VISITOR GUIDE COLUMBIA RIVER GORGE

Welcome to the Columbia River Gorge — 461 square miles of pure playground awaiting your pleasure. If you're not sure where to start, here is a wealth of suggestions to sample, savor and remember.

Explore the guide online at columbiagorgevisitorsguide.com.

Plan your visit

Multnomah Falls Timed-Use permit

Starting May 23 and going through September 1, a timed-use permit will be required to park in the Multnomah Falls parking lot entering from Interstate 84, Exit 31, between 9 a.m. – 6 p.m. Permits are $2 per vehicle, and must be purchased in advance (purchase them here at: www.recreation.gov/timed-entry/10089144). Tickets will be open for purchase in two phases: two weeks in advance (primary booking window) and two days in advance (secondary window). Reservations are made on an hourly basis, with up to two tickets per vehicle per day. There will be a permit check-in location between the parking lot and the falls. Please note that a timed-use permit does not guarantee parking. Permits are not required for those using shuttles or transit services. Find more info at www.recreation.gov and www.oregon.gov.

Recreation Passes

Many hiking trails, recreation areas and camp sites around the Columbia River Gorge may require a recreation pass or valid permit in order to enter and/or park at the sites. Be sure to check with local state parks offices or visit websites such as gorgefriends.org, readyssetgorge.com or www.fs.usda.gov to find out which pass or permit may be required before traveling. Northwest Forest Passes and other permits can be purchased at www.fs.usda.gov/main/crgnsa/passes-permits/recreation. Washington Discover Passes can be purchased at www.discoverpass.wa.gov.

GORge Pass

The GORge pass is an annual transportation pass that grants you unlimited access to the fixed route services of four Columbia River Gorge transit services: Columbia Area Transit (CAT), The Link Public Transit, Mt. Adams Transportation (MATS) and Skamania County Transit. For a yearly fee of $40 for adults or $20 for youth under 17, you can visit and experience all of the Columbia River Gorge without the requirement of a timed-use permit for parking, as well as access to convenient transportation to and from Portland and Vancouver.

To purchase a GORge pass, map out your trip or get more information, go to gorgepass.com.

Drive

From intimate views to sweeping panoramas, lush forest and farmland to arid high desert, the Columbia River Gorge has something for everyone and these byways and backroads will help you explore the best of it — or grab a map and stick a pin in it. There are no wrong turns in the Gorge.

DRIVE

Columbia Gorge Loop

Dramatic views of the western Gorge from Crown Point and Cape Horn, and of the eastern Gorge from Highway 14. Take a side trip on the Columbia River Historic Highway between Corbett and Ainsworth Park for a look at some of the most spectacular waterfalls around, including misty and majestic Multnomah Falls. From Troutdale, follow the Columbia River Scenic Highway east to Ainsworth State Park, then continue eastbound along Interstate 84 past Hood River to The Dalles. Cross The Dalles Bridge and head west on Highway 14 through Lyle, Bingen, Stevenson, North Bonneville and Camas to Interstate 205. Cross the Columbia River on Interstate 205 (Glenn Jackson Bridge) to Interstate 84, then return east to Troutdale.

Mount Adams Loop

Scenic, backcountry route to the foothills of Mount Adams and the Klickitat River Canyon. From Bingen, follow Highway 141 north through White Salmon, Husum and BZ Corners to Trout Lake. Then head east on the Goldendale-Glenwood Road through Glenwood, down the Klickitat River Canyon toward Goldendale. After you've climbed out of the canyon, head right back into it again by traveling south on Highway 142 to Klickitat and Lyle. At Lyle, head west on Highway 14 back to Bingen.

Mount Hood Loop

Dramatic views of Mount Hood and the scenic Hood River valley. From Hood River, follow Highway 35 south through the community of Mt. Hood to the junction with Highway 26, then west on Highway 26 through Zigzag, Welches and Brightwood to Gresham. From Gresham, head north to Interstate 84 and the return trip to Hood River. To extend the trip, take a side trip from Government Camp, going up the mountain to historic Timberline Lodge.

East Side Loop

Broad vistas of wide open wheatfields, Deschutes River Canyon and juniper rangelands of the eastern Cascades. From The Dalles, head south on Highway 197 through Dufur, Tygh Valley and Maupin to the junction with Highway 97. Then go northeast on Highway 97 to the historic community of Shaniko, continuing north through Grass Valley and Moro to Biggs Junction and Interstate 84 for the return journey westbound to The Dalles. Worthwhile extensions to this loop may be made by traveling farther south on Highway 97 to the Highway 216 junction, then back north through Antelope to Shaniko. Or, keep traveling south on Highway 97 to Madras, then follow Highway 26 northwest to Warm Springs and the junction with Highway 216. Follow Highway 216 east to Highway 197 near Maupin and the return journey north to The Dalles.

SHORTER ROUTES

Rowena Loops

These offer spectacular driving on the eastern end of the Historic Columbia River Highway. Start at Mosier and head East on Highway 30 or The Dalles and head West on Highway 30 for a combination of up-close and panoramic views that regularly draw car companies to film their commercials. For variety, loop back on the State Road-Sevenmile Hill route for spectacular panoramas of both the eastern and central Columbia Gorge.

Dalles Mountain Road

An unpaved route through a working cattle ranch, deeded by its last owners to the state of Washington. The ranch is now part of Columbia Hills State Park and the ranch house is a departure point for hikes and offers occasional historical and interpretive programs. The rugged road itself travels through spectacular viewing for wildflowers and wildlife. At the crest of the Columbia Hills it meets up with paved roads toward Centerville and Goldendale. From Interstate 84, turn north at The Dalles Exit 85 onto Highway 197, turn right at the junction of 197 and Washington Highway 14, then take the next left.

Hood River Fruit Loop

A picturesque trip through the orchard country of rural Hood River County. From I-84 take the Hood River Bridge exit, travel south on Highway 35 to the community of Mount Hood, turn right through Parkdale and take the Dee Highway back to Hood River.

Rafting

Whitewater Rafting and Kayaking in the Columbia River Gorge

With its endless rivers and consistent water flows, the Columbia River Gorge area draws whitewater rafters and kayakers from all over the world. When visiting the Gorge, don't miss the opportunity to jump in a boat and experience amazing Northwest scenery and some of the best whitewater you can find in the country.

Oregon Side of the Gorge

In Oregon, if you like whitewater rafting, drifting, or fishing, the world-renowned Deschutes River is a fantastic destination. The Deschutes River Scenic Waterway winds through a picturesque desert canyon on the east side of the Cascade Mountain Range. The river offers spectacular basalt cliffs and scenery, diverse wildlife, exciting history, and of course, spectacular whitewater. The Deschutes' cool green water originates from underwater aquifers that have cut through the basalt in this arid section of the state. Most action on the river starts in Maupin, Oregon, which is located 40 miles south of The Dalles, Oregon on Highway 197. With many rafting and fishing outfitters to choose from, thrill seekers can ride out class-4 rapid

"Oaksprings", float in your life vest through the elevator shaft, or try your hand at fishing for summer steelhead or wily "redside" trout. The town of Maupin offers a full range of services, including outfitters, food, supplies, restaurants, lodging, fuel, shuttles, and fly-fishing shops. Look to the Maupin Chamber of Commerce (maupinoregon.com) for information on outfitters and guide services.

Washington Side of the Gorge

On the Northern Washington side of the Gorge, the White Salmon River is one of the top destinations for whitewater rafting and kayaking in the country. Rafting on the White Salmon River has attracted whitewater enthusiasts for generations and is perfect for both beginners and advanced rafters.

This river is fed by Mt. Adam's majestic glaciers as well as the aquifers beneath surrounding orchards. Once a lava tube, the river now flows through narrow, volcanic basalt canyons before heading out into the warm sunshine of a forested valley. Protected under the Wild and Scenic Rivers Act, the White Salmon River transports raft guests to a remote wilderness conveniently located just outside of Portland, Oregon. The undeveloped shoreline and inaccessible deep forests invite wildlife to visit the refreshing river, a sight only experienced by rafters and kayakers. Whitewater river rafting on the White Salmon River epitomizes the lush and wild character of the Pacific Northwest in one exciting raft trip!

The commercial rafting season begins in April and extends through September, making it the longest and most consistent rafting season in the Pacific Northwest. In the spring, when runoff is at its highest, you will also find a range of rafting options from a family-friendly trip on the Klickitat River, to more intense runs on the Wind River and Hood River.

There are several whitewater outfitters to choose from on the White Salmon River, offering half-day and full-day adventures. These include Wet Planet Rafting & Kayaking, River Drifters, Zollers Outdoor Odysseys, Columbia River Outfitters, and others. The action centers around the towns of Husum and BZ Corner, Washington, which are located north of White Salmon, Washington. Several outfitters have cafes that provide bites and drinks to kick off or complete your day on the river.

Whitewater Kayaking for All Skill Levels

Contrary to popular belief, whitewater kayaking is not just for adrenaline junkies - whitewater recreation can be enjoyed in many different levels of difficulty. Many kayakers enjoy the more tranquil scenic sections of the many rivers in the Columbia River Gorge. Kayaking enthusiasts can find both beginner and expert level instruction at Wet Planet Rafting & Kayaking in Husum, Washington. From young kiddo's to youth camps, adult classes and expert clinics, Wet Planet combines world-class instructors with low student-to-instructor ratios, comfortable riverside facilities (including a dedicated rolling pool and classroom space), with an incredible variety of rivers, and well-developed kayak instruction for all levels.

Look to the Mt Adams Chamber of Commerce (mtadamschamber.com) for information on outfitters.

Waterfalls

They make great places for a picnic, and best of all, quite often they're just a short walk from your car. They're the waterfalls of the Columbia River Gorge, and they deserve a place on your family's vacation calendar.

WATERFALLS

Vertical basalt walls along the Gorge are graced with the greatest concentration of waterfalls in North America, particularly along the Oregon side of the western Gorge. It's a matter of geology, not coincidence.

The ancestral Columbia Gorge was a V-shaped river valley, but beginning around 15,000 years ago (at the end of the latest ice age) a series of tremendous floods swept westward from a glacial lake near the present-day border of Idaho and Montana.

These "Bretz" floods, named after one of the geologists who discovered their traces, ripped the topsoil from eastern Washington and carved away at the valley walls of the Columbia Gorge, leaving steep ramparts and tributaries abruptly hanging in midair. The flood cycles lasted for thousands of years. Many more thousands of years passed since the last flood, and each winter brought another freeze-thaw cycle, sculpting away the rock behind those waterfalls. As a result, several waterfalls now plunge into semi-circular amphitheaters; others fall out into midair, to be wafted away by the wind.

Most waterfalls are limited to the Oregon side of the Columbia River Gorge because landslides modify the steepness on the Washington side. The entire region's bedrock material is tilted slightly southward. When it's saturated by water, the upper basaltic layers on the north side of the river slide into the gorge.

The greatest number of waterfalls is accessible from a portion of the old Columbia River Highway (Highway 30), which can be reached from Interstate 84. If you're coming from Portland, take Exit 17 at Troutdale, Exit 18 from Lewis & Clark State Park, Exit 22 from Corbett.

Before your visit: Depending on current or previous natural disasters such as mudslides or fire activity, access to waterfalls could be partially or completely closed. Be sure to check with local state parks or visit ReadysetGOrg.com or GorgeFriends.org for open/closure statuses before your trip.

OREGON

Multnomah Falls

Access: Car or hike.

After Yosemite Falls, this is the tallest falls in North America. Two million visitors a year flock to see this 620-foot plunge, fed by underground springs from Larch Mountain. Its highest flow is during winter and spring. Five flows of Yakima basalt are visible in the fall's cliff face. You can view the falls from your car or take a network of trails up the falls. There's also fine dining at Multnomah Falls Lodge (built in 1925 and on the National Register of Historic Places) and information at Multnomah Falls Visitor Center. Access: From I-84, take exit 31 to the freeway parking lot.

Please note: From May 23 through September 1, a daily timed use permit will be required to park in the Multnomah Falls parking lot entering from I-84, Exit 31, between 9 a.m. – 6 p.m. Permits are $2 a vehicle, and must be purchased in advance (find them here: recreation.gov/timed-entry/10089144). Reservations are made on an hourly basis and will be available for purchase up to two weeks in advance of your desired visitation date. A permit check-in location will be located on the walkway between the parking lot and the falls. A timed permit reservation does not guarantee parking. Permits are not required for those using shuttles or transit services. Find more info recreation.gov.

Bridal Veil Falls

Car or short hike.

Bridal Veil Creek abruptly drops twice in a tiered waterfall. The upper falls is between 60 and 100 feet tall, the lower from 40 to 60 feet in height. Parking is a mile west of Exit 28 off Interstate 84. A short trail winds down to the base of the lower tier. Along the path, look across the Columbia River for seasonal views of falls on the Washington side of the river. The nearby community of Bridal Veil maintains its post office, a popular place to get a postmark for your wedding announcements. Always view the falls from the trail, do not attempt to walk along the bridge over the Historic Highway. For more info, go to stateparks.oregon.gov/index.cfm?do=park.profile&parkId=107

Shepperd's Dell

Access: Car or short hike.

Tiered waterfall two miles west of Interstate 84's Exit 28 on the Historic Columbia River Scenic Highway. Short, paved trail leads to the top of the falls. Lower falls is a horsetail formation (40 to 60 feet drop); upper falls (35-50 feet) is a plunge formation.

Wah Gwin Gwin Falls

Access: Car/short walk.

One of the Gorge's four highest waterfalls, at 208 feet, is located behind the Columbia Gorge Hotel in Hood River. This falls flows from Phelps Creek dropping into the Columbia River. The name comes from Native American dialect meaning "rushing and tumbling waters."

White River Falls

Access: Car or hike. A 1-mile round trip hike to the bottom of the falls gives majestic views of White River as it plunges 90 feet from a basalt shelf and tumbles into two separate pools before fanning out into a river below. At the base of the falls are the ruins of a hydropower plant which supplied electricity to The Sunshine Flour Mill in the Dalles from 1910 to 1960. Be careful. Swimming in the falls is prohibited due to the huge vortex in the waterfall pools, causing multiple drownings. The roof of the powerhouse is also unstable. Visitors should not go inside. Steep, rugged climbing. Bring water.

Access: Take Highway 197 south of The Dalles and drive 30 miles and head east onto Highway 216 at Tygh Valley. Entrance to the falls is seven miles ahead on the right. Maupin and river rafting on the Deschutes are within 10 miles.

Sherars Falls

Access: Car

The immense volume of the Deschutes River slams through a horseshoe-shaped bend at Sherars Falls, creating a rapid that is both beautiful and unnerving in its shear power. It is deemed unpassable by river hazard guides. Boaters, by law, are required to portage around it. It is on lands of the Warm Springs Indians and visitors, at times, can watch Native Americans dip net for Salmon and Steelhead from platforms in the way of their ancestors. Sumac, sage and cheat grass flavor the effervescent air of this desert beauty. Take Highway 197 south of The Dalles and drive 30 miles. Go East onto highway 216 at Tygh Valley. You will pass White River Falls. The entrance to Sherars Falls is 10 miles ahead. Maupin and river rafting on the Deschutes are within 10 miles.

WASHINGTON

Dog Creek Falls

1.25-mile hike. Located off Washington Highway 14 east of Wind Mountain.

Hardy Falls

A 1.25-mile hike. A horsetail waterfall, about 90 feet high, located in Beacon Rock State Park west of Stevenson. Turn off Washington Highway 14 to the park access road, drive to the picnic area and trailhead to Hamilton Mountain. Follow the trail 1.25 miles to reach two short spur paths; upper path to right leads to viewpoint overlooking the drop along Hardy Creek.

Camp

Tell ghost stories on the bank of a lake where boat motors will never be heard, fall asleep to the rush of rivers glacial and historic or fix your morning coffee in the utter stillness of a forest. It's these kind of experiences that exemplify overnights in the outdoors of the Gorge.

CAMPING

Before you visit: Keep in mind certain campgrounds may potentially be closed or inaccessible for reasons such as damage from natural disasters like fire or landslides. Burn bans may also be in effect for certain campsites. Contact the state park you are planning on staying at for up-to-date information on campground accessibility and guidelines.

TROUTDALE

We are a place for families,
a place of friendships, a place of gatherings, a place of creativity, and a place we are proud to call home.

We invite you to experience
our place, feel the warmth of our people, and the power of our surroundings.

You could be floating the Sandy River in half an hour.

The Columbia River is stunning to look at, but Troutdale's your swimming hole. If you're longing for a lazy afternoon floating in the water or picnicking on the beach, come see us. We're just a half-hour drive and home to the Sandy River, perfect for swimming and sunbathing.

So bring your swimsuit, but also your appetite — 24 food carts, a tap house and some of the best soft serve in Oregon await.

THE DALLES

Columbia Gorge Discovery Center and Museum
This is the official interpretive center for the Columbia River Gorge National Scenic Area, located on Crate's Point, just west of The Dalles off Old Highway 30. The Discovery Center focuses on natural history and human cultures of the scenic area, with hands-on exhibits, films and recordings on subjects including Lewis & Clark, native flora and fauna, the Ice Age and more. The museum features collections that illuminate both Native American history and pioneer development. Open daily except Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's, 9 a.m. – 5 p.m. Location: Interstate 84 at exit 82, then follow signs 1.5 miles west. For admission prices and additional info, call 541-296-8600, or check their website gorgediscovery.org.

Fort Dalles Museum

The oldest historical museum in Oregon, this museum was established just after the turn of the 20th century, preserving the legacy of this regionally strategic military base. Fort Dalles (originally Camp Drum) was established in 1850, serving as a base of operations for U.S. Army troops. The ornate, wooden Surgeon's Quarters is one of the fort's last two surviving buildings, and houses a variety of tools, weapons, photos and other memorabilia from the 19th century. There's an impressive collection of antique vehicles and wagons. Visitors are also able to tour the Anderson house, a hand-hewn wooden homestead crafted by Swedish immigrants in Wasco County. There's also a barn and granary. Fort Dalles Museum is located at West 15th and Garrison Streets in The Dalles. For more information on hours and admission prices, visit fortdallesmuseum.org or call 541-296-4547.

Original Wasco County Courthouse

This wood-frame, two-story building in The Dalles once was the seat of government for the largest county in the United States, when Wasco County extended all the way to Montana. The old courthouse, constructed in 1858, was nearly destroyed at least twice and was relocated on several occasions, but today it enjoys a permanent home, preserving a unique heritage as one of the oldest courthouse buildings west of the Mississippi River. Tour season opens May through September, other times by Appointment. Contact 541-296-4798 for updated hours or to schedule a tour. Admission is $4 for adults, $3 for youth 12- 18 and $2 for 6 – 11. Family and group rates available. Directions: Interstate 84 to The Dalles, then take the City Center exit toward downtown. Turn south just past the chamber, then left on West Second Place. 410 West Second Place. For more information, go to originalwasco-countycourthouse.org.

St. Peter's Landmark

Former Catholic Church in The Dalles, preserved as a historical museum. Completed in 1898, the building features Carrera Italian marble, Kilgen pipe organ made of tiger-wood, 40-foot stamped metal ceilings and a 176-foot steeple topped by a six-foot weathervane rooster crafted by Frank S. Gunning. Its stained-glass windows were created by the Povey Brothers of Portland, and many of these windows memorialize pioneer families. A wooden Madonna inside the museum was carved from the keel of a sailing ship that sank off the San Francisco coast in the 1850s. Located at Third and Lincoln Streets in The Dalles. Open 11 a.m. – 3 p.m. Tuesday and Friday, 1 – 3 p.m. Saturday and Sunday; 541-296-5686. For more information, go to oldstpeterslandmark.org.

The Dalles School District Archives Museum
Contains memorabilia from both District 12 (1854-2004) and District 9 (1964-2004) before the merger up to District 21's transition to its current mascot, the Riverhawks. Displays include yearbooks, photo albums, trophies, sport uniforms, Booster Girl and other club records. Elementary, junior high-middle schools, and high schools are represented. The museum is open every Saturday, 10 a.m. – 3 p.m., May through September or by arrangement with Rymmel Lovell, 541-296-6546, tlovell@netcnct.net. Museum location: 3601 West 10th St., former Wahtonka High School entrance nearest athletic fields. For more information, go to nwasco.k12.or.us/apps/pages/archive-museum.

The National Neon Sign Museum

Located at 200 East 3rd Street, the National Neon Sign Museum highlights the history of neon signs and 20th century advertising with a frequently expanding display of iconic neon signage throughout the decades – including one of the first examples of neon tubing ever invented. In 2023, the museum was officially announced as the new home to the historic Jantzen Beach Carousel. Open Tuesday – Saturday, 10 a.m. – 5 p.m. and by ACL docking schedule. For more information or to schedule a tour, visit nationalneonsignmuseum.org, call 541-370-2242, or reach out to info@nationalneonsignmuseum.org.

Columbia Gorge Veteran's Museum

The Columbia Gorge Veteran's Museum is located on the ground floor of The Dalles City Hall. With their mission "to honor military veterans, past and present," the museum has a curation of locally donated military artifacts and memorabilia all branches of the United States military dating back to World War I. A 501c3 non-profit, the museum is free to visitors. (www.facebook.com/ColumbiaGorgeVeteransMuseum/).

TROUTDALE

The Barn Exhibit Hall

Located at 732 East Historic Columbia River Highway, The Barn Exhibit Hall features displays of local history, ranging from its first 1998 exhibit titled "Smelt Run, A Fish Story," regarding the history of Troutdale smelt runs, to the recent exhibit "King of the roads – By-way of the People," celebrating 100 years of the historic Columbia River Highway. The museum is open Thursday – Sunday, 12 – 3 p.m. General admission is $5, free for youth under 12, Multnomah County residents and active and retired military. troutdalehistory.org/barn-exhibit-hall.

Fred E Harlow House Museum

Located at 726 E Historic Columbia River Highway, the Harlow House was built by Fred E Harlow, son of Troutdale founder Capt. John Harlow, in 1900. The building is on the national register for Historic places, and the grounds of the museum, formerly known as the "Harlow Farm," is part of the Troutdale City Park system. The museum is open Thursday – Sunday, 12 p.m. – 3 p.m. Admission is free, with donations accepted. 503 661-2164. troutdalehistory.org/fred-e-harlow-house.

Depot Rail Museum & Caboose

Located in Depot Park at 473 E Historic Columbia River Highway, the museum displays the long history of Troutdale's railway depot, which was originally built in 1882, but had to be reconstructed in 1907 following a fire. In 1976, the building was purchased by the City of Troutdale, where it was moved to its current location and restored. Open Monday, Thursday. – Sunday, 9 a.m. – 5 p.m., and Tuesday and Wednesday, 9 a.m. – 3 p.m. Free admission, with donations accepted. 503 661-2164; troutdalehistory.org/depot-rail-museum.

DUFUR

Dufur Living History Museum

Located in the historic Schreiber Log Cabin on Main Street, featuring pioneer living history exhibits, weaving, old photos, farm implements and more. Museum hours may vary, so if planning a visit, call ahead for details at: 541-467-2205, or reach out to dufurhist@ortelco.net. (Dufur also hosts the annual The Dufur Threshing Bee, featuring working steam-powered and horse-drawn antique farm machinery, usually held second weekend of August). dufurhistorical-society.org.

WAMIC

Smock Prairie Schoolhouse

Wamic's one-room schoolhouse and museum located in Wamic, on the old Barlow Trail. From The Dalles, drive south to Tygh Valley, then west to Wamic.

MORO

Sherman County Historical Museum

A window into Oregon's heartland, the museum comprises 14,280 square feet and more than 15,000 artifacts used in Native American families, Oregon Trail migration, rural households, churches, schools, businesses, livestock production, dryland wheat farming and conservation, military units and patriotic efforts. Exhibits of interest include photographs of Joseph and Jane Sherar, Sherar's Falls and Bridge; photographs of World War II Training Camp, Camp Rufus; monthly Sherman County artists series. From Interstate 84, take Highway 97 south from Biggs Junction to Moro. Watch for directional signs from Highway 97. Open May through October or by appointment. Admission is $10 for adults, $5 for students, and free for members. For more information or to make an appointment, call 541-565-3232, or visit the website, shermanmuseum.org.

Hike

It's hard to imagine any location with more hiking trails per square mile than the Gorge. From short, tree-lined strolls with family to rugged ridge treks, you'll find something to meet all tastes.

HIKE

Before you visit: Keep in mind certain trails may be partially or temporarily closed due to natural disasters such as landslides or wildfire damage. Be sure to check with the local state parks office or visit ReadysetGOrg.com or GorgeFriends.org for updated trail openings and closures before you go hiking.

WASHINGTON

Dog Mountain Trail #147

Rated: Most difficult.

Length: 3.1 miles (one way) with 2,800-foot elevation gain. Premier wildlife and flower hike in May through early June. Watch out for poison oak on the lower reaches, and pack a windbreaker. During the winter, the peak is snow-covered and even the most intrepid hikers should come prepared with mountaineering gear such as traction devices, poles, and a good GPS.

Access: Trailhead 13 miles east of Stevenson on Washington Highway 14. Same trailhead leads to Augsberger Trail #4407, an eight-mile route gaining 3,050 feet. Northwest Forest Pass required.

Weekend permits required and parking restrictions apply. For more information: go to www.fs.usda.gov/r06/columbiarivergorge/recreation/dog-mountain.

Sam Walker Trail #4402

Rated: Easy, universal access hike suitable for all seasons.

Length: 1.1 miles with elevation gain of 50 feet.

Views of the Columbia River and Horsetail Falls. Trailhead 10 miles west of Bonneville Dam on Washington Highway 14.

Access: Turn south on Skamania Landing Road and proceed one-quarter mile to parking lot on west side of the road.

Fees: $5 per vehicle per day, or an applicable federal Recreation Pass required. For more info, go to fs.usda.gov/recarea/crgnsa/recarea/?recid=29972 or wta.org/go-hiking/hikes/sams-walker-nature-trail.

Catherine Creek

Rated: Easy.

Length: Several choices, including a 1.5-mile paved, handicapped-accessible path on the south side of the road with waterfall viewpoint, interpretive signs, benches and a stand of old-growth white oak along the way. Unpaved, limited-access trails north of the road. Rolling, open countryside abounds with wildflowers in the early spring. Located off old highway above Washington Highway 14 between Bingen and Lyle.

Access: From Bingen, turn north at Rowland Lake and follow paved highway around lake to plateau, and watch for parking area. No fees apply. For more info, go to www.fs.usda.gov/recarea/crgnsa/recarea/?recid=29892.

Hamilton Mountain

Rated: Moderate to difficult.

Length: 7.6 mile loop with a 2100-foot elevation gain

Rigorous but rewarding climb to the top of Hamilton Mountain along Hamilton Creek with several waterfall viewpoints. Overlooks Beacon Rock in the western Columbia Gorge.

Access: Take the state park access road north from Washington Highway 14 opposite Beacon Rock. Washington State Discover Pass required. For more info, go to gorgefriends.org/hike-the-gorge/hamilton-mountain-loop.html.

Crawford Oaks Trail

Rated: Easy to moderate

Distance: 5 to 8.5-mile loop with 1300-foot elevation gain

Hiking, biking and equestrians are welcome at this trailhead that offers two different loops that take you through grasslands, scrub oaks and wildflowers in the spring. The lower loop offers grand views of the Columbia River while the upper loop offers some great wildflower viewing in spring months.

Access: The lower loop trailhead is located at milepost 87 on Washington Highway 14. The upper loop is accessed by turning onto Dalles Mountain Road at milepost 84.5 on Highway 14. Travel several miles past the barns to the parking lot. Washington State Discover Pass required. For more info, go to gorgefriends.org/hike-the-gorge/columbia-hills-historical-state- park--crawford-oaks.html.

GIFFORD PINCHOT FOREST

East Crater Trail #48

Length: 2.5 miles with moderate elevation gain. One of several trails in the Indian Heaven Wilderness, located west of Trout Lake in the Gifford Pinchot National Forest. Details at the Mt. Adams Ranger District in Trout Lake.

www.fs.usda.gov/recarea/giffordpinchot/recarea/?recid=31748.

OREGON

Rowena Dell-Tom McCall Nature Preserve

Rated: Easy.

Offers stunning views of the Columbia Gorge, the mouth of the Klickitat River to the north, and a collection of spring wildflowers. Trailhead is at top of Rowena Loops. This is a relatively small area with rolling terrain and small lakes. The dirt foot paths are easy to follow and you won't need a map.

Access: Just 10 miles west of The Dalles on Columbia River Scenic Highway (Highway 30). You can also access from I-84; take the Rowena exit to Highway 30 and head west, or take the Mosier exit to Highway 30 and head east. For more info, go to gorgefriends.org/hike-the-gorge/rowena-plateau-loop.html.

Mosier Twin Tunnels

Rated: Easy to moderate.

Length: 9 miles round trip with 430-foot elevation gain

This section of the Columbia River Scenic Highway is closed to motorized vehicles; open to bicyclists and hikers. From Mosier end, it's a fairly easy half-mile walk to the first outlook and the Twin Tunnels. Watch for the historic rock parapet railings. At the Twin Tunnels you can still see some original rock work built by Italian craftsmen.

Access: Parking at either end of trail, at Mosier or at Hood River (Mark O. Hatfield trailhead). Oregon State Parks Pass is required. gorgefriends.org/hike-the-gorge/mosier-twin-tunnels.html.

Wahclella Falls Trail #436

Rated: Easy to Moderate

Length: 2.4 miles

A "relatively easy" out-and-back hike starting out along Tanner Creek leading into the Mark O. Hatfield wilderness to Wachella Falls, a "350 foot, two tiered" plunging waterfall.

Access: From Portland, travel east on I-84 to exit #40, Bonneville Fish Hatchery. Turn right and right again (south) and follow the road to the trailhead. Day use fee of $5 per vehicle per day or a valid pass required. Info from www.fs.usda.gov/recarea/crgnsa/recarea/?recid=29992.

Lewis & Clark Riverfront Trail, The Dalles

Length: 6.5 miles.

Rated: Easy.

Paved flat pathway along the Columbia River, winds from the Columbia Gorge Discovery Center (through a tunnel under the railroad tracks) to downtown The Dalles and out to The Dalles Boat Basin and Riverfront Park. Also follows Chenoweth Creek, near the animal shelter, and past Taylor Lake. Watch for waterfowl, ospreys, great blue herons and an occasional beaver.

Access: Many different locations to get on the trail, including downtown The Dalles at the Union Street underpass, the Pocket Park at Crate's Way in The Dalles, the Discovery Center, and the Boat Basin (Exit 84 off I-84). gorgefriends.org/hike-the-gorge/the-dalles-riverfront-trail.html.

MT. HOOD NATIONAL FOREST OREGON

Camas Trail #490A

Length: 2.9 miles (one way), with a 2560 – 3160 elevation gain.

One of many hikes in the Barlow Ranger District on the Mt. Hood National Forest. This trail leads along Camas and Clear creeks, with views of the White River Canyon and Mt. Hood. Good spring or fall hike. For details, contact the Barlow Ranger Station in Dufur or go to www.fs.usda.gov/r06/mthood/recreation.

Umbrella Falls #667

Length: 3.1 miles (one way), with a 4550' – 5750' elevation

One of many hikes on the Hood River Ranger District, Mt. Hood National Forest. This is a forested route to Umbrella Falls viewpoint, connecting with Sahalie Falls Trail #667C. Details at Hood River Ranger District in Mt. Hood south of Hood River, or visit www.fs.usda.gov/recarea/mthood/recarea/?recid=53316 for more information. Northwest Forrest Pass Required.

Rail to Trail and single track along The Deschutes River

You can bike or hike for 22 miles (round trip) along the site of last railroad war in North America while enjoying the stunning views of rapids in the fast-flowing Deschutes River in this arid region. Bring plenty of water in warmer months and guard against puncture vine by using Slime in your innertubes if riding a bike. There is also several hiking only trails including the Blackberry Trail, which includes some shade, The Riverview and Ferry Springs trails. Trailheads are located at the park which is approximately 15 miles east of The Dalles. Oregon State Parks pass required. For more information, go to gorgefriends.org/hike-the-gorge/deschutes-river-state-park---river-trail.html.

Indian Creek Trail, Hood River
Bridges and boardwalks await pedestrians at the half-mile South Side Indian Creek Trail, a spoke of the trail network that brings a forest vibe inside Hood River's city limits. The original trail, which has been pieced together through the years, includes:

- East Indian Creek Trail, which stretches from Third Street and Hazel Avenue to 12th Street (now expanded by the Southside Connector). You can get to this section from downtown by taking the Second Street stairs, at State Street, and watching for the green Indian Creek trail signposts.

- A middle piece: Trail head starts at the entrance of the Columbia Gorge Community College and continues to where it meets private property; access takes walkers to the Avalon neighborhood, along a busy stretch of Indian Creek Road. Go south to Arrowhead Drive, turn west 100 or so yards to where the trail picks up next to the 14th hole of Indian Creek GC, and turns into West Indian Creek Trail.

- West Indian Creek Trail: Two trailheads next to Hood River Valley High School, one next to the ball fields and one west of the school parking lot, connecting to the Arrowhead access.

The trail continues west across Alameda Drive with a short loop around Barrett Park.

Hood River Waterfront Trail
Length: 2.8 miles, flat asphalt and concrete surfaces, including three sections completed in 2015 and 2016. Shoreline Trail runs from Best Western Plus Hood River Inn's east training beach to The Hook recreation area at the far west of the Hood River waterfront, on land owned by both the city and the port. Public restrooms are located at the Waterfront Park, Event Site, and Marina. The City of Hood River built the newest section in March 2016, linking the existing Shoreline Trail to the water sports access ramps on the Hook. Shoreline Trail connects The Hook, Waterfront Park, Event Site, the new Nichols Basin trail (2015) and adjoining Hampton Inn trail section (2016, in front of the hotel but on city land to the Hood River footbridge (aka Rotary Sailpark), History Museum of Hood River County, Port of Hood River marina, and Best Western/Hood River Marketplace commercial area. Note: Just east of the marina, the trail goes under Hood River Interstate Bridge, where it begins its eastern-most section; there, it goes in front of the hotel but is open to the public.

At the footbridge, walkers have the option of taking the trail under the freeway and looping west along the slough natural area and back to downtown Hood River. Near the footbridge in front of Hampton Inns, the trail overlooks Nichols Natural Area, a habitat restoration project of Columbia Riverkeeper. Please do not enter on foot. For more info, go to cityofhoodriver.gov.

Bikar's PARADISE

HOOD RIVER AREA

Post Canyon

A network of scenic trails for skilled bikers. From Hood River, head west on Cascade Avenue then follow Country Club Road for 1.6 miles to Post Canyon Drive on the right. Follow Post Canyon Drive for approximately 1/2 mile to the end of the pavement and park there.

Family Man Mountain Bike Area

The Family Man area is accessible from Riordan Hill Road, which is off of Country Club Road. It is about a mile beyond where Riordan turns to gravel. Family Man has some of the best mountain biking trails in the Northwest — all challenging enough for endless hours of fun, but safe enough for off-road rookies.

Surveyor's Ridge

A classic mountain trail that runs north-south from Mount Hood to the Columbia River on the east side of Mount Hood. This ride starts at the end of Pinemont Drive, 11 miles south of Hood River off Highway 35.

Falls Creek Falls Trail

A trail north of Carson, Washington that runs through old growth forest and ends at the beautiful Lower Lewis River Falls. From Carson, take Wind River Road for 15 miles and turn right onto NF-30 / Meadow Creek Road and travel 1 mile. Turn Right onto NF-3062. After 2 miles, trailhead is located on right where road becomes NF-057.

Road Bike Ride: Rowena Loops

A mind-blowing seven-mile loop; start in Hood River and follow the Columbia River Historic Highway through the famous twin tunnels to Mosier. Then, pedal up a gentle grade up to the Rowena Crest and blaze downhill on a series of sweeping curves.

Lake Branch/ Lost Lake Loop

A large hill with excellent pavement and a beautiful reward at the end. Follow Tucker

Road to the Odell/Dee intersection and veer right. Go six miles at the Dee turnoff to find the parking area.

Parkdale's Eastside Trails

From Hood River, head east on Highway 84 to Highway 35. Follow 35 south to Robin Hood Campground, the trail entrance. Visit local bike shops for more information on local trails.

MAUPIN

Sherars Falls Scenic Bikeway

The 33-mile paved route starts at the city park in Maupin and heads north through town climbing to a plateau between the Deschutes and White rivers. Riders will enjoy a long downhill into Tygh Valley before heading East on Highway 216 past White River Falls State Park. The road then descends for 500 feet into the Deschutes Canyon and passes Sherars Falls. About one quarter mile after crossing the bridge, make a u-turn onto the Deschutes River Access Road, heading north. You will return to Maupin park in about 10 miles. Go to traveloregon.com for more info.

CASCADE LOCKS

Cascade Locks EasyCLIMB Trail

Fun for the whole family, the EasyCLIMB Trail has several hours worth of trail to ride as you explore a restored section of the Columbia River Highway. This gentle path is perfect for bicycles or a leisurely afternoon walk. Don't forget your camera! Exit I-84, at Cascade Locks. The trail is .4 miles north on Industrial Parkway at the east end of town.

In the eastern Shadow of Mt. Adams, Goldendale sits next to an untapped recreational wonderland. Outdoor adventure is within arm's reach.

There are wineries, an observatory, museums and a full host of services to keep you going.

Rufus just 20 miles east of The Dalles packs a punch of services for those fishing, hunting, sightseeing, sailboarding, hiking or mountain biking. It's a great place to stage an adventure with access to groceries, hunting gear, tackle, restaurants, lodgings and RV parks.

Move

Summer, fall, winter and spring, the Columbia Gorge is a playground waiting for players: Get out on the water, stroll the fairways or take to the slopes for world-class active fun.

MOVE

During the warm summer months, the place to be is the Columbia River, whether you're interested in windsurfing, kiteboarding, stand-up paddle boarding (SUP) or other water sports. Thanks to both public and private entities, there are many different points of access to the Gorge's waterway.

The Columbia Gorge Wind & Water Association (CGW2) has compiled an exhaustive list of various Gorge beaches. We've listed some of the more popular areas below, but for a complete list, go to the CGW2 website at cgw2.org.

Water OREGON

The Hook

Located on the west side of the Hood River Waterfront, the Hook is a launch site for windsurfers, although it is extremely popular with kayakers, canoers, and SUPers. Nearby Wells Island provides a wind shadow that makes this an ideal area for beginners.

The Event Site

Located on the east side of the Hood River Waterfront, the Event Site is the busiest location for water sports in the Gorge. The lawn and beach will often be filled with people engaging in a variety of activities; kiteboarders launch throughout the summer from the adjacent sandbar that formed due to a debris flow from a flood a decade ago.

Mayer State Park

While people have been known to windsurf here, Mayer State Park's sheltered cove provides better opportunities for swimming, boat launching, and SUPing.

Rufus

This small community is located on the far east end of the Gorge, Interstate 84 at Exit 109. A mixture between intermediate and advanced, Rufus is touted to have some of the biggest swells in the Gorge, and is used by both windsurfers and kiteboarders. Also features a boat launch.

Arlington

Another small community located on the Oregon side of the east end of the Gorge (Exit 137 off I-84), the launch site at Arlington offers advanced territory for both windsurfers and kiteboarders. Also features a boat launch. portofarlington.com/marina.html.

WASHINGTON

Swell City/The Hatchery

As the name suggests, an area that sees some big swells on classic west wind days. Both are popular windsurfing launch sites for more experienced sailors. The hatchery is next to the Spring Creek National Fish Hatchery, and both locations are on the Washington side of the river near milepost 56 of State Route 14.

Doug's Beach

Located just east of Lyle, directly off SR 14 at MP 74, and managed by Washington State Parks. This windsurfing site is also considered to be a prime location for expert sailors, especially when areas near Hood River and White Salmon are busy.

Parking Fees

Note that the Port of Hood River charges for parking in all Port areas. Hourly pay is now made through Mobile pay only, and can be paid through Text to Pay or the Flowbird mobile app. You must make an account to use the Flowbird app. It is recommended if you don't have your account set up in advance to use Text to Pay to pay hourly fees.

How to use Text to Pay:

To park in the Event Site Parking Lot – Text "EVENT SITE" to 727563

To park in Lot 1 Gravel Lot, Easternmost Block of Portway Avenue, N. 1st Street and Nichols Basin – Text "WATERFRONT" to 727563

To park in the West Jensen Parking Lot – Text "JENSEN" to 727563

To park at the Hook Access Road and Westernmost Block of Portway Avenue – Text "HOOK" to 727563

To park at the Marina Boat Launch Parking Lot and Overflow Lot South of DMV – Text "MARINA" to 727563

[SOURCE: www.portofhoodriver.com/waterfront-parking.]

Annual parking passes are available for the Event Site, West Jensen (passenger vehicles only) and the Marina lots. For more information go to www.portofhoodriver.com/waterfront-parking.

Snow

Timberline Summit Pass

Formerly known as Summit Ski Area, The Timberline Lodge Summit pass has a vertical terrain of more than 4,500 feet, with a base elevation of approx. 4,000 feet. Located in Government Camp – just over an hour's drive from Portland – it is the oldest skiing area in the PNW. 503-272-3311. timberlinelodge.com/mountain/summit-pass.

Mt. Hood Meadows Ski Resort

Sixty-seven miles from Portland, the Mt. Hood Ski Resort offers a large variety of terrain, including a multiple terrain park configuration offering a selection of skiing opportunities for skiers of all ages and skill levels. Located off Oregon Highway 35 east of the Highway 26 junction. For more information, call 503-337-2222 and press 0 to speak with an information specialist. ski-hood.com.

Cooper Spur Ski Area

Family-oriented resort on the north side of Mount Hood overlooking the Hood River Valley. 541-352-6692 or cooperspur.com.

Mt. Hood Ski Bowl

Located at 87000 E Highway 26 in Government Camp, Mt. Hood Ski Bowl offers more than 960 acres of terrain, including 36 lighted runs of night skiing, along with a variety of activities including minigolf, tubing and snowboarding. 503-272-3206 or 503.222.2695 (snow phone). skibowl.com.

Other cross-country

All the major resorts around Mount Hood offer cross-country opportunities, as do other areas. Try exploring Trillium Lake, two miles east of Government Camp, and White River, east of the Highway 26 and Highway 35 junction. In contrast to the developed slopes of Mount Hood, Mount Adams in south-central Washington State offers a wilderness experience, for both skiers and climbers. There's plenty of backcountry for cross-country and snow-shoeing, with access via the communities of Trout Lake and Glenwood in Klickitat County. The Mt. Adams Ranger Station is based in Trout Lake; call 509-395-3400. Finally, a network of cross-country ski trails — plus snowmobiling — is open on the Wind River Ranger District in Skamania County. Routes such as the Hard Time Loop and Scenic Loop are accessed from the Wind River Highway. Call the Skamania County Chamber for details, at 509-427-8911 or 800-989-9178.
