

Homeless populations in college towns

Columbia's homeless population is comparable to that of several other urban areas with large universities in the Midwest, according to data from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. The agency conducts annual point-in-time population counts for counties across the U.S., with information from the 2024 count below.

Monroe County, Indiana

Bloomington

Homeless
Population 350