

SEC names top players of the week

The Southeastern Conference announced its players of the week for this past weekend.

OFFENSE

Freddie Swain, WR, Florida

Swain recorded a career outing on Saturday, as his career-high six receptions for 146 yards and a touchdown are the highest single-game receiving yardage totals by a Gator since 2014 (Demarcus Robinson).

Additionally, Swain himself had more receiving yards for the game than Auburn's entire team (145 receiving yards).

Swain finished with a 24.3-yard receiving average. Entering Saturday's game, only 18 FBS players have a game with at least five receptions and a receiving average greater than 24.0 yards this season.

DEFENSE

Cale Garrett, LB, Missouri

Keyed Mizzou to another dominant defensive performance, as he led the Tigers with six tackles (including three tackles for loss and one quarterback sack) and added two interceptions in Mizzou's 42-10 win over Troy.

Grabbed two more interceptions on the day, running the second one back 33 yards for a touchdown - marking the third-straight game Garrett has scored a defensive TD (an MU record).

His first INT came just a half-yard short of another pick-six, as he picked it off on the Troy 27, and was tackled inside the one. Garrett also added a pair of quarterback pressures on the day as the Tigers limited Troy to season lows in total offense, points and passing yardage.

Shawn Davis, DB, Florida

Davis' presence was felt back on the field this Saturday, as Davis notched his third interception of the season with a 41-yard return against Auburn's Bo Nix. The interception marked Davis' third in three games.

His interception was the first of three on the day for the Gators, as Florida has now recorded multiple interceptions in four consecutive games.
