Nature's Coastal Holiday moves for 2020

Traditional festival will move from Azalea Park to Highway 101

THE PILOT

Organizers of Nature's Coastal Holiday – Festival of Lights have announced a change in plans for the coming holiday season. Due to the challenges of COVID-19 requirements for social distancing, the organization will not decorate Azalea Park in Brookings this year. Instead, attention will be turned to the Highway 101 corridor and selected commercial areas of the community.

In a Facebook post a spokesperson said the organization plans over-the-top displays and will be inviting our local businesses and community members to help support the nonprofit organization's efforts.

"We felt that decorating Azalea Park would not best serve our community," the Facebook post stated. "The narrow pathways of the park did not lend themselves to our large crowds and social distancing. We could not successfully control the number of visitors and stay within state-mandated guidelines."

The annual event began with a mere 22,000 lights in 1997 and grew to more than two million dazzling lights by 2017. In that year over 25,000 people enjoyed visiting the lights during the holiday season (compared to 7,120 in 1997).

According to the organization's website, the event was the idea of the original volunteers, Olivia Abbott and Keith Pepper, and is a completely volunteer coordinated and staffed event.

"In the early years," according to the website, "there were only a few dozen people to help string the lights in the park. A few more individuals baked cookies and the local schools helped by designing and distributing posters. That same spirit of volunteering is still at the core of the event. A small group of individuals plan and organize the event each year, but the Brookings-Harbor community is the main component when it comes to stringing lights and hosting the month-long event."

Proceeds from the event are used to improve Azalea Park and other community organizations. Nature's Coastal Holiday is a non-profit corporation bringing the spirit of giving to the community.

Continued fundraising is key to the organization's future. This year, financial donations will help the organization with annual bills, which include storage rental, content insurance and shop expenses.

It will also be important for commercial properties to agree to allow space for staging displays.

"We hope everyone will understand and support us this year," the organization said in the Facebook post. "We will not be able to display any sponsorship signage this year and hope you will still feel inclined to donate. Any amount is appreciated. Please show your support and include a donation to Nature's Coastal Holiday by mail or visit our website naturescoastalholiday.com to donate online.

For questions or more information send email to naturescoastalholidaybrookings@gmail.com

Checks made payable to Nature's Coastal Holiday, Inc., may be mailed to P.O. Box 6928, Brookings, OR 97415.

Beach access made possible by David's Chair

BY CLAUDIA ELLIOTT
The Pilot

Many people take for granted excursions often not available to those with mobility impairments. For some, walks in the woods, treks in the snow or beach outings are difficult, if not impossible.

But the nonprofit organization David's Chair, based in Medford, makes such outings possible. Last weekend the organization was again at Harris Beach State Park in Brookings, doing just that.

Twenty-some people had an opportunity to enjoy using one of three chairs brought to the beach by the organization. Harris Beach is a popular destination for the organization, which has also hosted excursions in the redwoods and to the snow. Spokesperson Natalie Weber said the group typically visits Harris Beach in the spring, but because of COVID-19, the recent outing was the first for 2020.

David's Chair was born in 2016, not long after David Hatrick and his wife, Mary Grace, learned of David's diagnosis with ALS (also known as Lou Gehrig's Disease).

An active outdoorsman, Hatrick's mobility was already diminished, making his favorite activities, including hunting and fishing, more difficult. According to an article published on the organization's website, the diagnosis made it clear to Hatrick that his time to enjoy the activities he loved was limited.

When the shock wore off, David resolved to live what time he had left on his own terms. But how?

He learned that a track chair — a small battery-powered all-terrain tank with a chair on top — could provide him with mobility. But the chairs have a hefty price tag in the neighborhood of $20,000, and insurance doesn't cover them.

Dale Lamont Walker
July 13, 1960 - August 14, 2020

Dale Lamont Walker of South Beach (Newport) Oregon, passed away from heart-related complications on August 14, 2020, at the age of 60.

Dale was born July 13, 1960, in Gold Beach, Oregon to James Rockwell Walker and Sharon Lee mcCully Walker. He loved all sports, learning the rudiments of football, basketball and baseball at an early age.

He attended schools in Salem, Stayton and Springfield before returning to his birthplace on the Southern Oregon Coast with his brother Jim when his father inherited the 200-acre family ranch in Pistol River in 1974. The first summer on the ranch, Dale helped his father build a new corral on the east side of the river as the family livestock included 100 head of sheep and 40 head of black angus cattle.

At Gold Beach High School, his parents' alma mater, Dale played football, basketball and baseball, excelling in the latter as he earned the starting shortstop position his freshman year, In his rookie season, he hit .375 and was an outstanding fielder and backup pitcher. During his sophomore and junior seasons, Dale helped lead the Panthers to the state playoffs where they lost both years to South Umpqua. During his junior season, his brother Jim was at second base as a sophomore while Dale manned the shortstop position and recorded a number of wins as a pitcher, including beating a much larger school, Marshfield.

His parents separated in 1975, and Dale and his brother stayed on the ranch, helping their father run the ranch as well as attend school in Gold Beach.

After high school-Dale was a member of the Class of 1978-he joined the US Army as an airborne infantry specialist, rising to staff sergeant after serving at Fort Knox and Ft. Lewis as well as at several other bases before assignments in Hawaii, the Philippines and South Korea where he continued his training.

Soon after his discharge from the service, Dale started a security company in Idaho and later a landscaping business. Moving closer to his family i Western Oregon, he landed a position at Harry & David of Medford, later serving as production manager.

Later, he took a position at Freeman Marine in Gold Beach where he worked for over a decade, finally as a purchaser for the nautical products manufacturing company. His final position was as a purchaser at Eugene's Johnson Crushers International.

During his time in Medford and Gold Beach, he assisted his father and brother in their racing efforts, along with his wife Donna, whom he later divorced. During his lifetime, Dale also enjoyed fishing.

In 2010, while living in Idaho, Dale suffered a serious heart attack Several of his doctors said his heart was so weak he might not live long, but Dale battled against the damaged heart, Diabetes II and sleep apnea to live ten additional years, finally moving to Oregon's central coast to live at South Beach and enjoy the cooler weather. Dale's loves, in addition to his family and friends, were his chocolate lab, Deesa, now living with his father and wife Peggy in Newport, Formula 1 and Indy Car racing and anything connected with his beloved Oregon Ducks and Blazers' basketball.

Dale was cremated at Bateman Funeral Home of Newport, and his wishes were to have his ashes spread at Deep Creek on the Pistol River where he used to fish and kayal.

Dale is survived by his father, Jim and wife Peggy, mother Sharon Walker Baugh, his brother Jim, Oregon State Fire Marshal, and wife Kathi Walker, of Salem ,step-brothers Rob Johnson (Becca) of Caledon, Ontario, Canada and Chris Johnson (Emily) of Medford. He is also survived by niece Alex Walker Logue (Keith) of West Linn, nephew Greyson Walker, Salem and grandnephew Liam James Logue.

His sister Alicia Lee Walker preceded him in death as well as his step-mother Molly and His grandparents, Alice and Jay Walker and Helen and Buzz McCully.

Thanks to the staff at Bateman's for their care and concern, helping with all the details of Dale's cremation and final disposition. A Celebration of Life will be held at a later date at one of Dale's favorite pubs, the Crow's Nest, in Gold Beach, which is managed by his friend Derrick. We will let his friends know via Facebook when a date has been set.

Efforts resume to bring event, performing arts center

The Pilot

Efforts of a group formed to bring an event and performing arts center to Brookings stalled out during the COVID-19 pandemic, but organizers report they are working to get back on track.

Kathleen Dickson, vice president of BEACH, Inc., said they hope to work out a plan to continue moving forward in early 2021.

BEACH, Inc., stands for Brookings Events, Arts & Concert Hall, Incorporated.

Back in February, Dickson said, board members were gearing up for the next step in the planning stage — conducting focus groups with the help of Dennett Consulting Group of Ashland. And then the pandemic hit. Planning halted, meetings were postponed, and the work of setting up the focus groups had to stop temporarily while the board regrouped.

Dickson said the latest plan is to begin scheduling those focus groups to get input before taking the next steps.

Once the focus groups have been consulted the group expects to begin the next steps: conducting architectural concept planning; identifying potential sites; and finally, developing a budget and capital campaign funding plan.

"Covid may have slowed things down some," Dickson said, "but the dream of many — to create an Event and Performing Arts Center for Brookings-Harbor — cannot be stopped by a mere virus!"

BEACH, Inc. is a nonprofit corporation organized and operated exclusively for charitable purposes, specifically to envision and build an events and performing arts center in Brookings, Oregon. Representatives from Brookings-Harbor art and civic groups and the library form the board of directors; the broader BEACH coalition includes members from the local performing arts, visual arts and theatre groups.

This venue will benefit the Southern Oregon coast community through enhancing and preserving the culture, providing youth and other community members with low cost music and performing arts facilities, and supporting the economy through events and arts that bring people to the Brookings area.

For more information, or to inquire about getting involved, send email brookingspacc@gmail.com, or call 541-846-8190.

Chair

Also, Hetrick questioned such an expense when he knew there was a limit to how long he could use such a chair. What would happen then?

As related by the organization, that concern soon yielded to a vision that other people could use the chair, too. He reached out to his friend Steve Furst and together they had a "light bulb moment." David's chair could allow him to remain active during his remaining days — and be available for others.

From that idea — and fundraising efforts of friends — David's Chair was created on June 29, 2016. David died in January 2017, barely six months later and only 11 months after his ALS diagnosis.

But the organization inspired by his independent spirit has grown and now shares five trackchairs, including one designed for children. Furst is now CEO of David's Chair and believes it is the only organization of its kind.

"We've had really good luck with weather," Furst said Saturday as the marine layer at the beach gave way to sunshine and blue sky. "I think it may be David's spirt watching over us."

In addition to excursions such as the recent one to Harris Beach, the organization offers free check-outs of the chairs for use on vacations, field trips or whatever people might choose.

Among those enjoying the chairs at Harris Beach over the past weekend were Mark Nightingale of Washougal, Washington, and Jeremiah Rasmussen of Medford.

For Nightingale, it was a stroke of luck that he happened to be in the lower parking area of Harris Beach State Park on Saturday, Aug. 29, as volunteers for David's Chair arrived and began to set up that morning. Fortunately, there had been a cancellation, and he was able to head out onto the beach almost immediately.

"I love it," he said, as he maneuvered the chair close to the breaking waves on Harris Beach. "I was just randomly here," he said with a smile.

Nightingale said he used a wheelchair with fat beach tires offered at Manzanita Beach in Tillamook County, but that the trackchair is an entirely different experience.

Although the group did not bring the child's chair to the recent excursion to Harris Beach, eight-year-old Jeremiah Rasmussen expertly managed the controls of an adult chair to move across the sand after some assistance from his father, Eric Rasmussen, getting the mechanized chair down the ramps from the parking lot.

After exploring the beach in the chair both with and without his father, Jeremiah eventually settled into a favorite child's pastime — burying his legs in the sand.

Q&A

Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, the Brookings-Harbor School District has established significant changes for learning opportunities.

"Our schools will look very different this year, and our approach with your child will be patient, positive, and supportive," Brookings-Harbor School District Superintendent David Marshall writes in a letter to parents posted at the district's website.

In the following conversation, Marshall gives us insight into the new school year ahead.

The Pilot: A recent letter you posted to parents and students on the district's website gives a good outline of what we can expect for the start of the new school year. What challenges do you see for the in-person instruction in grades K-5 and how are you guiding teachers, staff and parents to overcome those challenges?

Marshall: We will be starting school this fall differently than we have in our lifetimes. Students have not physically been in class for nearly half a year. Understandably this will create a combination of excitement and concern. At a basic level, we are approaching the start of the year with staff and with students focusing on kindness, patience and grace. Our goal is that we create an environment where school is still a welcoming, friendly and supportive place to learn and grow.

The Pilot: What do you see as the challenges for Distance Learning for grades 6-12 and how are you guiding teachers, staff and parents to overcome those challenges?

Marshall: We learned a great deal from our experience this last spring. We have been able to provide significantly more resources and training to provide students an experience that is rigorous and consistent. Even online, this fall will feel more like school.

The Pilot: From your vantage point, and what you are hearing from parents, teachers and staff, what are the top concerns voiced so far about the new school year?

Marshall: Parents want to know what school will look like for their child. In surveys, a desire for consistency has been expressed. Of course, not being able to have students in school for a full day presents significant challenges to many families and staff members. Parents and staff want to feel confident that the district is strongly following the health and safety measures in place. I can say that the district does take the responsibility of following the safety measures in place seriously and is providing training to support staff in the implementation of the measures.

The Pilot: How will the parent conferences be conducted (during the first week of school)? How important are they, and what do you hope parents will take away from the conferences?

Marshall: Welcome conferences will be held on Sept. 8, 9 and 10. Each school will be reaching out to families to let them know how they will be approaching the conferences. Depending on the grade level, parents may have scheduled times for parents and children to meet their teacher and sign out Chromebooks and other instructional materials. Other grades may have drive-up "meet and greet" events so students can meet all of their teachers and check out needed instructional materials.

Sept. 11 will be the first day of in-person school for kindergarten through 3rd grade (county metrics permitting) and the first day of distance learning for 4th Grade and above. (See "School Opening Plan" and "Reopening Metrics" below for more information).

The Pilot: What is your advice to parents about establishing at-home learning routines and how to cope best with the pandemic-required teaching guidelines?

Marshall: Establishing routines and schedules is an important aspect of helping children succeed in the distance learning mode. To help with this, our plan is that the class schedules will be consistent regardless of whether the students are learning in-person following the hybrid instructional model or if they are needing to learn remotely because school is not able to be open for a period of time. This approach will help greatly with any needed transitions from in-person to distance learning and back.

The Pilot: How is the Brookings-Harbor School District handling student learning for children with physical and mental disabilities during this pandemic-learning process?

Marshall: The district has purchased specialized tools to help strengthen the services that we are able to provide remotely. In addition, the state guidelines do permit limited in person instruction even when we are in distance learning mode. This enables us to provide additional and direct support to students most in need, including those with physical and mental disabilities.

The Pilot: Certainly, a challenging time for all involved as we move forward together. What is your main message to parents, students, teachers and staff about the new school year ahead?

Marshall: We are excited to reconnect with our students again. Together we will be able to successfully meet any challenges we may face this school year.

Superintendent Marshall has posted an updated letter on the Brookings-Harbor School District website with more specific details about the new school year ahead. You can also see that letter at currypilot.com.

Brookings-Harbor School Opening Plan

Orientation activities (supplies, Chromebooks, drive through or in-person teacher conferences, etc.) —Sept. 8-10 (all grades)

K-3: Hybrid start date Friday, Sept. 11 (half-day in-person in classrooms, and half-day distance learning)

4-5: Hybrid start date Friday, Sept. 11 (distance learning only), with plans to begin in-person half days the following week — Friday, Sept. 18.

6-8: Hybrid start date Friday, Sept. 11 (distance learning only), with plans to stay in distance learning for the first quarter until Oct. 30 and then re-evaluate

9-12: Hybrid start state Friday, Sept. 11 (distance learning only), with plans to stay in distance learning for the first quarter until Oct. 30 and then re-evaluate

Reopening Metrics

Regarding reopening metrics, which involve state guidelines and an assessment of COVID-19 activity in the county, school district spokesperson Nancy Raskauskas-Coons provided helpful clarification:

Reopening metrics are different for K-3 versus 4-12, she said Wednesday. As of the Sept. 1 data release, looking back at the week of Aug. 23), we are on-track for the K-3 in-person opening on Sept. 11. Last week we also entered the three-week window that state and local need to meet stricter metrics for our planned 4-5 in-person start on Sept. 18. We achieved the needed numbers for the first week of the three, but won't know for sure until we see the official numbers for the week we are in and the next.

If for some reason grades 4-5 are not able to start their in-person half days on Sept. 18, we will either announce to the community a plan to give weekly updates in hopes of opening ASAP, or to keep that group in distance-learning only for the full first quarter similar to the middle and high school students for consistency of planning.

Covid

There has been no change in reporting from Pelican Bay State Prison during the past week.

Curry County Public Health Administrator Sherrié R. Ward cautioned the public on the importance of helping stop the spread of the virus by following health advisories. And Oregon officials emphasized the importance of staying home.

"Labor Day weekend is normally a time of celebrations, reunions and family vacations," the Oregon Health Authority said in a release. "This year, though, it's important to reconsider the activities you engage in with friends and family.

"We've seen the number of people infected with COVID-19 spike after Memorial Day and Fourth of July holidays. To keep our communities healthy and to be able to reopen schools statewide, we need to avoid that happening this holiday weekend.

"This means staying close to home, spending time with members of our household, avoiding crowds, and following public health guidance."

BROUGHT TO YOU BY

NEWS OF ANOTHER PREGNANCY IS UNWELCOME SURPRISE TO STEPDAD

DEAR ABBY: My wife of 10 years keeps all kinds of secrets from me. We let her adult daughter, "Maude," move in. Maude is 35 and has one daughter. I recently found out that Maude is pregnant again. I heard they had decided to "surprise me" with the news. (The father is the same guy as before.) I'm tired of being the third wheel, and I think it's time for me to call it quits. What do you think? — STAY OR GO IN CONNECTICUT

DEAR STAY OR GO: I'm glad you asked. What I think is that you are outnumbered. Maude should be living on her own or with the father of her children. If I am reading between the lines correctly, you have allowed yourself to be stuck with the financial burden that Maude and her irresponsible boyfriend should be carrying. I also think it's time you gave your wife an ultimatum — either Maude and her daughter move out or you will. Whichever option she chooses, your situation will improve.

DEAR ABBY: I've been married for five years. Before meeting my husband, I never thought I would find "the one." Recently, I have been having feelings of wanting to experience sleeping with a woman. I've always been sexually adventurous, and I have mentioned a threesome, but he isn't interested.

I don't want to die without experiencing sex with a woman, but I also love my husband dearly, and we have a great partnership that I don't want to destroy. Help! — WOMAN SEEKS WOMAN IN NEW YORK

DEAR WOMAN: It's time for another frank conversation with your husband. Explain clearly that although you love him dearly and do not want to destroy your partnership, you are bi-curious and you would like to experience sex with a woman. However, if his reaction is negative, you must then decide how important fulfilling this fantasy is to you in light of the fact that it could threaten your marriage.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a stay-at-home mother. My husband works Monday to Friday, 10 hours a day. We have been married nearly four years. My problem is we never have alone time. I feel if it continues, we will just fall apart.

On weekends, we sit home, and it's claustrophobic. We have only one vehicle, which he needs to use, so during the week, I'm stuck at home. Being home 24/7 is driving me nuts. We never get out and have family time or a date night. I tell him we need it, but he doesn't seem to care. Could you guide me on what to do? — IN NEED OF COUPLES' TIME

DEAR IN NEED: Stop telling your husband "we" need a date night and say instead, "I need this! If you want our marriage to survive, you will take me out of here so we can spend time without the kid (or kids) because I feel like I'm going nuts."

A date night every few weeks or once a month isn't too much to ask for. If he is worried about the expense, make sure he knows a hamburger, a sandwich, a drive ALONE WITH HIM is what you need. But if he still doesn't seem to care, then your problem is greater than cabin fever.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE
Bertha L. Benjamin

Case Number: CVPB-2020-7010

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of Bertha L. Benjamin

A Petition for Probate has been filed by Stephen B. Bruno, in the Superior Court of California, County of Del Norte.

The petition for probate requests that Stephen B. Bruno be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This Authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.
A hearing on the petition will be held in this court as follows:
Date: 9/25/2020 Time: 9:00am Dept.: 2
Address of the Court: 450 H Street #209 Crescent City, CA 95531

If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.
If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.
Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.
You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

DETAILED SUMMARY OF THE MATTER THAT PLAINTIFF SEEKS TO VALIDATE:

The California Department of Water Resources (Department) operates facilities which store, transport and deliver water to urban and agricultural water agencies throughout the State. Since 1960, the Department has approved, planned and constructed a system of water storage and transportation and power generation facilities (the Project). Currently, Project water is conveyed across the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta through the natural channels of the Delta formed by the confluence of the Sacramento and San Joaquin Rivers, as those channels have been modified over the past 150 years.

In recent years, the Department has undertaken to develop a comprehensive plan for the effective delivery of Project water across the Delta. The Department is currently undertaking environmental review and related planning and design activities regarding potential new Delta conveyance facilities. The facilities under review would transport water from new intake points on the Sacramento River at the northern edge of the Delta through an underground tunnel running below the natural waterways of the Delta to export facilities at the southern edge of the Delta.

Separately, the Department has established a proposed revenue bond financing to finance the cost and expense of the environmental review, planning, engineering and design, and if and when appropriate, the acquisition and construction of Delta water conveyance facilities. On August 6, 2020, the Department adopted bond resolutions authorizing the issuance of revenue bonds for those purposes. Under the bond resolutions, bonds for construction cannot be issued unless specific conditions precedent are satisfied, which include regulatory and statutory requirements regarding the physical and environmental aspects of approving, constructing, and operating Delta conveyance facilities.

On August 6, 2020, the Department filed a validation action to confirm the legal validity of the Department's proposed bond financing. A validation action is a judicial proceeding in which a governmental agency, like the Department, can confirm the validity of a proposed financial transaction before it commits to or undertakes the transaction. The Department's validation complaint, the bond resolutions, and a copy of this Summons are available on the Department's internet website at: https://water.ca.gov/Programs/State-Water-Project/Delta-Conveyance/Public-Information.

YOU MAY SEEK THE ADVICE OF AN ATTORNEY IN ANY MATTER CONNECTED WITH THE COMPLAINT OR THIS SUMMONS. SUCH ATTORNEY SHOULD BE CONSULTED PROMPTLY SO THAT YOUR PLEADING MAY BE FILED OR ENTERED WITHIN THE TIME REQUIRED BY THIS SUMMONS.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE
David A. White
CVPB-2020-7031

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of: David A. White, David Allen White

A Petition for Probate has been filed by: Sharlett W. Pittman, in the Superior Court of California, County of Del Norte

The petition for probate requests that: Sharlett W. Pittman be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This Authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A hearing on the petition will be held in this court as follows:
Date: 9/11/20 Time: 10:00am Dept.: 2
Address of the Court: 450 "H" Street Crescent City, CA 95531

If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.
If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.
Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.
You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.
