Last call for local talent

Deadline is May 14

JOURNAL STAFF REPORT

Harmony of Nations Music Festival is seeking musicians from Fort Frances and the surrounding area to perform live at the Fort Frances Waterfront July 17-18.

A news release said this is a great opportunity for aspiring musicians to showcase their music alongside with established and award-winning artists at a large venue.

Due to the limited space, musicians are asked to submit their material into the Harmony of Nations — Attention Artist Selection Committee. Individuals and/or music groups who reflect First Nation, Métis, Canadian or American culture in the area are encouraged to submit their music. Applicants must submit audition material along with a short biography and contact information.

The following need to be submitted:

- One original song or innovative song

- One song of musician's choice
- Short biography
- Music link via email
- Contact information including: name, address, phone number or email address

Music links should be sent via email to harmonyofnations@gmail.com or dropped off at: 601 Mowat Ave., Second Floor, Fort Frances, ON P9A 1Z2.

The deadline for music submissions is 4:30 p.m. May 14. The release said Harmony of Nations officials look forward to hearing the great music from the area and encourage applicants to submit their material early.

For more information about the Harmony of Nations Music Festival visit www.harmonyofnations.ca or find the event on Facebook or Twitter.

Tickets are available online, at The Coffee Landing, as well as Betty's, Northwoods and From the Grind Up in Fort Frances.

For more information, contact Jamie Petrin, festival coordinator, at 807-274-9621 or staff@golocalfortfrances.com.
