FALL SPECIAL EMPLOYMENT PUBLICATION

Established in 1909, Mount Adams Fruit is a family-operated company with a rich history of growing, packing, and shipping fruit. Nestled in the breathtaking Columbia Gorge, we have grown to become one of the region's largest businesses, making a significant impact in our community, our dedicated growers, our valued employees, our loyal customers, and discerning consumers alike.

Our reputation as the preferred choice for packing and shipping pears, apples, and cherries is built on strong relationships with over 55 growers who entrust us with their harvests. Spanning 90 orchard properties, our fruit thrives in the fertile volcanic soils that stretch between the majestic Mt. Adams and the iconic Mt. Hood, right here in the picturesque Columbia River Gorge. Our location, nestled within the rain shadow of Washington's and Oregon's Cascade Range, creates ideal growing conditions.

Our commitment to excellence is reflected in our unwavering focus on field standards. Our dedicated team of experts works tirelessly to cultivate the highest quality produce possible. We prioritize food safety and traceability, ensuring that these principles guide every step of the journey from our orchards to your table.

Pioneering in supply chain traceability, we've developed a cutting-edge system that allows us to track each case within our warehouse until it reaches its final destination. This meticulous approach guarantees that the right product reaches the right customer, reinforcing our dedication to quality and precision.

At the forefront of industry technology, we harness the power of computerized defect sorters and robotics to deliver products that align perfectly with our customers' needs. Our continuous pursuit of innovation is driven by our commitment to exceeding expectations in every aspect of our operations.

Come work with us!

Grow with Us! At Mount Adams Fruit, growth is woven into our DNA. We're dedicated to partnering with your success and thriving together. We specialize in cultivating World Class Fruit & People!

As a rapidly expanding company, we have openings at both our Odell and Bingen facilities. These positions encompass various roles, including Pear Packer, QC Laborer, Warehouse Laborer, Full Box Stacker, and Apple or Pear Sorter. Additionally, we're on the lookout for adding talent for positions such as ASRS Operator, CDL Truck Driver, Robot Operator, Line Mechanics, and Line Leads.

Our Administration team ensures that we offer the most competitive compensation packages and benefits by benchmarking against local companies and national trends.

Whether you're looking to develop your skills or contribute your valuable experience, your search ends here. You can apply by submitting a general application or job specific application by visiting our jobs page at <https://mountadamsfruit.com/jobs/>. For inquiries, you can reach us at (509) 493-1722, and resumes can be sent via email to employment@maocorp.com.

5 Interviewing Tips to Help You Land a New Job

(Family Features) With so many job openings these days, you may think you'll have an easy time sliding into a new role. Not so fast. Because of the huge number of options available and plenty of workers contemplating changes, you're likely to encounter some competition to land the job you want. A solid interview can help you close the deal.

Consider these five tips to help you make a great impression and land the job of your dreams:

1. Prepare, prepare, prepare. Avoid thinking of the interview as your first step toward a new job. Once you set the appointment, it's time to take a deeper dive to learn as much as you can about the company and position. Ideally, you did some of this legwork when you created a custom resume and cover letter, but for the interview, you need to know more. After arming yourself with all the information you can, practice answers to questions you expect the interviewer to ask.

2. Decide what the interviewer should know about you. Using the job description as a guide, create a list of points you want to communicate to show how your experience and knowledge fit the role. During the interview, pay attention to opportunities for sharing these details about your skillset. Most interviewers will give you the opportunity to add information you haven't covered; use this time to deliver a succinct summary of how you can succeed in the position.

3. Create your own list of questions. An interview isn't just about determining whether you're a fit for a job; you also need to decide whether the job is a fit for you. Think about what you need to know in order to feel confident accepting an offer. You might organize your thoughts by considering what is essential in a new job and what aspects are "nice to have."

4. Present yourself as a winning candidate. Impressions are everything when it comes to interviews. Dress to impress with well-fitted clothing appropriate for the job and practice good grooming habits, including details like trimming your nails and minimizing distractions like pet hair. Arrive early enough that you're not rushed or flustered when you check in for your appointment. Use good posture, a firm handshake and a clear, confident voice. Speak authoritatively but respectfully and try to make the interview a comfortable, conversational exchange.

5. Leave a lasting impression. Before you end the interview, ask for clear insight on the next steps in the process. Within 24 hours, send follow-up messages to each person you met with. Thank them for their time and include references specific to your conversation, such as elaborating on a question or reiterating a key point. This shouldn't be a copy-paste message, but rather a tailored one to each individual. Close by reiterating your interest and how your skills are a fit.

Columbia Gorge News

REPORTER

Reporter position based in the beautiful Columbia River Gorge. Serving The Gorge area of Oregon and across the river in Washington.

The Regional publication has offices in Hood River and The Dalles, Oregon and in White Salmon, Washington. The newspaper publishes once weekly and posts online web and social media content regularly. This is a great opportunity to expand your journalism experience.

This entry-level position requires the ability to cover a variety of general news including government, state and city along with feature stories and specialty publications. The reporter will be focused on a variety of beats throughout the Gorge communities and will require reliable transportation.

The candidate will be self-motivated, but team-oriented with the desire to learn and write about a variety of people and topics. The ability to be organized and meet deadlines is a must. The candidate should offer a willingness to provide positive public relations on behalf of the Columbia Gorge News within the communities it serves. AP writing style and technology skills a plus, along with an eye and talent for photography.

Send resume, references and at least 3 samples of work to: Chelsea@gorgenews.com or PO Box 390, Hood River, OR. 97031.

Gorge Business & Services Directory

NOTICE

Oregon Construction Contractors Law (ORS 701) requires that all businesses that advertise remodeling, repair, home improvements or new construction be registered with the Construction Contractors Board. Registration means contractors have a bond and insurance. Home inspection businesses also must be certified which means the inspector has passed a test and must comply with standard of practice and behavior. For your protection, call 503-378-4621, ext. 4900 to check an inspector's certification.

Notice to Contractors

Washington State Law (RCW 18.27.100) requires that all advertisements for construction-related services include the contractor's current Department of Labor and Industries registration number in the advertisement. Failure to obtain a certificate of registration will result in a fine up to $5000 against the unregistered contractor. For more information, call Labor & Industries Specialty Compliance Services at 1-800-647-0982 or check L & I's Internet site at www.wa.gov

Enjoy a Workday Reset

7 ways to break away from your desk and boost morale

(Family Features) When the sun is shining and comfortable weather is calling you out-doors, focusing on tasks at work can become a challenge. Workdays are often long and strenuous, making that blue sky and fresh air all the more tempting.

- Don't let a full to-do list bog you down. In fact, taking a break from your desk and averting your eyes from the computer may actually help you mentally reset and increase efficiency through the remainder of the day.
- Consider these popular ways to disconnect for a short while so you can take on busy days without feeling overwhelmed.
- 1. Stretch – After hours of sitting, stretching from head to toe can be a good way to get physically active if you're short on time and stuck at your desk. Neck, shoulder, arm, back and leg stretches are all easy ways to stand up and disengage from the computer. Another trick: practice wrist exercises to avoid injury or strain from typing.
  - 2. Go for a Walk – If you have a few minutes to spare, leave the office or your desk at home entirely and head outside for a walk. A stroll through your neighborhood or the city sidewalks can provide the fresh air and physical activity your body craves.
  - 3. Take Five Outside – On hot days when a mid-workday walk might not be the right refresh, skip it and simply find a shady spot to sit down. You can enjoy the benefits of fresh air and sunlight without getting too hot.
  - 4. Rest Your Eyes – Follow the rule of 20s. If you're working a computer job, eyestrain may be a serious concern. Give them a break by looking 20 feet away for 20 seconds every 20 minutes
  - 5. Enjoy a Favorite Snack – Push that office chair away from the computer and treat yourself to a bite of something you enjoy.
  - 6. Check in with Friends – Squeeze in a midday chat to catch up with a friend or coworker. Socializing is a feel-good way to take your mind off work even for just a few minutes.
  - 7. Sip an Afternoon Coffee – If caffeine gives you that much-needed jolt to finish out the workday, head to your favorite local shop for a refreshing iced beverage.
