

Imbibing after midnight: Alcohol-related police calls highest at 1 a.m.

In 2017, the average number of alcohol-related reports was highest during late-evening and early-morning hours, especially on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. According to a 2017 analysis by the Columbia Police Department, around 67 percent of the reports occurred between 8 p.m. and 3 a.m.

Number of alcohol-related reports (weekly average in 2017)

Source: COLUMBIA POLICE DEPARTMENT

JAVKHLAN BOLD-ERDENE/Missourian