

A second year in the red for Mizzou Athletics

The Missouri athletics department's operating revenue outweighed its operating expenses during each of the university's first four years in the Southeastern Conference. By fiscal year 2017, expenses surpassed revenue, leaving the department's operating margin in the red.

