Everence®

"Whether you're approaching retirement, managing ongoing healthcare needs, or considering supplemental insurance, I can provide guidance grounded in both professional expertise and faith-based values."

CHAN GINGERICH
Financial Representative

With more than 25 years' experience under his belt, Chan has been working in the insurance industry for quite some time – almost as long as he's been country line dancing! As an Everence Financial Representative, Chan can help you navigate Medicare and important health-related decisions, so you can focus on what truly matters – enjoying your life.
