

Offshore wind project passes first hurdle

The state of Oregon and the federal government are considering bringing offshore wind farms to the coast of Oregon, with one call area ranging from Coos Bay to Brookings.

On Tuesday, the Bureau of Ocean Energy Management closed its comment session for a proposed offshore wind farm along the Oregon Coast. The comment period was set aside to allow people to share concerns and ask questions and also allowed companies interested in running wind farms to share their interest with the federal government. One of the major call areas presented by BOEM is offshore from Coos Bay to Brookings, with potential wind turbines located at least 20 miles offshore. One of the companies interested in possibly building a wind farm in the area is Deep Blue Pacific Wind, a joint venture between Total Energies and Simply Blue. Peter Cogswell, director of Please see WIND Page A3

Governor candidate Betsy Johnson talks independent campaign

HILARY DORSEY
Country Media

Former Oregon State Rep. Betsy Johnson is running for governor of Oregon as an independent in the November election. Her campaign is focused on improving public schools, affordable housing for workers and make Oregon appealing to job creators.

Johnson served in the Oregon House and Senate for more than 20 years, retiring as chair of the Joint Ways and Means Committee to run for governor. She has a reputation as an advocate for her constituents.

Johnson has also served on the boards of numerous local, regional and national organizations, including the Oregon Health Sciences University Foundation, Doernbecher Children's Hospital, Oregon Public Broadcasting Foundation and the High Desert Museum. She also ran a commercial helicopter company for 20 years. She is currently on the Board of Visitors of Northwest School of Law and serves as president of the Samuel S. Johnson Foundation, named after her late father.

Johnson said she decided to run for governor because she has had a front row seat to the deterioration of the state she loves. There are issues of homelessness, crime, lawlessness in Portland, the education system lowering standards for students, lack of affordable housing, and more.

"I believe we cannot continue in this way," Johnson said. "And nothing is more disruptive to the status quo than having a non-affiliated governor."

Johnson is running as an independent. She left the Republican Party because she felt they became too extreme. As a Democrat, she felt the party went too far to the left, especially with issues such as defunding the police. She said she is running as an Oregonian.

One of the main things Johnson plans to do as governor is support law enforcement and make them accountable.

"They have to be responsible and professional, but we need to augment the amount of sworn officers that we have," Johnson said. "We've got to get a hold of the lawlessness that has plagued Oregon."

Johnson said she has maintained that Oregon cannot succeed if Portland fails. She said something must be done to get people off the streets and into affordable homes.

"Lincoln City is probably not atypical of what we're seeing all up and down the coast where a hug and loud kiss. Then he immediately followed that with what Mom referred to as, "riling up the kids". Which, we kids adored. He was lucky in love and had never lived alone prior to the death of his wife, unsurprisingly he had some difficulty adjusting to the void she left behind.

Tuffy and Shirley had three daughters, Ginny, Janet, and Diane, and enjoyed their children's growing up years very much. We sisters always teased him that he needed a son to go out and get greasy in the garage with him, but he was happy to have his 3 girls. Lots of family fun, DIY projects and silliness prevailed in the household. Once, when working on a home repair that required that he remove a section of floor and scoop out wheelbarrows full of silt (remnants of the 64 flood), from under the house — he met a new friend of Mom's at the front door while on his way out with a full wheelbarrow of dirt — when seeing the surprise on her face, he quipped, "Shirley wouldn't clean, so I had to take matters into my own hands." Mom was more mortified than amused, but her friend loved the joke.

Tuffy wed Shirley Perkins in Crescent City in February of 1956, and they were happily married for 63 years until her passing in August of 2019. Each evening when he came home from work was an event, first, he would go straight to Mom and dance her around the kitchen and punctuate it with Tuffy was born with an aptitude for all things mechanical, and so naturally became a mechanic. From the time he was a tot, he was obsessed with all sorts of vehicles and machinery, especially large equipment. He spent the majority of his working years as a LeTourneau mechanic and appeared to love every single minute of it, he most definitely found his perfect career.

Anyone who was acquainted with Tuffy knew him to be a serious (and serial) hobbyist and enthusiastic collector of all sorts of good and useful stuff. He had been bitten by the model railroad bug in the early 1950s, and his interest never waned. Along the way he accumulated many skills / additional hobbies and was a consummate DIYer — sometimes from necessity, but partly from an unending quest to learn how to do all-the-things. He succeeded in passing this DIY-ness to his daughters. Additionally, he was a skilled carpenter, electrician, plumber, and all-around handy guy.

He is survived by daughter Janet Melvin of Eureka, CA; daughter Ginny Gromer (& Rich) of Roseburg, OR; granddaughter Emma Cummings of San Francisco, CA, grandson Seth Cummings of Eureka, CA; and his beloved brother Robbie Melvin of Klamath, CA. He is also survived by his close companion Kit Wheeler of Crescent City, whom we thank sincerely for the abundance of happiness & care she brought to the final years of his life. Ginny & Janet want to extend an especially warm and grateful thanks to Dad's good friend and all-around awesome guy, Bill McClung, who has generously provided so much invaluable assistance to us. Tuffy was preceded in death by parents, Harold & Frances Melvin; wife, Shirley; daughter Diane Cummings; sister, Darlene (Sis); brothers Kenneth (Corky) and Don.

Dad was a sociable guy and will be missed by many. All family and friends of Tuffy are invited to a casual memorial gathering to be held at Florence Keller Park on Sunday, July 17 from 1pm to 4pm (ish). Jerry's Rogue Jets evacuates injured rafter from the Rogue River's 'Wild' Section

Contributed photos

John Carl, a jet boat operator for Jerry's Rogue Jets, helped rescue a rafter who suffered a fractured leg on the Rogue River.

At or near 12:30 p.m., June 19, John Carl of Jerry's Rogue Jets was operating the daily scheduled Wilderness Whitewater Tour in the Rogue River's 'Wild' Section. During the downriver leg, he was flagged down by a group of rafters at the camping spot just above Solitude Rapid, at approximately river mile 40.

When he arrived, he observed a member of the raft party laying near the water in need of medical assistance. The injured party member had sustained a compound fracture of their lower leg. Carl radioed Paradise Lodge and requested they relay a message to Agness-Illahe

Fire & Rescue for medical services to meet the commercial tour boat at Cougar Lane Lodge in Agness, 13 miles downstream.

Members of the raft party fashioned a makeshift leg splint from wood and gauze to stabilize the fractured leg. The injured person was floated by raft to the edge of the jet boat and loaded onto the back of the boat. John Carl asked his passengers if anyone on board was medically trained to assist. A passenger who is a registered nurse volunteered to assist the injured person for the boat trip downriver.

Agness-Illahe Fire & Rescue notified Cal-Ore

Reach Air/ Cal Ore Life Flight takes off with an injured rafter who was driven to Agness by Jerry's Rogue Jets.

Ambulance service of the incident and mobilized REACH air, helicopter life-flight, to land in the parking lot of Cougar Lane Lodge in Agness. Carl of Jerry's Rogue Jets arrived in Agness and delivered the patient to the awaiting ambulance service to receive immediate medical attention.

In addition to the injured rafter on this day, John Carl was also transporting an injured hiker from the Rogue River trail that met the boat at Paradise Lodge. They had sustained a rolled ankle and could not continue their hike.

"Thank you, Jerry's Rogue Jets, John Carl, Paradise Lodge, Cal-Ore Life flight and Agness-Illahe Fire & Rescue for the coordinated effort and efficient medical evacuation in the Rogue River's 'Wild' Section," Sheriff John War said. "The 'Wild' Section of the Rogue River is a spectacular section of the river but also remote and difficult to access. This section can only be accessed by jet boat, downriver rafting and hiking. Jerry's Rogue Jets is a valuable asset to the Rogue River community of power boaters, whitewater rafters and hikers. Jerry's Rogue Jets is routinely first on scene for many waters related incidents and has always answered the call of duty."

people that work in the hospitality industry especially are being forced to go farther and farther away from their job and commuting longer and longer distances," Johnson said. "We've got to get more housing in the pipeline." Johnson believes there needs to be more accountability in Oregon's schools. Oregon is graduating students who do not need to demonstrate competency in core subjects, Johnson added. When kids are not meeting the state's standards, Oregon lowers those standards, she added. She plans to take the issue on and demand performance out of schools.

If elected, the Johnson administration would value jobs and job creators. She wants Oregon to be a welcoming place for job creators and retain the established jobs as well.

For Johnson, the important part is getting Oregon's maverick spirit back and for people to be proud to be part of Oregon.

Johnson wants people to imagine a governor who would be willing to reject the paralytic partisan politics that have caused the state not to move forward on finding solutions to some of the big problems. She's willing not to sign budgets or sign legislation unless there is bipartisan support.

"It's all too often, in my experience, we start at no," Johnson said. "I want us to be a welcoming place for jobs and job creators. I want us to get our economy back in play. I want us to be responsive to the needs of the businesses that are here."

While she was in the Legislature, Johnson was a budget writer.

"I know a lot about the state's budget and would be very enthusiastic to comb through those budgets and make sure every taxpayer dime that's being spent is yielding results that are accountable and audible," Johnson said.

There is currently a petition to put Johnson on the ballot in November. Her campaign needs around 25,000 signatures by mid-August. She believes she will receive more than that, as the response has been overwhelming. People can download petitions for her campaign website.

economic development. Gold Beach Main Street raised an additional $70,000 to meet the increased projected costs based on the expanded scope of work for a total of $100,000.

We are asking the Urban Renewal Agency to amend our original application, which will allow us to move forward with this revised comprehensive study. This revised scope will grant the Gold Beach Urban Renewal Agency the opportunity to look at all the options and make the most educated decision for the needs of our community.

One of our goals with this project is to focus on disaster preparedness and resiliency. Research has shown that placing power and communication utilities underground results in fewer outages. It creates a protected space less prone to windstorms, natural disasters and accidents.

In addition to disaster preparedness, another goal for this project is primarily focused on ADA compliance and creating a safe pedestrian environment in Gold Beach. As many are aware, the current sidewalks are in bad shape. The city of Gold Beach does not own any of the sidewalks. Therefore, it does not accept any liability for injuries or ADA complaints regarding the sidewalks. With the sidewalks in disrepair, this poses a significant liability to the small businesses in Gold Beach. Suppose someone walking by is injured and/or is unsatisfied with their ability to use the sidewalk because of mobility issues. In that case, the responsibility is placed on the individual business owner and their business insurance. We hope to replace all sidewalks in Gold Beach at no cost to the business owner.

The grant to do so is reliant on a comprehensive feasibility study. We hope this will relieve some of the stress placed on the business owners currently in charge of sidewalks that are in disrepair. Gold Beach Main Street has raised over $100,000 for a feasibility study. The study will look at: 1. The cost and feasibility of undergirding the current overhead utilities 2. The cost of replacing all sidewalks (to meet ADA and safety requirements),

3. Will also add streetscape design and landscape design elements throughout Gold Beach. This will create a unique, beautiful, and most importantly, safe Gold Beach in the future.

This project has 4 parts: Underground Utilities, Main Street Revitalization: Safety, Amenities, and Aesthetics. The City of Gold Beach Urban Renewal Agency will have the final vote on which of the revitalization components to move forward with during the study. This feasibility study will allow us to apply for federal dollars to pay for these repairs and updates. The picture above shows this portion of Gold Beach with four lanes (reduced in width to slow down traffic), a continuous bike lane and off-street parking. These are the choices that Urban Renewal will be making for the Future of Gold Beach.

The economy and the small businesses that make up this community are our number one concern. Our hope with this project is to create a unique small-town vision that attracts businesses and developers to the area. Increased workforce housing is a much-needed priority in Gold Beach and the entire county. Large-scale infrastructure projects like this drive economic development by creating jobs locally, creating a uniform and cohesive Main Street that encourages locals and tourists to shop. This project will enhance local businesses and nonprofits by creating a walkable main street in Gold Beach.

A walkable, pedestrian-friendly environment is a critical element of a complete community. Creating this beautiful, walkable, livable community will attract the much-needed developers to the area. These developers will be able to utilize their resources to create housing that is affordable for our local workforce. It will also attract new businesses to open in our area, bringing jobs.

Over the last few years, Gold Beach Main Street held Listen to Learn sessions, town hall meetings, and online surveys to get feedback for this project, and we are listening to you.

This is a call to action. The future of Gold Beach is now. We want to make your vision for this community come to life. Please join us at the city council meeting on July 5 to voice your support for this project.

government and external affairs, said Deep Blue hopes to one day run a wind farm off the coast.

"It's a group with some Oregon connections that continues to be excited about developing offshore wind off the Oregon Coast," Cogswell said. "We are going to be identifying specific areas in the Coos Bay and Brookings area we hope to get developed. We've tried to be very thoughtful in our comments and where we're trying to locate our areas."

Cogswell said Deep Blue understands there are concerns from many in the area, pointing specifically to commercial and residential fishermen as well as those concerned a wind farm could impact natural travel routes for sea animals and birds.

"It's important we understand the commercial fishing and even recreational fishing and even others users in the ocean," he said.

While BOEM closed the comment period this week, the offshore wind farm process is just beginning. After reviewing the comments, BOEM will narrow down the call areas and then issue a proposed sales notice. That will be followed by a final sales notice, and, potentially, an auction for interested companies to bid in the third quarter of 2023.

At that point, a multi-year environmental review will begin. Cogswell said under the timeline, wind farms will probably not be up and running before 2031.

"There's a lot of work to do to explore our sites and other sites out there," Cogswell said. "If everything goes without a hitch and the auction takes off next year, you're not looking for a project being up and energized until at least 2031."

The offshore wind areas BOEM has proposed could create 3 gigawatts of electricity each year. One gigawatt of power is enough to electrify 750,000 homes.

Cogswell said that much electricity could ease any strain on the system in the Pacific Northwest while moving the country a step closer to using renewable energy.

But getting there won't be easy. Locally, the key is working with local officials, businesses and people to find the right locations and ease the impact on others. Cogswell said Deep Blue is committed to doing that.

"It's imperative that you understand what's going on around the potential project location and the potential impact that may have," he said. "We're absolutely committed to doing that. The industry companies do need to reach out to the fishing companies and understand where they're coming from and their concerns."

Cogswell said while the coastal region of Oregon has great wind to create energy, he said the International Port of Coos Bay is also well aligned to host a wind farm.

"What our port study shows is that with some investment, there's a lot the port can contribute to an offshore wind project," he said. "In addition to the port infrastructure, you're looking for communities that have been open to economic development and infrastructure."

While Deep Blue is very interested in building an offshore wind farm, Cogswell said his company is not alone.

"There are others," he said. "We did that industry meeting back in May, and there were at least 10 companies that were interested in some level."

While Cogswell is primarily interested in offshore wind, he said he has been paying attention to the port's effort to bring in an intermodal shipping facility to Coos Bay.

"Our view is they certainly aren't exclusive to each other," Cogswell said. "They certainly can co-exist."

Looking for information

My name is: Douglas Ray Arledge. My biological dad's name was: David French Hosley. I am trying to find anyone who might have known him... I was sent his draft card by someone and it was for: Curry Oregon... He passed away a few years back and I would like to know where he is buried.

I know that he lived in Orofino Idaho. I went to the funeral home in Orofino, he was supposed to be buried in Orofino, however he is not. I would appreciate any help in this. My phone number: 208-794-5641 Email: douglasarledge123@gmail.com.

Deja vu

I experienced a strong sense of deja vu as I read the article about two county commissioners' views regarding pay raises. I was certain I had experienced this before. I pondered it a bit until it dawned on me. I had indeed experienced something similar when I worked for our public school system.

The tone, grammar, and behavior as detailed were exactly the same as an immature disagreement between a couple of 6- or 7-year-old young boys! Worse, actually...but not surprising.

Maybe Trump did win

I hate to admit it, but it almost appears the tyrant Trump did win. The brutish and petulant sore loser who still clings to the big lie that he won the presidency, which has been debunked countless times, can take a victory lap over his terrible SCOTUS appointments.

Those three lying justices, along with Clarence Thomas who should resign over his wife's dealings trying to overthrow our democracy, pushed the court to appease the draconian forced birthers by getting rid of Roe. They also struck down a New York law that wanted concealed weapons permits to show reasons to carry.

I guess easy access by anybody who wants to carry concealed weapons and forcing women to give birth under any circumstance, is high priority in this Trumpian court. Both rulings that a large majority in this country are against. Thomas also threw more red meat to the crazy right by saying gay rights and birth control could be under scrutiny also. Careful Clarence, your rabid fans might want you to also roll back the clock on interracial marriages. If so, would you divorce your conspiracy theorist wife?

Prohibit abortion later than "salvageability"

To the Editor:

I was an intern physician training in Colorado Springs from 1983 to 1984. On my OB/

GYN rotation we gave a short duration anesthetic while women had abortions. Most of these procedures were no more than 10 minutes in duration.

The one that I will always remember was one on a 27-week pregnancy that I was doing anesthesia for. Most abortions up to 10 to 12 weeks were, again, very quick, and all that was removed was unformed tissue.

This abortion was much different. Instruments were inserted into the uterus to cut up the body and crush the skull. The skull at 27 weeks is very calcified. The crushing of the skull sounded like stepping on an empty walnut shell. The procedure took 20 to 25 minutes.

My thought at the time was that we just killed a human being. At that time in medicine, a 20-week-old fetus was "salvageable," in that in a NICU (neonatal intensive care unit) had a reasonably high chance of surviving. The cost was $2- to 3-million, many of them, however, were neurologically "intact" and progressed to normal childhood.

I don't know what the exact fetal age they can now "salvage," but we know it remains at least 20 weeks, if not less.

So, if we can salvage a 20- or less week fetus, why is it legal to allow abortion after that time?

And, for sure, how can it be legal to allow a live birth to die after delivery under the guise of "abortion?"

Every moment after "salvageability" the fetus is becoming more "human" and more salvaged and developing as a "human."

Many residents in nursing homes are in vegetative states to one degree or another, and becoming less "human" steadily if measured by mentation, independent thought, etc., not reacting to anything except sharp stimuli, yet they are totally cared for until death.

How can we care like this for those heading away from being "human" and not those heading towards being more "human" with each passing moment?

You cannot judge by human shape, as the fetus and the very elderly in this case not only are of human form, but in the "fetal position."

I would propose no elective abortions after the age of "salvageability" as determined by NICU measurements as above unless the mother's life is in danger.

There are a lot of couples who want to adopt. If you have waited until the 18th or 20th week of pregnancy to abort, you should not be allowed to legally abort as you are killing a developing human as described above.

Abortion for rape, incest and severe genetic abnormalities should always be legal, but should still be limited as above, ideally at least.

Freedom in the West, but not for women

By REBECCA (BEX) JOHNSON

I moved to Wyoming a few years ago for its outdoor recreation, but I also liked the state's history of championing equal rights for women. As early as 1869, it codified women's voting rights, 50 years before the 19th Amendment did the same thing. Western women in the 19th century quickly proved their mettle, helping to build communities in rugged and isolated landscapes.

But now, sadly, Wyoming has agreed to subjugate women. In March, Wyoming's governor signed a "trigger bill" that would ban abortions in the state five days after the Supreme Court overturned Roe v Wade, which it did June 24.

Around the West, other states including Idaho, Utah, North Dakota, South Dakota and Oklahoma also passed bills restricting women's reproductive health soon after the Supreme Court acted. Texas had a tough law that banned virtually all abortions since 2021, although their new law, set to take effect in the next month, introduces even harsher measures -- a near-total ban, even after incest and rape.

Fortunately, some Western states recognize the needs of women, and are already being sought out by women seeking abortions who are blocked at home. Colorado passed an act in March giving anyone pregnant the "fundamental right to continue the pregnancy... or to have an abortion."

Three coastal states, California, Washington and Oregon, said they would be havens for women seeking abortions. In addition, Oregon allotted $15 million to help cover abortion costs even for non-residents.

Corporations are also becoming allies. Apple, Citi, and Yelp adjusted their corporate policies in Texas to include travel for abortions as part of health insurance packages. Lyft and Uber have promised to pay legal fees if their drivers are charged with the crime of "assisting" abortion patients.

Ironically, when Covid-19 was rampant, I often heard Westerners express a common sentiment about getting vaccinated, or not: "It's my body and my choice." I almost laughed, as that's the cry of women who want the choice of becoming a mother, or not.

Before the Supreme Court decision was announced, I began talking to people about their views on access to abortion, and as you would expect, reactions were mixed, though no one I spoke to for this opinion agreed to be quoted by name due to privacy concerns. At a block party, a 22-year-old Jackson man, who self-identified as Hispanic, said he thought of abortion as "one of the worst sins." Then he surprised me by adding, "But a woman should be able to make that decision."

At a pizza joint, a fourth-generation Jackson resident I've gotten to know, said, "I don't think the government should have a say about your individual body... The government should be building roads. We don't believe in big government."

An Indigenous man in his late 20s said, "Humans should be able to make choices for their own human bodies. Otherwise, we're going back to slavery."

Still, I get the sense that many well-intentioned men, trying to be supportive of the women around them, are opting to step back and let women fight this battle. This reticence has started to feel like men are saying, "Not my body, not my problem." Perhaps our state legislators recognize this reluctance to get involved, thus freeing them to vote against women's rights.

Sometimes an abortion is unwanted but necessary for a woman's health. Sometimes an abortion is wanted but will now be illegal. I think whatever a woman decides must be her decision, not a ruling from the out-of-touch Supreme Court or from a male-dominated state legislature.

Five years ago, a friend was forced to travel to a Wyoming clinic to get an abortion after a doctor in Idaho told her that abortion was "wrong." She was angry, and later when she told her father, he said he was proud of her for "sticking up for herself."

"It was the best money I've ever spent," my friend told me later. "I wouldn't be half the person I hope to be without making that decision."

Men retain control over their bodies, but in too many parts of this country, women no longer can. Deciding whether to bear a child is perhaps the biggest decision in any woman's life. Controlling and criminalizing a woman's choice is a tragic mistake.

Beach walkers wanted for coastal seabird survey

On July 16 and July 17, from 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., the Coastal Observation and Seabird Survey Team will deliver a free training session in Brookings and Coos Bay, respectively, for members of the community. The COASST Beached Bird program is focused on the intersection of science, conservation and communities. COASST participants help make a difference for the environment by collecting data on beach-cast carcasses of marine birds on a monthly basis to establish the baseline pattern of beached bird mortality on North Pacific beaches.

Through an interactive, hands-on workshop, trainees will become acquainted with COASST survey protocols, and have a chance to learn more about the seabirds that live in their area. The COASST training provides participants with the tools to monitor for potential changes in the marine environment and promote stewardship of local marine resources

COASST is a citizen science project of the University of Washington in partnership with state, tribal and federal agencies, environmental organizations and community groups. COASST believes residents of coastal communities are essential scientific partners in monitoring marine ecosystem health. By collaborating with community members, natural resource management agencies and environmental organizations, COASST works to translate long-term monitoring into effective marine conservation solutions. Currently, nearly 1,000 participants survey beaches in Washington, Oregon, California and Alaska.

The training session will be held at Chetco Public Library in the Forest Room on July 16 and Coos Bay Public Library in the Myrtle Room on July 17.

There will be a short break in the middle of the session for lunch, so please bring your own sack lunch, or money to purchase food in the area.

Participants need no prior experience with scientific data collection, just a commitment to survey a specific beach at least once a month.

COVID-19 details: Masks are recommended, but not mandatory. Staying safe is our top priority and we will have disinfectant wipes and sanitizer on hand.

For more information and to reserve your training spot, call COASST at 206-221-6893 or email coasst@uw.edu. More information about the COASST program can be found at coasst.org.

Ernest Chavez Reyes
Case Number:
CVPB-2022-7037

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of Ernest Chavez Reyes
A Petition for Probate has been filed by: Arthur Reyes, in the Superior Court of California, County of Del Norte. The petition for probate requests that: Arthur Reyes be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This Authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority. A hearing on the petition will be held in this court as follows:

Date: July 15, 2022
Time: 10:00am Dept.: 2
Address of the Court: 450 H Street, Crescent City, CA 95531
If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney. If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

You may examine the file kept by the court. Renovations completed at Curry Family Medical

Clinic Changes Benefit Patient Experience; Open House Planned in August

“It used to look like a 70s-style building, with overgrown bushes and damaged sidewalks,” said Ron Neet, Curry Health Network’s director of facilities. But that’s definitely a thing of the past: CHN recently finished a variety of interior and exterior upgrades to the clinic, including a number of cosmetic changes that make the facility and surrounding grounds more aesthetically pleasing. Not only does the building itself feature some updates, but the staff also welcomed board-certified Nurse Practitioner Paloma Kolkow to the clinic this past spring. Along with Dr. Thomas Pitchford, Kolkow offers high quality patient-centered care for all ages at Curry Family Medical. Another bonus for the site: With Kolkow on its staff, the clinic is now offering an additional day of services, which means that the clinic accepts appointments Monday through Friday. Additional improvements to the patient experience include a new, automatic ADA-compliant glass front door and wheelchair ramp that were installed to make it easier and safer to enter and exit the clinic. The clinic’s exterior makeover includes new siding, paint and signage, as well as updated and improved landscaping. The facility also received a less immediately apparent but equally important improvement with the installation of energy-efficient windows and heat pump. On the clinic’s interior, visitors will immediately notice the new color scheme; both the clinic’s paint and flooring were updated to lighter colors that visually open up the space to mirror the warm, compassionate care patients receive when they are seen at the facility. “The many improvements we made to our clinic in Port Orford exemplify the long-term commitment Curry Health Network has to the community,” said Ginny Williams, CHN CEO. “We are extremely happy to be able to continue to invest in our area, and making the necessary updates that more easily and conveniently accommodate the people we serve is part of that investment. “Each patient is our most important patient, and we want to do everything we can to make sure their experience is as safe, simple and comfortable as possible.” The upgrades to the Curry Family Medical building began in June of 2021 and were completed in less than a year; the facility was originally built in 1985. “Due to a variety of factors, the building’s interior and exterior had deteriorated over the years,” said Neet. “Now, many of the changes are obvious: You notice the new landscape and sign when driving up to the clinic; there’s a new front door, windows and siding. Inside, everything’s been updated, from the colors to the materials.” Overall, the clinic’s new look was designed to have a more soothing, coastal-themed appearance. “It was a worthwhile change and definitely something we were excited to show off to the community,” said Williams. “The changes were done to make the clinic a more calming, soothing and welcoming place for patients when they come for care. “We continue to invest in our communities to provide people with a comfortable patient experience, which is so important to everyone at Curry Health Network.” Williams added that CHN will host an open house for the community to celebrate Curry Family Medical’s renovations and meet the providers; the event is scheduled for Saturday, August 20 from 11 a.m. – 1:30 p.m.

Did you know? John Adams believed that July 2nd was the correct date on which to celebrate the birth of American independence, and would reportedly turn down invitations to appear at July 4th events in protest. Adams and Thomas Jefferson both died on July 4, 1826—the 50th anniversary of the adoption of the Declaration of Independence.

A Word About the Fireworks Show from Henry Johnson-Fund Raising Captain-Love Your 4th

I am often asked why I stepped up to help lead the Fireworks fundraising program. Frankly, I think community is important, and our community has been lacking our annual fireworks show since COVID hit 2 years ago. The Brookings-Harbor July 4th Fireworks are a tradition that has gone on for years. In fact, it has gone on for so long we aren't even quite sure when it started! Every year our community has stepped up and donated money for a specular fireworks show to celebrate our Nation's Independence Day. This year, is no exception.

There has been a tremendous amount of support for the Brookings Harbor July 4th Fireworks Show from individuals, small businesses and large companies alike! Please take time to review the list, in this special section of the paper, of all those who are this year's major sponsors. They are many more of you who have donated under our official sponsorship levels. Donations came from you either online via our donation portal managed by the City of Brookings or by dropping your spare change in one of our donation jars around town. A Big Thank You!

I would be remiss in not recognizing the six Foundation Sponsors who really made things happen. They are well known in our community for their support: LUCKY 7 CASINO & HOTEL, SOUTH COAST LUMBER AND PACIFIC WOOD LAMINATES, CURRY COUNTY-TRAVEL CURRY COAST, BEACHFRONT INN, RE/MAX COAST AND COUNTRY-BRENT AND MARIE CURTIS and the CITY OF BROOKINGS. These six helped bridge the gap for this year's fundraising donations, and deserve a huge round of applause as well as your business!

I typically get asked two other questions about the Fireworks. First, why have the fireworks show at all? Second, how much does a show cost? To start, The Why. I have always considered the Fireworks to be one of the cornerstone events in our community. (The Azalea Festival and Nature's Coastal Holiday being the other two.) These events aren't just for the tourists they attract. They are also part of our own community's tradition. I believe events like the Fireworks bring us closer together as a community, and I think we can all agree that we could use a little bit of that right now.

Second question is the cost. As one can expect, fireworks aren't cheap. A show at Disneyland costs an estimated $40,000 and only lasts for about 15 minutes! Meanwhile, there are other costs to a show besides just the fireworks themselves. These costs include traffic control, security, road closures, permits, licenses, pyrotechnicians, advertising and safety. Our fireworks show that we are presenting this 4th of July will cost about $30,000 once all the checks have been written and the beans have been counted! I am proud to say this will be the biggest fireworks show we have ever had, and that it was all led by volunteers donating their time and expertise to make it happen!

However, the work still continues to ensure the show for the years to come. We are already fundraising for 2023! If you also believe that community is important, I ask you to contribute! If you agree that events like the Brookings-Harbor July 4th Fireworks drive local business, then I ask you to contribute! If you feel just like so many American's that a fireworks show is a tradition, then I ask you to contribute. Donate online at lovecurrycounty.com

Thanks to everyone who came together for the creation of this year's show!
