of it was less than accurate. I'm glad you made the new policy.

Thank you for Best of the Best

On behalf of the over 3,000 Precious Paws Rescue adopted pets, their adoptive families, donors and volunteers — thank you to the Citrus County community residents for casting their ballots in the Best of the Best 2021.

For Precious Paws Rescue volunteers, our dream would consist of a world where every pet has a loving and safe home. No animal would be abandoned or treated cruelly.

As kitten season is in full swing, we welcome volunteers to help care for the foster residents at our adoption center located at 5164 S. Florida Ave. in Inverness. Besides the usual feeding and cleaning, remember the cuddling time as you sit on the couch with the feline residents on your lap or play with a toy that you dangle just for them. The socialization provided by volunteers helps prepare the felines for a happy life with their adoptive families.

Tag fee would fund more paths

I'm responding to the (Friday, June 18, Page A10) Sound Off, "Bikers would love a safe path," where you're saying the path on U.S. 19 to the beaches back and forth is really nice, but the pickup trucks are going into your bike lane, and putting a parking area and offroad path for bikes for the last few miles of beach road would really be nice. So why don't you start it and start your fundraising and start building it? Or, better yet, I'd like to see them charge a tag for your bicycle. Now if you charge all these bicycles for a tag fee and you pay your tag fee for all the bicyclists that allegedly want this stuff, you could utilize that money to build your beautiful parking lot then. So why don't you go that route? But you know what? You won't do it.

It's traffic light mania in Citrus

County commissioner's traffic-light mania: Those commissioners that would not support a traffic signal at the dangerous and deadly County Road 491/ State Road 200 intersection are now welcoming a couple of new signals on County Road 486 near Pine Ridge Boulevard to add to our traffic congestion.

Suggesting a feeder road

The goal in Citrus County should be to limit traffic, not to add to it by adding an interchange at County Road 486. I propose that the BOCC arrange a trade with the Florida Turnpike enterprise for a limited-access feeder road for the parkway at Holder. Just follow the Duke power lines to U.S. 19 and/or the original interchange at Citrus Avenue. This feeder will take care of all that west Marion traffic for the parkway and 10-lane boat ramp at the Barge Canal.

Disparity between citizens, company

I read in today's paper Saturday, June 19, that they want reasonable water usage (re the Page A10 editorial, "Conserving Water," "Be a responsible water steward"). Well, this is for the commissioners: I want to know where I can get a permit for $50 where I don't have to worry about watering my lawn since there's a company that's taking a million gallons a day out and they're not worrying about it. I'll probably only take maybe about 10 or 20 gallons a day out, if that. I won't be watering the lawn every day, either. So, just for a little hint to the commissioners on how to do their work.

Things have really changed

I agree with Saturday's Sound Off about our cable bills (June 19, Page A10, "Give senior citizens a break"). When I moved to my house in Beverly Hills four years ago, my cable bill was $99.36. As of today's invoice, it is now $207.06. That is a 108% increase in four years. I remember when cable was first introduced back in the '70s; you were going to pay a little extra, but have no commercials. It seems like their commercials have tripled. Boy, have things changed.

Feral dogs, CCSO need to giddy-up

I belong to a site called Nextdoor. It's like a Facebook for Citrus County and there is article after article about people being attacked by feral dogs. Dogs are actually dying from being attacked by the dogs. Where is the sheriff's department when it comes to animal control? I understand they're stressed, but we need to get them out there. What I'm going to do is, I'm going to go out there and if I see any feral dogs, I'm going to shoot them if they're threatening any person. If the sheriff's department doesn't want this done, giddy-up, let's get going.

Suncoast just a short drive away

To the 19,000 residents of the area surrounding Top of the World in Marion County: The Suncoast Parkway is just a 23.9-mile drive to the proposed interchange on County Road 486. Welcome.

Spam calls are continued harassment

Scammers can be a nuisance. This week I had 16 calls. I have an unlisted telephone number and (are) why they allowed to call my land phone? I have called Spectrum and they blocked all phone numbers from "Spam Risk" that was existing, but spammers just went to different numbers to call. I even answered the call and told them to take me off their calling list. They said OK, but continue calling. I don't know what to do about this because it is driving me up the wall.

Paper carriers do great work

I'm responding to the Sound Off, "Late delivery is OK with me" (Sunday, June 20, Page C3). Totally disagree with you. I would like my paper early in the morning so I have it with my coffee, like always. Second of all, let me tell you, these carriers do a great job. Those papers don't come in those little bags. The carrier has to fold them, put all the inserts in and all the different papers together and put them in bags to be delivered. They don't come like that. And you want them to come at 12 o'clock in the afternoon? Now you're going to get it later because that delivery driver has to deal with the afternoon traffic. Did you ever consider all that? Apparently not. So you either get your paper in the morning or don't get it at all. I want to thank the carriers for all the work they do, but that's what they go through.

Car dealers should list mileage

I tried to call Florida government and I think that all the dealers that sell cars should put their mileage in the newspaper, as not to distract people, but to put it in there so that people will be attracted to the mileage that is in each individual car.

Traffic problems blown out of proportion

I am calling about all this traffic that will supposedly be coming off the parkway onto State Road 44. I have taken the parkway many times to and from the airport. Once you get past Spring Hill coming north, there is no traffic. If you see more than two cars coming each way, it is a miracle. At (U.S.) 98 where the parkway ends now, there is nothing but a road — no McDonald's, Burger King or even a gas station. Businesses do not want to build where there isn't traffic. For some reason or other, the supposed traffic problem from this road has been blown way out of proportion. I can't help but wonder why.

Agree with the sentiment

Just reading (the Monday, June 21, Page A7 Sound Off), "It's time to start living again," which I agree with.

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti — A squad of gunmen assassinated Haitian President Jovenel Moïse and wounded his wife in an overnight raid on their home Wednesday, inflicting more chaos on the Caribbean country that was already enduring gang violence, soaring inflation and protests of his increasingly authoritarian Interim Prime Minister Claude Joseph, who confirmed the killing, said the police and military were in control of security in Haiti, the poorest country in the Americas where a history of dictatorship and political upheaval have long stymied the consolidation of democratic rule.

In an interview with The Associated Press, Joseph called for an international investigation into the assassination, said that to work with Moise's allies and opponents alike.

seph said. He alluded to enemies of the president, describing him as "a man of courage" who had opposed "some oligarchs in the country, and we believe those things are not without consequences."

Despite Joseph's assurances that order would prevail, there was confusion about who should take control and widespread anxiety among Haitians. Authorities declared a "state of siege" in the country and closed the international airport.

The normally bustling streets of the capital, Port-au-Prince, were empty Wednesday. Sporadic gunshots were heard in the distance, public transportation was scarce, and some people searched for businesses that were open for food and water.

Bocchit Edmond, the Haitian ambassador to the United States, said the attack on the 53-year-old Moïse "was carried out by foreign elections scheduled for later this mercenaries and professional kill- to hold elections, and the opposiyear should be held and pledged ers—well-orchestrated," and that tion demanded he step down in they were masquerading as agents recent months, saying he was of the U.S. Drug Enforcement Ad- leading it toward yet another

Joseph said the heavily armed gunmen spoke Spanish or English, but gave no further details.

Moïse's wife, Martine, was in stable but critical condition and was being moved to Miami for treatment, Edmond said in Washington.

Haiti has asked the U.S. government for assistance with the investigation, he said, adding that the assassins could have escaped over the land border to the Dominican Republic or by sea. The Dominican Republic said it was closing the border and reinforcing security in the area, describing the frontier as "completely calm."

Haiti appeared to be heading for fresh volatility ahead of general elections later this year. Moïse had been ruling by decree for more than a year after failing

Stocks close higher, led by gains for tech

Wall Street capped a day of choppy trading Wednesday with more record highs for stocks and another drop in bond yields that sends mixed signals about investors' confidence in the market.

The S&P 500 recovered from an early stumble and rose 0.3% to an all-time high. The benchmark index snapped a 7-day winning streak of high closes a day earlier. The Nasdag composite also set a record high, its third straight.

Technology, industrial and health care companies accounted for a big share of the gains. Apple rose 1.8%, Otis added 2% and Biogen gained 3%. Those gains were kept in check by a slide in other sectors, including energy, which fell as oil prices dropped 1.6%.

The bond market continued to draw buyers, a trend that has pulled yields sharply lower this week despite economic data showing the economy continues to recover from the pandemic. The yield on the 10-year Treasury fell to 1.32% from 1.37% a day earlier.

The S&P 500 rose 14.59 points to 4,358.13. The Dow Jones Industrial Average added 104.42 points, or 0.3%, to 34,681.79, while the Nasdag inched up 1.42 points, or less than 0.1%, to 14,665.06. The Russell 2000 index of smaller stocks slid 21.66 points, or 1%, to 2,252.85.

Hack to test Biden's vow for consequences

WASHINGTON — President Joe Biden said Wednesday he would "deliver" a message to Russian President Vladimir Putin about the latest ransomware attacks targeting American businesses, setting up a test of Biden's ability to balance his pledge to respond firmly to cyber breaches with his goal of developing a stable relationship with Russia.

The administration faces few easy options for a ransomware threat that in recent months has emerged as a major national security challenge, with attacks from Russia-based gangs that have targeted vital infrastructure and extorted multimillion-dollar payments from victims.

The White House says the damage from the latest attack affecting as many as 1,500 businesses worldwide — appeared minimal, though cybersecurity experts said information remained incomplete. The malicious intrusion exploited a powerful remotemanagement tool run by Miami-based software company Kaseya. It occurred weeks after Biden made clear to Putin that the U.S. would not tolerate attacks.

But Biden finds himself in a difficult position as he seeks to press Putin to crack down on Russian cyber gangs targeting U.S. and international business for financial gain and dial back Kremlin-connected cyber espionage. The administration is mindful that punitive actions against Russia can escalate into tit-for-tat exchanges that heighten tensions between nuclear superpowers.

The deadly heat wave that roasted the Pacific Northwest and western Canada was virtually impossible without human-caused climate change that added a few extra degrees to the record-smashing temperatures, a new quick scientific analysis found.

The study, not yet peer reviewed, said that before the industrial era, the region's late June triple-digit heat was the type that would not have happened in human civilization. And even in today's warming world, it said, the heat was a once-in-amillennium event.

But that once-in-amillennium event would likely occur every five to 10 years once the world warms another 1.4 degrees, said Wednesday's study from World Weather Attribution.

Judge: Air Force mostly at fault in church shooting

AUSTIN, Texas — A federal judge has ruled that the U.S. Air Force is mostly responsible for a former serviceman killing more than two dozen people at a Texas church in 2017 because it failed to submit his criminal history into a database, which should have prevented him from purchasing firearms.

U.S. District Judge Xavier Rodriguez in San Antonio wrote in a ruling signed Wednesday that the Air Force was "60% responsible" for the massacre at First Baptist Church in the small town of Sutherland Springs, where Devin Kelley opened fire during a Sunday service. Authorities put the official death toll at 26 because one of the 25 people killed was pregnant.

Fiery explosion erupts on ship in Dubai

DUBAI, United Arab Emirates — A fiery explosion erupted on a container ship anchored in Dubai at one of the world's largest ports late Wednesday, authorities said, sending tremors across the commercial hub of the United Arab Emirates.

The blaze sent up giant orange flames on a vessel at the crucial Jebel Ali Port, the busiest in the Middle East that sits on the eastern side of the Arabian Peninsula.

The combustion unleashed a shock wave through the skyscraper-studded city of Dubai, causing walls and windows to shake in neighborhoods as far as 15 miles away from the port. Panicked residents filmed from their highrises as a fiery ball illuminated the night sky.

New York held a ticker-tape parade Wednesday for the health care workers and others who helped the city pull through the darkest days of COVID-19, while authorities in Missouri struggled to beat back a surge blamed on the fast-spreading delta variant and deep resistance to getting vaccinated.

Mort Walker, who created "Beetle Bailey," said, "It's not true that nice guys finish last. Nice guys are winners before the game even starts.

At bridge, winners help you make contracts. When you have lots of winners, especially in the form of a long suit, bid up. If you take the necessary number of tricks to make your contract, it does not matter how few high-card points you had.

Look at the North hand in today's diagram. You open one club in third chair, lefty overcalls one spade, partner makes a negative double (showing four hearts and at least 6 points, or five or six hearts and 6-9 points), and righty passes. What would you rebid? Also, would you have opened two diamonds with the West hand? Looking at the latter question first, many players would these days, but in second chair, you ought to have a textbook hand. Since one opponent has already passed, your partner probably has a decent hand, and if so, you want to make it as easy as possible for him to judge where to play.

At the time, North rebid three clubs. Admittedly that was a jump-rebid, but it was too cautious. South understandably passed, and an excellent game contract was missed.

With eight probable tricks, North should have cue-bid two spades, asking partner to bid no-trump with a spade stopper. Here, of course, South would have been happy to continue with two no-trump, and North would have raised to game. West probably would have led the spade 10, but he might have tried a sneak attack with the diamond five. In either case, South would have raked in at least one overtrick.

Annıe offers advice

ear Annie: When kids graduate from high school, parents and grandparents obviously are very proud of their kids. Rightfully so.

Our issue is with the fairly new practice of putting signs on the front lawn, or front door, with the student's picture on

For instance, there is a home

our neighborhood with a photo of t h e daughter announcing her graduation. What concerns us is that t h i s young girl

verv

DEAR ANNIE

beautiful, and the picture of her is from chest-level to the top of her

This is, in our opinion, not the best thing to do when there are so many child predators and kidnappers around. Parents and grandparents, we urge you to please think twice before putting your child's picture on display. Do you agree?

- Concerned Neighbors in Florida Dear Concerned: It saddens

me to think that parents cannot celebrate their children's accomplishments in a public way. But I do understand your concern and would urge parents to use their judgment about what information they choose to make public. Maybe a good compromise would be to post a sign saying, "We are so proud of our son" or, "We are so proud of our daughter" without a photo or name.

Dear Annie: You ran a letter from a man who was worried about his neighbor in a retirement community who was showing signs of a loss of cognition.

Most retirement communities have a designated staff person who can intervene in these circumstances, such as a resident services director. Residents complete paperwork before they move in that typically includes an emergency contact.

The facility should contact that person and express their concern about this resident's declining cognition and her decreasing ability to safely live independently. If something happens, at least there will be documentation that the facility reached out. — Retirement Community

Dear Retirement Community: Thank you for your letter. You offer a wonderful suggestion, assuming there is a resident services director. If there is not one, then there should

Dear Annie: Father's Day always reminds me of the gratitude I feel toward my dad, and as that special day passed recently, I thought about him and how he inspired me to appreciate the natural world around us. I have written a verse in tribute to him that your readers might enjoy

My dad instilled in me a love of nature.

Had it not been from his example, I would never have appreciated

The beauty of the world around us. He walked with me in the woods.

He sat with me on our country gallery looking out at the lake and Talked with me about the importance of the land.

He died in 2006, young at 76 ... I think of him when I see a gathering of birds,

Of flowers, bodies of water and beautiful trees, wishing he was standing beside me.

- Nature-Loving Daughter Dear Nature-Loving: What a wonderful tribute! If you have ever seen a beautiful sunset, crashing waves or magnificent 100-year-old trees, you know the healing power of nature. In a world so full of distractions and technology, it is so nice that your father taught you to go back to the basics for a happy, peaceful and joyous life. I highly recommend reading, or rereading, Henry David Thoreau's book "Walden."

This herbaceous vegan sauce redefines pesto

CHRISTOPHER KIMBALL Milk Street

Il pestos are not created equal. For many Americans, the term brings to mind some version of pesto Genovese, with its copious basil, cheese and pine nuts traditionally mashed together with a mortar and pestle.

But the word derives merely from the Italian for "to pound or crush," which opens up possibilities for numerous flavor combinations.

We were inspired by one version of pesto we saw in "Autentico" by Rolando Beramendi. This Tuscan cook combines bitter herbs and greens with garlic and marinated artichoke hearts into a vegan sauce that pairs beautifully with chunky pasta shapes such as fusilli.

For this recipe from our book "COOKish," which limits recipes to just six ingredients without sacrificing flavor, we rely on arugula for a backdrop of pepperiness, tempered by grassy parsley. We preferred neutral oil blended into the sauce because its flavor doesn't compete with the other ingredients, but we drizzle on extra-virgin olive oil just before serving. Either canned or marinated artichoke hearts work well.

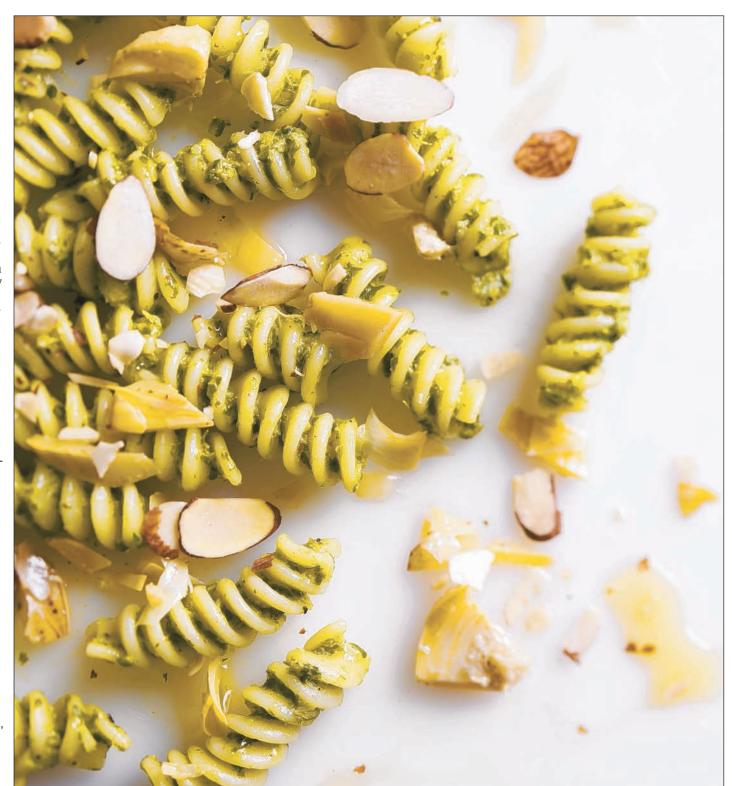

Be careful to start pulsing the ingredients slowly in the food processor or blender. Otherwise you'll overwork the herbs and the heat will diminish their

- 3 cups lightly packed baby arugula OR baby watercress
- 1 1/2 cups lightly packed fresh flat-leaf parsley
- 4 scallions, roughly chopped
- 2 tablespoons fresh marjoram OR fresh oregano
- 2 marinated artichoke hearts, quartered, plus chopped marinated artichoke hearts to serve
- 6 tablespoons neutral oil
- Kosher salt and ground black pepper
- 1 pound fusilli OR cavatappi OR gemelli pasta
- Extra-virgin olive oil, to serve

In a blender or food processor, combine the arugula, parsley, scallions, marjoram, artichokes, neutral oil, 1/4 cup water, 1 teaspoon salt and 3/4 teaspoon pepper. Puree until smooth; transfer to a large bowl. Cook the pasta in a large pot of boiling

Reserve 1/2 cup cooking water, then drain. Add the pasta and 1/4 cup cooking water to the pesto; toss, adding more cooking water to thin. Season with

Serve topped with chopped artichokes and drizzled with olive oil.

Optional garnishes: toasted sliced almonds OR shaved pecorino Romano cheese OR lemon wedges OR toasted breadcrumbs.

Lime Jell-O dessert takes the cake

o many things happen. Life is made up of events and happenings; there are happy times and rough times. The difficult moments that test your patience to the max leave you wondering how you could ever forget them in the world.

Time elapses, those stark negatives and intense trials have a way of melting back, and you cling to the positive memories. It's like my mom says, "Memories tend to be viewed as better or worse than the actual

Whether we choose to view it from a positive or negative standpoint, life keeps mov-

As you can hear, today I've had many churning feelings. As some of you shared, your "babies" are now grandparents.

OK, so my baby turned 1 year old yesterday, and I get this feeling that the days of having little ones in our home are rapidly moving onward. This darling boy was our newborn a year ago. I wonder what his life will hold, or even more, what our future generations may face.

There is only one place where true peace settles in, and that is when I cry out to God for our little ones and their future families. I then know that God heard, He shares my concern, and He will answer those pleas.

For today, we will relish the sweet innocence of a 1-year-old and trust the unknown future to the One who knows it all. Little Joshua is a favorite in our household. Well, aren't they all favorites? Yes, they are; it's just that this stage with the first peek-aboos, kisses, and patty-cakes charm every Julia was completely impressed when she got him to take his first steps the week before his birthday. His way of saying "please" takes the cake. He'll spot some food that he would like to have and make this little hand motion of rubbing against his chest to say please.

It just wins you over. How can you say no? When he first started letting out these insistent shrieks to get what he wants, I was like, "There must be a better way!" With a bit of effort, he caught onto the sign language for

The next one we're working on is, "thank vou." He gets the concept but can't get his hand to make the right motion yet. Amazing how you can watch the wheels of his brain spin by observing the look in his brilliant blue eyes.

While he has several words he says, it is mostly in baby talk as he exclaims and points to whatever catches his attention the most. And yes, Dutch is his first language until he learns to speak English around the age of 3 or 4. Horses rank at the top of his list; there are few things he enjoys more than pony and cart rides, if it happens to be close to nap time, he's lulled to sleep in no time.

Last night we all got a kick out of watching his eager hands as he tore into the little birthday cake Julia had decorated for him. You can only imagine him sitting in his sassy seat with bean brownie cake all over. There was cake and mocha icing everywhere. He ended it by dropping the last part of the cake onto the floor. Needless to sav. after supper was bath time!

This adorable fellow inherited his daddy's curly hair. Again and again, I smile to myself as I look at his little head is covered with golden curls. It's like I tell little Joshua, "I haven't done a thing to deserve such a curly-headed little boy with fat

So, for today we'll celebrate all the good and know that each day of the future is made by the One who made you and I!

Tampa Bay Rays starter Collin McHugh pitches against the Cleveland Indians during the first inning in the second game of a doubleheader Wednesday, in St. Petersburg.

Rays toss 7-inn. no-no

Sweep Indians in doubleheader

MARK DIDTLER Associated Press

ST. PETERSBURG — Five Tampa Bay pitchers combined for seven hitless innings, and the Rays beat the Indians 4-0 Wednesday for a doubleheader sweep.

Collin McHugh (two perfect innings), Josh Fleming (7-4 after allowing one walk in 2 2/3 innings), Diego Castillo (one out). Matt Wisler (one inning) and Pete Fairbanks (one inning) combined for the hitless performance in a game shortened to seven innings under pandemic rules.

The game will not go into the official list of no-hitters. MLB's eightman committee on statistical accuracy decided in 1991 that a no-hitter was a game of nine or more innings that ended with no

Arizona's Madison Bumgarner pitched a seven-inning no-hitter against Atlanta in the second game of a doubleheader on April 25, another that did not officially count.

"I don't have a whole lot of opinions about it ... I'll probably leave that one to Bumgarner to talk about," McHugh said. "We celebrated like it was. Really, that's all that matters to us, is having a good time with it."

There have been seven official no-hitters this season, one shy of the high set in 1884, the first year overhand pitching was allowed.

Cleveland had just three baserunners, including Oscar Mercado, who reached against Josh Fleming after third baseman Wander Franco and shortstop Taylor Walls collided on a routine grounder leading off in the third. Originally scored as an infield single, the call was changed one inning later to an error on Franco for running into Walls.

"I just assumed it was a hit," said McHugh, who didn't immediately realize after the final out that Tampa Bay had not allowed any hits. "So there was a little confusion on our part but we had a good time with it."

In the fifth inning, Franco was credited with an infield single after third baseman Owen Miller made contact with shortstop Amed Rosario as he was fielding a grounder.

Major League Baseball could change decisions by official scorer Tim Clodjeaux. "I mean, it's kind of hard to understand how the one for them is a hit but ours is an error," Cleveland manager Terry Francona said. "I'm guessing that a couple days from now they'll have to go back and un-celebrate that, They'll probably change it, but that doesn't change the fact, what the score was and what we did or didn't do." Clodjeaux said after reviewing the play, without the contact Walls would have thrown Mercado out at first. 9.12 of the Official Baseball Rules states: "the official scorer shall charge an error to a fielder who causes another fielder to misplay a ball.

Walls helped start a nifty double play to end the third when he slid to field Ernie Clement's grounder. Franco also made a pair of nice defensive plays on fourth-inning grounders.

Walls put the Rays up 2-0 in Game 2 on two-out RBI singles off Sam Hentges (1-4) in the second and fourth. Yandy Díaz extended the advantage to 4-0 on a fifthinning two-run single against Nick Sandlin.

Hentges gave up four runs and five hits over 4 1/3 innings.

Kevin Kiermaier homered and drove in a career-high five runs, Vidal Bruján had an RBI single in his major league debut, and the Rays won the opener 8-1.

Franmil Reyes homered for the Indians, who have lost nine in a row. He homered and tied a career-high with five RBIs in Monday night's 9-8 loss to the Rays.

It is the the longest losing streak during Terry Francona's managerial time with Cleveland. The Indians dropped eight straight from Sept. 8-16, 2020, and from June 2-10, 2013.

"We're not, obviously, firing on all cylinders." Francona said. "I think that's an understatement."

In the opener, Kiermaier had a two-run double in the first and connected on a three-run shot off J.C. Mejia (1-4) during the third.

"I'm starting to feel a lot more locked in and, hopefully, I can just find that consistency along the way," said Kiermaier, who went 2 for 3 to raise his average to .239. "Just anything you can do to help the team win and create momentum for you and the boys out there, that's what it is all about."

Kiermaier's second homer of the season gave Tampa Bay a 6-1 lead in the third and ended Mejia's day. Brandon Lowe and Brett Phillips added solo drives for the Rays.

Michael Wacha (2-2) allowed one run, four hits and struck out six in six innings. Ryan Sherriff worked the seventh to complete a four-hitter.

Mejia gave up six runs, four hits and two walks in 2 2/3 innings.

Bruján had a remarkable first inning in Game 1, which saw the 23-year-old take away a hit from Amed Rosario in the top half by diving to his left on a hard-hit grounder. Bruján followed that up later in the inning with an RBI single, then stole second and scored on Kiermaier's double for a 3-0 lead.

Paul carries Suns past Bucks in Finals opener

PHOENIX — Chris Paul waited 16 years to get to the NBA Finals, bringing with him a team starving for its first championship.

The setting was entirely new. The performance was same ol' Chris

"Just knew he's ready," Phoenix forward Mikal Bridges said. "He's prepared his whole life for this moment and it shows out there on the court.'

Paul had 32 points and nine assists in an NBA Finals debut that was well worth the wait, Devin Booker scored 27 points and the Suns beat the returning Giannis Antetokounmpo and his Milwaukee Bucks 118-105 on Tuesday night in Game 1.

Paul scored 16 points during a sensational third quarter that had Phoenix fans who waited 28 years to see the NBA Finals again screaming in delight.

Deandre Ayton added 22 points and 19 rebounds to continue his breakout stretch of play in his first postseason.

Antetokounmpo had 20 points and 17 rebounds after missing two games with a hyperextended left knee. Khris Middleton scored 29 points, but the Bucks will have to play from behind again after dropping Game 1 for the third straight series.

8-time champ Federer unsure if he'll be back

WIMBLEDON, England - Roger Federer has been feted by plenty of ovations at Wimbledon's Centre Court. None guite like this one, though. This was not a celebration and didn't come at the end of the match.

Instead, it delayed the beginning of what turned out to be the last game of his quarterfinal loss and felt more like a "thank you" or — just in case — a "goodbye." And Federer acknowledged afterward he isn't sure whether he'll be back.

The eight-time champion at the All England Club bowed out 6-3, 7-6 (4), 6-0 against 14th-seeded Hubert Hurkacz of Poland on Wednesday, a surprisingly lopsided finish to Federer's 22nd appearance in the tournament.

Asked whether it also might have been his last appearance here, he replied: "I don't know. I really don't know. I've got to regroup.'

As for whether retirement is an immediate possibility, he offered this: "No, I hope not. ... The goal is to play, of course."

Hurkacz's opponent Friday will be No. 7 Matteo Berrettini of Italy, who eliminated No. 16 Felix Auger-Aliassime of Canada 6-3, 5-7, 7-5, 6-3 to reach his second major semifinal.

Hurkacz never had made it beyond the third round at any Slam.

In Friday's semifinal on the other half of the draw, No. 1 seed Novak Djokovic faces No. 10 Denis Shapovalov.

After racing to a 5-0 lead at the outset Wednesday, Djokovic dropped three consecutive games to 48th-ranked Marton Fucsovics. Wasted five set points in the process, too. Soon enough, Djokovic righted himself, as he usually does, and beat Fucsovics 6-3, 6-4, 6-4 to reach his 10th semifinal at the All England Club and 41st at a Slam.

Shapovalov edged No. 25 Karen Khachanov of Russia 6-4, 3-6, 5-7, 6-1, 6-4, then looked ahead to facing

England beats Denmark, reaches Euro 2020 final

LONDON — England has broken through its semifinal ceiling at major soccer tournaments. A title match awaits for the first time in 55 years.

Harry Kane converted the rebound after his initial penalty was saved in the 104th minute to give England a comefrom-behind 2-1 win over Denmark in extra time in the European Championship semifinals on Wednesday at Wembley Stadium.

England will return to its national soccer stadium on Sunday to play Italy and will be competing in its first final since the 1966 World Cup. That remains England's only international title.

A shootout looked like where England and Denmark were headed until Raheem Sterling wriggled into the area down the right, cut inside and fell under the challenge Mattias Jensen.

The contact looked minimal, and a video review was needed.

Denmark goalkeeper Kasper Schmeichel guessed the right way to block Kane's penalty, but the England captain reacted quickly and put the ball into the net from six yards out.

England showed another side by rallying for victory after conceding a goal for the first time at Euro 2020 when Mikkel Damsgaard scored with a free kick in the Bukayo Saka was sent free down the right by Kane's pass and the winger's low cross was bundled into the net by Denmark defender Simon Kjaer in the 39th. It was the 11th own-goal of Euro 2020.

Van Aert claims stage, Pogacar keeps yellow jersey

MALAUCENE, France — Winning the Ventoux stage at cycling's biggest race is a rare and celebrated feat.

No wonder a champion like Wout Van Aert, with multiple titles across the sport's most prestigious events, felt like he posted his best victory ever after mastering the daunting and grueling mountain twice in the same day at the Tour de France on Wednesday.

Near the site where his fellow Belgian Eddy Merckx — a cycling legend with five Tour wins — had to be given oxygen soon after winning the stage to Ventoux back in 1970, Van Aert triumphed following an unprecedented double ascent of the iconic mountain.

The lively stage also gave a glimmer of hope to the rivals of race leader Tadej Pogacar that he can be taken off his perch, after the defending champion briefly got dropped on the second ascent but erased the deficit on the downhill to keep his yellow jersey.

Van Aert was part of a breakaway that formed in the early stages of the nearly 200-kilometers Stage 11 in southern France. The one-day classic specialist and multiple cyclo-cross world champion made his decisive move on the final as cent to drop his breakaway companions, then kept his advantage on the descent leading to the town of Malaucene. Pogacar was fourth, one minute and 38 seconds behind. He did not lose ground on his main rivals, even increasing his overall lead after his closest opponent at the start of the stage, Ben O'Connor, suffered a hard day and dropped to fifth overall.

impressively did it amid virus protocols with the shortest span between championships in the long history of

Never losing twice in a row thanks to a combination of Vasilevskiy's brilliance and one of the deepest rosters constructed since the cap was implemented in 2005, the Lightning solidified their status as a modern-day dynasty.

How deep? Nikita Kucherov had 32 points to join Mario Lemieux as the only players to lead the postseason in scoring two years in a row, and Brayden Point scored 14 goals through three rounds. Kucherov, Point and Hedman all played through injuries, too.

It was just too much for the Canadiens, who relied again on Price to keep them in a game. He finished with 29 saves — one too few to prevent a Cup celebration for Tampa Bay.

The sunbelt franchise in a nontraditional market that didn't even exist until 1992-93 went through the NHL's most storied franchise to do it. The Lightning won the Cup for the third time in franchise history and denied Montreal a 25th league championship banner.

The Lightning also added another title for "Champa Bay," with this title coming on the heels of Tom Brady leading the Buccaneers to a Super Bowl victory in February. The Tampa Bay Rays went to the World Series last fall.

Tampa Bay's mayor had suggested the Lightning lose Game 4 on the road so they could win at home, and she got her wish as coach Jon Cooper's team became the first since Chicago in 2015 to hoist the Cup on home ice. "We didn't get a chance to do that last year," Stamkos said. "This is reGame 4. It didn't work out. Maybe it's a blessing in disguise we got to do it in front of our amazing fans.' That paved the way not only for fans to roar in approval but for families to join in the celebration, something that wasn't possible in the bubble. Patrick Maroon became the fourth player in NHL history to win the Cup three years in a row with two teams while Kucherov joined Lemieux and Wayne Gretzky the only players 30-plus points in back-to-back playoffs. The Canadiens ran out of gas in what was an otherwise surprise playoff run for a team that opened the postseason with the worst record of the 16 qualifiers. Montreal rallied from a 3-1 first-round series deficit against Toronto and eliminated Winnipeg and Vegas in reaching the final round for the first time since winning the Cup in 1993.

"The resilience that we showed: just a good team to be a part of," Montreal's Brendan Gallagher said. "As painful as this is right now, sometimes you need to feel this to call yourself the champion."

The Lightning know that well. Their back-to-back title run was spurred by the adversity of the team overcoming the shock of getting swept by Columbus in the first round of the 2019 playoffs. They learned from each loss after that to build up a resolve that's hard to maintain over as playoff hockey takes a toll.

Tampa Bay was without veteran forward Alex Killorn, who broke a fibula blocking a shot in Game 1 of the final. He joined his teammates for a celebration like last year but unlike it in every way.

"It's unbelievable, the injuries these guys are playing with, the heart these guys have, man," forward Blake Coleman said. "It takes a hell of a lot to get here once. it takes even more to get here twice. I can't tell you how much demption for them to be able to spend these guys mean to me. Just a hell of an this time with us. We wanted to win in effort all around and a great team win."
