

Study suggests many young people are exposed to HPV

CDC data shows that high school students are sexually active, increasing their chances of contracting HPV.

Out of 14.1 million that are infected with HPV in the U.S. 49 percent are people age 15-24.

