

Poultry products top food expense in Columbia Public Schools

The district spent a total of about $2.23 million on food supplies from Kohl Wholesale from July 2021 to March 2022, spending the most on poultry products at $284,662.42. The total spent in 2019 was approximately $4.71 million.

In the Missourian's data analysis of Columbia Public Schools' food expense data, different categories were created to group foods together for comparison. Anytimers are a snack pack options for students.