

Fourth precinct posts highest voter-turnout rates

Columbia's average voter turnout for Tuesday's election was 19.9 percent, although certain precincts showed much higher numbers. The Columbia Public Library had the most voters cast their ballots, and some of the lowest numbers came from Paquin Tower and the Campus Lutheran Church.

Voter turnout by polling place

