

Nearly a third of privately owned dams in Missouri are classified as high-hazard

Out of 3,871 private dams in the state, 1,233 are classified as high-hazard. However, state officials acknowledge that the status of many dams is unclear because of a lack of recent inspections.

