

Don't mistake your monarch: Watch out for that black line

Monarchs and viceroys look like twins, but up close, they're not identical. If you see a black line crossing the butterfly's wings, you've spotted a viceroy. They're also smaller than monarchs and don't migrate.

Monarch

Viceroy

Keep a look out for this distinct
black line.