

Microbes fix nitrogen compounds from the air for plants

Microbes pull nitrogen from the air and convert it into ammonia for plants to absorb as nutrients. Microbial fertilizers are like high-tech versions of these natural microbes.

