

The Three Pranksters

There were once three horses named Fred, Bob, and Jerald and a farmer named Jimmy. The farmer feeds in the middle of the day, so the horses prank him like crazy while he is feeding. Farmer Jimmy was carrying the water and suddenly he steps on a string. It triggered a water bucket which spilt all over him, making the horses laugh. The next day Jimmy was going to pour the food, and it triggered a prank where food got dumped all over him. The next day the pranksters put a water bucket on a seesaw, but Bob accidentally stepped on the seesaw and the water bucket soaked them instead.

One day the horses set up a prank that would be funnier than any of the ones before. This prank involves food, water, and hay. When Jimmy set off the trap, it was not a good day for him. The hay and water got all over him, so he went inside, showered, and relaxed. The next day the horses saw that Farmer Jimmy was upset. He was waiting for a prank to happen, but he realized that nothing was happening, so he went and checked on the horses and they were just eating hay and enjoying their day. The horses were worried that the farmer was going to get rid of them. That is why they were being so good. That night when the horses laid down for bed, they wondered.

The horses woke up nervous. When Farmer Jimmy got into the barn, the horses asked, "Are you getting rid of us?" Jimmy replied, "Of course not! You are the best horses I have ever had." The horses were so happy that the farmer was not getting rid of them. When the farmer left, Fred, Bob, and Jerald started dancing in excitement. The farmer heard some loud banging coming from the barn so he went to check it out. However, the horses heard the farmer coming so they stopped dancing and started eating hay. When Jimmy opened the barn door and saw the horses eating hay, he thought he might be going crazy.

The horses were so excited they decided to prank the farmer with the biggest prank of all. Knowing how much Jimmy liked chocolate, they distracted him with a chocolate bar in the kitchen. They prepared a prank that used water, food, and hay. They said, "Farmer we have to show you something." Farmer Jimmy came running and tripped on the wire. He got so much stuff on him that he needed to take three showers to get clean. The horses laughed, and the farmer walked up to the house. Then they stopped laughing because they realized they hurt the farmer's feelings. Then Fred, Bob, and Jerald went to the farmer and said, "We are sorry for pranking you. We are never going to prank you again because you are the best farmer and we appreciate you."