In the Magical Attic, Sunray Bear asked his friend, Looner Bunny, "Want to come with me to 1964 and see the start of Beatlemania in America?" "Yeah, yeah, yeah!" sang Looner.

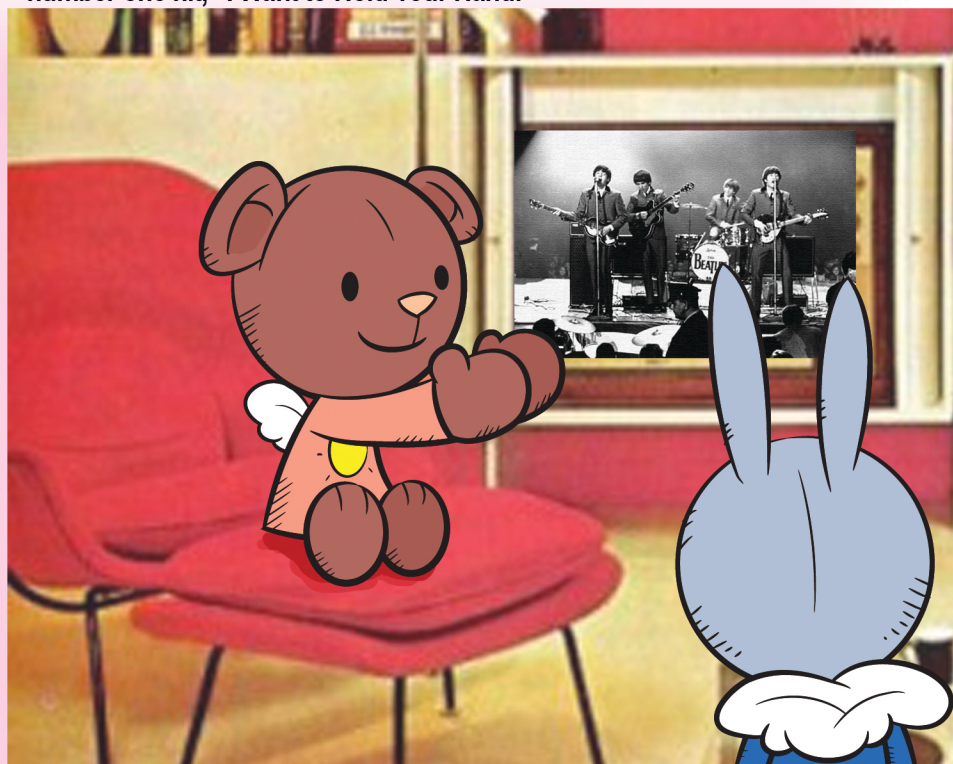

The group holds the record for most gold singles at 23 records! That means they sold at least ONE million copies of each hit single!

John, Paul, George and Ringo had spent years practicing their art. And they were just getting started. The Beatles influenced many aspects of life, most especially for young musicians. The day after the broadcast, hundreds of young people across the country started bands in their garage and basements. Practicing and hoping for the chance to express themselves through their music.

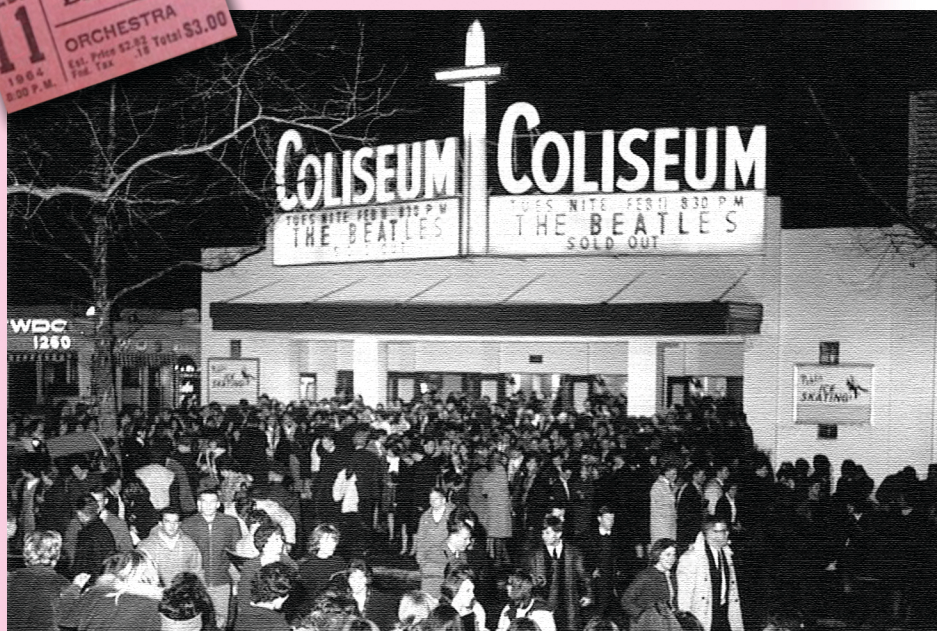

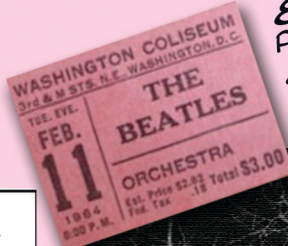

2. On Sunday night, February 9, 1964, 73 MILLION Americans gathered in front of their television sets to watch the variety program, "The Ed Sullivan Show." They were also watching history being made as The Beatles performed their songs in America for the first time on this live event. The Beatles sang five songs, including their number one hit, "I Want to Hold Your Hand."

It was like waking up from a nap with a cool burst of fresh air on your face. You just had to get up and try doing great things... including dance and sing! They kicked off a musical and cultural revolution lasting for years and its impact is still echoing today.

3. WASHINGTON, DC.

TWO DAYS LATER, ON FEBRUARY 11, WAS THE BEATLES' FIRST UNITED STATES CONCERT, HELD AT THE WASHINGTON COLISEUM IN WASHINGTON, D.C. DESPITE A HEAVY SNOWSTORM, THE 12-SONG SHOW WAS SOLD OUT AND ENJOYED BY OVER 8,000 SCREAMING FANS. MANY OF THE FANS PELTED THE BEATLES WITH JELLY BEANS, AFTER A NEW YORK NEWSPAPER REPORTED THE BEATLES LIKED CANDY JELLY BEANS.
