

Hometown News
is looking for their next

Superstar!

Are you the type of person that make commitments and keeps them?

Are you hungry to succeed?

Can you talk with strangers?

Do your friends come to you for advice?

If these qualities describe you, we are very interested in speaking with you about sales opportunities in our company. Hometown News is owned by Adams Publishing Group, which is one of the largest, privately held media companies in the US with locations spread out across the country.

We have a broad palette of solutions we share with customers to help with their marketing problems. We train individuals to share our solutions with our clients in a success-oriented climate where we partner with our advertisers.

This position is salary plus commission with additional bonus plans. We offer health, medical, vision, 401K and more.
