The picturesque fishing village of Port Orford hosted the inaugural Winter Waters Festival, a celebration of the Southern Oregon Coast's rich maritime heritage and burgeoning sustainable seafood industry.

"We were incredibly excited to celebrate local seafood and seaweed on the South Coast this year through Winter Waters," said co-founder Rachelle Hacmac. "It was our first time bringing the series this far down the coast and Port Orford was a great fit for a weekend-long event because it's a true fishing village with a passionate, seafood-loving community."

Nestled along the rugged coastline, Port Orford, known for its iconic "dolly dock," where fishing boats are hoisted from the sea, transformed into a hub of artistic expression, historical exploration and culinary discovery. Organizers aimed to connect consumers directly with the region's vibrant local food systems.

Winter Waters is an Oregon initiative dedicated to promoting seaweed as a culinary ingredient and strengthening local Oregon Coast food systems. The organization focuses on educating consumers about sustainable seafood sources and providing unique culinary experiences.

With its blend of art, history and a focus on sustainable seafood, the Winter Waters Festival made a significant impact on Port Orford, drawing visitors and celebrating the unique character of this coastal community.

What began as a simple vegetable start venture at a farmers' market has blossomed into a thriving nursery business with multiple locations, driven by passion, resourcefulness and a strong community connection.

Janine Manning and her mother, Pamela James, co-owners of Dragonfly Farm and Nursery, have recently expanded their operations, opening a new location in Port Orford, adding to their original Langlois property and their popular pop-up shops in Brookings.

"It was an unexpected expansion," Manning explained. "We were approached about a lot in Port Orford by someone who wanted us there and they gave us such a great deal; it was too good to pass up."

which celebrated its 10th year open to the public this past Earth Day, originally focused on organically grown vegetable starts and herbs; however, they quickly expanded to include a wide variety of plants, from indoor succulents to towering trees, sourcing materials from Oregon, California and Washington.

"We sell anything from an indoor air plant succulent all the way to a 30-gallon tree that's seven feet tall," Manning said. "And we still grow about 95% of our own veggie starts, always organically."

The mother-daughter team, who are fifty-fifty owners, have grown their business significantly since hiring their first employee in 2016. They now employ twelve people, fostering a "big family" atmosphere.

Thousands of Oregonians slam Republican senator's attempt to end mail ballots

JULIA SHUMWAY
Oregon Capital Chronicle

Thousands of Oregonians submitted letters opposing a Republican senator's long-shot attempt to ask voters whether to repeal the state's decades-old mail voting law, swamping the Legislature's website on Monday.

The outcry against Sen. David Brock Smith's Senate Bill 210 could serve as a preview of what's to come if his proposal or a separate initiative led by one of Brock Smith's Republican rivals makes it to the 2026 ballot. Oregonians have voted entirely by mail since 2000, after nearly 70% of voters approved switching to mail ballots in 1998.

A quarter-century later, and after Republican party leaders including President Donald Trump spent years spreading debunked claims of voter fraud, Brock Smith argued that Oregon voters should get to decide again.

"I think it's time, which is why this is a referral for Oregonians to either reaffirm or deny vote by mail in this state," the Port Orford Republican said during a Monday hearing of the Senate Rules Committee.

The bill, which is unlikely to advance in the Democratic-controlled Senate, would ask voters to approve switching from mail voting to in-person voting on Election Day beginning in 2028. It also would repeal multiple recent laws aimed at making voting easier, including laws that added prepaid ballot-return envelopes and allowed the counting of ballots mailed and postmarked by Election Day that arrive at clerks' offices up to a week later.

Brock Smith's proposal would allow people to vote by mail if they're unable to vote in person on Election Day — if they ask for the ballot at least 21 days before an election and submit a valid Oregon driver's license, driver permit, state identification card, U.S. passport or military identification card.

Supporters of Oregon's electoral system have long praised the state's vote-by-mail system for its convenience. Oregon turnout in both presidential and midterm elections far exceeds the national average, even after automatic voter registration added hundreds of thousands of eligible but unengaged voters to voter rolls beginning in 2016.

But proponents of ending mail voting, including Rep. Court Boice, R-Gold Beach, said convenience shouldn't be the goal of the state's electoral system.

"The folks that I represent, the majority, want voting and

The statewide unemployment rate was 4.5% in February and 4.4% in January, after rising gradually over the past year from 4.1% in February 2024, according to the Oregon Employment Department. Oregon's 4.5% unemployment rate was the highest since August 2021, when the rate was 4.7%, and slightly higher than during the three years prior to the COVID recession that started in 2020. The U.S. unemployment rate was 4.1% in February and 4.0% in January. GAINS AND LOSSES In February, Oregon's seasonally adjusted non-farm payroll employment declined by 100 jobs, following a revised gain of 3,500 jobs in January. February's gains were largest in professional and business services (+1,700 jobs); information (+700); manufacturing (+600); and government (+500). Declines were largest in construction (-2,200 jobs); private educational services (-900); and financial activities (-700).

DOWNWARD TRAJECTORY Two industries within professional and business services bumped up hiring in February. Professional and technical services added 1,300 jobs on top of adding 1,100 in January. This followed a gradual downtrend of 1,500 jobs during the prior 22 months. Meanwhile, administrative and waste services added

400 jobs in February; however, despite the one-month gain, this industry was on a choppy downward trajectory during much of the past two years, having cut 5,600 jobs since its all-time high of 106,600 in March 2022. Payroll employment grew slowly over the past 12 months, adding 18,500 jobs, or 0.9%, in that time. Job gains were strongest in health care and social assistance (+14,000 jobs, or 4.8%) and government (+8,700 jobs, or 2.8%). Meanwhile, manufacturing shed the most jobs of the major industries (-6,000 jobs, or -3.2%). Construction (-1,800 jobs, or -1.5%) and retail trade (-1,800 jobs, or -0.9%) each declined substantially since February 2024.

phasizes, is rooted in their dedication to community. "It's really important for us to be part of this community," she said. "It's more than just being a business." Dragonfly Farm and Nursery hosts a monthly marketplace, featuring thirty vendors, food trucks and live music, at their Langlois property from May through September. They also collaborate with local businesses, such as the Chetco Brewing Company in Brookings, for popular pop-up shops during the winter months. "The pop-ups are really cool in Brookings because we get to collaborate with the Chetco Brewing Company and they get to bring their customers and we bring ours," Manning said. Recently, they have also begun wholesaling their vegetable starts to Farr's Hardware in Coos Bay, further expanding their reach. Manning, who did not attend horticultural or business school, believes that passion and resourcefulness are key to success. "If you have a passion for something and you want to make it a business, don't let this idea that you just have to go to college or do these trade schools stop you," Manning said. "We are proof of that." The nursery's growth, despite initial skepticism about the demand for their products in a small town, demonstrates their commitment to problem-solving and community engagement. "When people weren't coming into our store, we were like, well, let's do a pop-up and go to them," Manning explained. "It's just problem-solving from the beginning." As spring is here, Manning, James and their team are preparing for a busy season, but they welcome the challenge. "It's just now spring and we're so busy," said Manning. "We're so busy. This is the good kind of stress. We're just so thankful." Dragonfly Farm and Nursery's story is one of passion, community and the power of turning a simple idea into a thriving business. What are capital credits? Capital credits reflect each member's ownership in the cooperative. You, as a member, are an owner of CCEC, and the allocated margins, or capital credits, are just one of the many advantages of membership. Unlike investor-owned utilities, CCEC provides electric service to our members at cost and any profits from providing electric service are paid back to the members, and not paid to out of the area shareholders. Members invest in CCEC when they buy power. Each year, after all expenses have been paid, any remaining margin from providing electric service are allocated to members as capital credits in proportion to their electric use.

Spring Prompts Coast Like a Local Campaign to Protect Wildlife

Natural Beauty: With so much natural beauty to enjoy along the coast, it's important to be mindful of all that nature has to offer.

By LINDA LEE
Curry Coastal Pilot

Coastal communities are bracing for a busy spring and summer, and with it, a heightened concern for the region's diverse wildlife. Local land and resource management partners have launched the "Coast Like a Local" campaign, urging visitors to prioritize wildlife safety amidst the seasonal surge in beach and trail traffic. The campaign comes as snowy plovers begin nesting, shorebirds embark on their migrations, seal pups appear on beaches and elk roam near roadways, all during a critical period for these animals. Officials are emphasizing the importance of respecting wildlife boundaries, advocating for a minimum 50-yard distance and strict leash laws for dogs. Oregon Coastal areas are seeing a significant increase in visitors and it's important that everyone understands how to coexist with coastal wildlife. The goal of the campaign is to equip visitors with the knowledge to navigate the coast responsibly and ensure the safety of both humans and animals. A key component of the campaign is an ad initiative disseminating crucial tips for wildlife protection that includes strategies that help improve the experience for everybody and every living thing. The best practice is to 'Leave Wildlife Alone': Marine mammals, including seals and sea lions, require undisturbed space. Visitors are advised to maintain a fifty-yard distance, ensuring both their safety and the animals. Also 'Know Before You Go': Snowy plovers are particularly vulnerable during nesting season. Visitors should adhere to designated walking areas, typically below the high tide line and on hard-packed sand. Signage indicates areas where dogs, drones, vehicles, bikes, e-bikes and kites are prohibited. In addition, 'Leash-Up': Dogs should be kept on leashes to prevent them from chasing shorebirds, which depletes the birds' vital energy reserves. This precaution also protects seals and sea lions. Most importantly, 'Leave No Trace': Visitors are reminded to pack out all trash and food scraps, eliminating potential hazards to wildlife and marine habitats.

The Coast Like a Local initiative aims to foster a sense of stewardship among visitors, encouraging them to appreciate and protect the delicate coastal ecosystems. The campaign is supported by a Strategic Advisory Group, comprising resource agencies dedicated to safeguarding the coast's natural resources and public safety. This group plays a key role in developing and reviewing the campaign's messages.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF: Robert Louis Rahn Sr., Decedent Case Number: PB257012
To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of Robert Louis Rahn Sr. A Petition for Probate has been filed by: Robert Rahn Jr., in the Superior Court of California, County of: Del Norte. The petition for probate requests that: Robert Rahn Jr. be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent. The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This Authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority. A hearing on the petition will be held in this court as follows: Date: April 11, 2025 Time: 10:00am Dept.: 2 Address of the Court: 450 H Street, Crescent City, CA 95531
If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney. If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law. You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to fee and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call 530-246-2727; Toll Free: 844-333-6766, or visit this internet website: calforeclosures.biz, using the file number assigned to this case: TS#24-3147, to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the street address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call the trustee's information line at 530-246-2727; Toll Free: 844-333-6766, or visit this Internet Website: calforeclosures.biz, using the file number assigned to this case: TS #24-3147. The street address and other common designation, if any, of the real property described above is purported to be: 1362 OREGON ST, CRESCENT CITY, CA 95531-2221 The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the street address and other common designation, if any, shown herein. Said sale will be held, but without covenant or warranty, express or implied, regarding title, possession, condition, or encumbrances, including fees, charges and expenses of the Trustee and of the trusts created by said Deed of Trust, to pay the remaining principal sums of the note(s) secured by said Deed of Trust. The undersigned or its predecessor caused said Notice of Default and Election to Sell to be recorded in the county where the real property is located. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (855) 313-3319 or visit this Internet website www.clearreconcorp.com, using the file number assigned to this case 130696-CA. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT: Effective January 1, 2021, you may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call (855) 313-3319, or visit this internet website www.clearreconcorp.com, using the file number assigned to this case 130696-CA to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase.
