Fire training site eyed

Linda Pinkham
Staff Writer

A parcel of land near Brookings Regional Airport is being considered as a prime training area for the Brookings Fire Department.

The Brookings City Council is continuing to work on a plan for the site that already has involved significant groundwork, following a presentation Sept. 16 by Brookings Police Chief Kelby McCrae and Brookings Fire Operations Chief Jim Watson.

At the heart of the proposal is creating a single site where local firefighters can learn and hone their skills. The facility would provide live-fire training opportunities, as well as a place to practice vehicle extraction, water pumping, collapsing structures and wildland firefighting.

McCrae said the training currently takes place at a variety of locations around the city, which “affects the amount of training that can be accomplished in an evening.” Having all of the training components in a single location would make it possible to do more-extensive simulations.

Beyond the training value, a single site could

11,000 LOSE POWER

Staff Report

Electricity was disrupted for an estimated 11,000 Coos-Curry Electric Cooperative customers, from Gold Beach south to the Oregon-California border, from 2:30-6:30 p.m. Tuesday, according to utility spokesman Jacob Knudsen.

“A switch opened up at a Bonneville Power Administration (BPA) substation north of Gold Beach,” Knudsen said. “The switch opened after detecting a ground fault in a transmission line. That could be a broken pole, a tree on a line, or a downed pole.”

Crews from Coos-Curry Co-Op and the BPA were dispatched to locate the outage and repair the break.

Meanwhile, motorists driving through rainswept Brookings were struggling to cope with darkened traffic signals, as intersections jammed.

Knudsen said the utility was able to track the outage to a broken insulator on a BPA transmission line about two miles north of Gold Beach.

“We worked with BPA to transfer the load to an alternative line,” Knudsen said. “Once that was completed, we reenergized the seven substations impacted by the outage and began staggering electricity back to our customers.”

Knudsen said full power was restored to all customers by 6:30 p.m.

The Tuesday outage followed on the heels of a similar incident Sept. 16 in Crescent City that affected 1,400 customers. That outage was caused by a tree limb that fell across a power line.

BROOKINGS QUILTER SHARES NATIONAL PRIZE

Jeremy C. Ruark
Pilot Editor

A resident of Brookings and her partner in North Dakota are the winners of the Janome America Best of Show Award for their quilt, Diamond Effervescence.

Beth Nufer of Brookings and Clem Buzick of Fargo are sharing $20,000 in prize money.

The award came during the American Quilters Society Quilt Week, held Sept. 9-13 in Fall Paducah, Kentucky. The event features nearly 700 quilts on display from around the world, according to spokesperson Alyssa Ragsdale.

“The high point of the show recognizes the artistry of today’s quilters,” she said. “Hundreds of quilters compete for $121,250 in cash awards.”

Ragsdale said that following the judges’ selection of the top seven winners, the public has 24 hours to vote online for their favorite quilt. The next day, the winning quilt is put on display at the event. “So when people walk in, that quilt is the first thing they see at the show,” Ragsdale said.

Neither Nufer nor Buzick attended the event in Kentucky, receiving word of their accomplishment by phone. “We were both taken by surprise,” Nufer said.

Their vision for the quilt had been to create a three-dimensional image using silks and an ombre sateen background fabric, said Nufer. It took some nine months to complete.

Nufer said she searched for a new quilting partner after the Brookings-based woman she had been working with gave up the hobby a few years ago. After trolling major quilting shows, Nufer found Buzick’s quilts on display.

The two arranged their partnership about five years ago. “I do the piecing and she does the quilting,” Nufer said.

The two said there are challenges inherent in their quilting hobby, including trying to create an original piece of art. “This is accomplished with long hours of using graph paper, compasses, rulers and protractors,” Nufer said. “And the reward is that we get to pretend we are artists during the process.”

Nufer said her inspiration came in part from her husband. “He purchased some silk fabric, which allowed me to start and buy a heck of a lot more fabric,” she said.

“I am also very grateful to the people who have either inspired me or helped me along the way, especially Michelle Fallert, who encouraged me to enter international and national quilt shows,” said Nufer.

Her mother, Barbara, also a Brookings quilter, said her daughter became interested in quilting in about 2002. A second daughter, Dianalee, also quilts. “Beth has become a nationally known quilter and we are real proud of,” said her mom.

For more information about quilting, contact the president of the Azalea Quilters Guild in Brookings, Kathy Dedmore, at 541-469-8928.

Near-record ocean warming along Pacific Coast

Jessica Goddard
Staff Writer

Researchers say the Pacific Ocean is seeing the second-largest marine heatwave tracked since the 1980s, touching from the Alaskan coast to Hawaii.

Having developed early in June, the heatwave is 50 to 100 feet thick. It stretches for hundreds of miles along the coast, about two-thirds of the distance of the U.S., said Nate Mantua, a research scientist with the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration’s Southwest Fisheries Science Center.

For that matter, said NOAA, the summer of 2019 was the hottest on record for the Northern Hemisphere. And last month was the second-hottest August worldwide.

Because of the coastal upwelling of deep, cold water, the heatwave has stayed mostly offshore. But along the northern Pacific Coast - including northern California

- its edge reaches within 10 to 20 miles of the coastline.

Its temperature is 5 to 7 degrees Fahrenheit - higher than the usual ocean temperatures.

Scientists haven’t seen a heatwave like this since its predecessor, nicknamed “the blob,” in 2014.

“The warming that we’re seeing is similar to the amount of warming that we saw at the surface during ‘the blob’ years, but the difference is that this heat wave we’re seeing develop right now, it’s still pretty young,” said Stephanie Moore, a research oceanographer with NOAA’s Northwest Fisheries Science Center.

That “blob,” the largest marine heatwave scientists have tracked since the 1980s, lasted for three years and caused havoc in marine ecology. It covered some 7.8 million kilometers.

‘Every Child is an Artist’

Linda Pinkham
Staff Writer

Their work table was littered with shreds of paper, bits of string, beads, paint, sponges and glue. Serious art making was in progress by this group of eight students, ages 6 to 9, who were working on abstract collage self-portraits.

The six-week classes, “Every Child Is an Artist,” offered at Manley Center for the Arts in Brookings are in high demand. All slots in the groups for 6- to 9-year-olds are filled through the end of the year, said the center’s children’s art program coordinator, Sharon Guy. Limited spaces remain for ages 10 to 12.

The sessions cost $30 and include all materials and supplies. Classes are limited to eight students.

Volunteers from the Pelican Bay Arts Association began teaching the classes in February 2019, identifying a community need. The group believes teaching art is critically important.

“In recent years, school curricula in the United States have shifted heavily toward common-core subjects of reading and math, at the cost of the arts,” reads the group’s website.

“Brookings School District is no exception. The developmental benefits of an art education are: motor skills, language development, decision making, visual learning, inventiveness, cultural awareness. Sound statistics show the arts help improve academic performances.”

According to Guy, art activities indeed are limited in the local schools.

“I’m doing this because, honestly, we don’t have this offered in schools,” instructor Glencora Powers said. “I don’t get paid to do this. I write my own curriculum and buy my own supplies, doing this in between working and schooling.

“There’s a huge need in our community for this. It’s not being met by the schools. They are working with what they’ve got. There are no camps this year. All the funding has been gutted.”

Powers said the class is designed to explore different kinds of art - abstract, modernism, cubism, realism - and to integrate environmental and social issues and their own consciousness.

“They are exploring undercurrents that they aren’t even fully aware of, like these river systems that we are blessed with here, and bringing their awareness of it and integrating it through art,” Powers said.

Student reactions varied for the day’s project.

“I usually draw and do anatomy,” one student said. “I’m not into this kind of art as much,” although she agreed it was good to try different things.

“It’s fun,” another student said. “You just get to be creative. Most of the time, this is where I get to do art, but sometimes I draw at home.”

The program teaches art techniques and vocabulary, focusing on the seven art elements of line, shape, form, space, texture, value and color, according to a flyer advertising the classes. Students are encouraged to view and discuss art, which expands their ability to articulate thoughts and ideas.

After the art project for this day’s session was completed, the children were attentive as they took a tour of the gallery exhibit, “Forgeries for Sale,” with Guy. They compared the originals with “forgeries” created by gallery artists, and were excited as they discussed the display’s various styles, ranging from cubism to realism to western art.

“All of our teachers are volunteers, and the program has been funded by individual members of the Pelican Bay Arts Association,” Guy said.

The art center also offers adult classes. Membership in the arts association provides access to workshops and exhibition opportunities.

The group is looking for more teachers so additional classes can be offered to meet the demand. “If anyone is interested in participating as a teacher next year, they can contact me or call the Manley Art Center and leave a message” Guy said.

“Our next organizational meeting will be at 2 p.m. Oct. 9 at the Manley Gallery. This meeting will include scheduling the art sessions for next year.”

Rivers and beaches need a good cleaning

Staff Report

Time to talk trash. Maybe up to 4,000 pounds of it, if the Gold Beach and Brookings spring cleanup events are any indication.

Now that it's fall, it's time again for a beach and river-side cleanup.

In Brookings the south-coast event runs from 10 a.m.-1 p.m. Saturday. In Gold Beach, the event starts at 9 a.m. and continues until 1 p.m.

Volunteers can pre-register online to help clean in either the Brookings or Gold Beach areas, or report to the event locations on the day of the event.

The activity is family- and dog-friendly, although organizers ask that pets be kept leashed.

The project is part of the International Coastal Cleanup, an annual world-wide effort to keep beaches and waterways clean and healthy. On the Oregon coast, volunteers pick up litter and marine debris along the entire coastline.

"Don't forget about the small stuff! The No. 1 items found on Oregon beaches are tiny bits of plastic and cigarette butts, which are harmful to shore birds and marine life. Bring an old colander to sift the sand for these items," according to SOLVE, a statewide, Portland-based environmental group.

"The goal is to not have any trash, but there's always some," said Oregon State Parks Department interpretive ranger Jeff Gallemore. "We want to do the cleanup now, before the winter weather comes in and the tides move it out to sea."

"If we gather it all now after the summer's use, we keep it out of streams and the ocean."

"This year, event organizers are trying something different that will make the event a little more sustainable," Gallemore said. "They are asking volunteers to bring their own reusable bags, gloves, and buckets to use for the cleanup, instead of organizers providing new bags and gloves to participants."

Gallemore advised participants to wear sturdy shoes and dress appropriately for the weather. "In addition, bring your own reusable water bottle," he said.

"The idea is to reduce the amount of plastic waste produced by the event itself."

Hauling, disposal and recycling services are being donated by Curry Transfer and Recycling.

Brookings

Volunteers can come to the Brookings Rest Area across U.S. Highway 101 from Harris Beach State Park and Visitor Center. Gallemore is heading up the Brookings-area event. "Look for signs directing you to the registration area," he said.

After checking in, volunteers will fan out to clean beaches at Crissey Field, McVay Rock, South Jetty, Mill Beach, Harris Beach and Whales Head Picnic Area. Brookings-area volunteers also can opt to clean along the Chetco River.

"Last spring, volunteers in the Brookings area brought in more than 500 pounds of trash," Gallemore said.

Gold Beach

Event registration is at the Gold Beach Visitor Center, at the south end of town on Shirley Lane, off of U.S. Highway 101.

The Gold Beach cleanup covers from Pistol River to Bailey Beach. Participants also can opt to clean their favorite stretch of the Rogue River.

"Last spring, the cleanup group in Gold Beach broke all records, with 133 adults and 34 youth cleaning 20 miles of beach," Gold Beach Visitor Center Director Debbie Branson said.

"They brought in 3,300 pounds of trash. It was amazing. We had a bunch of tires, which really added up."

Participants in the Gold Beach cleanup will receive a coupon for two free tacos from the South Yo Mouth food truck at 29900 Harbor Way.

Brookings may have a street named Railroad Avenue, yet little evidence remains of any railroad enterprise on the scale of the Chetco River railroad bridge, which once connected Harbor to Brookings.

The railroad bridge was erected not long after Brookings Timber and Land Company merged in 1915 with a California firm that owned a large block of redwood timber, according to the book “Chetco: The Story of a River and Its People” by Mike Adams. The new firm was called the California and Oregon (C&O) Lumber Company.

The mill in Brookings already had an extensive rail system in place for moving logs from the north bank of the Chetco River to the mill pond about where the Fred Meyer store is today, at U.S. Highway 101 and Fifth Street.

Lumber left the mill via railcar headed for a piling and timber wharf that extended 1,200 feet into Chetco Cove. There, it was loaded onto ships and taken by sea to Oakland and southern California.

Without any major roads in 1916, the only way to travel and ship goods to and from Brookings was by ship.

So a bridge over the Chetco River was completed in 1916, along with a rail line south to Smith River Rowdy Creek. The Chetco River bridge was built without power tools. All work done by hand, according to Adams’s book.

The railway and bridge were built to allow the shipment of redwood logs from California to the mill site in Brookings. Unfortunately, sales of redwood products did not take off as anticipated, leaving the mill yard with unsold surplus lumber.

Under financial stress, the mill shut down on June 18, 1925.

In 1928, a fire destroyed much of the bridge, rendering it useless. A cement structure on the north bank of the Chetco River at its mouth is rumored to be a remnant of the bridge’s foundation.

In 1936, the remainder of the railroad was taken apart and the rails shipped to Japan as scrap metal. The remaining railroad tracks in this area were dismantled during World War II to aid the war effort.

Prowl, Growl and Golf tourney benefits police dog program

Linda Pinkham and Jeremy C. Ruark

Pilot Staff

Do dogs like golf? If you love police dogs or happen to be a K-9 at the Brookings Police Department, then the upcoming Prowl & Growl golf tournament at 10 a.m. on Saturday, Sept. 21 is your game. The tournament is being held at the Salmon Run Golf Course, located at 99040 South Bank Chetco River Rd., 3.2 miles upriver from Highway 101. While the Brookings Police Department has had police canines for more than 20 years, the Prowl & Growl tournament originated about 15 years ago as a fundraiser to generate monies to support the program. “The City of Brookings does not budget for the K-9 Unit, according to Officer Zane Van Zelf, K-9 Unit Coordinator. “It is completely funded by this event and violent or dangerous fugitives, making the apprehension safer for the police officers, as well as the suspects. When police officers are manually searching for a potentially dangerous fugitive and suddenly come face to face with suspect, those encounters can potentially become extremely volatile, causing officers to resort to higher levels of force. A police canine has the ability to detect the presence of the suspect long before the officers can and provide a less lethal force option for apprehending the suspect. Recently the Brookings Police K-9, Hulk, and his handler Van Zelf helped find a lost 6-year-old child who had wandered away from a campground, as reported on The Pilot’s website on Aug. 17. The boy had been missing for more than an hour, when Hulk tracked the child to a brushy area, where the scent was lost, but Van Zelf heard a generous donations from community members. “All of the proceeds and donations we receive are used to purchase our canines, as well as all the necessary equipment and training that is ongoing throughout the canine’s career,” he said. The tournament’s entry fee is $75 per person and includes one round of golf, cart, tee prizes and awards lunch. In addition to playing golf, the community can support the K-9 Unit by making financial donations and donating raffle prizes. “Get a hole in one and win a new car!” according to the flyer. Additional prizes will be awarded for Closest to Pin, Casino Hole, Accuracy Drive, Longest Drive, and first an second place teams. “The K-9 Unit is an essential part of any effective police agency,” he said. “Police canines have senses that are far beyond that of any human police officer. They can be used to locate and apprehend child cry out from somewhere in the area. Search and rescue found the child in the brushy woodland and returned him to his father. Some police canines are trained exclusively in narcotics detection. These canines are used to assist police officers in identifying the presence of specific illegal narcotics. Narcotics canines are an essential part of fighting the illegal drug epidemic that is devastating to the community, according to Van Zelf. “We are in the process of selecting and purchasing a new canine that will be trained in narcotics detection,” he said. The new canine will be partnered with Officer Jason Barrigar. Barrigar will then attend training with his new canine partner, and they will become certified in narcotics detection. “Being a K-9 handler is an extremely rewarding assignment,” he said. “We get to be an active part of rapidly evolving cases that are very beneficial to our community. I started my career nearly 14 years ago and I’ve had a lot of experiences during that time, but I’ve never had more fun than I’ve had as a K-9 handler, and I’ve never had a more reliable partner than my K-9.” For more information or to make a donation, contact Officer Zane Van Zelf at the Brookings Police Department at 541-469-3118 or zvan-zelf@brookings.or.us.

Obituaries

Caroline Huggins Aug. 3, 1943 - Sept. 9, 2019

Cowgirl, ranch hand, dog groomer, farmhand, house cleaner and millworker. These are some of the jobs that made up Caroline’s work life. Born Aug. 3, 1943 in San Mateo, California to Carl & Alice Krohn. Caroline was very proud of her involvement with the Girl Scouts, telling stories late into her life of her adventures. Caroline graduated from Hillsdale High in 1961 and went on to study art at the College of San Mateo. Caroline married Jack Zigray in 1964 and gave birth to Jani Marie Zigray in 1965. Following her divorce, she moved to Tahoe City, California where she met Donald Huggins. After an exploratory adventure into the Pacific Northwest, searching as far north as Port Angeles, Washington the couple spent two weeks camping on the Winchuck River and realized they had found the place they wanted to raise their family.

Picking up stakes and moving to Brookings, Caroline and Donald were married on Sept. 1, 1972. The birth of Heather Huggins followed and the couple reaffirmed their decision to raise their girls in this beautiful setting. Caroline was preceded in death by her parents, Carl & Alice, her brothers Skip and Stephen and her sister Linda. She is survived by her husband of 47 years Donald, daughters Jani Zigray Cochran of Wimer, Oregon, Heather Huggins of Monrovia, California and step-son Jesse Huggins of Sparks, Nevada, her grandchildren Rowan and Iris, Kristine, Eric and Rece. That’s the boiler plate. What we will remember most is the horsewoman, 15 years 4-H Leader, and 4-H mom who always made sure her girls had whatever they needed to succeed. The animal lover, nature lover, a music lover, and concert-goer. We will remember her passion for traveling in Central America. Caroline and Donald made numerous trips to Costa Rica and Belize before she was diagnosed with Multiple Myeloma in 2011. It was a long, difficult but courageous fight and it came to an end on Sept. 9, 2019 with Donald, Jani and Heather holding and loving her. We will always love you. We will miss you forever. A Celebration of Life will be announced at a later date.

Al (Tinker) King

Al (Tinker) King and his wife Betty spent 20 happy summers in Gold Beach. They loved the town, the people and of course the fishing. Their four children (Al, Joni, Karen, & Patrick) would like to thank Jim at the Outdoor Store, all the friendly clerks at McKay’s, the managers and residents that made Angler’s RV Park a friendly place to stay, and all the river guides that gave them advice about tackle and “encouragement” on how to navigate the river during the busy August season! Al loved every minute of every day spent in Gold Beach and considered each of you a friend. Al passed away on Sept. 1 at home, with his bride of 66 years holding his hand, and surrounded by his kids. He was an optimistic adventurer all his life, and fishing in Gold Beach was his last and favorite adventure.

covers about 6.5 million kilometers and is only about 50 meters deep, said Moore. "As 'the blob' continued, because it did last for so long, we saw warming get down to about 200 meters," Moore said. "But (the current heatwave) is still covering a very extensive area in the Pacific Ocean." The cause of the heatwave is attributed to a ridge of high pressure that weakened the wind patterns above the Pacific Ocean.

Studied

"improve recruiting and retention, and standardize fire-fighting efforts with partners. The volunteer firefighters will have real hands-on opportunities to train, which will build competence and confidence," said McCrae. He compared the value of real-life training to simulations, akin to learning to use a firearm without actually training with a gun. "There's the motto 'train as you fight,'" McCrae said. "If you are going to be fighting a fire, you need to train on an actual fire, something that's going to act similar to what you would be called to deal with in a real-life situation. "The fire department has nothing like that. Burn-to-learn opportunities are rare because of safety considerations."

Weak winds reduce the ocean mixing, which normally releases heat from the ocean surface and allows the ocean to mix with cooler waters. Although early in the heatwave's existence, scientists are seeing some effects already, said Moore. Researchers have found tuna much closer to shore, smaller-sized krill, and isolated, harmful algal blooms. A poor salmon season along the Washington, Oregon and northern California coasts this year also might have been attributable somewhat to the warming ocean temperatures. The very edge of the warm water is reaching near the shore and affecting marine life, changing their distributions, Mantua said. Researchers have no way of knowing if the heatwave will continue, worsen or dissipate. Some elements of the previous heatwave are not present now, for example. But it's going to depend on what happens with the weather patterns that favor these events, said Mantua. "Odds are pretty good that the weather patterns are going to change," he said. On the other hand, "I could be wrong, though. We could see another set of weird things happen."

be used for live-fire training with Class A fuels (ordinary combustible materials like cloth, wood and paper) as well as propane. The containers also could be used to simulate searching for victims in smoke-filled structures. A 20- by 20-foot training tower, with concrete foundation, "would allow firefighters to train with ladders and learn how to pull a firefighter through a window," Watson said. "It's basically a two-story stairwell." The property next to the airport came to the City of Brookings with the land for the airport, originally given to Curry County by South Coast Lumber Co. The firefighters' association would purchase equipment for the training site. The current proposal does not affect the city's budget, said officials, because all of the costs would be within the public safety department's budget.

 Only original Curry Coastal Pilot entry forms will be accepted ***

Here's How It Works

On this page you will find advertisements of sports-minded Brookings-Harbor merchants, each with a numbered scheduled game. Clip the entry blank. Write down the advertiser's name after the number in the ad, and who you predict will win the game. All entrees must be submitted using this original form. No other forms will be accepted. Contestants submitting more than one entry in any one week will be disqualified. Weekly winners will be announced the following Wednesday in the Curry Coastal Pilot. In the event of a tie, the closest guess at the scores of the Games of the Week will be used to break the tie. Anyone can enter, except employees and families of the Curry Coastal Pilot, and all decisions are final. Entry must be submitted at 1 of the 2 weekly Featured Advertisers listed above, or mailed to the Curry Coastal Pilot, P.O. Box 700, Brookings, OR 97415. All entries must be submitted or postmarked by 4 p.m. Friday, Sept. 20.

Bruins host Rogue River Friday, looking to go 3-0

Randy Robbins
For The Pilot

The Brookings-Harbor Bruin football team is on a roll.

Granted, it's early yet. There are plenty of games with tough opponents laying ahead for the Blue and Gold. But for now ...

Two games, two convincing wins: 54-6 over Gold Beach, and last Friday's 28-14 victory at Bandon.

A closer look reveals a depth at skill positions that has returned from last year. Perhaps most importantly, a team - and apparently a community - that has bought into second-year coach Shaun Bavaro's program.

It hasn't always been this way.

Brookings historically suffered through turnovers at the head-coaching spot.

That, in turn, created an atmosphere in which building any kind of momentum was a challenge.

For years, Brookings football fans enviously watched as the Gold Beach Panthers repeatedly captured league crowns and made five trips to the state championship. Why can't we?

It's truly too early, after just a couple of games, to say where this season may go. There are the same heavyweight contenders in Cascade Christian, Hidden Valley and St. Mary's to deal with. But for now, the feeling around town is upbeat. Bruin fever is starting to spread.

This Friday, Brookings looks to extend its win streak by hosting another 2A team, the Rogue River Chieftains, out of the Rogue Valley.

Bavaro has looked over that team and sizes it up this way:

"They operate out of a similar wing-T, or pistol, offense that we saw at Bandon. They use motion a lot to gain man advantages on the outside. Their quarterback is very good, they have great size up front and solid running backs. "On defense," said Bavaro, "they like four down men, with man coverage on the back end. Their linebackers fly to the ball very well, so they're hard to run against. We may need to look to the air more in this game."

Rogue River comes into Brookings 1-1 on the season, with a 24-8 win over Lakeview and a close loss to Culver, 16-19.

Last week, the Bruins got into penalty trouble, although that's not uncommon at this early point in the season.

Here's Bavaro's take on that:

"We continue to teach and develop our kids. It doesn't always show, but we are making small strides in that area - of course, never as fast as we coaches would like," he chuckles.

As for what most impresses him about this team: "To fix some things at halftime, like we did at Bandon, and then come out and play well, shows us that our kids are relentless."

"If we continue to have that (mindset), we will have a chance to win in any game we play."

Female 'sirens' to be on stage in Gold Beach, hosted by chamber Hang on for a music event that will rock your boat, according to the Gold Beach Chamber of Commerce, which is hosting The Sirens of the South Coast from 3-8 p.m. Saturday at the Curry County Fairgrounds.

Organizers said the event will showcase local female singers and musicians on the outdoor stage at the fairgrounds, 29292 Ellensburg Ave. in Gold Beach.

The performers will include Stephanie La Torre, the first-place winner at this year's Battle of the Bands at the Curry County Fair, where she gave a tribute performance to country singer Patsy Cline.

Jessica Carlson, a surgeon at Curry

Medical Practice in Gold Beach, will "perform with enthusiasm that is infectious," with songs from musicals.

The duo from Heektic Week features Jennifer Weeks singing the blues. Hailing from Coquille, the pair recently performed at the Brew and Art Fest.

Julie Divens brings her opera training to songs accompanied by a ukulele and acoustic guitar.

Yanna and Lacey will perform as some of the newest voices to musical performing.

In addition, guests will be able to view the Mermaid Market for crafts and foods.

The event supports the Gold Beach Chamber of Commerce.

Tickets are $10 in advance, $5 for children. Children ages 5 and younger enter free. Tickets at the door are $15. You can receive $5 off with a donation to the Oasis Shelter wish list, or a food donation to the Food Bank.

Tickets are available at Gold Beach Books and Interior Cover-ups in Gold Beach, and Wrights Custom Framing in Brookings.

Doors open at 3 p.m., music starts at 4:00. Attendees are welcome to bring lawnchairs.

Notice of Petition to Administer Estate of Howard Eaudell Ford
Case number: CVPB2019-7063

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of Laurie Dee Kinney.

A Petition for Probate has been filed by: Laurie Dee Kinney in the Superior Court of California, County of: Del Norte

The Petition for Probate, requests that: Laurie Dee Kinney be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent. The petition requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court. The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions with out obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A hearing on the petition will be held in this court as follows: Date: 09/27/19 Time: 10:00 a.m. Dept.: 2 Address of court: 450 H St., Crescent City, CA 95531
If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.
If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Beginning at a point described as being 568.52 feet North and 342.48 feet West of the East Quarter corner of Section Thirty-two (32) in Township Forty (40) South, Range Thirteen (13) West, Willamette Meridian; thence South 66° 36' 15" West, a distance of 95.0 feet;
thence along a curve to the left, the long chord of which bears North 18° 30' West 142.6 feet;
thence North 42° 53' West 56.2 feet;
thence North 47° 27' East 195.7 feet;

TOGETHER WITH that certain easement for access purposes including the terms and provisions therein, as set forth in Instrument recorded in Volume 33 pages; 711-712, Curry County Book of Records.

ALSO TOGETHER WITH an easement for water system construction and maintenance, appurtenant to the herein described property, appears to have been created or transferred by instrument recorded July 18, 2000, as Instrument no. 2000-3166, Official Records of Curry County, Oregon.

ALSO TOGETHER WITH an easement for ingress, egress and utilities, over and across an existing roadway as set forth in Instrument recorded July 24, 2000 as instrument #2000-3250, Official Records of Curry County, Oregon.

Both the beneficiary and the trustee have elected to sell the real property to satisfy the obligations secured by the trust deed and a notice of default has been recorded pursuant to Oregon Revised Statutes 86.752 (3); the default for which the foreclosure is made is grantor's failure to pay when due the following sums:

By reason of the default just described, the beneficiary has declared all sums owing on the obligation secured by the trust deed immediately due and payable, those sums being the following, to-wit:

Outstanding balance as of May 31, 2019	$96,744.22
Delinquent property taxes paid by the beneficiary	2,934.12

TOTAL $99,678.34

WHEREFORE, notice is hereby given that the undersigned trustee will on October 16, 2019, at the hour of ten o'clock, a.m., in accord with the standard of time established by ORS 187.110, at the Curry County Courthouse, 29821 Ellensburg Avenue, in the City of Gold Beach, County of Curry, State of Oregon, sell at public auction to the highest bidder for cash the interest in the real property described above which the grantor had or had power to convey at the time of the execution by grantor of the trust deed together with any interest which the grantor or grantor's successors in interest acquired after the execution of the trust deed, to satisfy the foregoing obligations thereby secured and the costs and expenses of the sale, including a reasonable charge by the trustee. Notice is further given that any person named in ORS 86.778 has the right, at any time prior to five days before that date last set for the sale, to have this foreclosure proceeding dismissed and the trust deed reinstated by payment to the beneficiary of the entire amount then due (other than such portion of the principal as would not then be due had no default occurred) and by curing any other default complained of herein that is capable of being cured by tendering the performance required under the obligation or trust deed, and in addition to paying those sums or tendering the performance necessary to cure the default, by paying all cost and expenses actually incurred in enforcing the obligation and trust deed, together with trustee and attorney fees not exceeding the amounts provided by ORS 86.778.

Without limiting the trustee's disclaimer of representation or warranties, Oregon law requires the trustee to state in this notice that some residential property sold at a trustee's sale may have been used in manufacturing methamphetamines, the chemical components of which are known to be toxic. Prospective purchasers of residential property should be aware of this potential danger before deciding to place a bid for this property at the trustee's sale.

In construing this notice, the singular includes the plural, the word "grantor" includes any successor in interest to the grantor as well as any other person owing an obligation, the performance of which is secured by the trust deed, and the words "trustee" and "beneficiary" include their respective successors in interest, if any.

DATED: August 19, 2019.

Notice Of Petition To Administer Estate
Don Borges
CVPB2019-7070

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of Don Borges

A petition for probate has been filed by Joel Borges, in the Superior Court of California, County of Del Norte. The petition for probate requests that Joel Borges be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

The petition requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This Authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) the independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A hearing on the petition will be held in this court as follows:
October 04, 2019 Time: 10:00am Court: 450 H Street Dept 2, Crescent City, CA. 95531.

If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in probate code section 9100. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

DEL NORTE COUNTY
BOARD OF SUPERVISORS
SUMMARY OF PROPOSED ORDINANCE 2019-017

AN ORDINANCE REPEALING CHAPTER 12 OF TITLE 5 OF THE DEL NORTE COUNTY CODE RELATING TO THE REGULATION OF AMBULANCE SERVICES

At the regularly scheduled meeting of the Del Norte County Board of Supervisors on Tuesday, September 24, 2019, the Board of Supervisors will vote on an ordinance to repeal Chapter 12 of Title 5 of the County Code, dealing with the permitting of ambulances.

Under state law, emergency medical services ("EMS") are coordinated by a local EMS agency. Del Norte County has delegated this function to the North Coast Emergency Medical Services Agency. Chapter 12 of Title 5 of the County Code, which provides a permitting process for ambulances, is inconsistent with this delegation to the North Coast EMS. Therefore, the proposed ordinance repeals that permitting process.

A full copy of the ordinance is available for review in the Board of Supervisors office at 981 H Street, Suite 200, Crescent City, CA during normal business hours.

Dated: September 13, 2019
