

Brookings limits benevolent meal services

'Balanced' move limits meals at St. Timothy's

By DIANA BOSETTI

Churches that provide benevolent meal services to the Brookings community are now required to limit those operations to two days a week and three hours or fewer per day.

The new requirement, which the Brookings City Council unanimously passed Oct. 25, is a modification of a previous ordinance that prohibited churches from operating charitable kitchens all together.

"We have a dual purpose and that is to protect and bring peace to the neighborhood, as well as help indigents as much as we possibly can," said Mayor Ron Hedenskog shortly after the vote. "This is about striking a balance."

Following two workshops attended by members of the council, planning commission, church leaders and others, city staff recommended that a municipal code be created that would "provide a method for local churches and other nonprofits to obtain a conditional use permit in order to provide benevolent meal services in a residential zone."

The council also voted to waive, for three months, the $3,012 fee to obtain a conditional use permit. After three months, a nonprofit organization can still individually request a fee waiver.

While the modifications appeared straightforward, the municipal code changes brought with them significant opposition from church leaders and some members of the community.

The controversy goes back nearly two years to when four of the churches that served charitable meals resulted in an increase of calls for police service.

When the pandemic hit in 2020, only two churches - St. Timothy's Episcopal Church and Brookings Presbyterian - continued to serve meals.

Later that year, a petition citing safety concerns was signed by 29 residents who live near St. Timothy's - which was serving meals several days a week.

County funds salmon study on Rogue River

By DIANA BOSETTI

A $5,000 contribution from the Curry County Board of Commissioners was made Oct. 20 to ECONorthwest and River Docs to study the most current Salmon and steelhead populations in the Rogue River.

"ECONorthwest is truly the national leader in resource economics," said Cam Perry, project director of Coquille-based River Docs LLC.

Portland-based ECONorthwest produced a study in 2009 of the overall economic importance of Rogue River salmon and steelhead, but at nearly 13 years old it is outdated.

"I believe that in 2007, the value of salmon was $1,800 per fish," said Steve Beyerlin, the coordinator of Curry County Rogue River Salmon & Trout Recovery.

"Now, I believe it's $2,300 a fish, maybe even higher than that."

Beyerlin added that in order to talk about disaster relief for salmon, it's "a good idea to know how much they're worth," he said.

"When we start to figure out what salmon is worth, those are stand up and salute numbers," agreed Perry.

Red Ribbon Week in Brookings

Mayor Ron Hedenskog proclaimed the week of Oct. 25-31 as Red Ribbon Week for the Brookings community. The proclamation stated that substance abuse is damaging to children and is a contributing factor to the three leading causes of death for teenagers - accidents, homicides and suicides. The proclamation was presented to members of the Brookings Emblem Club #265 because of the group's encouragement to establish an atmosphere that promotes family and individual responsibilities for living drug free. Artwork sends a powerful message

The Del Norte Association for Cultural Awareness presented the work of Julie Smiley and her multimedia exhibit entitled "We Are Worthy" at the Del Norte County Courthouse on Oct. 26.

Standing in front of several artworks that ranged from soft pastel-colored affirmation messages that people could tear and take away with them, to unpredictable and darker watercolors meant to convey acceptance, Smiley explained that each piece of art started with a 20-minute meditation as a way to capture Smiley's work was inspired by her work with domestic violence survivors at Crescent City's Harrington House.

"When you put wet paint on wet paper, it's fascinating to see where the colors go," explained Smiley, while she pointed towards a vibrant and three-dimensional piece of art using different hues of blue. "It's reminiscent of 'Where am I going next?'"

The art piece that invited visitors to take a tug at it - allowing them to leave with a message of affirmation - will morph and change, reflecting a similar metamorphosis of the survivors of domestic violence.

"Mine says 'You are worthy,'" said Stephanie La Torre, the host of the event and executive director of the DNACA.

Other torn strips were more specific, as people read out loud "I am worthy of safety" and "I am worthy of love."

Smiley said that she worked with the theme of "resilience" to create her original works, adding that one of the greatest parts of her personal healing was recognition, and "when I began to tell my story others said 'Yes, I believe it,'" she said.

Smiley's project was funded through a grant from the Fund for Artists' Resilience and was awarded through DNACA, Ink People and Humboldt Area Foundation. Her work is on display through November 18, as part of DNACA's Art in Public Places program, and can be viewed in the lobby of the Del Norte County Courthouse, 450 H Street, Crescent City. The courthouse is open Monday - Friday, from 8 a.m. - 5 p.m. except on holidays.

Carol Diane Saunders

Sanibel, Florida, half of the year, and to Brookings, Oregon, the other half of the year, buying property in both states.

One of Carol's many highlights was receiving Jesus Christ as her Lord and Savior. She was a member of the Gold Beach Foursquare Church and served in the Gospel Outreach ministries.

She enjoyed witnessing of her faith by giving people "Sand Dollars," a shell that relates to the life of Christ.

Carol loved her family, nieces & nephews, beachcombing, and shell collecting. She received awards for the beautiful seashells she gathered on Sanibel Island and was known by locals as "The Shell Lady."

Carol was preceded in death by her parents and husband, Ted Saunders. Donations in her memory may be made to the Gold Beach Foursquare Church, 94201 Moore St., Gold Beach, OR 97444.

Carol Diane Saunders, age 75, of Brookings, Oregon, passed away on October 16, 2021, at Curry Village, a local skilled nursing facility. She was born on March 17, 1946, in Joliet, Illinois, to Bjorn & Violet Larson, and had a loving brother, Brian Larson.

Carol lived a rich and full life, going to the University of Illinois and earning a bachelor's degree. She moved a short distance from home to Chicago. Later she moved to Whittier, California, and then to

Kimberly Kopec Gordon

Kimberly Kopec Gordon, passed away at the age of 31, after battling cancer.

Kimberly spent her early years in Brookings, Oregon, exploring tide pools, swimming, and catching Salamanders in the river.

She attended high school in Reno, Nevada, where she was active in theater and choir. Kimberly was adventurous, loved traveling, had no fear of doing things by herself, and made friends wherever she went. She traveled to Europe twice and took a cross-country train from Reno to New York City. She celebrated her 20th birthday by sky diving.

Kimberly had many dreams for her future and joined the Navy for the education benefits and travel. She sang a solo for Navy Basic Training Graduation. After honorable discharge, she made Colorado home, was a stay-at-home wife and mother, and filled her life with a variety of pets.

Kimberly was more than the roles in her life. She described herself as strong and family and friends describe her as beloved and unforgettable.

Kimberly is survived by husband, Jesse Duane Gordon; children, Max Rodriguez (Diego), Sterling and Charlotte; parents, Flo Helms and Tom Kopec; sister, Stephanie Gunderson (Brian); maternal grandmother, Nettie Reese; and extended family.

Memorial services will be private.

Opinion & Letters

Guest Opinion

Sometimes, the simplest things can help wildlife

BY RICHARD KNIGHT AND HEATHER DANNAHOWER

“Oh, give me a home where the buffalo roam

Where the deer and the antelope play

Where seldom is heard a discouraging word

And the skies are not cloudy all day”

Sad to say, but that wide-open home on the range that Bing Crosby sings about in Brewster Higley’s “Home on the Range,” has been steadily diminishing with every passing decade as the Western landscape has been sliced and diced by roads and barbed-wire fences.

Today, only an extremely savvy deer or antelope (or elk, moose or bighorn sheep) can move freely across private and public lands. Wild ungulates may have co-evolved nicely with carnivores on the top of the food chain, but they are overwhelmed by the “metallic carnivores” that roam highways.

They also have little defense against the snagging attacks of barbs on fences.

What to we do about it? As with every bit of technology we invent, humans can learn to adapt to their downsides. There are ways to make things safer for wildlife.

With that goal, Colorado State University and Fort Collins’s Front Range Community College enlisted some of their students - with financial support from Colorado Parks and Wildlife - to take down gates and make road and fence crossings safer for deer, elk and antelope on the Roberts ranch in Larimer County, Colorado. Zach Thode, ranch manager, championed the efforts on the 17,000-acre Roberts Ranch.

The new gates result in less wildlife mayhem on highways and fewer cases of animals getting snagged on barbed wire, where they die painful deaths.

Eliminating barbed wire gates is remarkably simple: Install posts 4 feet above the ground and 17 inches apart. Walla! Cows, horses and mules are too broad to pass through but ungulates easily slip past. Then take down the gates and count the comings and goings on a trail camera.

An alternative model constructed by Colorado State University and Front Range and Front Range Community College places a log horizontally on vertical supports, 40 inches above the ground. That allows antelope to pass underneath safely while deer and elk can easily jump over. Cows are blocked because they have too much mass to make the jump.

What’s amazing is that the fixes are inexpensive, costing just $100 in materials, and the students and their teachers who do the work come away enriched with the knowledge that they have increased the ability of wild animals to move about safely.

Since this opened with a lyric about freedom, here’s a fitting conclusion, written by Cole Porter:

“Oh, give me land, lots of land under stary skies above,

Don't fence me in.

Let me ride through the wide open country that I love,

Don't fence me in.

Let me be by myself in the evenin' breeze,

And listen to the murmur of the cottonwood trees,

Send me off forever but I ask you please,

Don't fence me in.”

Letters to the Editor

Thank you St. Timothy's

“Appreciation of St. Timothy’s is growing.”

That is the headline I would have expected to read in the Curry Coastal Pilot. Perhaps it didn’t appear because it is the disgruntled people who are more apt to express themselves.

It is ironic that St. Tim’s is being attacked for their wonderful example of putting into action basic Christian values. Jesus’s words “Love thy neighbor as thyself” and “Whatever you did for the least of these my brothers, you did for me.”

Jesus further instructed us to feed the hungry, to give water to the thirsty, clothe the naked, shelter the homeless and to visit the sick.

Actually, many people that I encounter do express appreciation for the good work that is done by Fr. Bernie and the other smiling faces at St. Tim’s. And we are all indebted to them for their COVID testing and vaccination - greatly.

A list of the good work done by St. Tim’s is too long to include in my letter. But it all follows Jesus’s requests of us.

I grew up in a religious family, but I saw too much of following rules rather than expression of love for all people. What made me quit organized religion was disgust with the leaders of the church, the hypocrisy, the sexism and focus on the material. So to see the work being done at St. Tim’s, it is greatly inspiring - a beautiful example of what Jesus asks of us.

To anyone who feels that the work being done at St. Tim’s needs improvement, you are probably right. It would be wonderful if you would pitch in to help create that improvement. It would also make you feel better about St. Tim’s and yourself.

The Brookings/Harbor community thanks you, St. Tim’s. You grace our community.

Re: Steve Johnston’s jingoistic rant & misinformation in the Pilot. The flag I fly and stand for as a veteran is not the one your dear leader Trump liked to hug and grope like the many women he “allegedly” assaulted over the years.

Your specious claim about “Native Americans walk thousands of miles to get into a country illegally,” can’t be about the Native Americans in the U.S., lied to and forced from their lands under the guise of “Manifest Destiny.”

Whereby mostly White Europeans took land by force in the name of their God. I suppose the same God put into the Declaration of Independence in the early 1950s.

I guess that God doesn’t care for Indigenous People or the many broken treaties they had to accept. Regarding the bizarre story about the Virginia rape case by a boy dressed as a girl, assuming the story is true and factual, to cast a very wide net in an attempt to label all Democrats as backing the rapist is ludicrous.

Conversely, the G”Q”P would force the young rape victim to carry out the pregnancy even if it would traumatize her further. My only surprise in Steve’s letter was that he left out Democrats as baby eaters and Jewish space lasers. Maybe next time.

This Colorado rancher has radical ideas about water

BY DAVE MARSTON

If Jim Howell, a fourth-generation rancher in Western Colorado, has a guru, he’s Allan Savory, the champion of intensive cattle grazing even on semi-arid land.

Howell, 52, says Savory’s methods, which require moving cattle quickly from pasture to pasture, enable him to keep adding thousands more animals as the ground recovers. He says the method is so efficient he can even foresee leasing out irrigation water that he doesn’t need.

If all this sounds unbelievable, Howell, who is ranch manager for Eli Feldman in Ridgway, Colorado, understands the skepticism. But he says the ranch speaks for itself.

Western States Ranches is huge, a 213,000-acre spread that’s a mix of 3,000 acres of irrigated bottom land in Delta and Montrose counties, plus 210,000 acres of mostly leased federal rangeland that sprawls from western Colorado to eastern Utah. There’s forested, high elevation range, but half of the ranch is semi-arid. Rainfall can be a scant 10 inches per year.

The herd is also large at 3,300 head, with 1,800 pregnant cows. What makes Savory’s approach effective, Howell says, is speed: In a day or two, cows eat fresh grass and weeds, then move on to new pasture before an enclosed pasture is damaged. Ten cowhands make the process work by moving miles of electric fencing, even though they’re traditionally loath to get off their horses. Feldman found Howell by consulting the Savory Institute, where Howell’s wife, Daniella Ibarra-Howell, is director.

The man and the money behind this enterprise is Eli Feldman, whose Conscience Bay Company is mostly staked by lifelong friends, the Laufer family of Stony Brook, New York.

East Coast money and Western know-how might seem an odd combo, but Howell studies the land with total concentration. He says his rule of thumb is to make a grazing plan and then rip it up as changing conditions dictate.

Howell has made dry, overgrazed range bloom before. Using Savory methods, he boosted the number of cattle on his former family ranch on Blue Mesa in Western Colorado. He went from 150 cows to 450, while also attracting herds of elk.

But if demand management gets going - the controversial plan of leasing water temporarily and voluntarily to fulfill downstream obligations – Feldman and Howell are on board. Feldman asked Trout Unlimited to administer a demand management study on part of his ranch that lies in Eckert, Colorado, where ground is irrigated only until July 1.

Howell derides programs that encourage leasing water for full seasons. “It’s going to be seen as socially untenable for ranchers in the upper basin to be over-irrigating hay fields when downstream users are running out of water.”

Because Feldman is an outsider with a formidable operation, he says he’s been a target since the ranch got going in 2018. Shortly afterward, he recalls, a Delta County commissioner poked him in the chest with a finger, saying, “I’ve got my eye on you.”

Feldman figures he’s been cast as a water speculator. “But when a ranch was auctioned off recently,” he says, “we passed on the irrigated land (with senior water rights) and purchased the herd and grazing permits only.”

For both Feldman and Howell, one of their goals is to restore grass on ground that’s been ranching “old-school.” By that they mean trampled creek beds where cows for generations wallowed away the summers.

Howell says he has all sorts of tricks to get lazy cows moving. Artificial watering holes are scattered across dry range, while gullied creeks are fenced off and left to recover. The payoff is growing grass-fed, certified organic beef, and Howell says it commands a 15-20% premium over cattle grown for the commodity market.

Despite the ranch’s sprawl, it seems a lean operation. Howell manages it halftime from a small tent, which also doubles as his sleeping quarters. His cowhands are equipped with little besides horses, trailers and portable electric fence. Still, Howell has his share of environmental critics. The Center for Biological Diversity charges that grazing any cattle on marginal land leads to degraded water and spurs desertification.

Howell shrugs off the charge. “These native rangelands evolved with hooved animals,” he says. “To say they are not meant to be grazed is total BS. They were meant to be grazed - but as nature intended.”

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING & Summary of Proposed Ordinance

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Directors of the HRC Community Services District (HRC CSD) will hold a public hearing at its regular meeting to consider an ordinance entitled "AN ORDINANCE OF THE HRC COMMUNITY SERVICES DISTRICT REQUIRING THE INSTALLATION OF CERTAIN WATER DISTRIBUTION LINE IMPROVEMENTS OR REIMBURSE THE HRC CSD FOR THE ACTUAL COSTS INCURRED BY THE DISTRICT INSTALLING THE FACILITIES AND FINDING THAT THE ORDINANCE IS EXEMPT FROM CEQA." All interested persons are invited to attend the meeting, including all persons owning property within the HRC CSD's boundaries of the district, to appear and be heard as to: 1) Your opinion about the ordinance generally; 2) The whether the proposed fees and service to reimburse the district's actual costs incurred and any other charges are discriminatory or excessive, or will not be sufficient under Government Code §§ 66016, 54354.5 and Health and Safety Code § 5471 or will not comply with other provisions of California law, or will not comply with any other provisions or covenants of any outstanding revenue bonds of the local agency payable from revenues of the enterprise, or on any other matter relating to said proposed ordinance of the rates or charges proposed therein, at the following time and place:

TIME OF HEARING: 6:00 p.m.

DATE OF HEARING: Tuesday, November 9, 2021

PLACE OF HEARING: DEL NORTE GOLF COURSE CLUB HOUSE 130 CLUB DRIVE

CRESCENT CITY, CALIFORNIA

If a ratepayer desires to challenge the determination of the HRC CSD Board of Directors in court they may be limited to raising only those issues they or someone else raised at the meeting described in this notice, or in written correspondence delivered to the HRC CSD at the meeting or to 149 Club Drive, Crescent City, CA 95531 prior to the close of the public hearing at the meeting. Any legal action contesting this ordinance, if passed, must be filed with the court within the time specified by Government Code § 66022.

Why is this notice being made? California Assembly Bill 2572 was adopted which requires all California residents to have water meters installed on or before January 1, 2025. In 1992 the state required all water customers to be required to hve meters installed for waste and water conservation purposes. A few residences within the district do not have water meters. Since they are required by state law the district is considering an ordinance to allow property owners to install the meters in accordance with the district's specifications or if they do not, by a certain time the district will install the meters and charge or assess the property for the district's costs of installation. It is estimated that installation will cost $1,160 per residence but the cost will vary depending on the time and labor needed to locate each water line.

The ordinance requires: a) its customers to comply with the district's rules and regulations; b) to allow the district access to service the facilities; c) to install or have installed the required water meter; d) imposes the charge of the direct cost of installation and creates a property assessment on the benefited property if the district's invoice is not paid; e) establishes time limitations for the election of whether the property owner or the district will perform the installation; f) finds the ordinance, if adopted exempt from CEQA; and informs its customers how to protest or object to the charge.

The District will take written and oral comments that evening and will receive a final written tabulation of all complying written protests received by a neutral person. If the District receives written protests against the proposed rates by a majority of affected property owners, the District may not impose the charge. If written protests are not submitted by a majority of affected property owners, then the District is authorized to implement the charge for meter installation. Only one protest per parcel will be counted.

The full text of this ordinance as well as information indicating the current amount of cost or estimated cost to provide or the service for which the fee or service charge that would be levied is available for public inspection and copying in accordance with the California Public Records Act at 130 Club Drive, Crescent City, California. No fee or service charge shall exceed the estimated amount required to provide the service for which the fee or charge is levied.

If a ratepayer desires to challenge the determination of the Board of Directors in court they may be limited

Any legal action contesting this resolution, if passed, must be filed with the court within the time specified by Government Code § 66022.

We are attempting to collect a debt and any information we obtain will be used for that purpose. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 800- 683-2468 option 1 or visit this Internet Web site www.servicelinkASAP.com, using the file number assigned to this case 2020- 05156. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call 800-683- 2468 option 1, or visit this internet website www.servicelinkASAP.com, using the file number assigned to this case 2020- 05156 to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. If the Trustee is unable to convey title for any reason, the successful bidder's sole and exclusive remedy shall be the return of monies paid to the Trustee, and the successful bidder shall have no further recourse. Festival of Lights seeking volunteers

The Pilot

The Festival of Lights at Azalea Park is a time-honored tradition, but will only be possible if volunteers are available to help lay out the displays on Saturday, Oct. 30.

Nature's Coastal Holiday - Festival of Lights, started in 1997 and is reliant on community volunteers to set-up, staff the show and take down the displays.

Klaus Gielisch, board president of Nature's Coast Holiday, said that when the event was held in 2019, the lights and displays were set up by board members and a small group of volunteers, but just barely.

The hope is that 80 people will show up by 9 a.m. at the Kid's Town Parking lot, located at 640 Old County Road. The stringing of lights is expected to take about four hours to complete.

"If we can't get 90% of the lights in the bushes that day, the show will need to be smaller in size," said Gielisch.

The group is also looking for volunteers to staff ticket booths and the Snack Shack, once the show opens November 26. Information about hosting, including this year's extra safety measures, can be found at naturescoastalholiday.com, or by emailing naturescoastalholiday-brookings@gmail.com or through the Facebook page - Nature's Coastal Holiday Brookings.

Former Bookings mayor publishes American Tapestry

Combining elements of three genres — U.S. history, family history and memoir — former Brookings Mayor Pat Sherman explores the lives of everyday Americans and the events that shaped their lives. Sherman's new book, In American Tapestry: Portrait of a "Middling" Family, 1746-1934, was recently released. From fierce encounters during the French and Indian War through the advances in medicine during the progressive era, Sherman's American Tapestry tells true stories about how her "middling" family dealt with the challenges that faced the growing nation.

American Tapestry began as a simple family history project about her great grandfather; but it didn't take long for Sherman to discover that members of her family had been involved in nearly every major event in U.S. history. They were not major historical figures, but for 200 years they had served as local community leaders. Her ancestors were farmers, wheelwrights, teachers, engineers, managers and physicians. They marched in wars. They built railroads and canals. They were public servants. They healed the sick. Still, for all the good things her forebears accomplished, they had their shortcomings, and Sherman examines their failings with an objective eye.

At the same time, and this is where Sherman is at her best. She confronts the biased history lessons of her youth. Time and again she delves into the unsavory aspects of American history that were glossed over or ignored altogether: notably, she revisits the history of the devolving relationship between Euro-Americans and Native Americans, with a focus on the Haudenosaunee people; she faces the fact head on that her great grandfather supervised young boys working in deplorable conditions in Pennsylvania's anthracite coal mines; and she shows how xenophobia, religious bigotry and racism have persisted in American society for a long time.

In the end, Sherman hopes that her book will inspire readers of all backgrounds to re-visit our American story with an open mind. Then, having arrived at a more inclusive understanding of our shared history through their own efforts, people may become more accepting of both our differences and our similarities.

What people are saying:
"Her sweeping yet intimate true story, spanning two centuries of ordinary life, is nothing less than extraordinary."—Matthew Dennis, professor of history emeritus, University of Oregon

"Sherman is a competent writer and is passionate about the downtrodden... She is a formidable and patient researcher."—Kirkus Reviews

"...her writing remains vividly pictorial and even poetic throughout."—Blue Ink Review

"Frank, honest and deftly written, American Tapestry offers a new perspective on the American past."—Kevin Kenny, Glucksman professor of Irish history, New York University

Oregon Zoo readies treats for 'Howloween'

Kids can show off their costumes and learn about wildlife in a fun and safe setting, during the Oregon Zoo's annual Howloween festivities, presented by The Oregonian, Oct. 28-31.

A scavenger hunt around the zoo teaches kids about healthy habitats for wildlife.

Activities are free with zoo admission, and treat bags are available for an additional fee of $3 per participant.

All candy is made by companies that have committed to using deforestation-free palm oil.

To help ensure a safe experience for all, the following measures will be in place during this year's Howloween:

* Timed ticketing/limited attendance: All guests — including zoo members — must reserve tickets in advance via the zoo website.

* Reduced contact: Instead of collecting candy and toys throughout the zoo, Howloween participants can purchase pre-filled treat bags that are collected at the end of their scavenger hunt. Please remember to select the treat bag add-ons when you make your reservation.

* Masks/face coverings: Make sure your costumes include masks that cover your nose and mouth. Face masks are required for everyone 5 years and older in indoor spaces, outdoor areas where six feet of distance from other people cannot be maintained and in other areas where posted.

To plan your trip, go to oregonzoo.org/visit.

Open enrollment for 2022 health coverage starting November 1st

Open enrollment – the time to sign up for health insurance for 2022 – has been extended this year. It runs from Nov. 1 to Jan. 15, 2022.

More than 75 percent of Oregonians who enrolled through the Oregon Health Insurance Marketplace for 2021 qualified for financial help, which lowered their monthly premium to as low as $1 per month. The marketplace estimates that thousands of Oregonians throughout the state could see significant savings by enrolling in health coverage through the marketplace for 2022.

Trained health coverage experts are available to help with applying for financial assistance and choosing health plans. This help comes from licensed insurance agents and community groups, and is completely free to you.

You can prepare for open enrollment by going to OregonHealthCare.gov/WindowShop to browse plans and find out how much savings for which you are eligible. This year, the tool has significant enhancements to help consumers, including:

* A new provider and facility search option that allows users to see which plans cover their preferred providers or hospitals.

* A new prescription drug formulary search that helps users see which plans will cover their prescription drugs and the estimated out-of-pocket costs for covered prescriptions.

* A full tool translation into Spanish, which will be available at CuidadoDeSalud.Oregon.gov by Nov. 1.

If you do not get health insurance through your job or a program such as the Oregon Health Plan or Medicare, you may qualify for help paying for 2022 coverage through OregonHealthCare.gov. Even if you are temporarily uninsured or enrolled in COBRA coverage, you can sign up for a new plan by the Jan. 15 deadline to get health insurance for 2022. In order for coverage to begin Jan. 1, you must enroll by Dec. 15.

To start, go to OregonHealthCare.gov before Jan. 15 and answer a few questions to preview plans and savings available to you. You can find help by clicking “Get Help” on the site to find a health insurance expert who can help you complete the application and enroll.

Schwartz to showcase work at Manley Art Center

November Featured Artist at the Manley Art Center will be local artist Destiny Schwartz who attended the Maine College of Art in Portland, Maine, graduating in 2006, with a Bachelor of Fine Arts — major in painting, minor in drawing.

Her show at the will be the last show of the year beginning October 31 and Ending November 24. The monthly Art Walk will be from 3-5 p.m. November 13.

Schwartz has lived in Brookings since 2007, and currently works as the esthetician at the Salon Dolce.

Her work is inspired by nature, color, patterns and light — usually with a focus on small details.

The paintings on display are made using acrylic, gouache, oil paint or mixed media.

She often works from her photographs of the rivers, ocean, plant and animal life around Brookings.

The community is invited to come to the Manley Art Center and enjoy this fabulous display of realism in art.
