

Midwest measles cases rise amid national outbreak

As of Sept. 10, there are 3,294 cases of measles in the U.S. The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services issued a warning asking local health departments to look over their measles protocol and remain vigilant.

