

Missouri to get heavy snowfall this week

Columbia is expected to get around 8 to 17 inches of snow between Tuesday evening and late Thursday night, according to a National Weather Service forecast issued at 4:40 p.m. Monday. Much of the state is expected to get at least 8 inches from the winter storm.

Storm total snow amounts (inches)

NICK GOUGAS/Missourian

Source: National Weather Service