NEWS BRIEFS

Tallahassee portion of 'Run' canceled

In light of recent events, the Key Training Center has decided to maintain the true essence of the "Virtual" Run for the Money and will not participate in the Tallahassee portion of the run this year.

The Key Center's core runners and bikers will individually log a collective 180 miles to meet their commitment to the Key Center clients, the community and each other. These individuals are dedicated to the mission of the Key Training Center of promoting and supporting individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities.

These volunteer runners and bikers will take on the July heat to demonstrate the challenges people with disabilities face each day. Their passion, dedication and commitment is a testament to them, their families and Citrus County. Each year, they continue to publicly support persons with disabilities bringing awareness and much-needed funds for approximately 40 individuals who would not have the opportunity for residential or day services at the Key Center.

At this time, the Homecoming Run is still planned to take place on Saturday, July 25.

To get more information on these and other Key Training Center events, follow their social media page on Facebook: Key Training Center; visit the website at www.keytrainingcenter.org or call 352-795-5541 ext. 312 to speak with a member of the Key Center Foundation.

Regions temporarily closes two locations

Two Citrus County Regions branches are temporarily closed as a precaution after company officials learned of potential COVID-19 exposure among certain individuals who spent time in those locations, according to a company spokeswoman.

The branches are at its Crystal River location, 6730 W. Gulf to Lake Hwy., and the Beverly Hills branch, 3719 N. Lecanto Hwy., said Nicole Wyatt, vice president for Corporate Communications.

"Regions' top priority is the health and well-being of our customers and associates," she said.

Citrus County branches that remain open include Homosassa Springs, 4475 S. Suncoast Blvd., and Inverness, 800 W. Main St..

"Rest assured, in cleaning our facilities, Regions follows precautions that meet or exceed guidelines established by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC)," Wyatt said. "Wherever necessary, additional, thorough cleanings of impacted locations will take place before branches reopen."

"All branches will reopen as soon as possible. Any associates impacted by a potential COVID exposure will remain on quarantine leave and will not return to work until appropriate conditions have been met."

Chronicle offices closed Friday

The Citrus County Chronicle business offices will be closed Friday, July 3, 2020, in Inverness and Crystal River.

The customer service phone lines will be open from 8 to 10 a.m.

The July 4 holiday will also change the obituary deadlines for the weekend.

Obits scheduled to run from Friday, July 3, through Monday, July 6, should be submitted by 3 p.m. Thursday, July 2.

Long wait to be tested for virus

New high set Tuesday for Citrus cases

The number of people wanting to be tested for the potentially deadly virus has been "going through the roof,"

Scallop season off and running

MATTHEW BECK/Chronicle

The scallop season opened Wednesday, July 1, 2020, along the coastline of Citrus County. A small cluster of showers didn't seem to affect many boaters as they make their way from the Salt River down the Crystal River and into the Gulf of Mexico.

Scallop season is officially underway as dozens of hunters set out in search of the tasty mollusks Wednesday, the first day of the bay scallop season.

Right now, the scallops are between 7 to 10 feet of water so they're still pretty deep, according to local guides.

Scallops can only be collected by hand or with a landing or dip net.

The daily bag limit is 2 gallons of whole bay scallops in the shell or 1 pint of bay scallop meat per person, with a maximum of 10 gallons of whole bay scallops in the shell or 1/2 gallon (4 pints) bay scallop meat per vessel.

Vessel limits do not allow an individual to exceed their personal bag limit.

Visit MyFWC.com/Marine and click on "Recreational Regulations" and "Bay Scallops" under the "Crabs, Shrimp and Shellfish" tab.

Boats make their way along the Crystal River Wednesday, July 1, 2020, as the beginning of the 2020 scallop season greets boaters in search of the tasty mollusks.

Typically, scallops are found in the shallow-waters grass flats off of Citrus County's coastline. Last year, scallops were a bit more challenging to find and many hope this year will see an increase in finding the tasty mollusks.

Local boating tragedy film is in the works

Lecanto grad Miles Teller to star in movie

JEFF BRYAN
Managing editor

It's been 11-plus years since a late February fishing expedition in the Gulf of Mexico with a quartet of friends became a tragic tale in which there was one survivor: Nick Schuyler.

Schuyler, along with Jere Longman, told the story about that fateful day in the best-selling novel, "Not Without Hope." That fishing trip, in which the boat capsized, jettisoning all four occupants overboard into the cold waters of the Gulf of Mexico, claimed the lives of

Will Bleakley

Will Bleakley, a graduate of Crystal River High School and University of South Florida, as well as two NFL players — Marquis Cooper and Corey Smith.

Schuyler and Bleakley were best friends.

Now, Hollywood will bring the story to the silver screen, with a former Citrus County resident set to star in "Not Without Hope." Miles Teller will portray Schuyler in the film in which E. Nicholas Mariani developed the screenplay from the novel.

This isn't the first time Hollywood has sought to bring the story to life.

The news was a surprise to Bleakley's father, Bob, who along with his wife, Betty, still reside in Crystal River.

"I would say I'm not anxious about it,"

Bleakley said. “I’m not wishing they would not do; I’m not mad they’re doing it. It’s been a long time now. We’re not bitter; we’re still saddened.”

Within the first six months of the 2009 tragedy, the powers that be in Hollywood announced plans to make a movie. The film, which was supposed to star Dwayne “The Rock” Johnson, never materialized.

“I really don’t want to revisit it a whole lot,” Bob Bleakley said. “If anything, it’ll be hurtful to go back through it again. There are people who would like to see how it is.”

The lone bright spot, Bleakley said, was discovering that Teller, a 2005 graduate of Lecanto High School will have the lead role.

“That would be wholesome; or whatever, it would be a neat niche in the story,” Bleakley said. “That would be the one you want.”

Still, the novel penned by Schuyler, with help from Longman, was satisfactory.

“Nick and Will were friends, longtime great friends. Nick was the one who was invited, and he made room for Will,” Bleakley said. “Will lasted longer than the other guys on the boat. He didn’t have proper clothes and died of exposure.”

Bleakley isn’t worried about Hollywood “sensationalizing” the movie, because the real story is just that.

“I don’t think it’s a necessary deal,” Bleakley said about the movie. “But there are so many movies made, some people think this is one that needs to be done.”

While Bob Bleakley and his family have no say in Hollywood business or about the film, the feelings are his own.

“I do not speak for my wife, but we don’t hardly talk about it much. It was painful; we loved our son. I’m sure he was more disappointed than we were about not being able to survive.”

Seahawks quarterback Russell Wilson and Grammy Award-winning singer/songwriter Ciara will executive produce through their production company. Highland Film Group will be launching international sales at the upcoming virtual Cannes market, with CAA Media Finance handling the domestic rights. In addition, Michael Jefferson of Volition Media Partners, Rick French of Prix Productions, Lucidity Entertainment’s Colin Bates and Teller’s Lime Tree Productions (marking the actor’s first producing credit), in association with Wainwright’s Adore Creative, will also serve as producers.

“We are very excited to help bring this inspiring true story to the big screen,” said Highland Film Group CEO Arianne Fraser. “In today’s world of uncertainty, we definitely need feature films that are able to instill hope, courage and strength.”

Teller, who is represented by CAA and Goodman, Genow, Schenkman, Smelkinson & Christopher, could not be reached for comment.

health has enough tests on hand to test about 100 people per day, hence the long wait time to be tested. Adding to the wait time is that all local departments of health are sending their test kits to state lab facilities, Stasko said, and as a result they too are being overwhelmed.

But Stasko warned that many people are putting too much stock in the test and its results.

When people test negative, they need to be reminded they can still be infected later, Stasko said. If they test positive, “all it does is start a contact investigation” and patients are told to self-quarantine or go to the hospital if symptoms become severe.”

As the number of infected rise, along with the percent of people testing positive who take the test, “people are scared ... and people are saying ‘give me peace of mind,’” Stasko told the Chronicle.

There are other places people can go to be tested, but they require a health care provider’s prescription. They include: Quick Care Med Clinics, Langley Medical Center in Inverness and Rainbow River Medical in Dunnellon also offer tests as supplies are available.

Citrus County has had new positive cases for the past 21 days with the highest number Monday, July 1, 2020, with 32 new cases. The county has 323 positive cases, 13 dead and 39 hospitalizations, according to the Florida Department of Health.

Stasko said despite the rising number of coronavirus cases, people can take the same effective precautions that have been available for the past few months.

“If you think you’ve been exposed, stay at home, keep your distance,” she said, “Wear your mask and wash your hands.”

To make an appointment, call 352-527-0068 between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. Call-takers will ask a series of questions. There is no fee for the test.

Driver in crash that killed three dies at hospital

The driver of the Dodge Ram pickup truck involved in last Friday's fatal crash on State Road 200 died Sunday, June 28, 2020, at UF Health Shands Hospital in Gainesville, according to the Florida Highway Patrol.

The 60-year-old Crystal River man was at the hospital's burn unit being treated for burns that covered approximately 60% of his body.

A 10-year-old boy who was injured in the wreck remains hospitalized and is expected to recover from his injuries, troopers said. The boy's 39-year-old mother and his 16-year-old sister were killed in the wreck. Both were pronounced dead on the scene, according to the initial FHP report.

The driver of a third vehicle, a 73-year-old Ocala woman, was also pronounced dead on the scene, according to the report.

The crash remains under investigation.

Shelter suspends community cat program

As the cases of COVID-19 once again increase in the state and country, the county is taking extra precautions at Citrus County Animal Service (CCAS) to ensure the safety of its staff, visitors and animal guests.

At this time, the county has made the decision to temporarily suspend its Community Cat Trap-Neuter-Vaccinate Return (TNVR) program. Effective immediately, Animal Services is unable to take in community cats at the shelter.

It is recommend that healthy cats found outside are left alone until Animal Services are able to start providing services again.

For questions or information during the program suspension, call 352-746-8400.

2020 CCBA Candidate Stump slated

The Citrus County Building Alliance (CCBA) will host its fourth Candidate Stump at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday, July 15, 2020, at 1196 S. Lecanto Hwy., Lecanto.

This year's stump will feature primary and general election candidates in the 2020 county and state political races.

The stump will also feature a lighthearted "FUN"raiser for CASA Citrus where attendees and candidates can make a minimum donation to have other attendees and candidates "arrested." All proceeds from this portion of the event will go directly to CASA Citrus.

Beverages and light snacks will be provided and CCBA is currently seeking sponsors for this part of the event.

The 2020 Candidate Stump & Mixer is open to all at no charge, but may be hosted outside in order to accommodate existing health and safety guidelines at time of event. Video recording plans are in progress for those who cannot attend.

For information, contact the CCBA at 352-746-9028.

Leaders press for diversity

MIKE WRIGHT
Staff writer

When Ronald Sutton was growing up in Citrus County, he had dreams.

"I wanted to be a lawyer. I wanted to write books," Sutton said. "And they told me I couldn't."

Sutton, now pastor of Mount Olive Missionary Baptist Church in Crystal River, doesn't want today's Black children to go through what he did.

And it starts with race. "When we take race off the table, we see each other for who we are," Sutton said during a community panel discussion Tuesday night at the New Church Without Walls in Inverness.

The Rev. Doug Alexander, pastor of New Church Without Walls, is organizing community action meetings in the wake of the killing of George Floyd, a Black man, by a white Minneapolis, Minnesota, police officer. Protests throughout the country have called for an end of systemic racism, and Alexander said his hope is to build lasting change in the community.

Black leaders say the culture in Citrus County should be inclusive, not exclusive, for the overwhelmingly white majority.

"All we're asking for is a piece of the pie, so to speak," Sutton said. "Our fair share."

In schools, for example. Black leaders said they met with Superintendent of Schools Sandra "Sam" Himmel and urged school district officials to include employees of color in recruitment efforts, and to create a district equity team.

Sheila Jordan, executive director of the Pace Center for Girls in Citrus County, is from Columbus, Ohio, and has lived in Johannesburg, South Africa, and Louisiana. Coming to a community where there are so few Black residents was different, she said, and is clear that diversity in the schools is needed.

"It is easy to fear what you're not exposed to," she said. "As parents, it's important to make sure your children get to know kids of color. They get to value diversity ... so they don't fear us."

Alexander said Black leaders will continue meeting with Himmel, Sheriff Mike Prendergast, the chamber of commerce and county officials. He said the next community action meeting will be scheduled sometime in the next few weeks.

L.I.F.T. group marks 20 years

Network aims to help widows and widowers cope

Special to the Chronicle

In their first gathering since March 10, widows and widowers who are members of the Living Information For Today (L.I.F.T.) social support network gathered on June 16 in Homosassa Springs to celebrate their group's 20th anniversary in Citrus County.

Begun and still sponsored in Citrus County by Dignity Memorial funeral providers Fero Funeral Homes and Wilder Funeral Home, and facilitated by Friends of Citrus and the Nature Coast, L.I.F.T. provides entertaining and educational experiences to help members find purpose and understanding as they put their lives back together after the loss of a spouse.

Representing Dignity Memorial at the anniversary celebration were Daryl Schroeder, retired funeral director Bill Johnson, Fero Funeral Homes' Tory Gee and Wilder Funeral Home's Jeff Macrini. Bill Johnson was instrumental in bringing L.I.F.T. to Citrus County in 2000.

As part of the proceedings, Debi Shields, president of the local L.I.F.T. group these past two years, passed the presidency to Loretta McDermid, Pam Dionne stepped up as president-elect, Kathi Lazar continued as treasurer, and Darlene Welch was elected secretary. Among those given special recognition was Greta Logothetis, who has been a Citrus County L.I.F.T. member for all 20 years.

While recent monthly luncheon outings have been on hold due to the COVID-19 pandemic, plans are to gradually ease back into a modified regular schedule of get-togethers as conditions permit and to continue following common-sense safety precautions.

Anyone who wishes to join

L.I.F.T. or learn about grief support opportunities should contact Friends of Citrus and the Nature Coast Community Education Manager Jonathan Beard at 352-249-1470. There are no membership fees or dues, but L.I.F.T. members pay for personal expenses such as the cost of meals, event tickets, travel and accommodations. In addition to monthly luncheons, members meet regularly for various activities, enjoying field trips, presentations from a variety of speakers, holiday activities, and attending movies, plays and concerts as a group.

Friends of Citrus and the Nature Coast is a charitable organization providing community grief support workshops for anyone who has experienced a loss; telephone support; grief support resources for all ages; educational materials for parents and teachers; and children's grief support camps. Man charged with aggravated battery

BUSTER THOMPSON
Staff writer

A Crystal River man was arrested on a charge of aggravated battery with a deadly weapon, accused of striking a woman in her head with a baseball bat and knocking her unconscious.

Jacob Timothy Lolley, 40, was booked into the county jail Sunday, June 28, 2020, on the felony charge.

When he was jailed, Lolley's bond was set at none as the alleged offense was domestic in nature.

A judge at Lolley's first court appearance on June 29 reset the bond to $10,000, according to the Citrus County Detention Facility on July 1.

Lolley must wear a GPS device if he posts bail, the judge ordered.

According to Lolley's arrest report, obtained July 1, Citrus County Sheriff's Office Deputy Nicholas Erdman was dispatched to a redacted address, where a 911 hangup was reported.

When he arrived, Erdman

found a woman stumbling around outside a trailer. She told the deputy "Jacob hit me," and pointed to the left side of her head to show a bleeding, golfball-sized lump, the arrest report shows.

She told Erdman she and Lolley were arguing when Lolley grabbed an aluminum bat and struck her, causing her to lose consciousness.

A neighbor told Erdman Lolley and the woman had been drinking and argued for most of the day, and spotted Lolley run into a neighboring trailer just before the deputy arrived.

Erdman approached the trailer in question and spotted Lolley inside, drinking a beer, according to the arrest report. Lolley's statements to Erdman were redacted from his arrest report.

Lolley's next court hearing is his arraignment, set for July 14.

Guard at jail accused of hitting inmate

FRED HIERS
Staff writer

A dispute over breakfast with an inmate led to the arrest and battery charges against a Citrus County jail guard.

Pasco County deputies arrested Bradford Demone Diggs, 45, June 22, 2020, following a Citrus County warrant for his arrest after Citrus County deputies' investigation concluded the guard hit an inmate repeatedly and threw him against a wall, according to CCSO reports. Diggs is now facing misdemeanor battery charges and bonded out of jail.

The Citrus County jail is operated by the private company CoreCivic, formerly Corrections Corporation of America.

The investigating Citrus County deputy reported that he was called to the jail and, with a senior guard, reviewed security tapes of the incident and spoke with witnesses.

Although much of the report is redacted to protect the victim and other inmate witnesses, the alleged battery began when one inmate did not want to eat breakfast and gave his food to another inmate. Diggs was in the jail pod and was in charge of breakfast distribution.

The security tape showed that Diggs had become involved in a heated discussion with a second inmate and then Diggs walked over to the inmate victim seated at one of the tables, according to arrest documents.

The victim told the investigating deputy that one of the inmates had given him his breakfast and that Diggs was angry about it, according to arrest documents. The victim told the investigating deputy that Diggs began cursing at him and the victim responded by asking Diggs not to curse at him.

The victim told the investigating deputy that Diggs then said, "If you don't like the way I talk, then (expletive) you honky," according to arrest documents. Diggs is African American.

The victim told the investigating deputy that once a racial slur was made against him he hurled racial slurs back at Diggs, according to arrest documents.

The victim told the investigating deputy Diggs told him to get up from his chair and he refused until another guard arrived and told him to get up. The video showed the second guard placing his hands on Diggs' chest in an effort to calm him, according to arrest documents. The victim got up and started walking away when the victim said, and the security video showed, Diggs going after the inmate victim and hitting him in the back of the head and shoving his face against a wall and then throwing him onto the ground, according to arrest documents.

The victim was on his hands and knees with Diggs standing over him and continuing to hit him on the head as the victim tried to cover himself from the blows, according to the arrest documents. The investigating deputy also interviewed several other guards and inmates who witnessed the incident.

The investigating deputy reported that guard captain Thomas Hare told him he relieved Diggs after the incident and sent him home.

Following the investigation the State Attorney's Office issued a warrant for Diggs arrest. He was arrested in Pasco County. His bond was $1,000.

HOROSCOPES

Birthday — Look for the good and the positive in every situation you encounter this year. When you try your hardest and do your best, you eliminate regret.

Cancer (June 21-July 22) — Channel your energy into something constructive. It's what you have to show at the end of the day that will make you proud.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22) — Your positive attitude will be contagious. If you focus on what you do best, you will come up with an effective plan.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Consider what you want to do and research the best way to get your ideas out there.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) — Head down the information highway. A virtual tour can provide great entertainment and keep you out of harm's way.

Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) — A professional matter isn't likely to go according to plan. Let your intuition guide you, and you'll make the best choice.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) — Fix up your environment to suit current lifestyle trends. Protect yourself from anyone trying to take advantage of you.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — It's best not to share personal information. Honesty and integrity will help you handle an emotionally draining situation. An adjustment you make will pay off. A positive change is heading your way.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) — Use your resources to get what you want. You have what it takes to advance, so don't procrastinate when you should be seizing the moment and embracing opportunity.

Pisces (Feb. 20-March 20) — Listen to someone, but don't agree to something you don't want to do. Rid yourself of people who aren't a good influence and avoid tempting situations.

Aries (March 21-April 19) — High energy, discipline and the desire to be your best will encourage a positive transformation. Personal growth and gain are heading your way.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) — Work quietly behind the scenes. If you are too vocal regarding your plans, someone is likely to interfere. Don't share your ideas until you are prepared to market and promote them.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) — Be realistic and plan your strategy with care. Aim to succeed by doing what you can without having to depend on others.

Ed Henry fired after sexual misconduct allegation

NEW YORK — Fox News on Wednesday fired daytime news anchor Ed Henry after an investigation of sexual misconduct in the workplace.

The network said it had received a complaint last Thursday from an attorney about the misconduct. An outside investigator was hired and, based on the results of that probe, Fox fired Henry.

Henry, who co-anchored "America's Newsroom" between the hours of 9 a.m. and noon on weekdays, had slowly rehabilitated his career on Fox following a four-month leave of absence that ended in 2016. That followed published reports of Henry's extramarital affair with a Las Vegas cocktail waitress.

Fox offered no details of the complaint that resulted in Henry's firing, only to say that it happened "years ago." Henry did not immediately return messages seeking comment.

Meanwhile, HarperCollins said Wednesday that it would no longer publish a book by Henry that had been scheduled for September. Titled "Saving Colleen: A Memoir of the Unbreakable Bond Between a Brother and Sister," it was about Henry donating part of his liver to his sister.

The alleged victim is represented by noted sexual harassment attorney Douglas Wigdor. He also would not provide any details of the case.

Henry's former co-anchor, Sandra Smith, announced the firing on the air. Fox said she'll continue in her role with rotating co-anchors until a full-time replacement is hired.

21 Savage launches free online financial program for youth

LOS ANGELES — Rapper 21 Savage will be launching a free online financial literacy education program for youth sheltered at home during the coronavirus pandemic.

The Grammy winner announced his new Bank Account At Home nationwide initiative on Wednesday. His efforts will include a partnership with Atlanta mayor Keisha Lance Bottoms to provide free WiFi and tablets for students in the city.

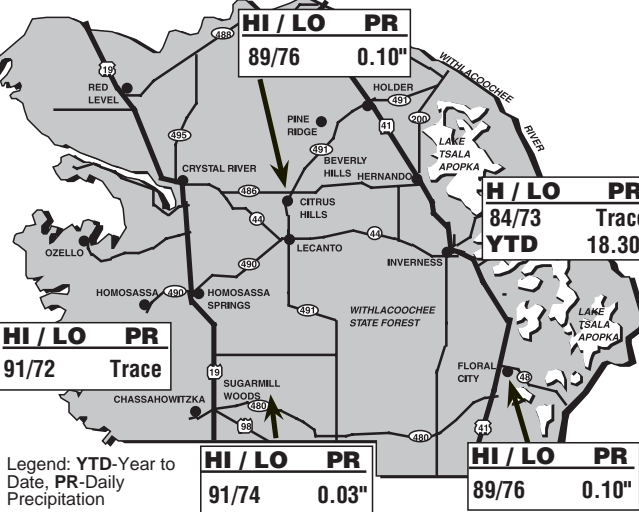

"I feel like it's important more than ever to give our next generation the tools to succeed in life," the rapper in a statement.

21 Savage said he wants to empower youth to manage their money. His program will work with mobile banking service provider Chime and EverFi, an education technology platform. The rapper launched his Bank Account program in 2018 to teach financial literacy to teenage students across the United States.

The rapper's single "A Lot" won a Grammy for best rap song earlier this year.

Today in HISTORY

Today is Thursday, July 2, the 184th day of 2020. There are 182 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight:
On July 2, 1881, President James A. Garfield was shot by Charles J. Guiteau at the Washington railroad station; Garfield died the following September. (Guiteau was hanged in June 1882.)

On this date:
In 1776, the Continental Congress passed a resolution saying that "these United Colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent States."
In 1917, rioting erupted in East St. Louis, Illinois, as white mobs attacked Black residents; nearly 50 people, mostly Blacks, are believed to have died in the violence.
In 1937, aviator Amelia Earhart and navigator Fred Noonan disappeared over the Pacific Ocean while attempting to make the first round-the-world flight along the equator.
In 2018, rescue divers in Thailand found 12 boys and their soccer coach, who had been trapped by flooding as they explored a cave more than a week earlier.

Ten years ago: Gen. David Petraeus arrived in Afghanistan to assume command of U.S. and NATO forces.

Five years ago: Trying to close the books on the worst offshore oil spill in U.S. history, BP agreed to provide billions of dollars in new money to five Gulf Coast states in a deal the company said would bring its full obligations to an estimated $53.8 billion.

One year ago: Fire erupted at a Jim Beam warehouse in Kentucky that was filled with about 45,000 barrels of aging bourbon; the warehouse and bourbon were a total loss and the bourbon leaked into nearby creeks and rivers.

Today's Birthdays: Racing Hall of Famer Richard Petty is 83. Writer-director-comedian Larry David is 73. Figure skater Johnny Weir is 36. Actress Lindsay Lohan is 34. Actress Margot Robbie is 30.

Obituaries

Roseann Ear, 79

Roseann (Morgan) Ear, age 79, of Dunnellon, Florida, passed away peacefully at Vitas Hospice in Lecanto, Florida on Monday, June 29, 2020.

Roseann was born in Detroit, Michigan on June 23, 1941 to Marie C. (Rottach) Morgan and George N. Morgan. Her lifelong passions were family, caring for animals and cosmetology. She excelled as a beautician and married Richard DeVos on September 26, 1969. Life as a newly married wife only lasted a short time as she was widowed on June 8, 1972.

She loved to travel and on a trip to Bermuda she met Frank Ear and on November 28, 1975 they were married. Their travel adventures continued as they had had homes in Rocky Mount, North Carolina, Spring and Huffman, Texas, Al Khobar, Saudi Arabia, then back to Texas where they settled and operated Atascocita Boarding and Grooming Salon near Humble, Texas. Dog grooming became her new passion and together they grew the business from a small strip mall location to eventually purchasing a failed savings & loan bldg where they developed state of the art indoor/outdoor kennels and excelled at meeting the boarding and grooming needs of their new community.

When it came time to retire the business in 2002, the decision was made to relocate to Dunnellon, Florida, to be near Frank's children. They immediately involved themselves in volunteer activities with the sheriff's offices, local church opportunities, and their new community. Roseann always supported Frank's wishes to be near his children, and continued to be his support for 40 years even as his health began to decline significantly and it became her full time responsibility. Her husband Frank predeceased her on April 19, 2016.

She was predeceased by her mother, Marie C. (Rottach) Morgan, her father George N. Morgan, her sister Georgina Marie Morgan, brother Michael R. Morgan, and stepson John F. Ear. She is survived by her brother George Dennis Morgan (Mary) of Farmington, MI, her sister Adele L. Knapp (Keith) of Brick, NJ, a sister Marie C. Ross (George) of Ocala, FL as well as many nieces and nephews. Also surviving her are her husband Frank's children, Francine Mullen (Martin) of Tavistock, Ontario, Paul Anthony of Dothan, AL, Frank Patrick Jr of Hernando, FL, Therese Burnett (Jeffrey) of Beverly Hills, FL, and Joseph Francis (Michelle) of Inverness, FL as well as numerous grandchildren and great grandchildren. Her final wishes were to be cremated and have a private memorial service with local family members. In keeping with the COVID-19 guidelines, her burial will be at a later date with a celebration of life at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery in Southfield, Michigan.

A Mass of Christian Burial will be offered at 9:30 AM, Thursday, July 2, 2020 at St. Elizabeth Ann Seton Catholic Church in Citrus Springs, FL. Heinz Funeral Home & Cremation, Inverness, FL. heinzfh.com.

Lois Anderson, 95
GROVE CITY

Lois J. Anderson, 95 of Grove Manor, Grove City, Formerly of Inverness, FL, and Stoneboro, passed away on June 29, 2020. Lois was born in Worth Twp on November 08, 1924 to the late Frank Lee and Mary Edna (Jack) Perrine. She was a 1942 graduate of Stoneboro High School.

Lois married her beloved husband, Paul Anderson on June 26, 1943, together they owned for more than 20 years the Anderson Hardware in Sandy Lake, closing in 1974. They then owned and operated Anderson Floor Covering in Sandy Lake for five years. Then after retiring, Lois and her husband made Inverness, Florida, their home. Paul preceded Lois in death on June 17, 2007.

While in Florida, Lois was a member of the Inverness United Methodist Church, where she was also a member of the Sunshine Circle. She loved her church family and attending bible studies.

Lois was known for her superior baking skills and her delicious apple pies. She enjoyed bowling throughout her years and would even be seen bowling at Grove Manor. Most of all she loved her family dearly, especially her grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Lois is survived by her children, William Anderson and wife Karen of Louisville, OH, Joyce Fleming and husband Joel of Mercer, and Frances Edge and husband David of Inverness, FL, five grandchildren; Kelli, John, Steven, Chad, Stacy, one step-grandchild, David, fourteen great-grandchildren, and numerous nieces and nephews.

In addition to her husband and parents, Lois was preceded in death by two brothers and one sister.

Funeral arrangements have been entrusted to Black Funeral Home of Stoneboro.

Funeral Services will be private.

Interment will take place in Oak Hill Cemetery.

In lieu of flowers, memorials may be made in Lois's name to the charity of one's choice.

Online condolences may be sent to the family by visiting www.BlackFuneralHomes.net.

Second spacewalk done

Batteries in space station were replaced

MARCIA DUNN
AP aerospace writer

CAPE CANAVERAL — Astronauts completed their second spacewalk in under a week Wednesday to replace old batteries outside the International Space Station.

Commander Chris Cassidy and Bob Behnken quickly tackled the big, boxy batteries. For every two outdated batteries coming out, a new and improved one goes in to supply power to the space station on the night side of Earth.

Within a couple hours, the astronauts had installed another new battery, the third one in this latest series of spacewalks that began last Friday. NASA plans to send the pair out twice more in July to finish the battery swap-outs that began in 2017. The new lithium-ion batteries should last the rest of the space station's life, according to NASA.

With their main chore completed, Cassidy and Behnken jumped ahead to loosen the bolts on the batch of old batteries coming out next time and remove other equipment. Some of the bolts required extra muscle, and another stubborn mechanism just wouldn't come off.

"Boy, it put up a good fight," Cassidy radioed. "These batteries, they like their home."

The astronauts had enough time to route power and Ethernet cables outside the 260-mile-high outpost, before the six-hour spacewalk drew to a close.

"Good thing there's an Earth down there" to tell up from down, Cassidy said.

NASA wants the battery work completed before Behnken returns to Earth in August aboard a SpaceX capsule. He's one of two test pilots who launched on SpaceX's first astronaut flight in May.

Cassidy and Behnken have now logged eight spacewalks — totaling nearly 50 hours — apiece.

A space tourist might get a chance to join the prestigious spacewalking ranks — for the right price.

Virginia-based Space Adventures Inc. is seeking a paying customer to not only fly to the space station, but do a spacewalk with an experienced Russian cosmonaut. Before launching from Kazakhstan, the space tourist would need to undergo extra training in Star City, Russia.

Space Adventures is not divulging the cost of the two-week mission. The flight would take up two tourists in 2023, one of whom would step outside. The Russian rocket company Energia has teamed up with Space Adventures for the expedition.

Plenty of specialized training would be needed before someone ventures out on a spacewalk, Behnken told The Associated Press earlier this week.

NASA considers spacewalks one of the riskiest parts of any mission, and astronauts spend hours practicing underwater — the closest simulation to spacewalking on Earth.

"I think it could be really challenging for a tourist to go on a spacewalk," Behnken said. Any tourist would want multiple practice sessions in order to be "prepared for the space environment."

Study: Protests didn't spread virus

MIKE STOBBE AND NICKY FORSTER
Associated Press

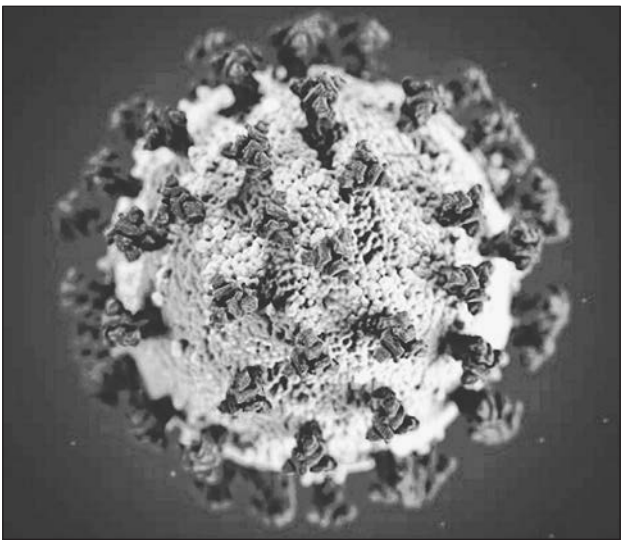

NEW YORK — There is little evidence that the protests that erupted after George Floyd's death caused a significant increase in U.S. coronavirus infections, according to public health experts.

If the protests had driven an explosion in cases, experts say, the jumps would have started to become apparent within two weeks — and perhaps as early as five days. But that didn't happen in many cities with the largest protests, including New York, Chicago, Minneapolis, and Washington, D.C.

In what's considered the first systematic look at the question, a team of economists determined that only one of 13 cities involved in the earliest wave of protests after Memorial Day had an increase that would fit the pattern.

It was Phoenix, where experts say cases and hospitalizations surged after a decision by Gov. Doug Ducey to end Arizona's stay-at-home order on May 15 and eased restrictions on businesses. Arizona residents who were cooped up for six weeks flooded Phoenix-area bar districts, ignoring social distancing guidelines.

In many cities, the protests actually seemed to lead to a net increase in social distancing, as more people who did not protest decided to stay off the streets, said that study's lead author, Dhaval Dave of Bentley University.

"The large-scale protests can impact both the behavior of the protesters and the behavior of the non-protesters," said Dave. The paper was released last week by the National Bureau of Economic Research, but has not been published by a peer-reviewed journal.

Drawing from data compiled by Johns Hopkins University, The Associated Press reviewed trends in daily reported cases in 22 U.S. cities with protests. It found post-protest increases in several cities — including Houston and Madison, Wisconsin — where experts say other factors were more likely the main drivers.

Health officials are still investigating case surges in different states, and more data may come in. But experts believe that if the protests did have a big impact on cases, stronger signs would be apparent now.

Floyd was killed on May 25 by a Minneapolis police officer who used his knee to pin Floyd's neck to the ground. The killing of a Black man at the hands of a white officer touched off protests around the United States. Coincidentally, some states had begun to lift social distancing restrictions in late May.

Dave and his colleagues counted protests over three weeks in 281 cities with populations of at least 100,000. Most had protests lasting more than three days, and many had protests that had at least 1,000 participants.

Houston is among a number of Texas cities that have recently seen steep increases in cases and hospitalizations. Dr. Umair Shah, executive director of the county health department, believes it was likely some cases could be traced to the protests.

"We just don't know how much," he said.

But it's hard to measure the protests' precise impact for a number of reasons, Shah and others said. Earlier business reopenings and more willingness to shrug off social distancing guidelines started the trend in the Houston area, Shah said.

Another factor: Many people don't get tested unless they feel symptoms. Many protesters were young adults, who generally are less likely to get severe illness, and therefore may not have gotten tested, experts said.

And some who do get tested may still not answer all the questions they are asked by outbreak investigators.

"I know of three people who told us 'Yes, I was at a protest.' That doesn't mean there was not another 25 or more who did attend a protest and just did not share that with us," said Dr. Mysheika Roberts, the public health commissioner for the city of Columbus, Ohio.

That city has seen increased cases in the last month, but health officials say they can't attribute it to any particular reason other than people socializing and returning to normal activities without wearing masks or taking other precautions. So far, protests don't seem to be a real factor.

Undeclared season cut short by COVID-19

Editor’s note: This is one of a series of stories the Chronicle will tell highlighting some of the senior spring sports athletes in the county who had their careers cut short due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Staff writer

For seven seniors on the Lecanto High flag football team, this season was supposed to be more than just a swan song. The Panthers had come close to advancing into the state playoffs the past few years. Off to a 4-0 start, prospects were increasingly hopeful.

At this point there’s probably no need to explain how it went awry. They had just knocked off county rival Citrus in mid-March and were peering ahead to a meeting with Crystal River the following week when COVID-19 forced schools to close.

“We were looking at a district championship,” Lecanto head coach Rick Keeran said. “We had a chance. That’s all you can ask for when you get to a certain point in the season. We could have made some noise. We were hoping to make a big bang this year.”

“I’m disappointed just from the standpoint that their whole senior year was changed and turned upside down.”

Through those first four games the Panthers weren’t just undefeated, they were unscored upon. They had won those contests by a combined 158-0. There were still 10 games to be played, though, including three at a tournament in St. Augustine.

“We had done a pretty good job, set a pretty good culture about playing hard and doing the best we could do,” Keeran said. “We were itching to see how we played the next weekend in St. Augustine. We knew how we sized up with everyone in our area. We knew we could do it, it was just a matter of how we sized up against other teams in the state.”

All the seniors were in either their second or third year on the varsity level for Lecanto, helping the team go a combined 15-5 the previous two seasons. Most had made significant contributions for the stout defense.

Lecanto’s Kiah Frink (27) pulls the flag of Faith Reneau of Citrus (24) for a tackle during the 2019 flag football season at Lecanto High School. Frink was one of seven Panther seniors who had their careers cut short due to COVID-19.

Cornerbacks Marcella Almgren and D.J. Spaulding were both two-year starters, with Almgren recording eight flag pulls and two pass breakups while Spaulding had three flag pulls and two breakups.

Sarah Werling, returning from an ACL injury suffered in soccer that kept her out of flag football in 2019, excelled as a rusher with five flag pulls for a loss. Ashley Lambo, another rusher and a three-year starter, had five flag pulls and four sacks.

Janie Janeczek, in her third year on the team, played both receiver and safety and had an interception. Hannah Wilson, also a three-year starter in the defensive backfield, notched five flag pulls and one breakup.

“Our defense worked really well together and we were able to adjust depending on the play of the other team and their formations. That made it really easy after a while,” Wilson said. “We had great camaraderie and experienced players.”

“We played since our freshmen year together and we all had that bond. We all genuinely loved each other and bonded. I think that’s what made us work.”

Then there was Kiah Frink, a three-year starter at receiver who Keeran said was “the mom on the team and takes care of all the girls when things get rough.” She also had four catches for 89 yards with three touchdowns.

“I have been looking forward to my senior year since I was a freshman,” Frink said. “It was heart-breaking to end on such a weird note. We didn’t play two of the teams (Bellevue and Crystal River) we wanted to and we were in such a good spot. We were let down.”

“As a team we developed so well. Every position was getting better, and every game we were getting stronger and becoming more of a team. The first four games felt like magic. We were clicking so well. It felt like nobody was able to beat us.”

Frink thought she was having one of her best seasons, building more and more confidence and cohesiveness with quarterback Trinity Keeran. But things were coming together throughout the roster.

“All of us seniors were really close,” Frink said. “Not everybody played all four years, but it didn’t matter in our eyes. It seemed like we bonded so well. There was no drama like you see in other sports teams. It felt like we were one big family.”

Now having graduated they’ll go their separate ways, though Coach Keeran said he hoped to bring them back for an alumni game next year.

“It makes it more frustrating,” Coach Keeran said. “We thought we had something really good and to not be able to have the girls experience everything in front of them.”

“I think we could have gone past districts,” Frink said. “We never got past districts. There was always one team we couldn’t overcome. This year I think we could have made it to states.”

The cupboard isn’t bare for Lecanto, as Keeran noted, “We had the seven seniors. But we’ve got a core group of juniors, 10-11 players who are pretty good on the field, in the classroom and out in the community.”

But whatever success the program achieves going forward the potential of the 2020 season will never be fulfilled.

“For me being a senior, on the team for four years, I thought we’d go far, it was kind of heartbreaking to have it end so quickly,” Wilson said. “I wish we had a proper farewell.”

“Our team was really special. I’ll always remember it. I’ll always remember the memories I made. Coach Keeran took us all in like we were his daughters; and all the parents. There was a lot of love on our team.”

Citrus County FISHING REPORTS

CHRIS BERNHARDT JR.
Staff writer

FRESHWATER

WITHLACOOCHIEE/RAINBOW RIVERS/LAKE ROUSSEAU — Captain Bob Jewett out of Angler’s Resort in Dunnellon reports a lot of nice bluegill on the Rainbow, hitting on little jigs and wiggler worms. There are plenty of good bass on Lake Rousseau biting on wild shiners, and use wild and domestic shiners for bass where the two rivers meet. Also on Lake Rousseau, one angler had success catching crappie with minnows and yellow-yellow jigs.

LAKE ROUSSEAU — Bill Burgess of Lake Rousseau RV and Fishing said bluegill and shellcracker are being caught in 5-6 feet of water using crickets and wigglers, but they seem to be few and far between. Catfish are hitting at nighttime, use mullet or night crawlers on the bottom. Bass fishing is going well, with 2-5-pounders coming in early in the morning and late in the evening, mostly caught on Texas-rigged Culprit worms in fire and ice or Devil’s Horses. A few small crappie have been caught running close to the bluegill and shellcracker.

SALTWATER

CRYSTAL RIVER/BARGE CANAL — Ed’s Tackle Shop reports trout are biting in 5-7 feet of water on Lil Johns under a popping cork or live shrimp. Redfish are around the outer islands and oyster bars, try live shrimp or D.O.A. jerk shad. Bull reds are strong up on the spoil banks. Grouper and red snapper are in 60-70 feet, hitting on Spanish sardines or thread-fin herring.

HOMOSASSA RIVER — Bill Korade of Blue Water Bait and Tackle said snook and redfish are very good by the outer St. Martins Keys or the mouth of Mason Creek. Try live shrimp, cut mullet or gold spoon. Trout are real good deep in 12 feet of water. Go with light-colored jigs on the bottom. Grouper are in 30-35 feet, biting on thread-fin herring, and grunts are in the same area hitting on cut squid. Red snapper are in 80-85 feet going for Spanish sardines, thread-fin herring or live pinfish.

KING’S BAY — Captain Louie Argiro of Florida Fishing Adventures (352-601-1963, www.floridafishingadventures.com), based out of Pete’s Pier in Crystal River, said, “This week we have seen a great showing of mangrove snapper on the shallow-water rocks as they are starting their spawn around the full moons of the next three months. A shrimp on a jig head thrown up next to these rocks has been the ticket. The great part about this kind of fishing is that it is constant action for everyone and you have the opportunity to catch many different species as well. It’s not uncommon to catch white grunts, gag grouper, Spanish mackerel, speckled trout and many other rock-dwelling fish.

“Scalloping has shown to be a little better than next year and we will see how it goes over the next week.”

AROUND CITRUS

Captain William Toney (352-422-4141) said, “Looking at a very busy weekend because of our July 4th holiday and the opening of scallop season. I’m going to divert from my traditional fishing report to talk about boat safety. It starts with having all the USCG required in the vessel before you leave the dock. On the way out of the coastal rivers be sure to have everyone on-board seated and if it becomes congested in a narrow channel slow down, wait for there to be enough space between boats to resume speed. Boats do not have brakes! On the scallop grounds slow down to an idle speed and have someone be a lookout for people in the water when you approach the fleet. Yes some snorkelers do stray too far from their vessels and that’s breaking the law, but running them over would be tragic.

“Something I do while in the water looking for scallops is to swim into the current. This allows me to see into the turtle grass because the current bends it over and swimming into the current makes it easier to return to the vessel because it will help carry you back. I’ve had folks decide not to use fins and get tired quickly without the help of fins. Another way to find more scallops is to swim in a grid-like pattern to make sure your not hovering over the same spot. We will have an incoming tide during most of the day with outgoing mid-afternoon. Have fun and be safe. Happy Fourth of July.”

SPORTS BRIEFS

NFL cutting preseason in half, pushing back start

The NFL will cut its preseason in half and push back the start of exhibition play so teams have more time to train following a virtual offseason made necessary by the coronavirus pandemic, a person with knowledge of the decision told The Associated Press.

The person spoke Wednesday on condition of anonymity because the league hasn’t announced that the preseason will be cut from four games to two.

Players are still discussing with their union whether to ask for cancellation of all preseason games, according to two people familiar with their thinking. Both people spoke on condition of anonymity because a decision hasn’t been made.

The pandemic forced teams to conduct their entire offseason programs via videoconference. So, teams will be gathering together for the first time when training camps open July 28.

Minus the usual minicamps, on-field practices and in-person weight training from April to June, players’ conditioning won’t be what it normally is. So, eliminating the first week of preseason games Aug. 13-16 will give them more time to ratchet up their football fitness.

Teams will now play exhibitions Aug. 20-24 and Aug. 27-31 during what were originally the second and third weeks of exhibition play, with all 32 teams playing one home and one road game.

Cards replace Yankees in Field of Dreams game

NEW YORK — The St. Louis Cardinals have replaced the New York Yankees as the opponent for the Chicago White Sox in the Field of Dreams game on Aug. 13 at Dyersville, Iowa. The schedule change caused by the new coronavirus pandemic meant the White Sox no longer play the Yankees this season. The new opponent, first reported by The Des Moines Register, was confirmed to The Associated Press by a person familiar with the arrangements who spoke on condition of anonymity Wednesday because the matchup has not been announced.

Major League Baseball hopes to announce its new schedule next week. Each team will play 60 games, 40 against division rivals and 20 against teams in the corresponding regional division in the other league.

“We hope to have the option to play,” MLB said in a statement. “Construction is continuing and we are following all CDC and state protocols regarding recommended safety practices, including social distancing, washing hands, and temperature checks before arriving to the site.”

It remains unclear whether fans would be allowed at the game, which is to be televised nationally by Fox.

Lou Williams expected to join Clips for restart

LOS ANGELES — Los Angeles Clippers coach Doc Rivers said Lou Williams is expected to join the team for the NBA’s restart in Florida.

Williams has described himself as “50-50” on whether he would finish out the pandemic-interrupted season because he didn’t want to distract from the ongoing push for social justice in the wake of George Floyd’s death while in police custody.

“Obviously, up until we get on the plane, anything can happen,” Rivers said during a video conference with media Wednesday. “But I do expect Lou to be with us. I would be very surprised if he’s not.”

Williams, last year’s Sixth Man of the Year, was averaging 18.7 points, 3.1 rebounds and 5.7 assists in 60 games before the league shut down in March due to the coronavirus.

S&P 500 index notches another gain on mixed day

STAN CHOE AND ALEX VEIGA
AP business writers

Stock indexes ended mixed on Wall Street Wednesday, even as the market extended its winning streak to a third day and gains in technology companies pushed the Nasdaq to an all-time high. The S&P 500 rose 0.5%, coming off the heels of a whiplash start to the year where its worst quarterly performance since 2008 gave way to its best quarter since 1998. Treasury yields and the price of oil rose. Stocks in Europe fell, while markets in Asia ended mixed.

Encouraging reports on the U.S. economy helped nudge the market higher. Investors continue to balance signs that the economy is improving after grinding nearly to a halt in the spring due to the coronavirus pandemic against worry that the number of new confirmed infections is surging in parts of the U.S. and other hotspots around the globe.

CLIMBING NUMBERS

Set stronger restrictions to stem rising coronavirus numbers

Gov. Ron DeSantis recently downplayed a continued rise in confirmed coronavirus cases in Florida, but acknowledged large numbers of people have started to disregard advice to wear masks, social distance and avoid large crowds.

No kidding. Cases in the Sunshine State recently topped 9,000 in a single day since the state reopened, one factor that prompted the shutdown of bars again.

But he also said that as testing increases, more asymptomatic younger people are driving up positive results. And he hinted recent protests over the death of George Floyd in Minnesota might drive up positive tests, and also blamed Hispanic farmworkers and the thousands of people who are getting tested.

Oh, come on. The state opened up too much too early with insufficient regard for the safety of the community. DeSantis knows that and appeared to be finding excuses for a poor series of decisions on his part. Shame on him for even bringing the protests into this debate and trying to make it political.

The governor was practically standing on the beaches waving for people to come on in.

As for testing, it is what we need to identify and track spread of the virus. The number of people getting sick from the disease is not in any way related to the number of tests being run, and for the governor to even suggest otherwise is sticking his head firmly in the sand of one of Florida’s crowded beaches.

What really torpedoed the reopening plan were those residents and community leaders who did not and still are not following the guidelines, as well as state and local officials too willing to look the other way with crossed fingers rather than to lead proactively.

As the profoundly postulating opossum Pogo — or artist Walt Kelly — said: “We have met the enemy and it is us.”

In a nutshell: The reopening failed because people are not taking the restrictions seriously.

Nonetheless, we must acknowledge that many support the timing of Gov. DeSantis’ decision to reopen the economy because of the economic damage to the state and its residents. The conditions of closure are literally destroying lives and dreams.

And we must recognize, for those of us whose income has continued, it’s too easy not to feel the pain that so many are bearing with lost jobs, layoffs and temporary closures.

Ultimately, DeSantis needs to be far more aggressive in his approach to this crisis because we cannot afford to shut everything down again. He must not suggest, but instead require people to wear masks and abide by social distancing.

He can enforce these kinds of restrictions and be punitive toward those who violate them.

While these measures seem uncomfortable and heavy handed, the alternative — shutting everything down or facing an unprecedented health crisis when hospitals become overrun and deaths spiral out of control — would be a lot worse hardship for all of us.

The importance of selflessness

I have not posted my thoughts or opinions on the coronavirus for a while. Please be aware, I am not part of any political group. This is solely the opinion of a boring doctor. Let me say that I love you all. Here we go!

First and foremost, taking the proper precautions to limit the lifespan of this pandemic doesn’t have to be political. These precautions are vital if we want to continue to keep our local businesses open to support our community.

On June 26, the governor had to close bars due to poor compliance of some of our folks. I believe this governor is a very good supporter of individual liberty, but we cannot live in a selfish bubble where life is all about one’s self.

We are surrounded by other human beings, and it’s imperative we take a selfless approach to the health of our entire community. Our actions, whether positive or negative, will come back to affect all of us.

By refusing to take basic precautions, we are indirectly contributing to a premature loss of life that can be easily avoided. I personally value life and anyone it includes, whether they are unborn or alive, old, young, white, black, brown — even pets and animals.

Citrus County is the second oldest county in the country in terms of average age. These folks are at a high risk of dying of this disease, not to mention many younger folks who have undiagnosed immune problems.

If we don’t care for the vulnerable folks in our community, who will? Please don’t lose our humanity over politics! We can work together to overcome this pandemic by wearing a mask, practicing social distancing and being vigilant about washing our hands.

This is not a political issue — it’s a human issue.

Love your neighbor, wear a mask

The Bible says “Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.” Any clergyman will tell you this means you must do unto others as you would have them do unto you; in other words, you must protect others as they should protect you. You can imagine my surprise, that as a Christian, I see so many of my fellow Citrus County neighbors and residents not protecting others during the COVID-19 pandemic. In grocery stores, restaurants, hair salons, and yes, places of worship. I see so many people not wearing a mask and social distancing in places where we are more prone to getting the virus due to the contained environment.

Yes, in the Florida heat, masks can be uncomfortable and seem tedious. I also hear from my fellow conservatives in this county and across the nation that the pandemic is being “overblown.” However, wearing masks or face coverings helps stop us from spreading any infection that we may have to others. This is especially important as we continue to see the number of COVID-19 cases and hospitalizations increase in our county and state. And it’s vital to protect vulnerable people of all ages in our county — the elderly, those with cancer, those with autoimmune diseases, and children, who we are finding are not immune from the virus.

Some might say that these individuals should “just stay home,” but many people do not have the luxury of staying home or having someone bring them groceries, cut their hair or cook them food.

Each individual expects companies, local government officials and law enforcement, and others to protect them from the COVID-19 pandemic, so why shouldn’t we expect our fellow citizens to work to protect each other? In other words, shouldn’t we all love our neighbors?

No shoes, no shirt, no mask, no service

I noticed recently a few business owners in the Tampa area complaining about being required to police patrons about wearing a mask, saying it is not their responsibility to do so. Most businesses already have to police the “No shirt, no shoes, no service,” rule so why not post a sign that says, “No shirt, no shoes, no mask, no service”?

Believe the experts about mask wearing

The Centers for Disease Control; the Surgeon General of the United States; the Secretary of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services; and Dr. Anthony Fauci, the director of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases at the National Institutes of Health; all agree that wearing a face mask is essential to stem to spread of COVID-19. But Jimmie T. Smith (MD, Ph.D?) says the science is not in yet. Hmmm ... who should I believe?

Baird most qualified for elections job

To the citizens of Citrus County, Florida, I am honored to write this note to endorse the candidacy of Maureen “Mo” Baird to be chosen as your next Citrus County Supervisor of Elections.

When I became Supervisor of Elections of Lake County, your current Citrus County Supervisor, Susan Gill, was my mentor. Susan introduced me to Mo early in my learning, with the encouragement to contact Mo with any questions I may have if Susan wasn’t available. She also generously extended that courtesy to my entire staff. Literally every interaction with Mo has been most valuable and informative! She really added to my success!

The 2020 elections are looming and are a time when experienced administrators will be absolutely necessary to accomplish a smooth election. Mo has decades of such experience. She has capably served as the operations manager in the Citrus County Elections office for more than 20 years. Only those who have actually worked in elections administration have the knowledge and understanding necessary to successfully execute an election.

Maureen is such a person with proven success. She has earned the respect and confidence of her coworkers. That characteristic is also necessary for successful elections administration — elections are definitely a team sport. The professional staff working year round must integrate and communicate clearly with the election workers manning the early voting and Election Day polling sites.

Another very important but frequently overlooked qualification is the professional certifications earned by Maureen. She has earned the title of Florida Certified Election Professional in Elections Management from the Florida State Association of Supervisors of Elections. This represents the satisfactory completion of a 33-course curriculum. Also, the Election Center of Auburn University has awarded Maureen the Certified Election/Registration Administrator certification. These two are not honorary titles, they are earned levels of professional continuing education that signify the highest levels of elections administration at both, the state and the national levels.

I fully endorse with no reservations, Ms. Baird as your next Supervisor of Elections in Citrus County.

D. Alan Hays
Supervisor of Elections, Lake County

Thanks for the generous donation

The Citrus County Detention Facility recently donated $820 to Footprints On My Heart (FOMH).

Footprints On My Heart Inc. is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization dedicated to providing services to parents and their families who have suffered a miscarriage, perinatal or infant loss.

We are there from the moment the mom gets the news of her loss to help her navigate through the days to come.

We provide services which include personal assistance on the day of loss, finding a funeral home and final resting place, helping parents file for grief leave at their jobs, access to a grief doula, organizing a meal train, and providing information families use to create memories, such as a weighted angel bear.

FOMH is a resource for the whole family with support and help for the services they will need.

Thank you, Citrus County Detention Facility for your generous donation.

Display the flag on the Fourth of July

Wouldn’t it be wonderful if every house and business in Citrus County on the Fourth of July displayed the American flag in honor of this great country? I am so grateful that my family moved here from Europe many years ago. I’d hate to think of where I would be now. God bless America.

We’ll be mobbed by scallopers

Just wanted to comment on the editorial in today’s Chronicle (June 30, 2020, Page A14) about the city of Crystal River canceling the Fourth of July fireworks because of the rise of the number of COVID-19 cases, but scallop season starts tomorrow and it brings far more people to the city of Crystal River and the county than the fireworks ever did. There’s been no talk of postponing or delaying the opening of the season or anything. We are getting ready to get mobbed by people from all over the state of Florida. I can’t believe they’re having it, really.

Be a leader, not a follower

I’m calling about the front page (June 30, 2020),

“Board chairman: Time not right for county to require face coverings,” and it also says that it doesn’t look like the people want it. Well, sir, you are elected to lead, not be a follower. You’re supposed to lead. How many more cases does Florida have to have? ... Would you please lead?

courtroom's well on Wednesday, July 1, 2020, to move a handful of defendants through their criminal allegations.

Here's a summary of cases heard July 1 and June 30 from Howard's docket:

Bond denied again for Beverly Hills man accused of shooting, killing neighbor

Michael Kenneth Ball's bond will remain withheld as the Beverly Hills 63-year-old faces charges connected with the fatal shooting of his 32-year-old neighbor, Taylor Dorbert.

Howard made the ruling July 1, siding with Assistant State Attorney Bill Catto after arguments over Ball's bond with Assistant Public Defender Susan Falardeau, who was standing in for Assistant Public Defender Ed Spaight.

Ball has been jailed without bond since early April 2020 on charges of second-degree murder with a firearm and carrying a concealed weapon.

He faces a life sentence if convicted of Dorbert's homicide.

After Citrus County Sheriff's Office deputies apprehended Ball at around 7:45 a.m. on March 25, 2020, at the shooting scene in front of Dorbert's home off of South Monroe Street, they arrested and charged him for unlawfully carrying a .45-caliber Colt 1911 pistol.

Sheriff's detectives questioned four eyewitnesses, who saw Ball and Dorbert argue at around 7:30 a.m. before Ball walked toward Dorbert's property and fired a gunshot, striking Dorbert in his chest and killing him, prior reports show.

Neither of the men, during the argument, got physical with each other prior to the shooting.

Ball posted bail a few days after his jailing, but sheriff's investigators on April 8 obtained a warrant for Ball's arrest, charging him with Dorbert's murder.

Prosecutors filed formal charges against Ball on April 13, court records show.

A judge denied Ball bond at his first court appearance, and Spaight filed a motion June 25 to reduce his client's bond.

In response, Catto presented evidence and testimony to Howard on July 1 from Detective Daniel Slingerland, who said Ball admitted to the shooting because he was in fear of Dorbert from a prior dispute in 2019.

Howard ordered to keep Ball's bond at none, prompting Ball to question the judge's decision.

"The guy was going to attack me," he told Howard, against Falardeau's advice. "I have head injuries; if he would have hit me, I wouldn't have made it to the hospital."

Ball's next court hearing was scheduled for Sept. 2.

Man facing death again for father's 2010 murder asks for mitigation after waiving it

After choosing to be resented for his father's murder without putting up a legal fight, John Campbell decided instead to have his attorneys lessen his chance of going back on death row.

At his June 30 hearing before Howard, 46-year-old Campbell asked for his defense team to present evidence at his to-be-scheduled resentencing for the first-degree murder of his 68-year-old father John Henry Campbell in August 2010, court filings show.

This came after Campbell decided in February 2020, against his attorneys' advice, to waive mitigation at his April resentencing, which was postponed because of the coronavirus.

Campbell, who was convicted of his father's murder and sentenced to death by lethal injection in 2013, is due for a new punishment after supreme court rulings vacated his original sentence.

Campbell in February also waived his right for a jury to vote during his resentencing, leaving his fate to either life in prison or death row up to just Howard.

After murdering his father with a hatchet, Campbell led deputies from Citrus and Hernando counties on a high-speed pursuit that ended with Campbell crashing into a police cruiser.

He survived and was taken into custody before a Citrus County grand jury indicted Campbell for murder in September 2010.

Campbell's next court hearing is Sept. 22.

Fired CCSO deputy charged in child-sex case gets another court date

Howard on June 30 scheduled Charles Robert Wigglesworth's next case-status hearing for Sept. 1, court filings show.

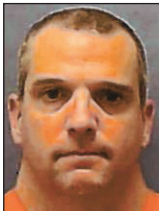

Wigglesworth was fired as a Citrus County Sheriff's Office deputy after he was arrested and charged April 3 by the Florida Department of Law Enforcement on two capital-felony counts of sexual battery of a child and three counts of lewd and lascivious molestation of a child.

FDLE launched an investigation into the Homosassa 31-year-old on March 30 at the request of the sheriff's office.

Wigglesworth is accused of sexually abusing a child in late March 2020 and in September 2016, according to court filings. His tenure as a deputy began in July 2018.

Police: Girl accidentally shot, killed by older sibling

PALM BAY — A 6-year-old Florida girl was accidentally shot in the head by an older sibling Tuesday evening and died early the next morning, authorities said.

The shooting occurred at a Palm Bay apartment, Florida Today reported. Detectives initially investigated whether the gunshot was self-inflicted but later determined she had been with a 10-year-old sibling.

"We believe it's an accidental shooting," Palm Bay police spokesman Mike Smith said.

Responding Palm Bay police officers attempted to resuscitate the child, officials said. Paramedics took her to a hospital in nearby Melbourne, where she later died.

It wasn't immediately known where the sibling obtained the firearm or if it belonged to anyone in the apartment.

Officials didn't immediately name the victim or the older sibling. No criminal charges have been filed.

A Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol honor guard carefully folds the retired Mississippi state flag after it was raised over the Capitol grounds one final time in Jackson, Miss., Wednesday, July 1, 2020.

Mississippi retires former flag to museum

JACKSON, Miss. — Mississippi officials held a ceremony Wednesday to retire the former state flag and send it to a history museum, a day after Republican Gov. Tate Reeves signed a law removing official status from the last state banner in the U.S. that included the Confederate battle emblem.

"We have much to be proud of and much to reckon with," House Speaker Philip Gunn said during the ceremony. "This flag has flown over our best and our worst. Some flew it over their bravery to defend their homeland. And for others, it's been a shadow over their struggle to be free."

A broad coalition of legislators on Sunday passed the landmark legislation to change the flag, capping a weekend of emotional debate and decades of effort by Black lawmakers and others who see the rebel emblem as a symbol of hatred and racism.

San Francisco
will end mug shots release

SAN FRANCISCO — San Francisco police will stop releasing the mug shots of people who have been arrested unless they pose a threat to the public, as part of an effort to stop perpetuating racial stereotypes, the city's police chief announced Wednesday.

San Francisco Police Chief Bill Scott and outside police experts said they believe the department would be the first in the nation to do so based on concerns about racial bias.

The booking photos taken by police when a person is arrested for a crime are often made public whether or not the person is prosecuted for the alleged crime. That can undermine the presumption of innocence and help perpetuate stereotypes, experts said.

Israeli lawmakers
OK phone tracking of virus cases

JERUSALEM — Israel's parliament approved a law Wednesday granting the country's internal security agency limited authority to use phone surveillance to track coronavirus cases as the country struggles to contain a second outbreak.

The Israeli government had authorized the Shin Bet to use the technology in March during the peak of the country's coronavirus outbreak, despite public outcry over privacy concerns. But the country's Supreme Court ordered the surveillance halted until the security agency's permission was granted by law.

The Knesset, Israel's parliament, voted 51-38 in favor of granting the Shin Bet power to use phone surveillance to retrace the steps of people infected with COVID-19 and identify others who came in contact with them in the previous two weeks.

Occupied zone no more

Seattle police take over and re-enter the East Precinct early Wednesday, July 1, 2020 after the area around the police station was occupied by protestors for the last month.

Mayor orders cops to clear out downtown protest area; dozens arrested

MARTHA BELLISLE
AND LISA BAUMANN
Associated Press

SEATTLE — Police on Wednesday forcibly cleared out Seattle's "occupied" protest zone after about two weeks in a situation that had attracted the complaints of local business owners and the ire of President Donald Trump during a number of Twitter posts.

The order by Mayor Jenny Durkan followed two recent fatal shootings in the area. More than three dozen people were arrested during the early morning ouster, charged with failure to disperse, obstruction, assault and unlawful weapon possession.

"Our job is to support peaceful demonstration but what has happened on these streets over the last two weeks is lawless and it's brutal and bottom line it is simply unacceptable," Police Chief Carmen Best said.

Officers stood shoulder-to-shoulder on several streets at dawn while others created a makeshift fence with their bicycles, using it to push dozens of protesters back away from the center of the "Capitol Hill Occupied Protest" zone just east of downtown.

The group had occupied several blocks around a park after police abandoned a precinct station following standoffs and clashes that were part of the nationwide unrest over the killing of George Floyd in Minneapolis.

As neighborhood residents watched from balconies, police cleared out the protesters' tents from the park and made sure no one was left in the park's bathrooms.

One protest organizer, Derrek Allen Jones II, said some demonstrators attempted to stay but were surprised by the early intervention by officers who were

Activists to hold '2020 Black National Convention' in August

AARON MORRISON
Associated Press

NEW YORK — Spurred by broad public support for the Black Lives Matter movement, thousands of Black activists from across the U.S. will hold a virtual convention in August to produce a new political agenda that seeks to build on the success of the protests that followed George Floyd's death.

The 2020 Black National Convention will take place Aug. 28 via a live broadcast. It will feature conversations, performances and other events designed to develop a set of demands ahead of the November general election, according to a Wednesday announcement shared first with The Associated Press.

The convention is being organized by the Electoral Justice Project of the Movement for Black Lives, a coalition of more than 150 organizations. In 2016, the coalition released its "Vision for Black Lives" platform, which called for public divestment from mass incarceration and for adoption of policies that can improve conditions in Black America.

"What this convention will do is create a Black liberation agenda that is not a duplication of the Vision for Black Lives, but really is rooted as a set of demands for progress," said Jessica Byrd, who leads the Electoral Justice Project.

At the end of the convention, participants will ratify a revised platform that will serve as a set of demands for the first 100 days of a new presidential administration, Byrd said. Participants also will have access to model state and local legislation.

"What we have the opportunity to do now, as this 50-state rebellion has provided the conditions for change, is to say, 'You need to take action right this minute,'" Byrd said. "We're going to set the benchmarks for what we believe progress is and make those known locally and federally."

Wednesday's announcement comes at a pivotal moment for the BLM movement. A surge in public support, an influx in donations and congressional action to reform policing have drawn some backlash.

"trampling everything I seen in sight, flipping tables."

"People were trying to hold their ground but you could see the cops literally storm through people's beds while they were sleeping. And literally say 'If you don't get out, we will force you out or arrest you,'" he said.

One man dressed in black was peacefully led away in handcuffs and other demonstrators sat on the wet ground until their small group was handcuffed and detained.

Police also tore down fences that protesters had erected around their tents and used batons to poke inside bushes, apparently looking for people who might be hiding. One officer took down a sign saying "we are not leaving until our demands are met: 1. Defund SPD by 50% now. 2. Fund Black Communities. 3. Free all protesters."

After police evicted the protesters, heavy equipment was used to remove concrete barriers, cart away debris from the encampments while officers strung yellow caution tape from tree to tree warning people not to reenter.

"I was just stunned by the amount of graffiti, garbage and property destruction," Best said after she walked around the area.

"The recent public safety threats have been well documented," Durkan said at a news conference Wednesday afternoon. "These acts of gun violence resulted in the tragic deaths of two teenagers, with multiple others seriously wounded. Despite continued efforts to deescalate and bring community together, this violence demanded action."

Durkan also said while she supported the police in making arrests Wednesday, she doesn't think many of those arrested for misdemeanors should be prosecuted.

Best said in addition to the fatal shootings, robberies, assaults, violence and property crimes have occurred in the area in the last few weeks. She said she wanted police to move back into the precinct so officers could better respond to needs in the area. Protesters have said they should not be blamed for the violence in the area.

Trump says he likes how he looks in a face mask

President says he looks like Lone Ranger

AAMER MADHANI
AND DARLENE
SUPERVILLE
Associated Press

WASHINGTON — After long resisting wearing a mask in public, President Donald Trump said Wednesday he thinks it makes him look like the Lone Ranger — and he likes it.

"I'm all for masks. I think masks are good," Trump told Fox Business in an interview. "People have seen me wearing one."

Trump's comments came a day after Republican lawmakers suggested that the president wear a mask in public to set a good example for Americans.

"If I were in a tight situation with people, I would absolutely," Trump said in the interview.

Trump has long resisted being photographed in a mask. In early April, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention issued a recommendation that people wear cloth face coverings in public settings where other social distancing measures were difficult to maintain.

Trump immediately undercut the CDC guidance by flatly stating that he wouldn't be following it, suggesting it would be unseemly for the commander in chief to wear a mask as he meets with heads of state.

On Wednesday, he sounded a different tone, saying, "I had a mask on. I sort of liked the way I looked. OK. I thought it was OK. It was a dark black mask, and I thought it looked OK.

"It looked like the Lone Ranger," he continued, a reference to the fictional law-and-order character from the American Old West who wore a black eye mask. "I have no problem with that, and if people feel good about it, they should do it."

In recent days, many Republicans and members of the White House coronavirus task force have been more outspoken in advocating for Americans to wear face masks in public settings as infections have surged in huge swaths of the South and West.

The presumptive

Democratic presidential nominee, former Vice President Joe Biden, said last week that he would pursue a federal mask mandate, if elected.

But Trump continues to frame mask wearing as a matter of choice.

"If people feel good about it, they should do it," Trump said.

About the virus, Trump continued to characterize it as a nuisance that he hopes will just go away.

"I think we are going to be very good with the coronavirus. I think that, at some point, that's going to sort of just disappear, I hope," Trump said.

Sunday waffling

Somehow, Sundays just put a relaxing slant on everything. I'm not sure what it really is; perhaps it is the family times or the fact that it's the Lord's Day that add extraordinary blessings.

The children love our family tradition of having pancakes for Sunday lunch when we do not have a meal at church. Even when we have Sunday noon guests, the menu is pancakes or waffles with scrambled eggs and sausage or bacon.

Daniel often makes pancakes with the recipe they used on Sunday noons when he was a boy growing up; that is, unless his dad made them. Ya, his dad has such a knack of making them that he can literally dump in some of this and that, without measuring a single thing and they would come out good enough to ask for the recipe even when there is none.

After lunch, nobody feels like doing the dishes. Sounds lazy, but yes, we're all enough on relaxing mode with it being Sunday it's not unusual for us to stack the dishes and wait to wash them until supper time.

After the pancakes are cleaned up, I'm ready for the daily challenge and joy of settling everyone down for naps. Since the children have found more of a routine on taking turns to have stories, go potty and be rocked, we can do it less than an hour.

Once everything and everyone is quiet, it's mama's turn to go for bed. How is it that naps are such a treat for adults and, oh, so dreaded for most little ones?

Once mom has had a little doze, the first thing on the list is go wake Rayni, so she, as well as the rest of us, will all be able to get some sleep at bedtime. Scooping her up, I'll take her with me downstairs, where I have my quiet time with God and have her waking at the same time.

Next, Julia and I are ready for some mother-daughter time. With me being wrapped up with little ones day in and day out, I find my time with her to be necessary. In the past weeks, we've been working on getting baby clothes and blankets ready for the grand arrival.

By 4 o'clock on Sunday afternoon, Daniel can always be found in the

Take your Fourth of July burgers up a notch

MetroCreative

The year 2020 is one few people will soon forget. Life changed dramatically and perhaps forever in 2020, when the outbreak of the novel coronavirus COVID-19 forced billions of people across the globe to make sacrifices in an effort to prevent the spread of the potentially deadly virus.

The sacrifices made in response to COVID-19 are perhaps most noticeable on holidays, when people accustomed to gathering with family and friends were unable to do so, or only able to do so on limited terms.

Despite those restrictions, people continued to celebrate on holidays like Easter and Memorial Day, and the Fourth of July does not figure to be any different. Fourth of July celebrations often take place in the backyard by the grill, and this year marks a perfect opportunity to expand your culinary repertoire. This recipe for Best Burger with Blue Cheese Butter, courtesy of Eric Treuille and Birgit Erath's "Grilling" (DK Publishing) offers a new take on a backyard barbecue staple.

Think ahead: Shape burgers up to 1 day in advance. Cover with plastic wrap and refrigerate.

Remember, overhandling the meat when shaping will result in a tough, dry burger. To guarantee a juicy burger, handle the meat as little as possible.

BEST BURGER WITH BLUE CHEESE BUTTER

Serves 4

- 1 pound ground chuck steak
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1 teaspoon black pepper
- 4 1/2-inch slices blue cheese butter (see below)

- 4 sesame hamburger buns, halved

Combine ground steak with salt and pepper. Divide into 4 equal-sized pieces and gently shape into 4 burgers about 1-inch-thick. Grill burgers and warm buns according to instructions below. Top burgers with butter and serve hot in sesame buns.

Outdoor cooking:

Grill over hot coals for 3 minutes per side for rare, 4 minutes per side for medium rare, or 5 minutes per side for well done. Place buns cut side down on grill until warm and lightly golden, 1 minute.

Indoor cooking:

Preheat a ridged cast-iron grill pan over high heat. Cook for 3 minutes per side for rare, 4 minutes per side for medium rare, or 5 minutes per side for well done. Place buns cut side down on grill pan until warm and lightly golden, 1 minute.

BLUE-CHEESE BUTTER

Makes 15 servings

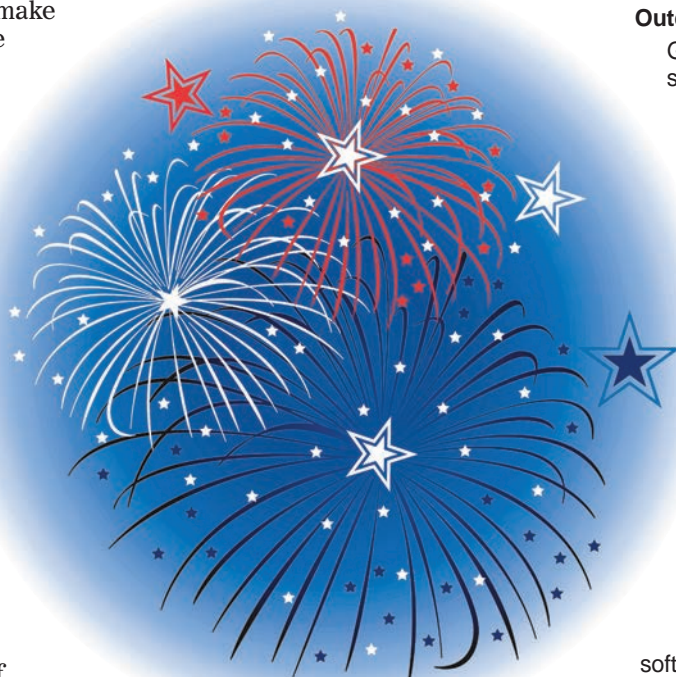

- 16 tablespoons unsalted butter, softened
- 4 ounces (1 cup crumbled) blue cheese
- 2 teaspoons black pepper

Place ingredients in a food processor or blender; pulse until well blended. Wrap in foil. Place in the freezer until hard, about 45 minutes. To serve, roll back foil and cut into 1/2-inch slices. When slicing from frozen, warm the knife under hot water first. After slicing, always tightly rewrap the unused flavored butter roll in the foil before returning to refrigerator or freezer.

BEST BURGER VARIATIONS

■ Herbed Burger: Add 2 teaspoons fresh thyme leaves or 1 teaspoon dried thyme, 1 crushed garlic clove and 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion to the ground steak.

■ Spicy Burger: Add 1/2 teaspoon Tabasco, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce and 1 teaspoon Dijon mustard to the ground steak.

Nine sustainable eating facts

Family Features

Health and environmental concerns convince many people they should re-think their diets.

However, it's important to know you can make informed food choices based on facts. By working with farmers and ranchers who use science and research to advance animal agricultural practices, commodity groups like Colorado Corn help ensure the availability of sustainable, healthy and delicious animal protein products.

Consider these facts from registered dietary nurse Shari Steinbach, who is a nutrition and culinary consultant with more than 35 years of experience as a health professional. Steinbach works with retailers, food companies and commodities to create educational programs that provide meaningful solutions.

■ Compared to 1977, today's beef producers raise the same amount of beef with approximately 33% fewer cattle, according to the National Cattlemen's Beef Association. Improved animal health, welfare, genetics and nutrition has resulted in a 16% lower carbon footprint and fewer natural resources used for every pound of beef produced.

■ A retrospective analysis on pork production in the U.S. from 1960-2015 from the Pork Checkoff shows a significant reduction in the use of natural resources. Per pound of pork produced, producers have reduced land use by 76%, water use by 25%, energy use by 7% and their carbon footprint by more than 7%.

■ Compared with 75 years ago, dairy milk production now uses 65% less water; 90% less land and 76% less manure, which translates into a 63% smaller carbon footprint of milk, according to the 'Journal of Animal Science.'

■ Sheep can consume dried plants to help prevent wildfires or eliminate weeds, which helps farmers avoid or at least minimize the use of herbicides. Across the U.S., farmers bring in sheep to graze leftover stalks and seeds after crops have been harvested.

■ All cattle eat grass, and those fed grain like Colorado Corn provide 19% more human-edible protein than they consume, according to a Council for Agricultural Technology task force report. Because cattle can eat everything from the kernels to the stalks, farmers can enhance sustainability by using every part of the plant.

■ The largest of cattle's four stomachs is called the rumen, which provides upcycling benefits. Because the rumen is naturally filled with trillions

By working with farmers and ranchers who use science and research to advance animal agricultural practices, commodity groups like Colorado Corn help ensure the availability of sustainable, healthy and delicious animal protein products.

Registered dietary nurse Shari Steinbach, who is a nutrition and culinary consultant with more than 35 years of experience as a health professional.

of microbes, it can upgrade plants of little to no nutritional value into high-quality protein and micronutrients people can consume.

■ Based on guidelines from the Food and Drug Administration, one 3-ounce cooked serving of beef supplies more than 10% of the Daily Value for 10 essential nutrients including protein, iron, zinc and B vitamins. One 3-ounce serving of pork is an "excellent" source of thiamin, selenium, protein, niacin, vitamin B6 and phosphorus, and a "good" source of riboflavin, zinc and potassium. One 3-ounce serving of American lamb is an "excellent" source of protein, zinc, selenium, riboflavin, niacin, vitamin B12 and vitamin B6.

■ Dairy products provide an important nutrient package and are under-consumed. In fact, calcium deficiency is one of the most important global nutrient deficiencies, according to the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations.

■ A study published in "Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences of the United States of America" simulated the environmental and nutritional impact of removing all animal foods from an American diet. When diets contained only plant-based foods, a greater number of nutrients fell below recommended levels, most notably calcium and vitamins A, D and B12.

When taking steps to improve your diet and make the planet healthier, you can combine eating a balanced diet with another important goal: reducing food waste. On average, 40% of all food brought home in America goes uneaten, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, which means food waste costs the average family $2,500 annually.

A diet that emphasizes a variety of whole grains, fruits, vegetables, beans, nuts and seeds along with meat, fish, dairy and eggs can be an environmentally responsible one that supports a sustainable food system.

kitchen as he pops up the best popcorn I've ever tasted — no, I'm not just partial, it is the best popcorn ever. Using butter and bacon drippings to pop it in and ample amounts of sour cream 'n onion powder and honey mustard onion powder (available at bulk food stores), the taste is brought to a tee.

Again, popcorn is a tradition he picked up from his father, who also pops a big bowl full for the family at 4 in the afternoon.

By supper time, which is generally at 5:30, no one can honestly say they're hungry, so it often gets pushed off till a bit later, or we settle for a smoothie of some sort — usually coffee, Daniel's standby — or my favorite, a fruit smoothie. I don't care what kind of fruit it is, as long as it's called fruit, I'm happy.

The children love Sunday evenings; they often consist of family time in the yard, watching or helping them play with their balls or running races. Sometimes we'll go on walks down our little country road and often end up stopping in at someone's house for a chat and sometimes more popcorn.

Yes, popcorn is probably what you'd call a part of many Amish folks traditions on Sunday afternoons.

After a relaxing Sunday, we're all ready for a fresh start on Monday morning.

Now, here you go with the Yoder family favorite waffle recipe. To save time, you can easily make these in pancake style in a skillet.

DANIEL'S WAFFLES

- 2 eggs, beaten
- 1 1/2 cups milk
- 1/2 cup butter, melted
- 2 teaspoons sugar
- 1 tablespoon baking powder
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 2 cups flour

Whisk wet ingredients together, then mix in dry and stir until combined. Don't over-combine after adding dry ingredients. Also, Daniel has discovered that it works best to brown the waffles for 1 minute and 30 seconds, with an additional 1 minute and 45 seconds on medium heat on the second side. It toasts them to a nice, golden brown.

MY HEAD DOESN'T SEEM TO ITCH ANY MORE...MAYBE MY RASH HAS GONE AWAY...

IF IT HAS, I COULD TAKE THIS STUPID GROCERY SACK OFF MY HEAD... OF COURSE, THEN I PROBABLY WOULDN'T BE CAMP PRESIDENT ANY MORE, EITHER...

ON THE OTHER HAND, I CAN'T WEAR THIS SACK FOR THE REST OF MY LIFE...

IF I EVER WENT TO A GROCERY STORE, AND THE CLERK YELLED, "CARRY OUT!" I'D END UP IN THE BACK OF SOME STATION WAGON!

Garfield

WILL WINTER EVER COME?

Pickles

EARL, I BOUGHT A BAG OF POTATOES, AND LOOK... ONE OF THEM LOOKS LIKE YOU.

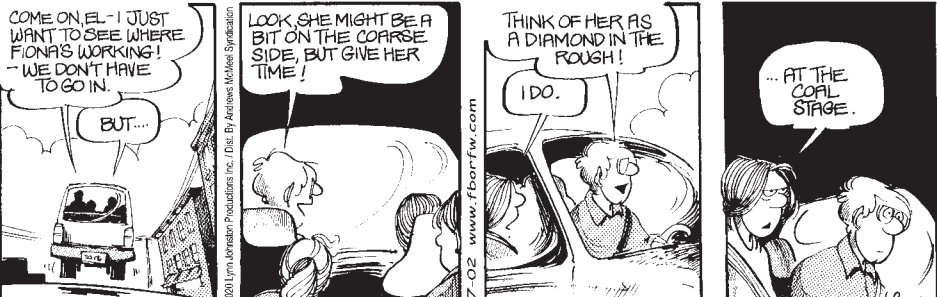

YOU THINK THIS LUMPY POTATO LOOKS LIKE ME?

OH, YEAH!

BUT IT'S ALL BUMPY AND WEIRD-LOOKING.

I KNOW. IT'S REALLY UNCANNY, ISN'T IT?

For Better or For Worse

COME ON, EL - I JUST WANT TO SEE WHERE FIONA'S WORKING! - WE DON'T HAVE TO GO IN - BUT...

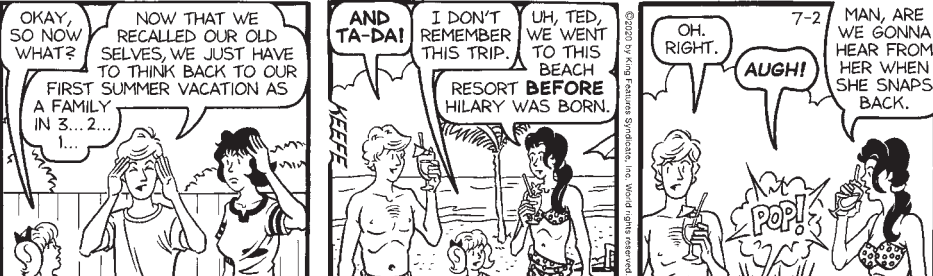

LOOK, SHE MIGHT BE A BIT ON THE COARSE SIDE, BUT GIVE HER TIME!

THINK OF HER AS A DIAMOND IN THE ROUGH!

I DO.

... AT THE COAL STAGE.

Sally Forth

OKAY, SO NOW WHAT?

NOW THAT WE RECALLED OUR OLD SELVES, WE JUST HAVE TO THINK BACK TO OUR FIRST SUMMER VACATION AS A FAMILY IN 3... 2... 1...

AND TA-DA!

I DON'T REMEMBER THIS TRIP.

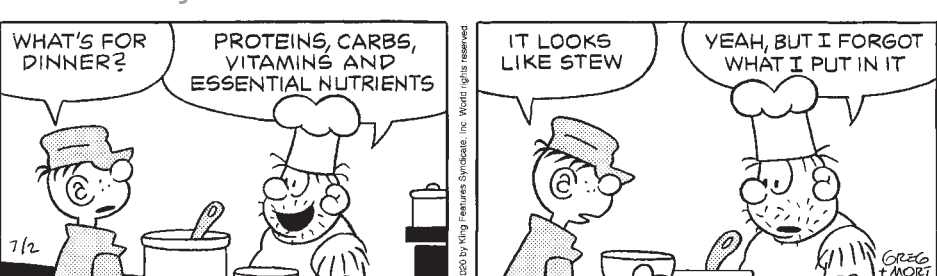

UH, TED, WE WENT TO THIS BEACH RESORT BEFORE HILARY WAS BORN.

OH, RIGHT.

MAN, ARE WE GONNA HEAR FROM HER WHEN SHE SNAPS BACK.

Beetle Bailey

WHAT'S FOR DINNER?

PROTEINS, CARBS, VITAMINS AND ESSENTIAL NUTRIENTS

IT LOOKS LIKE STEW

YEAH, BUT I FORGOT WHAT I PUT IN IT

Dilbert

AH-CHOO!!!

SLAP!

THE PUNDITS WERE RIGHT - EVERYTHING IS DIFFERENT NOW.

The Grizzwells

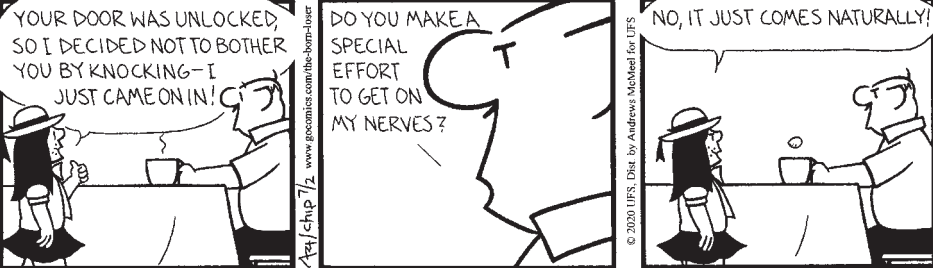

PRO, WOULD YOU SAY I GET A LITTLE CONFUSED NOW AND THEN?

OF COURSE

HECK, I'LL SAY IT EVERY FIVE MINUTES IF YOU WANT ME TO, BRO

I DON'T UNDERSTAND WHAT YOU MEAN BY THAT, BRO

The Born Loser

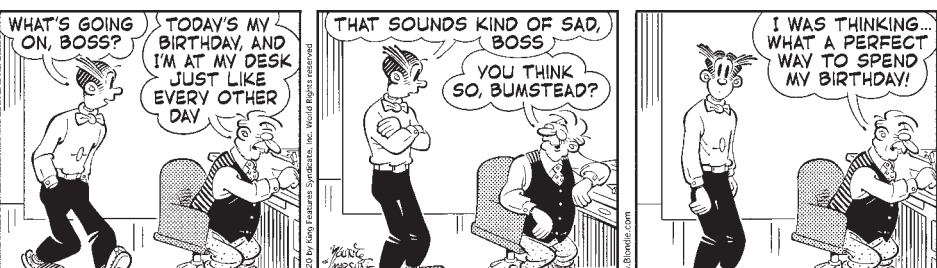

YOUR DOOR WAS UNLOCKED, SO I DECIDED NOT TO BOTHER YOU BY KNOCKING - I JUST CAME ON IN!

DO YOU MAKE A SPECIAL EFFORT TO GET ON MY NERVES?

NO, IT JUST COMES NATURALLY!

Blondie

WHAT'S GOING ON, BOSS?

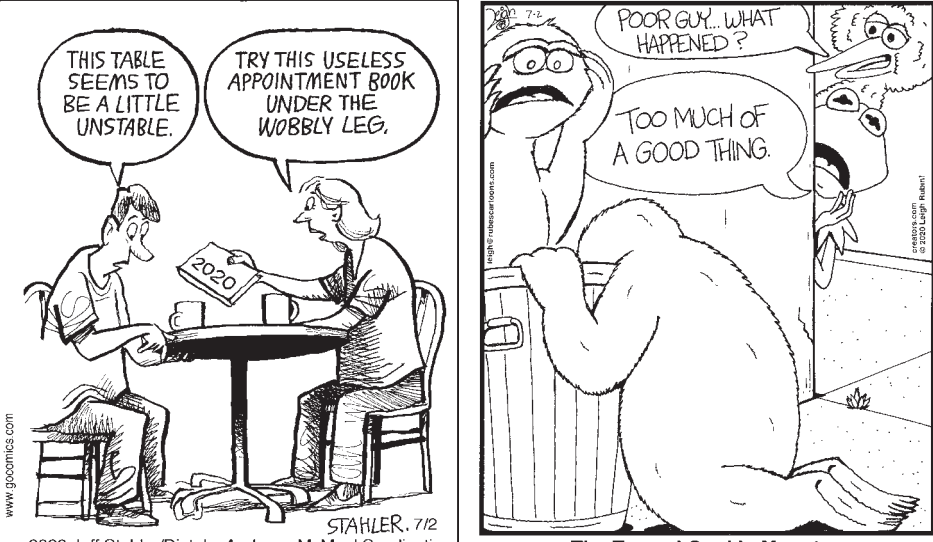

TODAY'S MY BIRTHDAY, AND I'M AT MY DESK JUST LIKE EVERY OTHER DAY

THAT SOUNDS KIND OF SAD, BOSS

YOU THINK SO, BUMSTEAD?

I WAS THINKING... WHAT A PERFECT WAY TO SPEND MY BIRTHDAY!

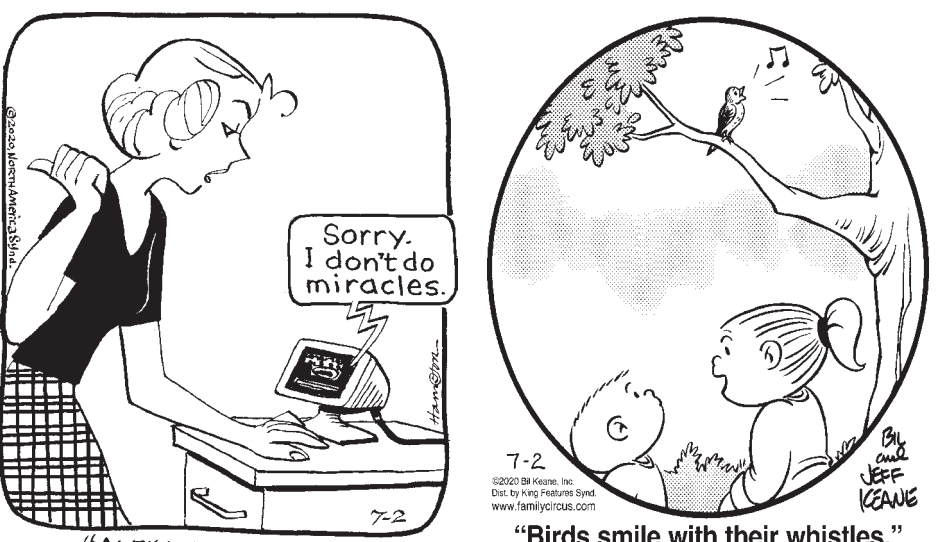

Moderately Confused

THIS TABLE SEEMS TO BE A LITTLE UNSTABLE.

TRY THIS USELESS APPOINTMENT BOOK UNDER THE WOBBLY LEG.

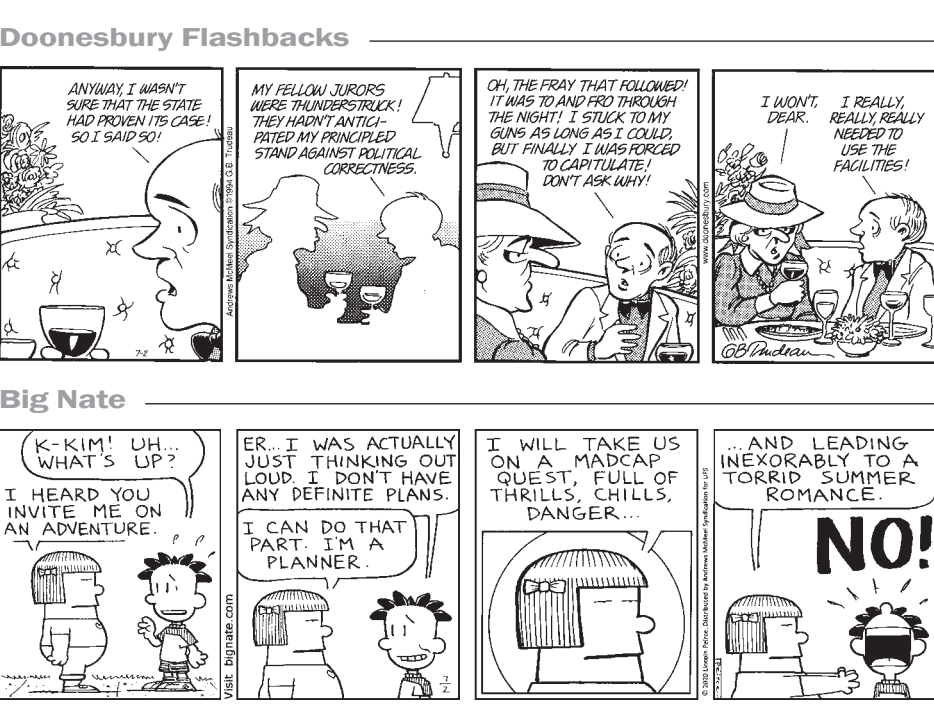

Rubes

POOR GUY... WHAT HAPPENED?

TOO MUCH OF A GOOD THING.

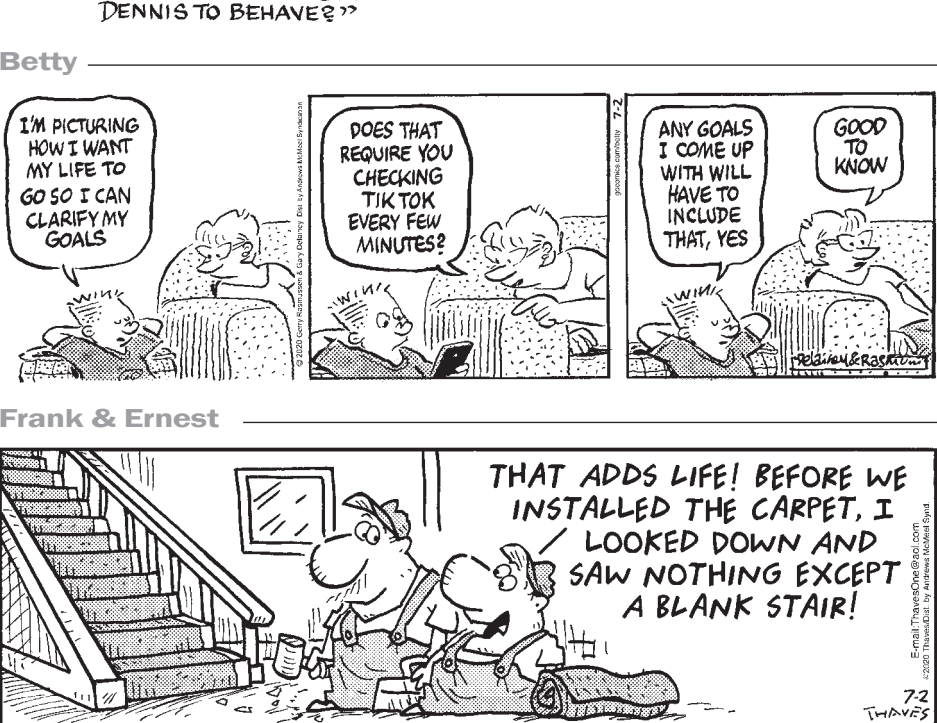

The Tossed Cookie Monster

POOR GUY... WHAT HAPPENED?

TOO MUCH OF A GOOD THING.

Dennis the Menace

Sorry. I don't do miracles.

"ALEXA, HOW CAN I GET DENNIS TO BEHAVE?"

Doonesbury Flashbacks

ANYWAY, I WASN'T SURE THAT THE STATE HAD PROVEN ITS CASE! SO I SAID SO!

MY FELLOW JURORS WERE THUNDERSTRUCK! THEY HADN'T ANTICIPATED MY PRINCIPLED STAND AGAINST POLITICAL CORRECTNESS.

OH, THE FRAY THAT FOLLOWED! IT WAS TO AND FRO THROUGH THE NIGHT! I STUCK TO MY GUNS AS LONG AS I COULD, BUT FINALLY I WAS FORCED TO CAPITULATE! DON'T ASK WHY!

I WON'T, DEAR. I REALLY, REALLY, REALLY NEEDED TO USE THE FACILITIES!

Betty

I'M PICTURING HOW I WANT MY LIFE TO GO SO I CAN CLARIFY MY GOALS

DOES THAT REQUIRE YOU CHECKING TIKTOK EVERY FEW MINUTES?

ANY GOALS I COME UP WITH WILL HAVE TO INCLUDE THAT, YES

GOOD TO KNOW

Big Nate

K-KIM! UH... WHAT'S UP?

I HEARD YOU INVITE ME ON AN ADVENTURE.

ER... I WAS ACTUALLY JUST THINKING OUT LOUD. I DON'T HAVE ANY DEFINITE PLANS.

I CAN DO THAT PART. I'M A PLANNER.

I WILL TAKE US ON A MADCAP QUEST, FULL OF THRILLS, CHILLS, DANGER...

... AND LEADING INEXORABLY TO A TORRID SUMMER ROMANCE.

NO!

Frank & Ernest

THAT ADDS LIFE! BEFORE WE INSTALLED THE CARPET, I LOOKED DOWN AND SAW NOTHING EXCEPT A BLANK STAIR!

Arlo and Janis

MY, MY! WHAT IS THIS? A 'GIRLIE' CALENDAR?

NO OLD GARAGE IS COMPLETE WITHOUT ONE!

THESE ARE ALL ME!!

I DID HAVE TO PHOTOSHOP A COUPLE OF THEM!

Nature Coast Emergency Medical Foundation
REQUEST FOR PROPOSAL

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN that on Wednesday, July 1, 2020 at 08:00 am, at the Nature Coast Emergency Medical Services office, proposals will be open for the following:

Ambulance Patient Accounts Receivable Management Services
Emergency Medical Services
Nature Coast Emergency Medical Foundation
Citrus County, Florida

The services provided shall be as described in the Request for Proposal specifications and "draft" contract, and shall include but not necessarily be limited to the following:

- The Patient Accounts Receivable Management Service shall be responsible to the Nature Coast Emergency Medical Foundation, Inc. Board of Directors and report to the EMS Chief/CEO.
- The Patient Accounts Receivable Management Service shall have an established reputation of permanency and reliability in the field of Ambulance Patient Accounts Receivable Management Services.
- The Ambulance Patient Accounts Receivable Management Service must demonstrate an active compliance program that meets or exceeds CMS and HIPAA and HiTech standards.
- The Ambulance Patient Accounts Receivable Management Service must provide a certificate of insurance that provides protection related to errors, omissions, fraud, theft, or harm as a result of employee misconduct or negligence, breach of cybersecurity, and corporate liability insurance with minimum requirements.

An Intent to Respond must be received by email of the EMS Chief/CEO, scott.baxter@naturecoastems.org on or before 12 PM EST on July 10, 2020.

Inquiries regarding the RFP and procurement process shall be received only in writing via email scott.baxter@naturecoastems.org not later than 12:00 PM EST on July 15, 2020. Inquiries will be compiled and responded to by return email by close of business on July 20, 2020 to each organization who timely submitted an Intent to Respond.

The RFP requires all proposals and pricing be received no later than 12:00 PM EST on July 24, 2020. Only electronic proposals will be accepted. Proposals and a separate file with pricing information must be sent electronically, with delivery directly to Scott Baxter, Interim CEO at the e-mail address noted above.

All Requests for Proposals, including the recommendation of the EMS Chief/CEO and/or Executive Committee, will be presented to the Nature Coast Emergency Medical Foundation Board of Directors for final awarding or otherwise.

A Proposer may withdraw a proposal prior to the closing time on the due date. After the closing time, submitted proposals constitute an offer by the proposer and shall remain irrevocable for a period of 120 days.

The Board of Directors reserve the right to reject any and all Requests for Proposals, to waive informalities in any or all Requests for Proposals, and to re-advertise for Request for Qualifications.

The Board of Directors also reserve the right to separately accept or reject any item or items of the Request for Proposals and to award and/or negotiate a contract in the best interest of the Foundation.
