JULY 4 FESTIVAL
NOW IN DOUBT

Plans for this year’s Fourth of July fireworks display and celebration at the Port of Brookings Harbor are at a crossroads, with the popular celebration’s future uncertain. The Family Fun Festival needs a new organizer.

The coordinator for the event, Barbara Ciaramella, announced in a letter to the editor in today’s issue of The Pilot that the event’s core group of 15 volunteers could no longer handle the Fourth of July event.

“It was fabulous,” she said. “I’m so disappointed not being able to do it again.

“We’ve done it for three years, but last year was the first time it was a day-long event.” The first two years, the event covered just the fireworks, which ran about $20,000 annually. Last year’s free event cost $30,000.

It included clowns, karaoke, hot-air balloon rides, a pancake breakfast, 5K walk/run, sandcastle contest, live music, bike parade, food trucks, car show, kids’ entertainment zone, BBQ, prizes and vendors.

On the day of the event, 45 additional volunteers covered other necessities such as security, parking and transportation shuttles.

“Approximately 5,000 people attended last year,” Ciaramella said. “We had no problems at the event. Everyone was so polite and good. We didn’t even have to hand out a Band-Aid.”

Not only did the group put on the event, the volunteers also held fundraisers to help pay for it.

Two seafood fests each raised $5,000. Sponsorships from Lucky 7 Casino and the City of Brookings brought in $5,000 each. Several $1,000 donors and other fundraising events filled out the budget. Year-long fundraising for the event is a big issue. “Our group came to the conclusion that it was just too hard to raise all the funds - a $30,000 budget - and put on the event,” said Ciaramella.

“I run a business, and I can’t just leave it to raise funds for the event,” she said.

According to her letter to the editor, the group so far has met with the City of Brookings, the Port of Brookings Harbor and other event planners.

Other factors contributing to the group’s decision, she said, were the Grocery Outlet has announced that the store’s new location at 906 Chetco Ave. in Brookings will be open Jan. 30.

The grocer will occupy what had been the first store in the Ray’s grocery chain, a building vacant since November 2016, across U.S. Highway 101 from the Fred Meyer store.

That building has undergone major renovation inside and out over the past several months.

Grocery Outlet currently is in a Harbor shopping center at 16261 U.S. Highway 101. That store will close on Jan. 29.

The relocated Grocery Outlet will occupy about two-thirds of the former Ray’s building, although the sales floor will be about the same size as the existing store, according to co-owner Lori Panter. The back room will be slightly larger.

The grocery will be located at the north end of the building, which is on the left side when viewed from the front.

“We’re going to start stocking the store on Monday with nonperishable products,” Panter said last Friday. “The new location will have larger produce and fresh-meat sections, more space for organics and specialty foods, and an expanded beer and wine section.”

Panter said better racking will allow for the expansion of select departments without reducing the size of other areas. “It will be the same store, but smarter and newer,” she said.

Grocery Outlet has more than 270 independently operated stores in California, Idaho, Nevada, Oregon, Pennsylvania and Washington, according to the company’s website.

Settlement reached for Lobster Creek Fire

A financial settlement for a grass fire that ignited at a youth camp and started the Lobster Creek Fire on July 1, 2018 has been reached regarding costs that had been billed to Curry County, according to a Jan. 10 press release by Curry County Commissioner Court Boice.

The Lobster Creek Fire, which started near the southern edge of the Lobster Creek Youth Camp, quickly spread and aggressively moved south.

The Oregon Department of Forestry (ODF) reacted immediately and while the fire grew to 400 acres, Coos-Curry Forest Protective Association personnel fought hard and contained it in less than 28 hours.

The campgrounds were spared.

The fire was determined to have been started by campers lighting tortilla chips and stamping them out. It was unknown if other items were being burned by the campers.

The sponsors of the camp, Rogue Climate Action, had liability insurance coverage but it was limited to $2 million. The total cost for the agencies that extinguished the fire and protected the county and nearby timber lands was $4.3 million.

The State of Oregon, through ODF, filed a claim against Curry County, seeking the balance of the fire suppression costs the state had incurred.

The $2.3 million sought from the county subsequently was negotiated down to $50,000, to be paid by City-County Insurance Services (CIS) on the county’s behalf.

“We were well represented at the mediation by CIS and Curry Counsel John Huttl,” said Boice.

“This settlement is a huge win for our county. We strongly negotiated and simply asked and reminded our ODF officials to wisely maintain the relational bridges that we’ve all built in recent years. I’m proud to announce that all parties ultimately did just that.”

Added Boice: “We did everything possible to keep this from further litigation, while at the same time being determined to pay very little and to vigorously challenge our ODF friends.

“It is also important to note they were on the fire front lines with us for nearly all of the 2017 and 2018 horrible fire seasons.”

Bruin boys fall to Cascade Christian, 61-49

Randy Robbins
For The Pilot

Experience matters. When Brookings-Harbor boys' basketball coach Jess Beaman surveyed the roster of Cascade Christian High School, he was keenly aware of one thing: the No.7-ranked Challengers were returning all five of their starters from last season.

That was on full display in Medford last Friday evening, as the hometown team rolled to a 61-49 victory.

The Bruins, ranked No. 23 in the state, held their own during the first period, grabbing an 18-16 lead in a see-saw contest.

Brookings was getting its buckets the old-school way ... two points at a time. As for Cascade Christian? The Challengers hit three long balls for nine of their 16 points.

As the second quarter got underway, Cascade Christian turned to a speed-demon offense and a suffocating, hand-in-the-face defense that resulted in a 23-8 scoring spree.

That, along with two late-period steals, had the home team sitting pretty heading into the locker room at half-time, 39-26.

Cascade Christian maintained a 12- to 13-point advantage for most of the third period, until Brookings-Harbor got some traction to make it 48-38.

But in the final frame, the Challengers once again relied on their perimeter game, launching three long balls to lead by 15 with three minutes to go.

Brookings answered with its own 3-pointer by Fabian Villa with a minute left in the game, but it was too little, too late.

Cascade Christian, under coach Brian Morse, moved to 1-0 on the young season, with the Bruins now at 0-1.

Top scorers for Brookings were Evan Fronckowiak (15) and Jason Vanginderen (13).

The Challengers relied on Layne Collum (13) Donminic Lewis (11).

Next up: Brookings-Harbor hosts the Douglas Trojans on Tuesday, a team they defeated 79-59 in pre-season.

On Friday, the Bruins take to the road against Sutherlin.

Game times are 5:30 p.m.

Meantime, the Brookings JV boys team fell to Cascade Christian 43-47 after rallying back from a 17-point deficit at the end of three.

The Lady Bruins JV rocked the Challengers, 62-19.

Lady Bruins drop disappointing nail-biter in Medford

Randy Robbins
For The Pilot

Its Far West league opener was a tough pill to swallow for the Lady Bruins basketball team, which rolled in to Medford last Friday to take on the Cascade Christian Challengers.

With two minutes left in the game and behind by one point, 40-41, it looked like Brookings-Harbor High School just might pull out the win.

The Lady Bruins had come into the game ranked No. 7 for 3A schools statewide. Trouble is, somebody forgot to tell that to the

No. 14 Challengers.

In a game where the home team led throughout, the Bruins found themselves on defense and playing catch up.

Cascade Christian led at the end of the first quarter, 12-11.

In the second period, the Challengers' junior guard, Katelyn Willard, knocked down a three-pointer and Cascade Christian pulled away, 19-13.

The Blue and Gold had trouble landing buckets, but Chris Schofield's Lady Bruins managed to close the gap when senior guard Sidney Alexander fired a three-pointer of her own to make it 20-24 with 9 seconds left in the half.

Alexander uncorked another three from behind the arc with 2:02 left in the third period and the score was 31-32. But Willard answered with a three at the buzzer to keep coach Joe Thomas's Challengers in the driver's seat 37-31.

Brookings' Lexee Murray hit from way out yonder early in the fourth quarter to narrow the score to 34-37.

A technical foul called against Bruin senior guard Avana Pettus, for making contact with the Challengers' Paisley Fish, made it 34-39.

But the Lady Bruins weren't finished yet. Sierra Fitzhugh chipped in two free throws and Alexander nailed a running jumper to make it interesting at 40-41, with under two minutes to go in the game.

With the clock winding down, the Bruins purposely fouled Fish and then Neha Joseph. Their 1+1 bonus shots both failed, and Brookings got the ball back with 14 seconds left on the clock.

Following a brief timeout to chat strategy with their coach, the Lady Bruins' in-bound play was foiled by the Challengers, with Fish coming up with the ball and content to run out the clock.

A desperation foul sent Fish to the line, where she added two points for the Challengers, getting the upset win 43-40.

The Lady Bruins now are 0-1 in league play.

Leading the scoring for Brookings-Harbor was Alexander (11).

For Cascade Christian, Fish had 16 and Willard, 12.

On Tuesday, the Lady Bruins return home to face Douglas, a team they beat earlier this year, 61-47.

On Friday, Brookings is back on the road at Sutherlin for more 3A Far West league action.

Game times are 7 p.m.

Letters & Columns

Okay, just do the minimum asked of you

Dear Editor:
Here's a thought: Start by doing the bare minimum!
There's a lot of uproar about what to do with problems plaguing our community. How about just doing the minimum, to start.
Instead of law enforcement just sitting on the side of the road, how about patrolling our roads? U.S. Highway 101 is not the only street in our area.
When they see someone is living in a car or RV where they are not supposed to, make contact and tell them to leave.
RV parks are zoned for temporary and overnight stay only, not full-time living.

Enforce it, or change the ordinance to have these people counted on our tax roll and each occupied space incurring a tax.
Heck, if someone is jaywalking, enforce it. If someone is parked the wrong way on the street, enforce it.
Citizens are not becoming homeless here, they are coming here. Why? There are no jobs or housing for them. Yet there seems to be a bunch of people who think we need to cater to them.
Okay, if that's your thing, why are you not opening your homes to them? Why are the churches that claim they want to help not employing them and letting them sleep on their pews?
If our elected officials can't, or won't, do at least the minimum their jobs require of them, they need to go!

They should be recalled or voted out.
Just do your jobs, even if it's the bare minimum.

July 4 event needs new help and new blood

Dear Editor:
It is with great regret I write this letter. I will no longer be handling our Fourth of July celebration, the Family Fun Festival.
For personal and business reasons I must give up this project.
So many factors have changed in such a short period of time: the newspaper changing hands; radio station changing hands; management changes at one of our biggest donors; main people involved have left the area, retired or have a full plate themselves.
Putting on the event is hard work, and we did it with great success in 2019. We now have shown the community what is possible.

But after meetings with the City of Brookings, the Port of Brookings Harbor other event planners, our group came to the conclusion it was just too hard to raise all the funds - a $30,000.00 budget - and put on the event all with volunteers.
The purpose of this letter is to encourage another group, the port or the City of Brookings, to step up and take over the event. I'm willing to help with all the information.
Thank you, Brookings-Harbor, for all your support the last few years.

I will be marching for many things on January 18

Dear Editor,

The third-annual national Women's March will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday, Jan. 18, at the center of Brookings (near the movie theater) and walk up and down Chetco for a few blocks.
I am proud to be among the men who will attend.
It's not just about women's rights or against male chauvinism or even just equal pay. This march has also become about truth and beauty - opposed to the biased spin and outright lies that now permeate the American media, opposed to the militarism that has obsessed America for nearly all of my life.
I remember a moment of peace in my early years after WWII. It has been war ever since. There was no "peace dividend" associated with the fall of the Soviet Union.
Americans are taxed for war as much as the whole rest of the world pays for "defense."
I will also be marching for equality in America, which is the most unequal of modern advanced democracies. Decades of tax cuts have made it so.

Where money makes money, only progressive taxing will stop runaway inequality. Tax first.
God knows, there is plenty to do with the money, important things that neither individuals nor companies can do or want to do, but are necessary to get done and that has not been getting done.
So, I will be marching for government, our poor, wrecked government, in the "Best Democracy Money Can Buy."
And, of course, I will be marching for the environment, the world in which our babies were born, where our women thrive.
I will be marching for humanity and for all life on earth. Rain or shine.

Tracy Rupp

Forum on special tax districts planned

The League of Women Voters of Curry County will hold a special tax districts forum Jan. 23 from 2-4 p.m. at the public library in Gold Beach.
The meeting, planned back in June 2019, is particularly relevant today given ongoing discussions about the future of special tax districts in Curry County, said forum organizers.
A panel of speakers will focus on what are and are not special tax districts in Curry County, as well as how they are funded, managed and governed.
Speakers will include Curry County Assessor Jim Kolen; Julie Retherford, director of the Chetco Community Public Library, a large special tax district in Brookings; and Hal Fitzgerald, chair of the Langlois Water District Board, a small district in Langlois.
Information from the Special Districts Association of Oregon will be provided.
League board member Georgia Nowlin will be the facilitator.

Ciaramella said she hopes that another group, or the port or the City of Brookings, will assume responsibility for the event. "I'm willing to help with all the information," she said.
"It's a wonderful event, and it was so great to see families and kids enjoying the day."

Curry Library expands its tech lab offerings

Curry Public Library is expanding availability and program offerings for its technology lab.

The addition of the technology lab was part of the Harald Haug Library Learning Center project completed in 2018.

In December 2019, Brodey Carpenter was hired as the library's tech lab coordinator. He's usually available for open lab hours for youth on Mondays and Tuesdays from 3-7 p.m., and for all ages on Wednesdays from 3-7 p.m. and Saturdays from 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

During those hours, community members can use design tablets, a 3D scanner, 3D printer, vinyl cutter and laser cutter.

In addition to those open hours, Carpenter now will be providing new, free programs designed for everyone regardless of how tech savvy they are.

The course offerings will include a two-part Intro to SketchUp: 3D Modeling for the Weekend Warrior, scheduled for Jan. 11 and 18 from 1-3:30 p.m. The course covers the basics of 3-D modeling software SketchUp, and how it can help in the design of your weekend project.

It's recommended for adults, who can register at currypubliclibrary.net, or by calling 541-247-7246.

On Feb. at 1 p.m. will be Intro to Desktop 3D Printing, on Feb. 8 at 1 p.m. will be Intro to Vinyl Cutting for Accelerating Your Crafts, and on Feb. 15 will be Intro to Laser Cutting and Engraving. These free programs are recommended for seventh-graders through adults.

Trophy steelhead caught in Chetco

Local resident David Mueller caught this 21-pound, 4-ounce steelhead, measuring 39 inches long, from the Chetco River on Jan. 9. Mueller was drift fishing in high, muddy water with a birdie drifter. "Steelhead fishing has never been better," he said.

State of the county address planned

The annual state of the county address will be presented by Curry County Commissioner Christopher Paasch at the conclusion of the county commissioners' meeting scheduled for 9 a.m. Wednesday.

The meeting will be held in the Curry County Courthouse Annex, 94235 Moore St. in Gold Beach.

Each year, the outgoing county commission chair presents the address.

Paasch chaired the group in 2019 and will do so again in 2020.

The presentation will be a 45-minute video, followed by a written message posted to the county's webpage.

Application period set for community grants

Organizations serving residents of Del Norte or Curry counties are invited to apply for the Humboldt Area Foundation's Community Grant Program by Feb. 3.

Program organizers said it prioritizes applicants who utilize collaborative relationships and partners, as well as promote leadership skill development for youths and residents.

Sara Dronkers, the foundation's director of grantmaking and nonprofit resources, said recent recipients have included the Cultural Fire Management Council, supporting traditional Native burning practices; the Curry Child Abuse Intervention Center (Wally's House), for the purchase of recording equipment; and the Healy Senior Center of Southern Humboldt, for its meals on wheels program.

Organizations encouraged to apply include 501(c)3 nonprofits, public schools, government agencies, Indian tribal governments, and community groups with a qualified fiscal sponsor.

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (844) 477-7869 or visit this Internet Web site www.STOXPOSTING.com, using the file number assigned to this case 19-23223. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site.
