Brookings declares state of emergency

Brian Williams
Pilot Editor

The Brookings City Council declared a local state of emergency on Monday, March 23, and backed a resolution that they hope will curb tourists from flooding into the city and keep the novel coronavirus at bay.

Rep. David Brock Smith (R-District 1) presented the resolution to the council that asks Oregon Gov. Kate Brown to include in a future order the temporary closure of transient tax facilities such as hotels, motels or any short-term rental of fewer than 28 days through May 8. It received unanimous approval from the council.

Brock is chairman of the Oregon Legislative Coastal Caucus and was presenting the resolution on behalf of the Caucus to as many government entities along the coast that he could. He did not know when or even if the governor would close hotels and motels to tourists.

The resolution specifically targets tourists. People living in hotels or motels and people such as truck drivers, traveling nurses, doctors or other essential workers would still be allowed to stay in transient tax facilities.

"Never in my time did I think that I would be advocating for closing tourism in our communities but that is exactly

Changes to the rules are happening so quickly with the current health crisis caused by the novel coronavirus, many people are confused about what is still allowed and what's not. The confusion continues to grow after Gov. Kate Brown's most recent Executive Order No. 20-12 issued on Monday, March 23.

"I started by asking Oregonians to stay home and practice social distancing," the press release announcing the order said. "Then I urged the public to follow these recommendations. Instead, thousands crowded the beaches of our coastal communities, our trails, our parks, our city streets, potentially spreading COVID-19 and endangering the lives of others across the state. Now I'm ordering it. To save lives and protect our community."

At a press conference on Monday afternoon, Brown was clear about the intent of the new order. It limits travel to "home, work, the doctor and essentials," she said. Since the order came down, more people than ever are asking about what's still allowed and what's not. Lots of misinformation is being spread, and in some cases harming the community's ability to respond.

BUSINESSES

The order doesn't close all businesses.

Some businesses are deemed essential, such as grocery stores, pharmacies, health services, hardware stores, auto parts, gas stations, auto repair shops, animal feed stores, communications businesses and media like newspapers and radio.

Before the recent order, businesses affected the most were restaurants, bars, taverns, brewpubs, wine bars and coffee shops. They have been limited since March 17 to having no onsite consumption and providing only takeout, curbside or delivery. That's still true, with no changes.

Gold Beach passes flurry of declarations

Ordinance temporarily closes transient lodging to overnight visitors

Gold Beach City Councilors passed a trifecta of measures at an emergency meeting held via teleconferencing on Tuesday evening, March 24. The flurry of ordinances and declarations followed a hectic weekend of tourism that prompted many citizen complaints about the endangerment of their health and safety and the decimation of limited essential supplies and fresh foods from store shelves.

Councilors first considered whether to declare a temporary state of emergency for the city, which will remain in effect until April 28 unless extended by the council. The declaration delegates authority to the City Administrator "to take actions and issue orders necessary and reasonable to protect health, safety and welfare of the City and the public and to conduct activities that minimize or mitigate the effect of the emergency" caused by the coronavirus. The declaration also designates two additional staff members to serve as "acting in capacity" City Administrator, Will Newdall, Public Works Superintendent, and Police Chief Tracy Wood.

"Our city is at risk, and we need to protect it," said Mayor Karl Popoff. "To hit some sort of balance is the best we can possibly do." The emergency declaration passed unanimously, with all five council members present.

Port of Brookings Harbor closes Beachfront RV Park

Brian Williams
Pilot Editor

Port of Brookings Harbor commissioners temporarily closed the Beachfront RV Park but kept open access to Sporthaven Beach, the boat launch and boat docks during a special meeting Tuesday morning, March 24.

"It is difficult to have to make these decisions," said Commissioner Chairman Roy Davis. "We are publicly elected officials and we have to make these decisions to try and do the best we can. Please be kind and courteous to our Port staff because they are out there on the front lines, there are a lot of people out on the front lines and I would ask everybody to please be kind and courteous to those people."

On Monday, Oregon Gov. Kate Brown directed people to "stay-at-home" as much as possible or face Class C misdemeanor charges through May 8. Also Monday, March 22, Oregon State Parks System closed its campgrounds and day-use areas to the public through May 8 after initially stating they would do so on April 3.

Brown's order came after a mostly sunny weekend that saw people not staying at home and practicing social distancing.

Following the unanimous vote, 4-1, Port officials

COVID-19 Regional Response Fund launched

Humboldt Area Foundation and its affiliate the Wild Rivers Community Foundation have launched the COVID-19 Regional Response Fund to address the immediate and emerging needs of our region's most vulnerable residents — from mitigation to eventual recovery from the coronavirus pandemic.

The fund was established to collect contributions and then provide grants to charitable organizations in Del Norte, Curry, Humboldt and Trinity counties, foundation officials stated. The number of people affected by the coronavirus in the four-county region continues to grow. Many are grappling with sudden changes to our everyday lives. For some, the effects are particularly dire.

“Our number one priority is to the region we serve and the amazing people who get to call this place home,” said WRCF Director Gina Zottola. “Our communities have a history of resiliency and now more than ever as a Foundation we must garner all of our resources and tools to assist our residents.”

HAF and WRCF, with the support of foundation partners The California Endowment and The California Wellness Foundation, committed $150,000 to seed the fund, which launched last Friday. The organizations invite civic groups, individuals and community partners to join this regional effort.

By being responsive during times of uncertainty, HAF and WRCF embrace its roles as community foundations to respond to the evolving needs of our diverse residents.

“Deciding to help our most vulnerable neighbors and collaborating to ensure the health and well being of our citizens during times of crisis is what we do best as a community,” said Zottola.

Grants from the fund will be made on a rolling basis to nonprofits, other charitable organizations and Native Indigenous organizations in Trinity, Humboldt, Del Norte and Curry. The fund's initial focus will be on seniors, low-wage families, tribal communities and the nonprofits serving those populations. HAF and WRCF are not able to make grants from this fund to individuals or small businesses at this time. The process for making grants from the fund is being developed and will be available and shared soon.

The COVID-19 Regional Response Fund is just one part of the planned response by HAF and WRCF, which includes other grantmaking resources, information and support and community leadership.

FAITH FORUM

Living the 91st Psalm

Paula Broock

Daily, and at times like now when the news is full of epidemics and contagion, many turn to the Bible for inspiration and comfort.

In Isaiah 59:19, we read, “When the enemy shall come in like a flood, the spirit of the Lord shall lift up a standard against him.”

We read of many instances of contagious diseases (often called “pestilence” in the Bible) and plagues being stopped in their tracks (e.g. Numbers 16). Rather than feeling helpless and hopeless in the face of overwhelming dire predictions, we have many assurances that we can turn to God for our protection, i.e. “I will...strengthen that which was sick: they shall dwell safely, and none shall make them afraid” (Ezekiel 34:16, 28).

I think that perhaps the most sought-after comfort, though, is the 91st Psalm, which begins, “He that dwelleth in the secret place of the most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty.” It continues later on:

“Surely he shall deliver thee... from the noisome pestilence. ...Thou shalt not be afraid...for the pestilence that walketh in darkness. ...Because thou hast made the Lord, which is my refuge, even the most High, thy habitation; There shall no evil befall thee, neither shall any plague come nigh thy dwelling. For he shall give his angels charge over thee, to keep thee in all thy ways.”

Surely Jesus felt the assurance that he dwelled in the secret place of the Almighty; that he lived, moved, and had his being in God, as we are told we do also (Acts 17:28).

When he healed people of leprosy, considered to be a contagious condition, he was not afraid to reach out and touch them. He was living out what we read in Psalm 56:4, “in God I have put my trust; I will not fear what flesh can do unto me.” In Luke 7:21, we find that Jesus “cured many of their infirmities and plagues.”

Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, who was an avid, life-long student of the Bible, saw that “the history of Christianity furnishes sublime proofs of the supporting influence and protecting power bestowed on man by this heavenly Father, omnipotent Mind, who gives man faith and understanding whereby to defend himself, not only from temptation, but from bodily suffering” (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, p. 387).

She also saw the wisdom of conquering the fear which leads toward disease, rather than away from it. She said, “The press unwittingly sends forth many sorrows and diseases among the human family. It does this by giving names to diseases and by printing long descriptions which mirror images of disease distinctly in thought. A new name for an ailment affects people like a Parisian name for a novel garment. Every one hastens to get it. A minutely described disease costs many a man his earthly days of comfort” (ibid p. 196).

We would all do well to keep thought focused on Psalm 91 or other comforting angel thoughts from God, rather than the dim pictures we’re constantly being bombarded with. “Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee” (Isa 26:3). Then maybe we’ll be able to say with Isaiah (14:7), “The whole earth is at rest, and is quiet: they break forth into singing.”

Obituary

Adelia 'Dolly' Krammer Nov. 29, 1918 - March 19, 2020

Adelia “Dolly” Kammer passed away peacefully on March 19, 2020 at age 101. Dolly was born on a remote farm homestead near Grygla Minnesota on November 29, 1918. She is the oldest daughter of 4 girls and 5 boys living an independent lifestyle in the remote wilds of northern Minnesota. High school required boarding at the nearest village and nursing school followed. After nursing school she followed her dreams west to California where she was employed as a nurse at the Burbank California hospital. That is where she met George W. Kammer who was employed as an aviation assembly specialist at McDonnell Douglas Aircraft near Burbank.

Dolly and George were married in 1944 and made a honeymoon trip by jeep to remote Gold Beach on the Oregon Coast. After catching some Spring Chinook Salmon and enjoying the relaxed Gold Beach lifestyle, Dolly and George bought 5 acres of land near the Rogue River and went back to Burbank to quit their good jobs and sold their new home and moved to Gold Beach. George built their new home overlooking the Rogue and Dolly grew a large garden and cared for a new family of 5. After 3 children were raised Dolly worked as a dental assistant in Gold Beach and with her personality everyone soon knew who Dolly was. George passed away in 1973 and Dolly moved near the mouth of the Rogue with a view of the river and the ocean. She has spent the last 40 years enjoying the ocean and river views and tending her flower garden.

Her zest to live life to the fullest, her heart full of love, her insistence on laughing at the good and the bad in life and her positive attitude is an inspiration to everyone who has known her. Dolly taught all of us to “live”, “love”, and “laugh” for a happy and healthy life! Dolly is survived by her 3 children, Mary Kammer, Larry Kammer and Edward Kammer, 5 grandchildren and 2 great grandchildren. At Dolly’s request no services will be held. The family requests any donations in memory of Dolly Kammer be made to the “Curry Health Foundation”.

restaurants open in this area, see the display ad in this paper for what’s available. If you are tired of eating your cooking, now’s a good time to call up your favorites for take-out or delivery. Treat yourself and take it out of the box and serve it up like it was at the restaurant to make it even more special. Linens are optional.

Brown’s order is not as prohibitive or restrictive as orders in other states.

“If a business isn’t specifically listed in the order, you can stay open if you can maintain social distancing,” Brown said. “If they are not following the rules and complying, we will shut them down.”

The extensive list of new business closures has fewer impacts for Curry County than in larger metropolitan areas, but they still hurt all the same. If you were thinking of getting a haircut, hair salon treatment, or your nails done, those are now do-it-yourself projects. Either that, or we are all going to look a little rough in another month or so.

The tanning salon is now in your backyard, so long as the weather cooperates. That spa visit to help you relax from your viral anxiety is not on the horizon until the governor lifts the order. That tattoo or piercing you may have been thinking about getting? You will need to think about it awhile longer. Jewelry shops and boutiques are closed except where goods are provided through pick-up or delivery service. Art galleries can only be open by appointment.

The new furniture you were planning on getting with your tax refund is on hold, too. Furniture stores are closed, but federal tax filing deadlines have been moved to July 15, so there’s plenty of time to do both. The state tax deadline is still to be determined.

No more meetings at Elks and Moose lodges or similar, or anything at senior activity centers. No theaters, yoga studios, gyms and fitness studios, tennis clubs, dance studios, jumping gyms, arcades, laser tag or youth clubs. Add museums to the libraries that are already only offering curbside and telephone services.

The good news is that Curry County doesn’t have cosmetic stores, bowling alleys, skating rinks, ski resorts, hookah bars or an aquarium because they would be closed, too.

Indoor and outdoor malls are closed, except for food, grocery, health care, medical, pharmacy or pet store services. Yes, Fido does get to have treats and toys.

Other businesses not specifically listed can continue to operate so long as they maintain social distancing of at least 6 feet. Businesses in this category can operate by offering curbside pickup of merchandise. Otherwise, they must have an employee who enforces social distancing policies.

GOVERNMENT OFFICES

Law enforcement, state, city and county governments are operating, but many are choosing not to provide lobby or open office hours, with contact instead through phone, email and payments in drop boxes. Call before going to their offices.

THE GREAT OUTDOORS

With recreational shopping being mostly off limits, perhaps getting out into the great outdoors is your next big idea of what to do, especially with the kids being around until at least the end of April. You could walk the dog, entertain the kids, get your exercise workout in since the gym is closed — all at the same time. It seems like a simple solution, but state, county and city parks are closing faster than a dog getting off his leash. So far, it’s not banned — at least not everywhere. And keep your social distance because more restrictions can be enacted.

Walking, jogging and bicycling are encouraged. Team sports are not — no shooting hoops at the public parks.

State parks: Oregon State Parks closed all its campgrounds and day-use areas on March 23 when the Governor’s executive order came out. The park closures include parking areas, restrooms, picnic areas, trails, viewpoints and all other facilities. This closure will last at least until May 8. They will decide before then whether it’s time to re-open.

The park service recommends: “Go out if it’s important. Take a walk around your neighborhood where it’s easier to avoid clumping up, if that’s what you need. Please do not travel to any popular recreation hotspot. You might think, ‘Well, if everyone else stays home, that means I can go.’ This works only if we all do our part.”

Beaches: What about beaches? The state parks’ decision doesn’t currently affect the ocean shore, but it does close all state park-managed parking lots and beach accesses. Local authorities can close the beaches temporarily for health reasons. If people don’t get the message that clumping up and overwhelming local areas is a bad idea, they will have to revisit the decision to leave all beaches open. The parking lot at Sporthaven Beach is still open but could be closed if people don’t practice social distancing.

County parks: Curry County doesn’t have a lot of parks. The campers at Boice Cope Park near Floras Lake aren’t allowing any new check-ins but as of Monday were allowing those who made reservations to stay until the end of their reservation. However, private and public campgrounds have been ordered to close down but it does not extend to RV parks or other housing.

City parks: Brown’s executive order closes all pools, skate parks, outdoor sports courts and playground equipment areas. Public recreational areas require signs posted at all entrances and exits and in prominent areas that state social distancing is required. Restrooms must have trash cans and soap and water or hand sanitizer. That said, Gold Beach’s Buffington Park is completely closed, including trails and disc golf, not just the tennis courts and playground equipment.

Brookings has closed the skate park, all playgrounds, sporting facilities, and park public restrooms. Azalea Park KidTown and ballfields, Easy Manor Park, the Skate Park, Bud Cross sports fields, basketball and tennis courts and Chetco Point Park will be among those closed. Barricades block access to the parking areas and restroom facilities will be closed. But in a Facebook live-stream on March 24, Brookings Mayor Jake Pieper clarified the park rules despite barriers up across parking lot entrances. “Azalea Park itself isn’t actually closed,” he said. “Go ahead and walk your dog. Don’t be afraid to use our parks.”

Campgrounds: All private and public campgrounds were closed immediately by the governor’s order, but the closure does not extend to RV parks and other housing. “Riverside RV Resort on the North Bank Chetco River Road is closed to everyone except our full-time, monthly tenants who are sheltering in place,” said Debbie Newsome. “We made the decision to close the resort just before the Governor’s order came out. We want to keep all of our long-term residents safe, and are not taking any new reservations for now.”

Golf: Yes, Salmon Run Golf Course is open. Remember though, social distancing.

Fishing: Yes, you can go fishing. However, a commercial fisherman tossing a lure out on the Chetco River is laid off because the crab market now is slow since most of the sales are “live markets” for restaurants across the West Coast. Port of Brookings Harbor has closed the fishing platforms at the port but the boat ramps are open in Brookings and Gold Beach.

BROKEN RULES

In her press conference on Monday, Brown said that she tried to implement rules that would apply across the state. However, people are misinterpreting the new rules.

Essential workers: A visiting nurse called The Pilot because the RV park where she’s staying is forcing her to move — even though she’s a healthcare worker and the RV park is considered housing that is exempt from camping closures.

The RV park may want to rethink that decision.

Most truckers who deliver to our remote area need to stay overnight somewhere. Truck drivers need lodging and meals, so if we ever want to see toilet paper again, we are pretty sure businesses will accommodate them.

Hanging out: Many people still think it’s OK to go hang out with friends. It’s not, because nonessential social and recreational gatherings outside of a home or residence are prohibited, regardless of group size if a distance of at least 6 feet can’t be maintained.

The consequences: Failure to comply with Brown’s order is considered an immediate danger to the public health and subject to a Class C misdemeanor, which is punishable by up to 30 days in jail, a fine of up to the $1,250, or both. “All Oregon law enforcement are united on the premise that police action is extremely undesirable and we hope to educate Oregonians if congregating in violation of the Governor’s Order,” Says a post by Oregon State Police on Facebook. “Citation or arrest would be an extreme last resort if a person failed to comply with the lawful direction of a police officer.” If you see a violation, law enforcement agencies are asking the public not to call 911, and either self-educate the public or dial the non-emergency number for police.

DEAR ABBY

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Couple's views on one issue threaten future

DEAR ABBY: After an abusive relationship ended 14 years ago, I stayed single and raised my small son to adulthood. I dated here and there, but never found anyone I had serious feelings for who also felt the same way about me until seven months ago.
My feelings for my boyfriend are strong, and it's mutual. He is giving, kind, caring, hardworking and protective. We are very much in love. He tells me he feels like he can be himself around me, something he has never had before. I've never had anyone care so much about my well-being.
We talk about everything and differ on only one point so far. I'm in education and an LGBTQ ally. He feels strongly that nature dictates that only a man and a woman belong together, and he says he hates gay people. (We both grew up in very small, conservative communities.)
Now that my son is older, I plan to use my experiences to be a stronger voice on education issues regarding tolerance and improving learning outcomes for all by instilling conflict resolution principles in my educational practices. I'm not changing my view on this, but I want to continue for us to love and support each other.

Should I tell my boyfriend I understand where he's coming from based upon where and how we were raised? Do you think down the road our basic principles will drive us apart? We have been talking about buying a house in the country together, although neither of us has intentions of marriage anytime soon. -- HESITATING IN ILLINOIS

DEAR HESITATING: You should absolutely talk to your boyfriend about your plan to become an outspoken LGBTQ ally and more active in your profession. When you become more visible, do you plan to separate your career and your personal life? It appears you are willing (and able) to respect him, and understand why he feels the way he does. But is he willing to do the same for you, and will his conservative convictions negatively affect how you plan to live your life?
It is VERY important that this issue be resolved

BEFORE investing in real estate with him -- as well as any more precious time. A professional mediator may be able to help with the conversation if you can't do this by yourselves.

DEAR ABBY: My two grandchildren, 12 and 16, used to spend a lot of time with my husband and me, staying overnight, going on trips, etc. As they have gotten older, I recognize that they will naturally want to spend less time with us old folks.
My problem is, when I send them texts to invite them for lunch or out somewhere for the day, they don't respond or just respond with an IDK (I don't know). My question: Should I ask again to get an answer before the scheduled lunch or trip, or should I just forget it and assume they don't want to be involved with us? -- SAD MEMAW IN FLORIDA

DEAR SAD: You have asked an intelligent question, but you are asking the wrong person. The people you should be asking are your grandchildren, and when you do, it should be face-to-face.

Emergency

what I am here to do,” Smith said. “The reason is because of the spread of this disease and the fact that it is three times more contagious than the flu. And the fact that our healthcare facilities can be overwhelmed in a matter of a sneeze in this room right now. Anyone has to just follow what is happening in Italy to see what could happen.”

The state of emergency was approved 5-0 and began immediately. It will continue through June 30. Doing this makes the city eligible for some federal and state funding if this becomes available and allows city officials, specifically the city manager, to move quicker and with more authority related to the coronavirus outbreak.

“Some of the main reasons for doing that are to give the city manager the ability to make some decisions on a quicker basis than potentially coming to a council meeting,” said City Manager Janell Howard.

As of March 24, there were no confirmed COVID-19 cases in Brookings or Curry County, but there were 209 confirmed cases in Oregon and eight deaths related to the virus.

Earlier Monday, Oregon Gov. Kate Brown directed people to “stay-at-home” as much as possible or face Class C misdemeanor charges.

Brown’s order came after a mostly sunny weekend that saw people flock from coronavirus hot zones to mostly virus free Oregon coastal towns that had only seen a few positive cases.

A couple of cities, such as Warrenton, on the northern Oregon coast, enacted bans on tourists over the weekend. More cities and towns on the coast did the same on Monday.

“This resolution is not as drastic as what Bandon did, or Tillamook did, or what Clatsop County did and Warrenton and other communities,” Smith said. “It is just asking the governor to consider in her future executive order to look at these transient lodging facilities so that we can protect our citizens that have been doing their part to protect ourselves.”

Smith likened what was happening with cities doing bans to squeezing a balloon.

“As you squeeze the middle of the balloon then it bulges out the other ends and so those folks are going to be coming elsewhere,” Smith said. “Normally we would want their business. Our citizens I don’t want them to panic but they are scared. We have an older population, they are scared and for good reason.”

The entire council in favor of the resolution but wondered if it would be put in place before the next weekend rolled around and with it another possible influx of out-of-towners.

City Manager Howard said the city attorney had some concerns with what was put in place in other cities but after the meeting confirmed Brookings could do something similar.

Mayor Jake Pieper asked the council to be ready to convene later in the week, most likely Thursday, if the governor had not acted. He went on live on Facebook Tuesday afternoon and reiterated that stance.

“I’m hoping another executive order comes sooner rather than later,” Pieper said Monday night. “I’d like the council to entertain giving it a week, but before the weekend rolls around if we need to shut down our motels and hotels then I’d like to have that option and we need to plan ahead for that.”

Pieper will be answering questions and updating the community via his personal Facebook page at about 4 p.m. each afternoon.

“There is no doubt in my mind the community is wanting us to close the gates and they are asking for that pretty loud and I know some of that is based in fear and panic and we don’t want to make decisions like that,” Pieper said at the meeting. “We want to keep everybody home, take care of our own community.”

Oregon requests federal government open up HealthCare.gov

Governor Kate Brown on Tuesday, March 24, to ensure all Oregonians have access to the health insurance they need during this unprecedented public health crisis, called on federal Health and Human Services Secretary Alex Azar to open a special enrollment period for Oregonians to buy health insurance and apply for federal subsidies through HealthCare.gov.

The open enrollment deadline passed on Dec. 15 and does not open again until November.

“Many Oregonians are uninsured or underinsured and now find their families’ budgets significantly tightened due to this national emergency,” Brown said in a letter to Azar. “In order to remove any potential barriers that remain, it is critical for all Oregonians to have access to a special enrollment period.”

A widespread special enrollment period would allow anyone legally present in the United States to buy a private plan and apply for a subsidy to help afford it. The governor requested that the enrollment period open as soon as possible and last at least 30 days.

Oregon needs Azar to allow the special enrollment period via HealthCare.gov because the application consumers need for federal subsidies, and Oregon’s online system for selection of plans available through HealthCare.gov is run by the federal government. HealthCare.gov sells individual health insurance plans to Oregonians under an agreement with the state and in partnership with the Oregon Health Insurance Marketplace, a division of the Oregon Department of Consumer and Business Services.

“The Marketplace is our state’s pathway to coverage and federal subsidies,” said

Chiqui Flowers, administrator of the Oregon Health Insurance Marketplace.

“Until the federal government unblocks the gate to those options for all Oregonians, the only people who can enroll now are those who just lost other coverage or had another major qualifying event.”

The governor’s letter to Azar emphasized the importance of meeting the needs of income-strapped families during a national crisis.

“Your administration has stressed the value of allowing Americans to make their own coverage choices. During open enrollment last fall, a moderate-income adult might have made a rational decision to skip coverage or buy one of the extremely limited, short-term plans now available under federal rules that currently are not required to cover testing for the novel coronavirus and waive cost-sharing for COVID-19 treatment,” Governor Brown wrote.

“A national emergency has changed conditions vastly, and those Oregonians deserve a chance to get the coverage they need.”

Community kitchens adjust to coronavirus

Staff Report

It was business as usual for St. Timothy’s Episcopal Church community kitchen on Tuesday, March 17, despite concerns over the coronavirus.

“I’m always going to make sure we have a hot meal. Sit-down as long as Father Bernie says,” said cook Victoria Valdez.

The only noticeable difference was what wasn’t on the tables and counters — condiments — and all of the food was served by the volunteers like at a cafeteria instead of the usual buffet-style.

“If somebody wants it to go, we can give them a plate to go,” said Valdez.

Lunch is served out of the kitchen each Tuesday to anyone that shows up. Homeless are the majority of the lunchroom’s patrons.

“It doesn’t matter who comes in,” said Valdez.

Between 60 and 70 people show up at the church at 70 Fir St. each Tuesday. Lunch is served at noon but the dining room opens at about 11:30 a.m.

A shower is available upstairs for people to use Monday, Wednesday or Friday mornings and vouchers are available for doing laundry. Hot oatmeal and cereal are served upstairs Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings as well.

“Father Bernie wants to make sure everyone is healthy and safe and their stomach is full,” Valdez said. “It doesn’t matter who you are, where you came from, what your background is, as long as you get fed.”

St. Timothy’s continues to provide its services, but nearly all of the other churches and groups have canceled their community kitchen programs for now.

Brookings Presbyterian Church on Pacific Avenue in Brookings is providing brown bag lunches outside for people to pick up, but “we’re still feeding them,” said a spokesperson.

Seventh-Day Adventist Church is providing a sack lunch from noon to 1 p.m. on the second and fourth Monday of each

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE T.S. No. 53511 Loan No. 37363 NOTE: THERE IS A SUMMARY OF THE INFORMATION IN THIS DOCUMENT ATTACHED. YOU ARE IN DEFAULT UNDER A DEED OF TRUST, DATED January 9, 2007. UNLESS YOU TAKE ACTION TO PROTECT YOUR PROPERTY, IT MAY BE SOLD AT A PUBLIC SALE. IF YOU NEED AN EXPLANATION OF THE NATURE OF THE PROCEEDING AGAINST YOU, YOU SHOULD CONTACT A LAWYER. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (714) 730-2727 for information regarding the trustee's sale or visit this Internet Web site https://www.servicelinkasap.com/default.aspx for information regarding the sale of this property, using the file number assigned to this case [53511]. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. On April 16, 2020, at 11:00 AM, Monroe Acceptance Company, Inc. as duly appointed Trustee under and pursuant to Deed of Trust recorded February 7, 2007 20070765 of Official Records of Del Norte County, State of California, executed by Isabel R. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 800-280-2832 for information regarding the trustee's sale or visit this Internet Web site http://www.qualityloan.com, using the file number assigned to this foreclosure by the Trustee: CA-19-873283-AB. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any inaccuracy of the property address or other common designation, if any, shown herein. If no street address or other common designation is shown, directions to the location of the property may be obtained by sending a written request to the beneficiary within 10 days of the date of first publication of this Notice of Sale. This shall be the Purchaser's sole and exclusive remedy. The purchaser shall have no further recourse against the Trustor, the Trustee, the Beneficiary, the Beneficiary's Agent, or the Beneficiary's Attorney.
