

Feasibility assessment

A year-round, indoor, in-person farmers' market

- Moving the Warrenton Farmers' Market into a permanent building or covered pavilion presents a logical next step in that market's evolution.
- To be clear, having a covered or indoor space is not required for a farmers' market to succeed; however, having a fixed, permanent location would enhance the market's visibility, enable it to extend its operation longer into the year, and provide a stable launching point for expanded programming.
