

MU enrollment from other SEC states mostly increases after MU joins SEC

Across the board, MU enrollment from states that house Southeastern Conference schools shifted after MU left the Big 12 for the SEC. From most states, enrollment increased. For example, the number of students from Tennessee increased more than 60 percent from 2012, when MU joined the SEC, to 2018.

