

Tribes and Brookings City Council oppose wind energy

By NATE SCHWARTZ
Country Media, Inc.

The Brookings City Council passed a motion to act in opposition to the announcement from the Bureau of Offshore Energy Management (BOEM) over an accelerated lease schedule for the installation of offshore wind energy.

Two leases off the coast of Southern Oregon have been designated by BOEM as future Wind Energy Areas (WEAs). This includes a lease for a Brookings WEA that encompasses 133,808 acres roughly 18 miles from shore. The other WEA is 32 miles offshore of Coos Bay, for an area of about 51,204 acres.

In a release from the Department of the Interior announcing the leasing schedule, BOEM Director Elizabeth Klien outlined why the announcement of a lease plan is significant.

“Routinely issuing a leasing schedule demonstrates our commitment to a long-term portfolio of leases and provides advance notice to stakeholders of the areas that are being considered for future lease sales, and facilitates planning by Tribes, states, localities, interest groups, academia, non-profits, fisheries, federal agencies, and other stakeholders,” said Klien.

Those stakeholders, however, are pushing back. BOEM has maintained that they developed these plans through ‘extensive engagement’ with the State, local government and residents, and the local Tribes. However, the Tribes and Brookings’ City Council pushed back on this point, saying that while they may have been initially engaged about the topic, their feedback was generally ignored.

In a press release from the Confederated Tribes of Coos, Lower Umpqua, and Siuslaw Indians (CTCLUSI), BOEM’s development plans are opposed by the Tribes over concerns for environmental and economic impacts, and what they see as BOEM’s blatant disregard for their concerns.

“BOEM had the courtesy to communicate its decision to the State well ahead of its public release and waited until the eleventh hour to send the Tribe an email about its decision. This illustrates well the failure of BOEM to meet its obligations to consult with the Tribe and to meaningfully consider its concerns. We would have at least expected a phone call from BOEM,” stated Tribal Council Chair Brad Kneaper.

Kneaper cites this lack of communication as a clear indicator of BOEM falling short of their obligations. Apparently, the Tribes heard about the decision for the WEA thanks to courtesy from the Oregon

Sawdust Theatre melodrama cast working hard for opening night

For the Pilot

COQUILLE — The cast of the summer melodrama and the singers/dancers who perform in the olios between acts are working at a heady pace to prepare for the opening of this year’s play at the Sawdust Theatre, 120 N. Adams St.

“We’ve just started incorporating some special-effect elements into the play rehearsals that I think the audience is really going to enjoy,” said Stacey Lynn Bell, who is directing the 2024 “crimedy,” titled “My, What a Circus” or “Keep Your Big Hands Off My Bigfoot!”

The performance combines an attempted kidnapping, a real “kidnapping,” loads of laughs and a few surprises.

“The play is full of gags and laughs that guests of all ages will appreciate,” Bell said, adding, “with his name right in the title, it’s safe to assume that our elusive, big-footed friend might make a guest appearance on stage.”

Each year the play is double-cast so the actors and actresses take turns performing throughout the summer schedule. The play debuts at 7 p.m. Friday, May 31, at a Sawdust Theatre Champagne Benefit sponsored by the Rotary Club of Coquille. Tickets are $25 and are available from Rotarians or at River Cities Realty, 135 Second St., Coquille.

Performances are scheduled at 7 p.m. every Saturday until Labor Day with some Friday evening and Sunday afternoon matinees sprinkled in here and there. A full schedule is available at <https://www.sawdusttheatre.com/wpsite/performance-schedule/>.

The melodrama, written by Lynn Kindred and Marty Brennan, first was performed on the Sawdust Theatre stage about Tap dancers also are a part of the between-scene olio performers at the Sawdust Theatre each summer weekend from Memorial Day to Labor Day in Coquille.

Curry County seeking applicants for Fair Board

The Curry County Fair Board is seeking applicants for three open positions ahead of the coming fair season. The Fair Board is an excellent place for those interested in getting involved in public service or local government to get started.

The opening are for the three following seats on the board:

- Position #2 – Term runs until December 31, 2026
- Position #3 – Term runs until December 31, 2024
- Position #7 - Term runs until December 31, 2025

Responsible for the County’s various fairgrounds and fair properties, the Fair Board handles all business and financial affairs for these local assets. This is in addition to conducting the majority of planning for the Curry County Fair at the Event Center on the Beach.

Those who are interested can pick up a physical application at the Board of Commissioners Office, 94235 Moore Street, Gold Beach. Online applications are available on the Curry County website at: https://www.co.curry.or.us/government/board_of_commissioners/committees_councils_and_advisory_boards.php

Applications will be accepted until all positions are filled. Fill-out an application today for your chance to get involved with the party side of local government!

Visit to Southern border highlights disastrous impacts of Democrat border policies

Last week, a group of Oregon Republican state lawmakers and candidates visited the U.S.-Mexico border in Yuma, Arizona, including Southern Oregon Representatives Christine Goodwin (R-Canyonville), Virgil Osborne (R-Roseburg), Court Boice (R-Gold Beach), Boomer Wright (R-Reedsport), and Senator David Brock Smith (R-Port Orford) to learn more about the impacts of Biden’s border crisis.

“I can confidently speak for the group when I say it was surreal to see the crisis at the southern border up-close. Since Biden took office, an estimated 15 million migrants from 115 different countries have crossed the border illegally. Many of these men, women, and children are indentured to the cartels. Approximately 50% of all fentanyl in the United States comes across the border in Arizona. We cannot afford to sit on the sidelines and do nothing as this crisis gets worse,” said Representative Christine Goodwin.

“We have the technology to secure the border and deter the flow of illegal immigration and drugs into our communities... We cannot accept losing one more son or daughter. Oregonians are ready for drug free, safe communities,” said Senator David Brock Smith.

“Instead of using every tool available, the Biden Administration has actively chosen to make this crisis worse by removing and limiting new technologies. It is incumbent upon the Oregon Legislature to take action where we can. This fact-finding trip has been invaluable in

Don't complain, volunteer instead

The Pilot's "Letters to the Editor" indicate that most Pilot Contributors are uninformed or misinformed about the persons filling the District Board of Director positions in the Brookings area. These elected Board of Director positions are filled by unpaid volunteers from that District for a term of four years. These volunteers make decisions for our districts that are not always in agreement with the public's wishes. Being human, they can also make unwise personal decisions. Remember, these are elected volunteers. If you don't like what they are doing, quit complaining and volunteer for their District Board of Director position. You have many local districts to volunteer for: Harbor Sanitary, Harbor Water, Port of Brookings Harbor and the Fire Districts of Harbor, Cape Ferrelo, and the Winchuck. Elections are in the near future so volunteer and be an answer to your problem and not just a complainer!

Reelect John Ward Curry Co Sheriff

Curry County Sheriff's Department does more with less than any other agency I am acquainted with. It is all due to the leadership of Sheriff John Ward. Sheriff Ward needs to be re-elected for the good of the people.

I have had a career of almost 40 years as a first responder; retiring as a patrol supervisor from a California Sheriff's department and as a lieutenant from the same county's fire service. As a member of several task forces over the years I have worked with many state and federal agencies as well as local police departments. I have and have been impressed with the professionalism of the Curry County Sheriff's Department and especially the Search and Rescue unit under the leadership of John Ward. They are the best small agency I have ever come across. Retired lawmen always watch.

A county sheriff has enormous powers as well as responsibilities. He is responsible for public safety, inmate custody, court security, probation, civil servings, juvenile custody, budgets, management of major crime scenes, and most of all: the authority at major disasters. A county sheriff needs the voice of experience and personal reach to key members of local, state, and federal agencies to have any form of successful completion of the event. Being a candidate for the office without experience is not in the best interest of the people of Curry County.

No room in Republican Party for RINOs

There is good cause for why the Republican Party is beginning to be known as being part of the uni-party because they keep electing RINO's like Mike Johnson, Mitch McConnell, Mitt Romney, Lindsey Graham, and David Brock Smith (DBS) who vote with democrats!

Rino's who say one thing in their districts while running for election, then say and do something else after they get elected.

DBS says he's against offshore windmills now, but he pushed through the legislature his bill HB 3375.

Here's HB 3375;
<https://legiscan.com/OR/text/HB3375/2021>

Here's what DBS said at the capitol about HB 3375;

I can't tell you how enthusiastic I am about the possibility of moving forward, not only with this offshore wind opportunities and the investments that are coming from the federal governments under the Biden administration,

<https://wholecommunity.news/2021/05/02/legislators-offshore-wind-energy-could-power-half-of-all-oregon-homes-by-2030/>

Here's what The Other Oregon, the Voice of Rural Oregon said in 2022 about HB 3375;

Brock Smith crossed party lines to align with the Biden administration's clean energy initiative to lessen the country's reliance on fossil fuels, catalyze offshore wind energy and create well-paying union jobs. Brock Smith believes Southern Oregon will soon become "the Saudi Arabia of Wind" because the region's wind speed is the most consistent and strong in the nation.

Read HB 3375 and that should be enough to convince anyone that DBS supports offshore windmills.

Here's another one for you; DBS even voted in committee to amend HB 3294 that then put tampons in little boy's restrooms;

Gasquet Ranger District announces road closure

Closure will remain in effect until June 15, 2024

To provide for public safety and resource protection, several roads on the Gasquet Ranger District are temporarily closed to motor vehicle traffic until June 15, 2024. Non-motorized use is allowed.

To view the current closure order including a list and map of closed roads, visit <https://www.fs.usda.gov/detail/srnf/notices/?cid=FSEPRD1096395>. This closure order replaces the previous closure order, No.

The road closure is necessary for public safety and to prevent further damage to roads and natural resources impacted by the Smith River Wildfire Complex. The closure will protect the road infrastructure as some bridges were destroyed by the wildfire and roads have slumped and sank from winter rains creating dangerous driving conditions with some areas impassable for motor vehicles. The closure will protect the roads and natural resources from further damage until restoration crews can complete road repair work.

For information on suppression repair work occurring on the Gasquet Ranger District, view our recent news release, "Suppression repair work resumes within the Smith River Complex" at <https://www.fs.usda.gov/detail/srnf/news-events/?cid=FSEPRD1174145>.

The Curry County Law Enforcement Levy is a significant proposal on the upcoming May ballot. Are you looking for more information about the Levy or do you have questions about its impacts? Town Hall events were hosted in North, Central and South County to provide citizens the opportunity to gain insights, ask questions, and engage with local leaders regarding this important initiative. If you missed the previous Town Halls, they are available to watch on the Curry County Government Facebook Page.

A Virtual Town Hall event is scheduled for: Wednesday, May 8th at 6:00 p.m.

The link to join will be posted on the Curry County Government page. Also, all registered cell phones in Curry County will receive a text message with a link to join the virtual meeting. Residents will be able to submit questions which will be answered live by County leaders at the meeting.

Transparency, factual information and public engagement are the goals of the Town Hall events. We encourage all residents to attend and ask questions and seek information prior to voting.

Ballots are scheduled to be mailed May 1, 2024.

The virtual Town Hall is open to all, and media coverage is encouraged.

For more information, please contact the Board of Commissioners Office by email at BOC_Office@co.curry.or.us or by phone at (541) 247-3296.

Governor’s office, not from BOEM contacting the Tribe about their decision.

Kneaper’s opposing statements imply that this is just another means through which the government is suppressing them and claiming their resources and lands. Their feedback included an insistence that, in addition to areas of economic importance to the Tribe, culturally and historically significant viewsheds be left out of BOEM’s plans. The CTCLUSI maintains that these requests were ignored.

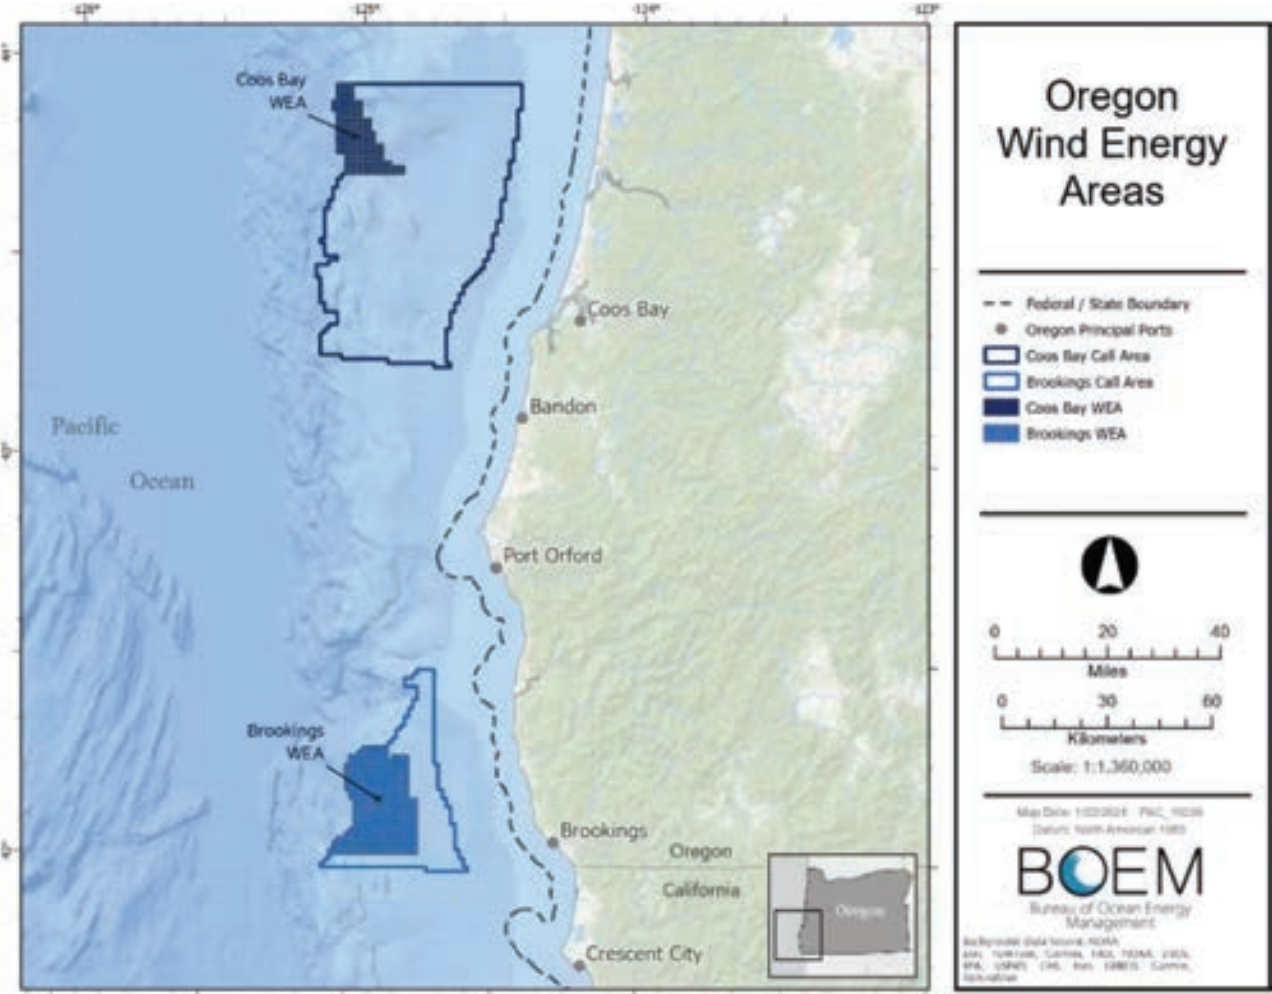

“BOEM’s press release states that it has ‘engaged’ with the Tribe, but that engagement has amounted to listening to the Tribe’s concerns and ignoring them and providing promises that they may be dealt with at some later stage of the process,” said Kneaper, “BOEM has failed to recognize that wind development has impacted the Tribe and has failed to assure that wind energy development will do good and not harm the Tribe, its members, and the greater coastal community. The Tribe will not stand by while a project is developed that causes it more harm than good – this is simply green colonialism.”

Brookings’ City Council backed up the Tribes on this point by voting unanimously to oppose BOEM’s development off their jurisdiction’s coastline.

“In addition to the Tribes, Oregon fisherman from numerous organizations, the Curry and Coos County Board of Commissioners, this city council and others, have all vehemently opposed this BOEM project, and made their view known through both public proclamation and press releases. Yet the same thing continues, we remain discounted and even disparaged by BOEM, a government organization,” stated Brookings’ Mayor Hodges.

Hodges went on to describe that BOEM denied a congressional request for additional time for public comment and urges his constituents to not allow that to prevent them from having their voices heard. The Council hopes that through public support, and the letter of opposition sent through their motion in the April 23 meeting, they can still affect some change on this issue.

a dozen years ago. A couple of the cast members were in the play then, “but they’re playing different roles,” Bell said.

The cast chosen for the summer extravaganza consists of 20 actors and actresses portraying 10 characters.

Jesse Knudsen and Michael Haggbloom are cast as Ebenezer Good soul, a retired lumberjack who lives with his grandchildren in a small cabin on the edge of the Oregon wilderness.

Hailey Waterman and Cassie White play Miss Abigail Good soul, the sweet and well-mannered granddaughter of Ebenezer. She is enamored with Cyrus, though she is too soft-spoken to talk to him on her regular visits to town.

Dean Hallmark and Johnny Crawford take the role of Cyrus Morningside, the son of Matilda. Cyrus helps out at the post office. Quick-witted but shy, he is totally infatuated with Abigail but, alas, is too tongue-tied to ever speak to her.

Kathi Simonetti and Kaylee Kutsch portray Matilda Morningside, postmistress and mother to Cyrus. She’s a good-hearted widow who has a partiality for Ebenezer Good soul.

Kendall Roberts and Donny Argo act as Rufus Good soul, the precarious younger brother of Abigail. He loves to tease his sister about her feelings for Cyrus.

Dan Barnett and Marc Ogle, dressed in a black top hat and cape, play Darius Dingling (Boo ... Hiss!), the evil and conniving owner of the “famous” Dingling Brothers Three-Ring Circus. He’s on the hunt for a big-footed critter to add to his circus attractions. Darius has an unending lust for money — and sweet young things!

Caleb Prince and Alex Goble portray Dorfius Dingling, the dimwitted, but sincere, younger brother of Darius.

Nancy Wilson and Joanne Ogle are cast as Jezebel Gold digger, a self-absorbed woman with an uncanny ability to attract men of means. She also possesses an uncanny ability to find herself widowed on a regular basis.

Heather Mong and Daricca Kelly play Beatrice Boilermaker. Enthusiastic, but often overshadowed, Beatrice is the plain barmaid at Bill’s Place. (Bill’s Place!) Forever wistful and longing for love, she becomes smitten with the dim-witted Dorfius.

Oh, and we can’t forget Ed Tyner as Bigfoot, the tall and elusive woodland creature who is the object of the Dingling Brothers’ search.

Will Darius’s lust for money be abated once he captures the elusive Bigfoot, or will his desire for innocent young maidens leave the town whirling when he kidnaps sweet Abigail as well?

Can Cyrus rescue both Abigail and Bigfoot from the clutches of the nefarious Darius?

All these questions, and more, will be answered on stage at the Sawdust Theatre this summer!

Tickets are $10 each. They are available at River Cities Realty, 135 Second St., Coquille, online at <https://www.tix.com/ticket-sales/sawdusttheatre/4691> or at the door.

USDA requires additional testing for avian flu in dairy herds

STAFF REPORT

The United States Department of Agriculture implemented new testing requirements for dairy herds on April 24, as an avian flu outbreak continues to spread in herds across the nation.

Under the new requirements, prior to interstate transfers dairy cows will be required to receive a negative test for influenza A and contact tracing for positive animals will be instituted.

The first positive test for avian flu in a dairy herd came in late March in Texas and cases have since been confirmed in eight states, with the most recent coming in Idaho on April 19.

A press release from the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) announcing the new requirements said that the agency had identified disease transmission between cows in the same herd, from cows to poultry and between dairies owing to cow movements, as well as cows that tested positive while asymptomatic.

The release said that the new testing requirements would help USDA officials form a better understanding of the movement of the avian flu between wild birds and cows and help to lower the risk of further interstate spread.

So far, there have been no mutations in the virus that would increase its transmissibility to people, though cases among those in direct contact with infected animals are possible. The USDA release said that the officials at the Centers for Disease Control believed the risk to the public remains low and noted that infected cows are recovering after receiving care.

The release also stressed that milk from impacted cows was diverted or destroyed and that pasteurization has proven to inactivate viruses in milk.

Paid for by Committee to Re-Elect Sheriff John Ward 23491

JOHN WARD for Sheriff

I started my law enforcement career as a Patrol Deputy in November 1990 at the Curry County Sheriff's Office. I have held the positions of Detective, Sergeant, and Lieutenant along with Search and Rescue Coordinator. I have spent half my life protecting and serving the citizens of Curry County and those who visit us. I was born and raised in Gold Beach, graduated from Gold Beach Union High School and I am a Navy Veteran. In October 2014, I was appointed Sheriff and then elected for the next two terms. I hold the top Executive Certificate for this position along with the Basic, Intermediate, Advanced, Supervisory, and Management Certificates. I am responsible for the entire Sheriff's Office including Criminal/Civil, Corrections (Jail), 911 Dispatch, Parole and Probation, Search and Rescue, Marine Patrol and Forest Patrol. I have sworn an oath several times to defend the Constitution of the United States and I will not enforce any unconstitutional laws. I wholeheartedly defend our 2nd Amendment Rights. I am well qualified and experienced for the position of Sheriff which I currently hold, and I am committed to continuing to be your Sheriff, being transparent and fiscally responsible.

I take pride in being able to effectively manage the position of Sheriff, earning the respect over the years of the deputies and our community. I have built countless relationships that have opened doors and opportunities to succeed. Over the years of being your Sheriff, we have been very successful with our volunteer programs like Search and Rescue and manning our sub-station in Harbor. I am asking for your support to re-elect me as your Sheriff.

INITIATIVE MEASURE TO BE SUBMITTED DIRECTLY TO THE VOTERS.

The City Attorney has prepared the following title and summary of the chief purpose and points of the proposed measure: Title: Initiative Measure to repeal local one percent sales tax. Summary: On November 3, 2020, City voters approved Measure S, a local tax measure that imposes a 1.0% transactions and use tax within the City limits. A "transactions and use tax" is commonly referred to as a "sales Tax". A 1.0% sales tax is equal to one cent for every dollar of a taxable retail purchase. The tax does not apply to most food purchases such as groceries or prescription medications. The tax revenues generated by the local sales tax are deposited into the City's General Fund which supports a variety of general municipal services, including, but not limited to the following: emergency response services provided by the Crescent City Fire Department and the Crescent City Police Department; maintenance and repair of City streets and sidewalks; and the maintenance and operation of the Fred Enderd Municipal Swimming Pool. The Measure S ordinance requires the City Council to appoint an oversight committee, made up of 5 city residents, to review and publicly report on the expenditure of Measure S revenues. In addition, the Measure S ordinance requires an independent audit of local tax revenues and expenditures to be conducted each year in conjunction with the City's annual financial audit. The City Council has also tasked the oversight committee with advising on the expenditure of Measure S revenues as part of the City's annual budget process. Based on the first two full fiscal years of collecting the tax, Measure S generated an average of $2.28 million in revenue each year. If approved by the voters, this initiative would repeal the 1.0% local sales tax within the city limits. This means that individuals who shop in the City would spend 1.0% less per taxable retail transaction, and that the City would receive approximately $2.28 million less each year to fund general City municipal services and functions including the Fire Department, the Police Department, the Fred Enderd Municipal Pool, and street and sidewalk repairs.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO CIRCULATE INITIATIVE PETITION. Notice is hereby given by the person whose name appears hereon of their intention to circulate the petition within Crescent City for the purpose of submitting an initiative measure to a vote of the people. TEXT OF INITIATIVE: A statement of reasons of the proposed action as contemplated in the petition is as follows; This measure was placed on the November 3, 2020, ballot by the City Council establishing a 1% sales tax. 1.) We're already taxed to death with some of the highest taxes in the nation. Our local politicians don't know when to stop. Tax Busters needs to deal with reality. 2) Our volunteer fire department now has a Fire Chief earning nearly $1/4 million with 3 Fire Captains working 2 days on and 4 days off each at a six-figure income partly paid with Measure S monies. Volunteers indeed! In what universe? 3.) The City pool has never broken even let alone made a profit. Now it needs more than $1 million to fix it while our roads continue to deteriorate. The name of the proponent: /s/ Ted Scott. THE PEOPLE OF CRESCENT CITY DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOW: THE TEXT OF THE INITIATIVE MEASURE: The people of Crescent City hereby ordain as follows; Measure S the 1% sales tax which was enacted as Ordinance No 824 on 12/7/20 is hereby repealed at the next general election. Five myths about social security

By STACY LARSEN
Communications Director, AARP Oregon

For most of us, Social Security is – or will be -- essential for helping to cover daily living expenses and pay bills as we get older. The bottom line is that Social Security is your money, earned through a lifetime of hard work. Yet there are persistent misconceptions about its long-term financial stability and how it works. Here are facts behind five of the most stubborn Social Security myths.

Myth #1: Social Security is going broke. The facts: Social Security will not run out of money, as long as workers and employers continue to pay payroll taxes. It's a pay-as-you-go system: Revenue coming in from payroll taxes largely covers the payments going out. But Social Security does face longer-term funding challenges. For decades it collected more than it paid out, building a surplus that stood at $2.83 trillion at the end of 2022. But the system is starting to pay out more than it takes in, largely because the retiree population is growing faster than the working population and is living longer. Without changes in how Social Security is financed, the surplus is projected to run out in 2034, according to the latest annual report from the program's trustees. Even then, Social Security will still be able to pay benefits from incoming payroll tax revenue. But it will only be enough to pay about 80% percent of scheduled benefits, according to the latest estimate. If Congress doesn't take action in the next 10 years to protect and save Social Security, your Social Security could be cut by 20%—an average of $4,000 a year. The last time Congress took major action to shore up Social Security's nearly depleted reserves was 1983.

Myth #2: The government raids Social Security to pay for other programs. The facts: Social Security is primarily funded with workers' and employers' payroll taxes and has never been part of the federal government's general fund. The federal government does, however, borrow from Social Security and in return issues Treasury bonds. The federal government has to pay back any money it borrows from Social Security with interest. The government has always paid it back in full, and annual interest payments increase Social Security's assets, to the tune of $66.3 billion in 2022.

Myth #3: Members of Congress don't pay into Social Security. The facts: Actually, they do. A common complaint about Social Security is that members of Congress don't bother fixing it because it doesn't cover them. Members of Congress came under the Social Security umbrella in 1984, along with the rest of the federal workforce, as part of sweeping changes to the program.

Myth #4: You get more Social Security benefits if you collect early. The facts: Your annual payments will be larger the longer you wait to start collecting your benefits. You can begin receiving retirement benefits at age 62, but it will cost you. Say you were born in 1960. If you claim Social Security at age 62, you'll get 70% of the benefit amount calculated from your lifetime earnings. If you wait until full retirement age—in this case, 67—you'll get 100%. If you delay taking your benefit past the full retirement age of 67, Social Security increases your benefit 8% a year until you hit 70. There's no financial incentive to delay past age 70.

Myth #5: You lose a portion of your benefits permanently if you take benefits and keep working. The facts: Not true. Social Security does have a rule, called the "earnings limit" or "earnings test," that can temporarily reduce your payments if you are still working. But it doesn't apply to all working beneficiaries, and it is not permanent. The rule only covers people who claim benefits before full retirement age and continue working. In this circumstance, Social Security withholds a portion of your payments if your earnings from work exceed a set cap, which changes every year and differs based on how close you are to full retirement age. However, any withheld money is credited back to you, and the benefits you receive later will be higher.

You can find out more about your Social Security at AARP's Social Security Resource Center (aarp.org/retirement/social-security).

2024 Rogue River cleanup announced

For the Pilot

Rivers connect us to each other, to nature, and to future generations. "The Lower Rogue Watershed Council, along with the Curry Watersheds Partnership, is dedicated to protecting the Rogue River because a healthy community starts with a healthy river, and our river provides everything from clean drinking water to recreation opportunities to fish and wildlife habitat," said Kelly Timchak, Coordinator for the Council.

This community is committed to keeping our rivers clean so we can protect and restore them for not only ourselves, but also for future generations. Less trash in and around rivers provides our communities with clean and safe places to walk, to run trails, and to paddle in clean waters. The recreational impacts that surround a clean river also provide our community with increased tourism, affecting both our economy and well-being. Let's help to clean our nationally recognized Wild & Scenic Rogue River together!

The Lower Rogue Watershed Council is organizing the river cleanup for Saturday, June 1st from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. to tackle litter in and around the Rogue River. You can register ahead by contacting Kelly Timchak at kelly@currywatersheds.org (541-373-0057) or online at: www.currywatersheds.org/rogue2024

Local school kids will ride in boats on the river to clean up gravel bars, while other community members will be helping with beach cleanups and invasive weed removal. Volunteers are encouraged to sign up online early, but you can simply show up on June 1st to register between 9:30 -10 a.m. at Jerry's Rogue Jets.

The day will culminate in a Celebration BBQ at the Quosatana Campground at 12 p.m. We will have the Salmon Tent, Smokey Bear, Stream Trailer, Games, Native Plant Exhibits, Education, and more!

informing our next steps.” In the afternoon, the group toured Amberly’s Place, a Yuma-based family advocacy center serving victims of child abuse (both physical and sexual), domestic violence, sexual assault, human trafficking, and elder abuse. Finally, they met with Robert Trenchel, CEO of the Yuma Regional Medical Center. “What’s happening at the southern border is causing a massive strain on the limited resources available in border states like Arizona, but also in Oregon, a state over 1,000 miles away. This crisis is costing taxpayers across the United States nearly $1,200 per year. At a time when the cost of living is already staggering for many, it is unacceptable to expect working Americans, including Oregonians, to foot the bill,” said Representative Boomer Wright. “Today, we learned that the cartels are the ones who really control the border. Border patrol has become mere processors. This is incredibly dangerous for all of us,” said Representative Virgle Osborne. “When Democrats made Oregon a sanctuary state, we laid a welcome mat down for these smugglers, traffickers, and “gotaways”. We must revisit our sanctuary state status and allow local law enforcement to work in coordination with immigration authorities. Our priority must be to protect our state.” “In Biden’s America, every state has become a border state. It’s time we take decisive action in order to protect the health, safety, and well-being of all Oregonians,” added Representative Court Boice. “I am hopeful we can use the knowledge we gained on this trip to introduce meaningful legislation that will reduce the impacts of President Biden’s open border and Democrats’ soft-on-crime agenda.

Oregon wildfire, smoke experts weigh in on future risks and 2024 season

By ALEX BAUMHARDT
Oregon Capital Chronicle

Oregon’s getting better at preventing and responding to wildfires, experts said Thursday, but much more still needs to be done. A panel of University of Oregon professors who study climate change, smoke and wildfire discussed the 2024 wildfire season in an online forum with journalists as the West braces for summer fires. Wildfire risk in the West and in Oregon this year is not abnormally higher than in recent years, said Daniel Gavin, a professor in the geography department who specializes in paleoecology – the study of climate change impacts and fires on ecosystems over time. Snowpack across Oregon is about average, and it’s been an El Niño winter and spring, meaning conditions have been wetter-than-normal. Gavin expressed concern that parts of Washington are still abnormally dry, and that snowpack is melting too fast in some parts of the Northern Rocky Mountains. With greater precipitation and snowmelt, grasses and other vegetation in open spaces can grow quickly. A stretch of hot summer months could dry it out just as fast, creating tinder for a wildfire. “It doesn’t take many weeks of dry weather to create fire hazards in more open vegetation on the east side (of the Cascades) or in previously burned areas,” Gavin said. Fortunately, the number of cameras monitoring high risk areas around the state have grown from several hundred to roughly 1,200, said geophysicist Doug Toomey, a professor who also leads a regional partnership for wildfire prevention and monitoring called the AlertWildfire camera network. And communities across Oregon and the West are improving communication systems for evacuations, said Amanda Stasiewicz, a social scientist focusing on policy and human impacts of wildfire, as well as forest and rangeland management. Stasiewicz said utilities across the West are developing better plans and faster processes for deploying public safety power shutoffs, which allow them to deenergize part of the electric grid during bad weather conditions where there’s a high risk electric infrastructure could start or contribute to a wildfire. Fires started by power lines and electrical equipment accounted for more than 59% of the total acres burned in California wildfires during the summers of 2017 and 2019, according to Stasiewicz. Still, there’s more to be done, she said, especially to support rural community preparedness and to prepare for wildfire refugees who will need more support under a future of longer and larger fires, fueled in part by drought and heavy winds that are predicted to increase under climate change. The increase in wildfires started in or exacerbated by extreme wind events has grown, making electrical power shutoffs more common and making wildfires harder to predict, Stasiewicz said. All of this means it’s more difficult for state and local agencies to communicate with impacted Oregonians and to know when to order an evacuation. “Even the risk avoided by deenergizing the grid has different impacts to different communities,” she said.

Fast Fact

Experts from the University of Oregon offered generally good news about wildfire risks for the West but uncertainty for Northwest.

Many people get evacuation notices through cell phone messages or apps. In rural communities, where many use Wi-Fi to send and receive messages due to spotty signal coverage, losing electricity could completely cut them off from life-saving alerts. Heidi Huber-Sterns, a research professor and expert on the public health impacts of wildfire smoke, said power shutoffs can also trap people in unhealthy conditions. Keeping windows closed because of smoke while also losing the electricity needed to run air conditioners and air filtration systems can exacerbate health issues. Huber-Sterns said there’s more to be done regionally to address the threat of wildfire smoke, calling cross-state collaboration “a missing piece.” Despite some efforts from state and local agencies in Oregon to alert people earlier about air quality issues, and to avoid polluting the air with smoke during prescribed burns, “smoke is a transient hazard,” she said. “It doesn’t take place in one location.”

Kotek promises to dog spending for homelessness and drug addiction programs

By BEN BOTKIN
Oregon Capital Chronicle

Gov. Tina Kotek faces a steep challenge now the legislative session is done: making sure that hundreds of millions allocated for homelessness and drug addiction is used as intended. Oregon lawmakers made the fentanyl addiction and overdose crisis – and homelessness – priorities for the short session. They put $211 million toward drug addiction treatment, programs and new residential facilities. Lawmakers also allocated $376 million for homeless shelters, housing, infrastructure and rent assistance. Kotek said that her administration will focus on making sure the money goes where it needs to go, with an eye toward equity and fairness across the state. “The work is not done,” Kotek told reporters March 15. “It never is, but I’m pleased with the solid start to the work before us.” Kotek has plenty to watch. House Bill 4002, which she said she would sign, allows counties to set up treatment programs to shepherd drug users towards recovery and avoid misdemeanor charges for drug possession. Twenty-three of Oregon’s 36 counties have said they will participate, with involvement from law enforcement and addiction treatment providers. The bill marks a return to the recriminalization of drug possession in Oregon. In 2020, the state became the first – and has remained the only – in the nation to decriminalize personal drug possession with voter approval of Measure 110. But rather than revert to the previous system, House Bill 4002 is designed to give drug users plenty of options for treatment. It only makes jail time a requirement if a defendant violates their probation agreement. Counties, law enforcement and treatment providers will have to scramble to build the new system before the bill goes into effect in September. Critics are concerned about the impact on minority communities, and the state’s own analysis found the bill would disproportionately harm African American communities. Kotek said her office will closely track the rollout to flag any potential disparities. “We want to track that data and make sure that that is not happening,” Kotek said. “I think the best way to do that is to make sure people are trained and understand the expectations.” Counties and community mental health providers will get $30.5 million to set up new programs.

sistency across the state,” Kotek said. “We want to set some goals and expectations about what that looks like. We want to make sure the investments that were in the package for shovel-ready projects actually stay on pace.” Oregon has a weak track record of funding and starting new behavioral health projects. In February, behavioral health providers told the Capital Chronicle they were frustrated by the Oregon Health Authority’s failure to move quickly to fund $15 million for new addiction treatment projects that lawmakers allocated in 2023. Oregon faces a shortage of treatment beds – nearly 3,000 beds, according to a state report. Kotek said her office has been asking the agency about the pipeline and what the delays are. “I just want to make sure that we get resources out the door so things can get built, whether it’s new or renovation,” Kotek said.
