By DIANA BOSETTI

As recently enacted community kitchen restrictions have grabbed the attention of various news outlets, a local founder of the group that represents charitable kitchens is urging a greater focus on fundamental shifts in poverty, homelessness and mental illness instead.

“The flaw is that the city is kind of playing up that it’s the community kitchens that bring in the homeless and there’s no proof of that,” said Roger Gilbert, the founder and director of Brookings’ Community Kitchens - a non-profit collective of several local churches.

Gilbert said in order to understand why benevolent kitchens are so hotly debated - it’s important to understand why they began.

In 2006, Gilbert moved to Brookings with his wife. Decades removed from the Vietnam War, Gilbert noticed a couple of years later that disabled and traumatized veterans were abundant.

“I started talking to people on the street and many were Vietnam vets like myself,” he said. “Vets who put their life on the line for their country were sleeping on benches and eating out of dumpsters. That’s when we decided to open the first community kitchen.”

In 2009 and with $400 in seed money, Brookings Seventh Day Adventist Church started preparing and handing out food on Mondays.

“Other churches said ‘Wow, that looks like a good ministry,’” Gilbert said.

Within a year’s time, St. Timothy’s Episcopal Church opened

Benevolent kitchens are trending.

On October 25, when the Brookings City Council voted to limit benevolent meal services to two days a week and three hours or fewer per day, it quickly became more than a small, rural town issue.

Media groups like Fox News, KFUG Community News, Channel 12 Newswatch, Relevant Magazine, Vice and the New York Times took notice.

Type the name Father Bernie Lindley on Twitter, and tweets of support for the charismatic pastor at St. Timothy’s Episcopal Church pop up.

“Shout out to Rev. Bernie Lindley, we need more people like them in this world,” wrote one self-described Star Wars nerd and Libertarian Communist Twitter user.

Letters of support, some of them enclosed in envelopes containing donations, also started to pour in.

Lindley said, adding that he wants to respond to each of the letters but many of them still sit on his desk, unopened.

According to Lindley, it costs about $7,000 each year to run the community kitchen.

“My guess is that when I open all of those letters, they will

Elected leaders applaud progress

After weeks of debate and internal struggle in the House of Representatives, the U.S. Congress passed the infrastructure package that has been discussed for months.

Almost all of the Oregon delegation voted in favor of the package, which has been championed by Pres. Joe Biden.

Congressman Peter DeFazio applauded the bill’s passage, saying the needs in Oregon are obvious.

“House Democrats are building back better for the American people,” DeFazio said. “The long-overdue investments in our nation’s infrastructure included in the bipartisan Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act will grow the economy, strengthen our global competitiveness, create good-paying union jobs that can’t be sent overseas and make our communities more resilient, livable and equitable. In particular, the infrastructure bill will make badly-needed improvements

The 51st annual Brookings Harbor Community Bazaar will be held this Saturday, Nov. 13, from 9 a.m. – 5 p.m., at both the Azalea Middle School Gym and Brookings-Harbor High School cafeteria.

The event will include hand-crafted items from over 95 vendors and is sponsored by the Philanthropic Educational Organization. The international nonprofit has a chapter in Brookings, which has provided over 30 educational scholarships to women in the community. Some of this year’s vendors come from as far away as Medford, and include makers of copper jewelry, crocheted rugs, Native American art, fudge, dog biscuits and more.

“I’ve only been acquainted with the bazaar since I moved here, but it seems like it gets bigger and bigger every year,” said Suzanne Henning, who as publicity chair for the Brookings

Gold Beach falls just short in football playoffs

By MIKE WEBER
Correspondent

The No.-9 ranked Gold Beach High Panthers came into an OSAA/OnPoint Community Credit Union Class 1A football first round state playoff game Saturday versus the Dufur High Rangers with the momentum of a four-game win streak.

The Panthers (6-3) appeared to be headed toward an upset win over the No. 8 ranked Rangers (6-4), the Special District 2 West Division champion. The Panthers, guided by Coach Chris Higgins, led most of the first half and were deadlocked with Dufur early in the third quarter. The Rangers came back though, outscoring the Panthers 26-8 in the second half for a 58-40 win at Dufur High School in Eastern Oregon.

"We had a good time, we had good team building, which is what we've had all season long," said Higgins. "This is just a great group of kids and I'm just blessed to be a part of it. We're a very young and I know we'll be back in full force next year and we'll be ready to go. We had a real fun season and it was just tremendous to have a 6-2 record and make it to the playoffs for the first time in four years. I love all these kids with all my heart, I would do anything for them and it's an honor to be their coach."

The Panthers traveled to The Dalles Nov. 5 and stayed overnight there prior to Saturday's game. They traveled the 15 miles to Dufur and then practiced for an hour prior to the 1 p.m. kickoff.

The Rangers advanced to the Nov. 13 state quarterfinals against the No. 1 ranked and defending champion (2019) Adrian Antelopes (10-0) at Adrian High School. It marks the 10th straight year that Dufur has reached the quarterfinals. The winner moves on to the Nov. 19 semifinals.

Dufur took the game opening kickoff from Gold Beach junior placekicker Austin Westerman and scored on its first offensive possession for a 6-0 lead with 10:58 left in the first quarter.

Following an exchange of possessions in which both teams had turnovers with fumble, the Panthers gained control at their own 40-yard line after junior Landyn Miller recovered a Dufur fumble. The Panthers capped an eight-play, 60-yard scoring drive with a five-yard touchdown run by senior quarterback Trenton Storns (9-for-19 passing, 147 yards), tying it 6-6 with 1:41 left on the clock and it remained that score at the conclusion of the first quarter.

"I thought we did OK, but it was a good, well fought game by both teams," said Storns, the Panthers only senior, who played the final game of his Gold Beach High School football career. "It felt good when we were tied in the third quarter, and I thought maybe we would get a little bit of a run going, but it just didn't happen. We definitely had a good season. Prior to this year, we had won only two games in the previous three years. So, going 6-3 was a good turnaround season. It's definitely an emotional day for me in my last game, because I've been playing football with these guys since I was a little kid."

Dufur responded on its ensuing possession to go up 12-6 with 11:18 on the clock. A seven play, 64-yard drive, highlighted by a 28-yard run by Dufur senior Jacob Jones, concluded with a Ranger TD, making it 12-6 with 11:18 remaining in the first quarter.

"It was a very tough game, they (Panthers) played hard and we played a little harder, so it was just a good overall game, we both fought and in the end it just came down to a couple of touchdowns," said Jones.

Gold Beach answered and scored on its ensuing possession, just 58 seconds later. A four-play, 71-yard drive was capped by a 45-yard pass from junior Landyn Miller to Storns, knotting it 12-12 with 10:20 left in the second quarter.

The Rangers had a turnover (fumble) on their ensuing possession and Panthers sophomore Nelson Wilstead recovered the ball and returned it 61 yards for a TD. Storns tossed a two-point conversion pass to sophomore Tanner Wright, giving Gold Beach a 20-12 lead with 9:57 left in the quarter.

Dufur responded with an 11-play, 75-yard drive, capped by a Cody Phillips (34 carries, 242 yards rushing, 2 TDs) five-yard TD run, trimming the margin to 20-18 with 6:40 left in the quarter.

An onside kick by Dufur was then recovered by the Rangers at the Panthers 45-yard line. The Panthers defense, led by sophomore defensive lineman Korben Storns, stopped the Rangers on the possession and forced them to punt. The Panthers then took over control at the their own 23-yard line. A four-play, 77-yard scoring drive was capped by a 28-yard TD pass from Trenton Storns to junior receiver Chase Sprinkle (nine receptions, 147 yards receiving), putting the Panthers in front 26-18 with 4:30 on the clock.

"We were very inspired and the energy with this team was so good, that it's hard to describe and it's just great to play with my friends that I now know as like my brothers," said Korben Storns. "We really did believe at one point that we had it and that we could win. Things just didn't go in our favor in the second half. It felt great to be in the playoffs. The trip coming up here included some very beautiful scenery and it was heart-warming. It's a great experience for all these sophomores (12) and for me and my friends to get to the playoffs so early in our football career."

The Rangers came back and scored on their next possession, trimming the Panthers lead to 26-24 with 2:10 left.

On the Panthers ensuing possession, Taylor intercepted a pass thrown by Trenton Storns, giving Dufur possession at its own 24-yard line. The Rangers then proceeded on a five-play, 76-yard scoring drive, lifting Dufur in front 32-26 with 20 seconds left, putting the Rangers on top at halftime.

The Panthers knotted it again for a third time when Wilstead returned Dufur's second half kickoff 76 yards for a TD, making it 32-32 just 16 seconds into the third quarter. The Rangers then took control of the contest from that point, outscoring the Panthers 26-8 over the remainder of the game.

The impressive Wilstead touchdown seemed to give the Panthers some much needed momentum, but it was short lived. After the Gold Beach kickoff, the Rangers proceeded on another scoring drive to go ahead for good 38-32 with 7:51 left in the third quarter.

On Gold Beach's ensuing possession, Dufur capitalized on a turnover, recovering a Panther fumble at Dufur's 16-yard line. The Rangers then proceeded on their longest scoring drive of the game of 84 yards and scored a TD and a two-point conversion, making it 46-32 with 2:20 left in the third and it remained that score after three quarters.

On their ensuing possession, a Gold Beach fourth quarter drive stalled when Dufur stopped a fourth down conversion attempt and the Panthers turned the ball over on downs to the Rangers at midfield. Dufur responded with another scoring drive, to go up 52-32 with 8:48 left in the game.

The Panthers never gave up though and they still had chance, despite the large deficit. A nine-play, 55-yard drive was capped by a Trenton Storns five-yard TD run, followed by his two-point conversion run, which trimmed the margin to 52-40 with 5:29 left on the clock.

"Trenton has really been an absolutely true leader this year on and off the field and we're going to miss him for sure," said Higgins.

Dufur then recovered a Gold Beach onside kick at the Panthers 49. The Rangers utilized the clock more on their final drive and scored another TD to make it 58-40 with 1:16 left in the game. Dufur out-gained Gold Beach in total yardage, 559 to 310.

The contest marked the Panthers first playoff game since 2017 when Gold Beach was in Class 2A. A large group of 120 Panther fans traveled nearly 400 miles on a seven-hour road trip to attend the game in Dufur.

Peter Paul Giampaoli

Peter Paul Giampaoli of Cape Ferrello passed away unexpectedly on July 28, 2021. His last week we thought he was getting better.

He was watching the fog drift in and out on the ocean from his hospital room, telling stories, laughing, and disputing facts. Then he was gone. Born in Chicago, September 4, 1946 early interests included working on cars, playing piano, and building models and rockets.

Peter worked as a Mechanical Engineer, Jeweler, Glass Maker, General Contractor and he sold antiques.

He became a pilot, and served on the Cape Ferrello RFPD Board. Peter fished, foraged for mushrooms, and loved reading about politics, quantum mechanics, and cosmology.

He enjoyed challenging debates.

Peter is survived by his two beautiful children Peter and Lisa, sister Mary Ellen, nephew Tommy, cousin Nana (Diane Wittman), former wife Lucie La Bonte and many friends. Float on a cloud, drift with the wind, dance with the stars beautiful Peter.

We miss you and love you always.

Friends and family are invited to a celebration of life at the Capella by the Sea, Azalea Park, Friday, November 19 at 2:30 p.m.

To honor his views regarding COVID, attendees must be vaccinated and masked.

Opinion & Letters

Letters to the Editor

Why the attacks?

I am disturbed by the editor allowing personal attacks on people who have expressed their opinions in this paper. This is not Facebook or any other social media platform where this kind of behavior is tolerated and even encouraged.

People should feel free to express their opinions without fear of personal reprisal. If someone has a differing opinion, they can write to the editor without naming the author they disagree with.

In the guidelines for letters to the editor it states in plain English "We ask writers to avoid personal attacks, gratuitous insults and personal gripes."

If the editor can't even enforce his/her own guidelines, why would anyone want to submit an opinion?

If there aren't many letters to the editor, it may be because people don't want to be attacked for having an opinion that someone else disagrees with.

To fill space the paper could bring back some of the content that has been done away with (Find the Differences was good family fun) or publish another rambling misinformed essay from those Writers on the Range folks.

Why not value humans?

I'm flummoxed. Why does our Brookings community value dogs' lives over human lives?

This community vigorously supports rescuing unwanted, unloved, and ill dogs from high kill shelters. This community generously provides funds for their physical, mental, and emotional rehabilitation in order that they may be re-homed into loving households.

Why then, doesn't this community invest that same type of vigorous, wraparound support for our fellow human beings?

The "powers that be" in Brookings exhibit absolute fear and disdain for our fellow humans experiencing homeless. Fellow humans who are hungry. Fellow humans who are in dire need of mental, emotional, and physical rehabilitation.

Why does our community value a dog's quality of life over that of a human's?

Not all Democrats hate America

While I agree you are entitled to your opinion, you are not entitled to create your own facts. I never said half the people or all Democrats are not worthy to fly the flag. Senator Joe Manchin is an example of a fine Christian man who is a Democrat but opposes many of the views of the hard left. Kirsten Sinema and Manchin have been personally attacked just because they have different viewpoints.

Parents who attempted to speak out at school board meeting against Marxist CRT and cultural Marxist transgender policies were categorized as domestic terrorists by the U.S. Attorney General Merrick Garland. What I said was, "Why fly a flag of a country you seem to hate?" A key figure in the school-board fight in Virginia was Asra Nomani. She is a lifelong Democrat who voted for Biden. She is a Muslim immigrant from India. She voted for governor-elect Youngkin because of CRT and the teaching of children to loathe our country and our history.

Xi Van Fleet, an immigrant from China, said CRT was similar to Mao Zedong's Cultural Revolution she heard as a child in communist China. Many mama bears who were Democrats in Virginia voted for Youngkin. Whether you are Democrat or Republican, school should be a safe place for kids to learn to read and write, and not a place to brain wash kids into one ideology or political viewpoint. Parents were mad because Loudoun County Superintendent Scott Ziegler and the school board covered up the report of a male student in a skirt assaulting a female student in a girls' bathroom. A bombshell email revealed that Ziegler had notified the board about the assault a month before he said he had not record of the incident.

All Democrats do not hate America.

Happy Veterans Day

The definition of a veteran is not someone currently serving in the military. He or she is called a veteran when they have finished their active-duty commitment. Thank you for your service ... from young and old is a very humbling surprise, whether it be a student letter, a stranger voicing those words or a spontaneous group cheer at an airport arrival gate. Or in my case, a flight arrival after a surgery in a wheelchair being pushed by flight personnel off the plane, through the air terminal all the way to my car. My wife followed with our miniature schnauzer in a wheelchair she brought to meet me. The last thing they said as the loaded into my car was "thank you for your service."

The VFW Post 966 was closed to members and the public when a car crashed into the back of the building. The VFW state commander responded by meeting to offer repair help. In the meantime, the COVID virus precluded any repair activity. The Oregon VFW posts have been closed. I have continued service by telephone and have maintained the building. A community volunteer has maintained the grounds.

When military individuals leave the military after 4, 6, 10 years or a career, they are advised about their benefits ... education, employment and medical. They don't listen and/or attend separation information meetings. All they think about is getting out of uniform and going to see their loved ones i.e. wife, children, girlfriend and families. They don't realize their free VA medical benefits that they are entitled to.

Act immediately to get medical information by December 3, provided by Derek Stapley, managing partner-senior consultant, Apex Insurance Group 980 SW 6th Street, Suite 20 Grants Pass, Oregon 97526 Telephone: 541-291-4867. ### Another special tax district?

It is a relief that the most recent ballot measure was resoundingly defeated. It is a shame that city and county elected officials do not prioritize support for what our communities want. Could we have had an aquatic center, benefitting us all, if tax money had not been spent on political priorities?

Some of the questions/issues include:

Where is the Mr. Hedenskog that touted his caring for those in need by serving meals at St. Timothy's?

How did the city approve hundreds of thousands of dollars to subsidize infrastructure for Rio Tinto?

Why did the city spend hundreds of thousands of dollars in lobbying, legal fees, travel and meetings for a new Oregon Administrative Rule allowing the ER on 5th Street, with NO input from the electors?

Which mayor was it who chaired the Curry Health District PAC to annex all of 97415?

Which officials have been spending hundreds of thousands of dollars on Salmon Run and are now planning to pay $385,000 to Freeman Trusts for access to unaccountable Chetco water?

And, who decided the way to have an aquatic center was another special tax district?

Don't forget the "county fathers" Boice & Herzog. (Paasch voted "No")

Do they believe folks don't see purchases, like a whole new fleet of expensive trucks?

Salary increases: County assessor 14%; county clerk 12%; (both listed as "approximate") plus up to $1,300/month for medical dental and vision insurance.

Do they think the taxpayers aren't aware that the real benefits are the untaxed "employee" fringe benefits, averaging another 60% of salaries?

Do they hope no one will ask for documentation on the costs and payments for these elections?

The continued attempts to raise taxes in 97415 will (hopefully) continue to fail without public fiscal accountability.

Hidden from view

In our neighborhoods, communities, county and country we like to have our poor, mentally ill and drug-addicted members hidden away.

Is it because it evokes guilt in us because we feel we should do something, or fear that it could be us if situations were changed, or do we feel discomfort experiencing emotions we are unable to manage?

Whatever it is, when a community's response is making ordinances to ignore the needs of their people instead of offering solutions, it is a dreadful message to the community members.

Before I moved here, six years ago, I volunteered in a Unitarian Church in a rural area preparing, cooking and serving meals. The people that came had many different reasons for needing food. Reasons included a job loss, family illness or mental health issues. Moving to Brookings and seeing what St. Tim's was doing for the homeless made me feel I had arrived in another community that supported those less fortunate.

When I was in graduate school, I studied different cultures that took in the homeless, and those in need for whatever reason, as well as places in our country. The goal was to make them part of the community, not ignored and hidden. The goal was never hoping they would leave the area.

A few years ago, I attended every meeting I could find regarding our homeless issues. During those meetings held at the county and city levels, I heard of many different ideas and alternatives, some with research to back up their success. Also, I became aware of grant money that could be available to Brookings. To my knowledge, the City Council has not moved on any of these opportunities. At one of the meetings where many church leaders attended, the mayor stated that it was the churches that should take this on.

Where is the leadership now? Where do we guide our children to view a local governing body showing responsibility and sometimes taking risks. A governing body demonstrating solidarity, equality and a belief in our democratic system? Where are our brave leaders ready to take the lead in guiding our community towards our values of equality, justice and truth?

When Father Bernie is chastised for being a forerunner in carrying a torch to show love, true faith and bravery, we should be lining up to help demonstrate our gratitude.

This allows us all to see a path in finding compassion and love in our own lives. How many people feel isolated and a loss of faith in whatever belief that might be? Is it not because we are removed from the spirit of connection? Maybe just asking the question deep within yourselves is a beginning.

Guest Opinion

Local journalism needs some federal support

By JUAN-CARLOS MOLLEDA

The fate of local news in America may depend on what Oregon's senior Senator Ron Wyden, does in the next few days.

In addition to all the other major tax issues that have fallen to the Senate Finance Committee, which Wyden chairs, the panel is also considering a less expensive but hugely important provision: a payroll tax credit to help local newspapers, TV and radio stations and websites to hire and retain local reporters.

This is essential because local news is collapsing around the country. Because the internet has destroyed local news business models, there has been a 60 percent drop in the number of reporters since 2000. Thousands of communities have no newspapers or "ghost newspapers" that barely cover communities.

Studies have proved what we know intuitively: when there are fewer local reporters, there's more government waste, corruption. Just as important, it's harder for neighbors to know each other and for communities to solve their own problems. Voting goes down. Participation goes down. The information vacuums are filled with misinformation and conspiracy.

As the Edwin L. Artzt dean and professor at the University of Oregon's School of Journalism and Communication, I have a front row seat for the monumental changes in local journalism. We send interns into Oregon newsrooms every summer and many of our graduates are employed in local print, broadcast and internet newsrooms. The COVID-19 pandemic, and resulting advertising losses, only exacerbated economic fissures threatening the flow of information to citizens.

Fortunately, Congress is right now considering a simple proposal that could save local news. It provides a tax credit to publishers and stations to help pay the salary of a local reporter. It would infuse $38 million over five years to approximately 113 newsrooms in Oregon.

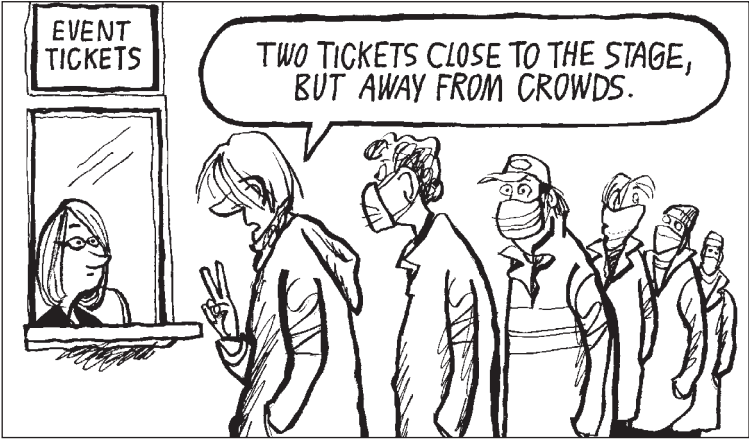

No one loves the idea of news organizations getting money from the government. But this particular idea is constructed in a clever, First Amendment friendly approach. All news organizations — regardless of ideology — would be eligible for the tax credit as long as they have local reporters. There's no government bureaucrat deciding what news organizations benefit. That's why it has strong bipartisan support: the original co-author is Rep. Dan Newhouse, a Republican, from Washington state.

This provision is on the edge of being included in the Build Back Better legislation. Because it's a tax credit, its fate will be decided by the Senate Finance Committee. Senator Wyden is already a co-sponsor of the bill. He is in a unique position to make it become law. It's a small amount of money compared to the $1.75 trillion bill but it's impact on saving democracy may be profound.

Mollada is a tenured professor and the Edwin L. Artzt Dean of the School of Journalism and Communication at the University of Oregon.

its kitchen on Tuesdays, then in 2011 Brookings Presbyterian, Star of the Sea Catholic Church and Trinity Lutheran opened their kitchens - taking Wednesday through Friday. At the time, even the Brookings-Harbor School District wanted to participate.

“That was interesting because I was called to a board meeting by the superintendent of the school district,” Gilbert said. Apparently, it wasn’t just vets who were hungry. Kids were, too. “He said ‘You know Roger, we have kids coming off the bus on Monday and they haven’t had a good meal all weekend,’” include checks that will be enough to fund the entire kitchen for all of 2022,” Lindley said. Shortly after the ordinance went into effect, Lindley also received an application from the city to apply for a conditional use permit to keep operating, albeit for two rather than the four days in effect now. (On one of those days,

Gilbert said. Gilbert organized school pantries - stocked with apples, oranges and nuts that students could grab before heading to the classroom. It wasn’t long after that one of the schools opened its cafeteria to allow Seventh Day Adventist to make hot meals on Saturdays - a venture where students volunteered as greeters, some were taught how to cook and those close to graduation could earn their senior project service points. “Everyone was deriving benefits,” Gilbert said. “Two of the students even went on to culinary school.” But as the seasons changed, so did the perception of the community kitchen landscape. A change in school administrative leadership

Smith River United Methodist runs the kitchen). “It said to make sure that it’s turned in by November 4, so it can be heard at their next meeting,” Lindley said. But that application also sits on his desk. “The only thing we are turning in is a federal lawsuit,” Lindley said. Lindley added, however, that he doesn’t expect either side to draw definitive lines in the sand until well after the holidays. In the meantime, legal led to a decision to no longer allow the church to use the school’s kitchen. That’s when Father Bernie Lindley with St. Timothy’s picked up Saturday, and eventually Sunday with a limited offering of a to-go sack lunch. According to Gilbert, Brookings Presbyterian was steadfast with its Thursday afternoon meal service - including over the last two years “when the pandemic just took the bottom out of what we were doing,” Gilbert said. Though Brookings Presbyterian’s numbers aren’t what they were pre-pandemic, when nearly 90 people would sit down with hot plates of food before them, they still provide anywhere from 40 to 55 to-go meals each week. Volunteers Jean Shadel, Carol King, Dave Chesson arguments are being made. On Nov. 2, Criminal Defense Attorney’s Andell Brown and Molly Parmer debated the legality of the ordinance for five minutes on Fox News. “This is an expression of their 1st Amendment right to worship as they choose, according to their conscience,” said Brown, adding that the city of Brookings likely won’t be able to meet legal strict scrutiny challenges that require compelling government interests when it and others arrive as early as 8:30 a.m. to make it all possible. Gilbert said they have strict behavior policies at the Presbyterian church. In fact, they logged only 13 police dispatch calls in 2020, which was the lowest rate of any of their benevolent kitchen counterparts. St. Timothy’s was not so lucky. It logged 154 police calls. Which is why, in late October, the Brookings City Council voted to limit the number of days and hours a church may prepare and distribute food to those in need. As observers wait to see whether the city will impose fines against St. Timothy’s or the Episcopal Diocese of Oregon will file a lawsuit in response, others are wondering if the comes to limiting constitutional rights. “The government can sometimes burden or limit our exercise of religion,” countered Parmer, citing the case of Employment Division vs. Smith - a case that stated general-applicability laws do not necessarily rise to the level of strict scrutiny. A reporter with the New York Times even called. “He was just fact gathering, but he may be making a trip out to Brookings,” Lindley said.

true problem lies elsewhere. “They are just looking at the symptom and not the root cause,” said Bill Waddle, a benevolent kitchen volunteer and former Curry County commissioner. “When I got here, 40% to 45% of all parents in Curry County had a history of drug or alcohol abuse. That is a terrible statistic and I dare say that hasn’t changed.” Gilbert, who said he supports the passage of the ordinance, agreed with Waddle. “I think it (the ordinance) was a good solution because we can’t deny there have been problems in the neighborhood, but it’s not the fault of the community kitchen,” Gilbert said. “Father Bernie made good strides with eliminating overnight parking at the church, and the city’s police have been able to enforce a 6 p.m. trespass ordinance. But all it did was move people into the forest.” “When I was in Portland as a commissioner, I briefed the secretary of Agriculture and the next day there was a headline that read ‘Curry County: Poverty With a View,’” Waddle added. “The county has severe monetary and financial problems that we have had since the late 80s when we could no longer raise property taxes to keep up with the cost of administering county services.” Since then, said Waddle, homelessness has only gotten worse. “In 2020, there were 14,655 homeless people,” he said. “28% have mental illness, 38% alcohol abuse and 26% drug abuse. What we are not doing, anywhere in the U.S. that I’m aware of, is addressing that issue.”

BHHS soccer team wins state opener

By SAMUEL HUGHES
Brookings-Harbor High School

The Bruins scored first against their competitor, Santiam Christian out of Corvallis. The two teams were competing in the first round of state, both trying to win and continue on to the quarterfinals. Right out of the gate, Brookings held the ball on Santiam’s side of the field, falling back every once in a while to regain possession. Santiam Christian then scored on a penalty kick. Brookings recovered quickly after with another point. At the beginning of the second half, the score was 2-1. BHHS solidified their lead after they scored off of a break away. Then, BHHS got overly confident, and the defenders fell too far up the field. The players got overrun by one of the forward Santiam guys who scored, resting the final score at 3-2.

The undersigned caused said Notice of Default and Election to Sell to be recorded in the County where the real property is located. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (916)939-0772 or visit this internet website <http://-search.nationwideposting.co-m/-propertySearchTerms.aspx>, using the file number assigned to this case CA2100286902 Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Website. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction if conducted after January 1, 2021, pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call (916)939-0772, or visit this internet website <http://-search.nationwideposting.co-m/-propertySearchTerms.aspx>, using the file number assigned to this case CA2100286902 to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid, by remitting the funds and affidavit described in Section 2924m(c) of the Civil Code, so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder," you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. If the sale is set aside for any reason, the Purchaser at the sale shall be entitled only to a return of the deposit paid. The Purchaser shall have no further recourse against the Mortgagor, the Mortgagee or the Mortgagee's attorney. Specifically, under the Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act Oregon will receive:

- $747 million over five years to improve public transportation options around the state
- $529 million over five years to improve water infrastructure across the state and ensure that clean, safe drinking water is a right in all communities
- $211 million to support infrastructure development for Oregon airports
- $52 million over five years to support the expansion of EV charging stations across the state, along with the opportunity to apply for $2.5 billion in grant funding dedicated to EV charging

• $100 million minimum to help provide broadband coverage across the state, including providing access to the at least 13,600 Oregonians who currently lack it. Under the IIJA, 23 percent of Oregonians or 945,000 people will be eligible for the Affordability Connectivity Benefit, which will help families afford internet.

• $39 million over five years to protect against wildfires and $15 million to protect against cyberattacks.

“Furthermore, this bill will help ensure our infrastructure can face our most pressing challenges, including an important down payment on addressing the climate crisis head on by reducing carbon pollution from the transportation sector, as well as upgrading our port infrastructure to help alleviate the current supply chain crisis,” DeFazio said.

Included in the bill is more than $4 million to help improve rail infrastructure in the Port of Coos Bay, particularly infrastructure at the site of the former Georgia Pacific mill site the port is trying to purchase to build a shipping terminal.

Senator Ron Wyden also applauded the passage of the infrastructure package.

“I’ve said for a long time, you can’t have a big-league economy with Little League infrastructure” Wyden said. “And today Oregon and the American West will finally get the significant investments needed to deal with catastrophic wildfires and severe drought, build back hard-hit rural economies, improve access to public transit and make sure clean drinking water is a right for everyone. And while now we can put people to work to build a more resilient and stronger Oregon, my work isn’t over to deliver on equally-important priorities in the Build Back Better package.”

Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack also celebrated after the House approved the package.

“This is a transformative, historic investment for America as President Biden delivers on his promise to rebuild the physical infrastructure of our country, grow the economy for decades to come, create good-paying, union jobs, and better position us to compete in a global economy,” Vilsack said. “This is a tremendous opportunity to build up rural America with wealth that stays in rural communities, jobs you can raise a middle-class family on, and the ability to compete around the world. I’m thankful to those in Congress who drove this bipartisan legislation over the finish line, and to President Biden for his leadership for America’s working families. Now, let’s get to work and see to it that the benefits of modern infrastructure reach every corner of country.”

PEO chapter has been a member of the group for 20 years. As this year's event rolled around, vendors were contacted in June to gauge their interest, but after having cancelled last year due to COVID, and this year being uncertain, the response was slow. "We've been kind of pushed this year because we weren't sure we could do it," said Peggy Goergen, who joined the Brookings chapter of the PEO 15 years ago and serves as its local chair.

While this year's food options will be limited to pre-wrapped baked goods, kettle corn and drinks, the rest of the vendors came through as the duo had hoped. "This is a real community thing and people look forward to it," said Goergen. Kelly Aldrich, who grew up in Brookings and now lives in Crescent City, will be selling her eco-printed clothing and driftwood decorations for the second year. Half a decade ago, holiday bazaars were just as popular as they are now, but they were held at various locations. "Somebody came up with the bright idea of why don't we hold it all in one place?" Goergen said. "So, we started with 20-or-so vendors at the Catholic church and it outgrew that fairly quickly. Then we moved to the elementary school's multi-purpose room and outgrew that in no time." This will be the first year the PEO will run the event solo. The last two times the PEO worked alongside the Brookings Nite Family Community Education group (through the Oregon State Extension Service). Every year, up to four women receive education scholarships through funds raised at the bazaar. This includes high school seniors looking to go on to college, and women hoping to further their education with postgraduate degrees. Nationally, the PEO has helped more than 116,000 women by providing over $383 million in educational assistance, according to the group's website. "One other really neat thing that we do is we keep in touch with our scholarship winners and we invite them to have lunch with us," said Henning. "We had a scholarship winner two years ago who became a teacher. She had nothing when she got her job so we all chipped in and made a big box of rubber bands, scotch tape, scissors, pencils - everything you could think of." This week's intense windstorm notwithstanding, the weather outlook looks good. "This year it's supposed to be sunny on Friday and Saturday, so that's a real good thing," said Henning. "One year when we were at the high school there was a thunderstorm the day of the bazaar and all the lights went out," added Goergen with a laugh. "You couldn't see your hand in front of your "My favorite part of the bazaar is just getting to meet local artisans and people visiting the show," Aldrich said. "I've learned a lot from the other vendors when it comes to setting up the booth and things. It's always such an uplifting and community focused atmosphere." Rain or shine, the event is likely to attract big numbers. "For everybody in the community that loves to come, it's because you see old friends and meet new ones," Goergen said. "It will be a little different this year with masking requirements, but even so people will recognize you and it's just a really fun time." It's also a great opportunity to shop for holiday gifts. The PEO will have its annual Christmas trees (one at each location) - where for $1, a pre-wrapped mystery gift goes directly to the educational cause.
